BOTH SIDES TALK OUT.

The Company and the Locked-Out Men Tell Their Own Stories.

WHAT THE MILLS ARE DOING.

Officials and Leaders in the Struggle Claim

NO HELP FROM THE RAILROAD MEN to Be Content.

The exact condition of affairs at the Carnegie mills in Pittsburg, Homestead and at Duquesne is concealed and hidden by the conflicting claims of both sides to the labor dispute. The Carnegie officials say that the strike at all the mills has been positively broken and that everything is working to their entire satisfaction. The Press Committee of the workmen and the officials of the Amalgamated Association make the same cheerful claims. They insist that they have the strike won and that developments within a day will prove the position they have assumed

A review of the work being done at the various mills and the position claims from both sides to the controversy are supplied by THE DISPATCH reporters.

Superintendent Potter Talks.

Superintendent Potter and his assistants at the Homestead mill were jubilant yesterday. They one and all declared everything was running smoothly in the mills, and that as far as they were concerned the outlook for the immediate future was reseate with promise.

"We are all right now," said Mr. Potter,
"and if you doubt it take a look around and see for yourself. Nearly all the departments are now running on double turn and everything will be in operation by the first of the week. We started the 40-inch new beam mill this morning, and consider-ing the fact that the men were all new and strange to their environments, the result was in every way satisfactory. I tell you that the strike is over, and that the men are licked, but they won't admit it. No, we don't fear the effect of any boycott, and, between ourselves, I don't believe that any will be declared."

For the past three or four days a rumor has been industriously circulated through the length and breadth of Homestead borough to the effect that there was a deal of contagious disease in the mill and that a number of the non-union men were seri-ously ill. The officials of the company insist that this story is untrue and a casual inspection of the bunkhouses and living quar-ters of the men now in the mill will verify their statement.

In the Penn Avenue District, At the Upper Union mills some import-ant developments are expected before this Several conferences were held yesterday. Great secreey was observed, and it was intimated that business of some moment was being considered. During one of the conferences held in the morning quite a number of strangers were present. When questioned the Press Committee re-fused to tell who the strangers were, but others among the striking workmen were more unguarded in their answers. They hinted that the vis-itors who took an active part in the morning conference were attached to the various railroads throughout the city.

The workmen, however, would not say whether their guests belonged to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers,
Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Brotherhood of Brakemen or the Switchmen's Union. Further inquiries revealed to a certainty that some members from the last named organization at least called at the headquarters of the strikers yesterday.

Picasure Seekers Called Bome, Since the strike began a number of the Lawrenceville workmen have left the city for recreation. At a meeting beld Thurtday it was decided to recall these men. For this purpose messengers have been selected from among the workmen and sent out to gather up the absent ones, many of whom are camped along the two rivers. A large number returned yesterday morning, and a great many more are expected to return in time for the meeting to-day. It is rumored among the business men in Lawrenceville that the workmen had been recalled to confer upon the advisability of accepting the Carnegie Steel Company's terms, which are higher than the rates paid by other firms who have signed the new scale. The Press who have signed the new scale. The Press Committee state there is no truth in the above rumor. "We would hardly go as far as we have," said one, "and then acknowledge defeat by returning to work. No, we are more determined than ever, and firmly believe we have the best of it."

An appeal to ull workingmen was issued by the strikers vesterday. The appeal is in the form of a circular, which reads as fol-

You are requested not to work up the material that may be shipped from the works of the Carnegie Steel Company during the present strike. By so doing you will help us to gain a victory in our present struggle for organization.

The Press Committees Reports.

These circulars are being distributed These circulars are being distributed freely and a copy will be sent to all the prominent firms and labor organizations throughout the country whose members use the products of the Carnegie company. Already copies have been sent to the employes of the Keystone Bridge Works, Pittsburg Bridge Works, Riter & Conley, Barnes Safe and Lock Company, L. M. Morris, Marshall Construction Company, Scarte Machine Shops, Lappen & McCormick and the Monroe Construction Company.

Secretary Lovejoy, when asked about the course the company would pursue in case a boycott was placed upon the firm's materials, replied that he did not know for the course the matter any certain, as he had not given the matter any

One report received by the Press Commit-One report received by the Press Committee yesterday was to the effect that in the old plate mill Thursday one furnace had a heat of iron in to make 11x3/2 and another had a heat to make 26x3/2. Out of these heats the firm, the report says, did not get one good bar. The entire lot, it is claimed, was cut up into scrap. One of the inducements held out by the firm to obtain straighteners for the new plate mill is offered by Mr. Molamphy. He offers $4 a day, lodging and board on the condition that the workmen sleep in the mill. In addition to this they can, the Press Commit. dition to this they can, the Press Commit-tee say, have all the beer checks they de-

No Help From Railroaders. John Downey, the Grand Master of the Switchmen's Union, is in the city. He was asked if his visit here was in any way connected with the present trouble among the iron and steel workers. He replied in the negative and said: "Thus far we have received no communication from the Amalgamated Association to assist them. Furthermere, we do not expect any. If we do receive any word from them I hardly know what steps will be taken, but I hardly think we can do anything for them." Mr. Downey intimated that the switchmen had enough to do to fight their own battles.

Affairs at Duquesne are quiet. All the mills are running and a force of 800 men is at work. The officials of the company believe the strike is over and anticipate no more trouble of any kind.

A number of the locked-out men who refuse to go back to work still cherish the hope that the men will come out again. A report was current yesterday about the streets of Oliver, where the mills are located, that an attempt would be made to in-duce the men to come out on the 4 o'clock shift, but the mills were running as usual at 5 o'clock, and judging from the deserted condition of the streets the attempt, if made was a failure made, was a failure.

A Very Hopeful View. One of the locked-out men said the pros-pects for the mills to be again closed down by the workmen refusing to go back was very good. "They say we have been defeated," he continued, "but the next few days will prove that we have not." Admittance into the mills was refused a Admittance into the mills was refused a DISPATCH reporter upon orders from the office to the effect that no newspaper men would be granted an interview with the officials. The gateman said the mills were running with a full force of men and that none of the workmen had been interfered with in any way either going or coming from work. "Superintendent Morrison declined to be interviewed and referred interviewers to the Pittsburg offices," resumed the gateman. "There are two companies of militia here but there is little likelihood of their being called into service, as everything is quiet and the indications as everything is quiet and the indications are that they will remain so."

The citizens of Oliver have resumed the even tenor of their way and while they sympathize with the locked-out men most heartily, they hold the opinion that the trouble is all over and the men who have gone back will not come out again,

A STRIKE AT CRAMPS'.

Forty Men Walk Out Because a Non-Union Man Is Given Work.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12.-Yesterday morning, on beginning work, the boiler-makers employed in Cramps' shippard found that their ranks had been swelled by a new man. Learning that he was a nonunion man, the word was passed among the union workers in the shop. At 1 o'clock about 40 of the men left their work and left about 40 of the men left their work and left the shop. Last evening a meeting of the strikers was held behind closed doors, and besides transacting other business a committee was appointed to induce the boiler-makers who did not respond to the order to leave work and come out.

The condition of affairs was unchanged to-day, and no demonstration was made by the strikers. It is thought that the matter can be amicably settled by the discharge of the non-union worker or his joining the Boilermakers' Association. In the event of the failure of either of these plans, a sympathy strike is anticipated. sympathy strike is anticipated.

The Seven-Octave Plano-Organ.

This new invention combines the advantages of the organ and the piano. In tone it is equal to the best organs, while in its case, the number of its keys (seven octaves), its light action and improved pedals, it is like an upright piano.
