OFTIONS SECURED FROM THE OWNERS

Colonel James P. Low, of the office of the Supervising Architect of the Treasury Department, departed for Washington last evening prepared to recommend to the Government the purchase of a property for a ostoffice on the northwest corner of Ohio and West Diamond streets, Allegheny. Colonel Low said before leaving that $235,-000 of the appropriation was immediately available, and he believed that the land would be bought and work begun in a very short time. The agent of the Treasury Department stole a march on the local newspapers. Word was sent from Washington that he would leave there Friday evening and arrive here Saturday morning. As a matter of fact he reached Pittsburg about noon Friday and registered at the Hotel Duquesne. That afternoon he visited the Allegheny postoffice and talked with Acting Postmaster Mackey in regard to various proposed sites. Colonel Low learned that there was a general desire in Allegheny to see the Federal building erected on the Haymarket square. Inquiry had already developed the fact that the terms under which that square was dedicated to public purposes would not allow the city to offer it to the General Gov-

Yesterday Colonel Low visited the various private properties offered for a postoffice. He was accompanied by Councilman John C. Oliver, who was chairman of the joint committee of Councils that went to Washington to urge the appropriation. Half a dozen properties were viewed, all near the center of the city. The Proper Piece of Ground.

Colonel Low finally agreed, as had another agent of the Government who came here nearly a year ago, that the proper site was the corner of West Diamond and Ohio streets. The site has a frontage of 120 feet on Ohio street and extends back along West Diamond 150 feet, and is owned by three

On the corner is the old frame hotel three stories high, a relic of Allegheny antiquity, now leased and operated by William Booth This property has a frontage of 60 feet, and includes not only the old hotel, but the deserted livery stable on West Diamond street, formerly occupied by John Wilson. The property belongs to Mrs. Nettie McKee Graham, a widow, who lives at the Hotel Duquesne, and its management is in the hands of the Fidelity Title and Trust Company. On the Ohio street front the store rooms are occupied by N. F. Nolte, eigarmaker, at No. 49; Philip Miller. harness maker, at No. 51; S. Drum & Sons, insurance and real estate, at No. 53, and Wa Shing, a Chinese laundryman, on the corner. Next west of this property is the 30-foot front owned by A. D. Smith, of the firm of Smith Bros., proprietors of La Belle furnaces. This is a three-story brick house, occupied by Zimmerman's grocery and Dr. Burgoon's medical establishment. Next west is a brick building with a 30 foot front owned by the Ben Franklin Insurance Company. It is occupied by the offices of the insuran company, and by Fairman's undertaking

Colonel Low called on John B. Jackson, President of the Fidelity Title and Trust Company, A. D. Smith and the officers of Franklin Insurance Company, and secured their figures on the properties. Neither he nor Councilman Oliver were prepared to say last evening what the figures were. Mr. Oliver said that the entire site would be secured for something less than $200,000. Colonel Stone and Senator Quay, he said, had the figures, and their size could easily be inferred from the fact that the terms of the supreprinting were that the terms of the appropriation were changed so as to allow as much as $200,000 for the purchase of the site. This leaves but $50,000 of the present appropriation for the building, and that will be sufficient to carry on the work of excavating and building the foundation until Congress can make a further appropriation. Colonel Stone was in consultation with Colonel Low on Friday, but at noon yesterday left the city for a vacation at Bedford Springs. The figures could, therefore, not be secured from him. Colonel Low left for Washington last evening on the 8:10 o'clock train. Before his departure he said: "I shall report to the Tressury Department the advantages and disadvantages of about half a dozen sites, but I shall take occasion to express my opinion as to which site is the proper one. The Haymarket Square would be a good location, but as the city has not offered it to us we could not consider it. Of course, the Government could condemn that, as it could any private property, but it would not wish to do that. That land has already been dedicated to public purposes."

Colonel Low declined to say what property he would recommend, and the facts in regard to the above location were obtained from other persons with whom he conversed during his two days' visit. He is an old, experienced and trusted agent of the Supervising Architect's office, and his nendation will doubtless be accepted by the Treasury Department.

Not the Same Amarosa. It was reported yesterday that the Italian, Frank Amarosa, who was killed by a Pennsylvania Railroad train, at Torrens, Wednesday night, had been identified a the morgue as the man who, on October 11, 1891, stabbed and killed Frank Antonello in a row in the East Eud. Coroner Mc-Dowell says the truth is diametrically opposite to the published statement. The only connection between the dead man and the escaped murderer is in the name. The police have never been able to find a trace of Frank Amareras, the murderer.

Secretary Lovejoy Talks on Mr. Frick's Movements.

ANARCHIST KNOLD RELEASED.

His Friends Come to His Relief and He Is Allowed Liberty.

BERKMAN EMPLOYS AN ATTORNEY

H. C. Frick left Pittsburg yesterday. No one of his subordinates knows where the Chairman intended going, and but few of those about the Carnegie offices had information that he had gone. Mr. Frick was at his office yesterday morning, but some time during the day he disappeared. He took with him Officer McTighe, and it was reported that he would be absent for ten days at least. Secretary Lovejoy said he had no information of Mr. Frick's movements. He had heard, however, that Mr. Frick had gone away for a rest, but he had received no official notice of such a movement. "Mr. Frick has thrown his whole life into the fight which has just happily euded," Mr. Lovejoy said. "He has exhausted himself and I have no doubt he has gone to some quiet resort for a short rest. Mr. Frick has just won the greatest fight ever waged and he is certainly entitled to all the rest his business will allow him. Don't Know Where He Has Gone, "He may have hurried off to the seashore or he may have gone to Ligonier, Cresson or some other mountain resort, but whereever he is, he has not left Pittsburg through any fear, but to get a needed rest." The report that Anarchists are looking for Mr. Frick seems to have excited the police and the people generally more than it did Mr. Frick himself. The subject was liberally discussed on the streets yesterday, and the Pittsburg detectives were industrious in their efforts to overtake anyone that even looked like Aaronstamm. During the day two men answering the description of the much wanted Anarchist were stopped on the streets by the local detectives, but in each case the parties proved their identity and were allowed their liberty. Aparchist Knold Released on Bail. Carl Knold, the alleged Anarchist, was released from jail vesterday afternoon at 4 e'clock. The Court had made an order the previous day, that when Knold would furnish $7,000 bail he might be released. This he did yesterday. Assistant District Attorney Haymaker remained in the office of the Clerk of Courts with authority from Judge Ewing to approve any proper and sufficient bond that might be presented in behalf of Knold and order his release. At 4 o'clock Attorney Friedman walked into the cierk's office with five bondsmen for Knold. They were Conrad Weber, Louis Rilquer and George Rudolph, of Allegheny, and Peter Albert and Andrew Imgrunt, this city. The bail bond was only filled out with the names bondsmen attached. The document ver to jell, and after hand air. Haymaker examined the and after satisfying himself that ing was all right he ordered Knold's direct to Allegheny, and, it is said, he will return to his work on Monday. Berkman Wants an Attorney. Attorney Friedman, while in the jail yesterday, had a conversation with Berkman which is likely to terminate in Mr. Fried man being retained as counsel for the An Mr. Friedman stated last evening that a friend of Berkman's had told him that Berkman wanted to see him. Yesterday Mr. Friedman received a note from Berkman asking him to call on him in the prison. The attorney said he would de-defend him. In the conversation that took place between the two men, Berkman said he knew of no such man as Aaronstamm, so much talked about recently.

"Berkman," said Mr. Friedman, "seems perfectly at ease. He talks freely and in-telligently, reads the papers every day and seems as happy as a man could well be under the same circumstances."

NEW RECRUITS SCARCE. The Cornegie Steel Company, Limited, Se onre No More Workman for Their Upper Union Mills and Their Force Is Being Decreased Every Day, Lawrenceville workmen are still engaged in persuading the non-union workmen to leave the Upper Union Mill. Last evening they induced five more men to abandon the works. While this is continually going on it seems that the Carnegie Steel Company are getting no new recruits. It is reported that in the past 72 hours the force in the mill has not been increased by one new

The Finance Committee held a meeting yesterday from 10 o'clock in the morning until 2 in the afternoon. The entire time was devoted to considering relief claims and distributing funds among striking workmen. One of the Press Committee declares that the report that a break was contemplated by some of the men is untrue. If an ything, they are stronger than ever. When asked if it was true that they expected co-operation from the Switchmen's Union, he re-plied: "We will have no joint meet-ing with the switchmen, but some of the prominent members of the Union have been visited. They will prob-ably call a meeting, at which one of our representatives will be present to see what can be done for the Amaigamated Association in the way of helping us in this strike."

To-morrow there will be a general mass meeting at St. John's Hall, on Thirty-second street. All the Lawrenceville men will be present. President Gompers, of the Federation of Labor, and President Mc-Guire, of the Brotherhood of Carpenters, together with their colleagues, will be asked to attend. The meeting will be called at 2 o'clock in the atternoon.

One of the men who was induced to leave his position in the Union Mills yesterday said: "All but the puddling mills are in operation after a fashion. One scrap mill furnace has been closed down for repairs, the bottom having been ruined by some workmen unacquainted with the work. In place of this furnace they have started one a distant part of the mill." The semer brothers who, it is alleged, were assulted by several strikers yesterday morn ng, according to this man's statements are badly bruised. One of them has a big strip of plaster on the back of his head which overs a bad wound. The Press Committee re inclined to believe that the story of the smult is a ruse. They say the Teemer rothers are known to carry revolvers and n case of a fight it is probable that they

One afternoon Mrs. Danahey did not approach her son's bedside. He waited patiently for her coming but in vain.

The Passenger Business This Summer Is Phenom-nal, There is no let up in the excursion business. All the lines out of Pittsburg are having a phenomenal passenger traffic. James P. Anderson, general passenger agent of the Allegheny Valley road, said vesterday that the business on his line to Chautauqua was never better than it has been this summer. He is now making arrangements to take the Tariff Club to Buffalo August 31, for the national meeting of Republican clubs. The Valley and the Lake Erie have agreed on a rate of $4.75 for the round trip. The hustlers want a daylight ride, and will leave here in the morning.

E. C. Dunnavant, City Passenger Agent of the Lake Erie, says his line is selling at least 20 tickets daily to Muskoka and Grevenhurst in Canada. MEASLES ON TROY HILL. Several Deaths Owing to Lack of Promp Medical Attention. Nearly every family on Troy Hill has had one or more cases of measles within the last few week. Dr. J. T. The physician said he could give no reason for the prevalence of typhoid fever, as that part of Allegheny has an excellent sunitary system and the drainage is good. There is little if any malaria here," he continued," and I am at a loss to account for the prevalence of the dis-ease. Fortunately the typhoid patients are not confined to any one neighborhood, and there is not much danger of it becom-ing dangerous, as the cases are quickly re-ported and a physician is called before it assumes any alarming phases. With the other complaint there is less care shown. Nearly every child upon Mt. Troy has had the measles or is now suffering with it. In a number of instances entire families have been down at once, and there have been some few deaths. The people here do not attach much importance to the

Father Mollinger's Heirs Write to Attorney Mueller.

Brother, a Sister, Nieces and Nephews Come in for a Part.

THE ESTATE WILL SOON BE DIVIDED

THOSE NEW YORK COUSING CUT OFF

The heirs to the estate of Father Molinger have written to Attorney Mueller from their home in Holland, claiming the lead priest's property. From information in the communication there are two direct heirs and the children of a dead prother and sister. Each will, they claim, come in for a fourth of the estate of the priest-physician, and the New York cousins are cut off entirely from the inheritance. Gregor Meyer, the Ohio street liquor dealer, who was by the Court appointed administrator of the eastate of Father Molinger, was seen by a DISPATCH reporter last night, and said the Hoffmans, of New York, would not come in for any portion of the inheritance. "Attorney Mueller," continued the administrator, "who was Father Mollinger's lawyer, is now acting with me in the disposition of the property. He reland some time this week. Two Brothers and Two Msters. According to this communication there is a brother, a sister and two families who will come in for an equal share, or onefourth of the real and personal property. Father Mollinger had two brothers and two sisters. Each of the four married and have or had families. One brother and one sister are dead and the other brother and sister are living. The latter two have quite large families and the widow and widower of the dead also have several children. The living brother and sister will each receive a fourth of the estate and the remaining half will be equally distrib-uted among nieces and nephews of Father Mollinger, who are the children of his dead brother and sister. The distribution will be made according to the laws of Pennsyl-vania and age will not entitle one to a greater share than another. The personal estate is about $70,000 and the real estate has not yet been estimated. What the entire amount of inheritance will be I cannot say at present. It will not be any vast sum at any rate, but as the worldly the heirs is not one of great luxury the inheritance will be most acceptable. All of the heirs reside in Holland, and, from what heard from Father Mollinger while he was living, the family was not wealthy. Money will go much further in Holland than it will in America, and what seems a small inheritance to an American will seem much larger in that country.

Estranged From His Family "The money will be something of a surprise, too," went on Mr. Mayer, "as the priest was estranged from his brothers and sisters over some cause or other, and I believe he intended giving his entire property to the Church. I do not know what was the cause of this family misunderstanding, as Father Mollinger very seldom talked of such matters, but I think it had something to do with his leaving his profession as physician to enter the priesthood. Father Mollinger was of a very decided nature and when he once undertook a venture of any kind he continued at it until he was satisfied. That, I think, is the secret of his phenomenal success. He threw himself entirely into his work and studied most diligently. Of course this decisive nature made it difficult for him to posed him, and that was what his relatives get along with those who determinedly op-

"Has the search for the will been discon-"replied Mr. Meyer. "There i no use or hope in keeping up the search. Every possible, and, I may say, almost im-possible, place has been examined without any of the expected results, and everybody has agreed in believing we looked in the practical places, and then, at the dictation of innatics upon one subject or other, in the impractical places, and the efforts have all proven vain. Satisfied No Will Was Left. "We are now convinced beyond a doubt that no will was left by Father Mollinger, and now that the relatives have been heard from it will not be a great while before the affair will be concluded and the property turned over to the heirs."

"What disposition will be made of the relics?" asked the reporter.
"It is too early to talk of the relics, as we have but just heard from the relatives and the letter was concise and simply gave the information regarding the number of living heirs who are next of kin. We shall open communication with them at once, and in the course of time shall have the matter straightened up. The relies will be turned over to the heirs together with the money, and they will make what disposition of them that they see fit.' "Has anything further been heard from the Hoffmans? "No more than has already been published They are relatives beyond the first blood, being second cousins and more distant than that. The finding of direct blood relations will, of course, prevent the New Yorkers from receiving any part of the estate and the Hoffmans and all others of distant relationship will not come in at all.'

An effort was made to secure the letter last night, but Attorney Mueller, in whose possession it now is, did not have it at home and was worn out with a tiresome on Troy Hill the people seldom talk of either the dead priest or his will. The memory remains as sacred as ever, but the excitement has died away, and those who excitement has died away, and those who a short time ago talked incessantly of the new developments, or that which had become a tradition, seldom mention the subject. The quiet little chapel and red brick house stand silent and deserted. The hinges upon the iron gates are rusting from want of use and the black draping that hangs from the windows has faded an ugly dark brown from exposure in the wind and rain. An occasional visitor passes the chapel and stops in the house

A meeting was held last night at Post 161, G. A. R., Hall, 49 West Diamond street, Allegheny, at which William G. Griffith was indorsed as a candidate for Mayor of Allegheny, to succeed Mayor Kennedy next spring. It is intended by the G. A. R. men to push Comrade Griffith to the front as a"people's or citizens" can-didate. The soldiers state that he is not their choice simply because he is a veteran, but is their choice as a citizen. It was upon this principle that the

It appeared at first that there would not be a representation large enough to give the occasion the dignity it should have. Shortly before 9 o'clock there were only six persons present. Shortly afterward more persons entered, and when the call to order was made there were present about 40 persons, including members of the Grand Army, 12 members of the Jr. O. U. A. M., and other persons irrespective of any organization. Captain J. K. Barbour was called to the chair and Charles F. Sherrif acted as secretary. Walter Fitzgerald, a representativ of Peerless Council, of the American Me-chanics, stated that there were present in the room a number of American Mechanics and that they wished through him to signify the pleasure they had in learning of the candidacy of Mr. Griffith and that they would support him.

A letter was read from Mr. Griffith recit ing that as he had frequently been asked to consent to the use of his name as a caudidate for the nomination he was ready to comply therewith. A motion was made that the meeting in-dorse Mr. Griffith's candidacy. This was assented to and the body adjourned until next Saturday, when a plan will be agreed upon to further the campaign. Committees will be appointed and on the Saturday following a general mass meeting will be held and ward officers will be chosen to boom Mr. Griffith.

The candidate is a well-known business man of Allegheny, and was connected with the One Hundredth Pennsylvania Volun-Pursuant to this action there is a move ment on foot among a number of G. A. R. men to again place Major Tyler in nomination. His defeat by Mayor Kennedy, it is said, has not weakened his popularity.

AFRAID OF WISCONSIN.

Ex-Senator Spooner Is Not Sure That His State Will Go Republican. Ex-Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, was or the limited last evening returning home from the seashore. He was one of the Harrison leaders at Minneapolis, and did much toward renominating the President. He is confident of Republican success, but is not sure of his own State.
"Wisconsin," he said, "may be a little doubtful. You know how we were knocked topsy-turvy in 1890 by the school issue. The law was offensive and has been re-pealed, but it still sticks in the people. I opposed the school measure and can never defend it. It was a great mistake, and now Illinois is wrestling with the same problem. I do not take my defeat for the Senate as at all personal. It was necessary to elect a Legislature that would repeal the school law and the people did it. I am not posted on the situation in Michigan, but the gerrymander is a bad thing for us. There is no danger of Nebraska or Kansas going Democratic. The defeat of agalls ought to make Kansas Republican. The people must be weary to see a man like Peffer representing them in the Senate. The contrast with Ingalls is so great that the election of Peffer now looks ridiculous."

Mr. Spooner says he has too much re-spect for Tom Platt's Republicanism to think that he needs to be placated by the think that he needs to be placated by the President on personal grounds. TOO HOT FOR POLITICS. The Democratic School District Organiza tion Lying Dormant. Since the campaign of last fall nothing has been heard of the Democratic school district organization in Allegheny county.

Secretary Frank Guffey was asked yesterday if anything was being done.

'Nothing for the present," he replied.

'The weather is too hot for political work, but I suppose we will be heard from later on. I do not know whether the organization will be revived or allowed to lave. to lapse. The plan is a very good one, and I understand is modeled after Tammany in New York. The people in the association are not in politics for spoils, but the good of the party. It is always difficult to hold the interest under such circumstances. The man who is in politics for the money in the business can be depended on to do his work.

I hope that the organization will be continued." years after the death of Christ, the sainted mother of the Son of God, made man, re-linquished her hold upon a life of mortality and her soul passed away to heaven. After the separation of the soul from the body angels of God came down from heaven and bore the inanimate form of she who had given birth to the Savior to heaven, where the soul and the body were again joined as they had been in life. This was the re-ward from the Almighty Ruler to the daughter of man for bearing the Holy Son of God. This in the Catholic religion anticipates the general resurrection of man-kind at the judgment day, and illustrates how the mortal bodies and spiritual souls will be joined together in heaven.
