CONVULSION ON MARS.

An Improvement in the Big Telescope on Observatory Hill

SHOWS SOME WONDROUS CHANGES.

Oceans and Continents Rapidly Changing Their Locations.

KEEPING THE INHABITANTS HUSTLING

A new steel tube for the great telescop in the Allegheny Observatory was mounted Bunday afternoon, and Prof. Keeler is much pleased with the improvement in his pet instrument. The old tube was of wood. With a steel tube the image is much more clearly defined than with a wooden one. The steel tube more rapidly equalizes the temperature. One degree difference of temperature between the two sides of the tube would very materially injure the definition of the image.

The new tube, 15 feet long, was made by Prof. Brushear, and he and his whole force of workmen were occupied all afternoon in putting it into place and adjusting the many appurtenances to it in the way of finding glasses, levers, etc. A few of the outer pieces are yet to be attached.

The work being so far finished Sunday night that the telescope was again ready for use, Prof. Keeler took his place in the blue dome and set the great instrument for another study of the fiery planet which is now occupying the attention of astronomers the world over.

One Island Splits Into Two, He was delighted to find that his view of Mars was the best and clearest yet obtained. The atmosphere was lucid, the new tube gave a clearer outline and the bright planet was seen in unwonted splendor. Prof. Keeler is giving his attention to the markings on the planet's surface. He devoted himself Sunday night to a certain spot on the planet, which he studied carefully and of which he made a neat map. This map, when compared vesterday with the plan of Schiaparelli and another map of the planet, both made in 1888, showed that great changes are taking place on the sur-tace of Mars. The spot viewed by Prof. Keeler was on the border of the great Northern Sea. There, in the old map, was a well-defined inland lake, surrounded by a circular rim of land, on the one side jutting into the ocean, and on the other being separated from the mainland by canals. At present this round island with its little lake in the center has divided into two islands, each having a central lake. This has taken place in four years, and denotes rapid alterations in land and sea. But this is not the only change observable.

Very Lively Times on the Planet. The land in Mars is of a clay color, while the ocean shows a watery green. The outer rim of land around the lake closest to the sea does not reveal a clear yellowish tinge but is becoming gradually green, showing that the ocean is overflowing the land slowly but surely. Out in the sea beyond this point there was four years ago a bright little island, one of the most distinct spots on the Martial landscape. This island has grown considerably in size, and begins to take on the proportions of a continent. As the ocean retreats from it and leaves its surface larger and larger, the water en-cronches correspondingly on the low parts of the mainland Some of these changes indicate that Mars is going through a period of convulsion such as the earth experienced in the prehistoric ages, when there were great and rapid changes in the outlines of land and seas Where there were then great seas there are now mountains and plains, and where the mythical Atlantis reared its green slope. now roll the wild waters of the Atlantic. If there are inhabitants in Mars they have a lively time of it.

Florists Go to Washington.

A number of florists left the city yesterday to attend the annual convention in Washington. The cars in which they traveled were almost hidden behind walls of flowers, and were much admired. Golden rod and cut flowers were used promiscuously to decorate the interior and exterior of the to decorate the interior and exterior of the chair cars. In the party were G. Oesterle, W. R. Watson, E. Ludwig, J. Ludwig, T. F. Beckert, E. Thiel, E. R. Reineman, John Bader, R. C. Patterson, W. Patterson, H. Hamilton, John Herron, T. Siebert, John Maybury, John Manning, Frederick Byrke, R. Falk, Alex. Murdoch.

Opening the Prohibition Campaign.

The Prohibition party, of Allegheny county, have opened quarters on the second floor of the building at the corner of Fourth floor of the building at the corner of Fourth avenue and Wood street. Yesterday afternoon the Executive Committee met at 3 o'clock and completed arrangements for a lecture to be given by Mrs. Helen M. Gougar, at the Grand Opera House, Friday evening, August 19, at 7:45 o'clock. Miss Annie Parks, the coronetist, will assist Mrs. Gougar. Mrs. Gougar.

The Mayor Had no Jurisdiction.

Judge Stowe vesterday heard the arguments in the habens corpus proceedings brought to secure the release of Margaret Hanlon from the Workhouse. She was committed for 30 days by Mayor Tilbrook, of McKeesport, on a charge of keeping a disorderly house. Judge Stowe discharged her from custody on the ground that it was not shown by what authority the Mayor had jurisdiction in the case.

Dalzell Confident All Around.

Congressman Dalzell returned from Cape May yesterday. He is not losing any sleep he said, over his re-election. He is for George Miller for Internal Collector, and will not compromise on any other man. He predicts Republican suc-cess in the Presidental campaign. He says nobody can figure on the Farmers' Alli-ance or the school question in Wisconsin.

MARRIED UNDER COMPULSION. Charles A. Filson Gives a Strange Bosso

for App'ying for a Divorce, Charles A. Filson yesterday sned for a divorce from Mary N. Filson. They were married in February, 1888, but never lived together. He states that he married her under force and coercion. He was in prison at Monongahela City at the time on false charges prepared against him by her. He could not get bail and the only way to se-cure his release was to marry the prosecu-trix, which he did. After their marriage, he alleges, they never recognized each other as man and wife and he now wants a divorce from her,

Issued by Some Other Judge.

The New York Sun says that the attorney for the Jersey City ballot box stuffers, Moschell, Hart and Fallon, has secured a writ of habeas corpus, returnable in this city to-morrow. The clerk of the Circuit Court here says that no such writ has been issued by Judge Acheson. He thinks the writ is probably returnable to Judge Breen at Trenton, N. J. He is a District Judge, but at times sits in Circuit Court.
