Chairman Carter Perfectly Delighted With the Good News.

HE BURRIES WITH IT TO PHILADELPHIA

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.) NEW YORK, Aug. 17 .- There was great rejoicing in both the National and State camps of the Republican organization tonight over the news that Senator Matthew Stanley Quay, of Pennsylvania, and ex-Senator Thomas Collier Platt, of New York, who have held aloof from active participation in the Presidental campaign, have finally picked up their tongs and jumped on the Harrison ice wagon alongside General James S. Clarkson, to work hand-in-hand with Thomas Henry Carter, from henceforth to November 8 next.

Hamilton Disston, of Philadelphia, brought the news of Mr. Quay's placation this morning in the shape of a letter from the Pennsylvania Senator to Chairman Carter. So happy was the Chairman that, though he had but just returned from a two days' visit to Washington, he posted off at once to the Quaker City to consult with the man who so successfully conducted the Republican campaign in 1888.

What Mr. Quay's message to Mr. Carter contained Mr. Disston would not say. He did say, however, that it had come to him through David Martin, the national committeeman for the Keystone State Republicans, and that it conveyed assurances which leave no doubt as to Mr. Quay's loyalty to the Republican Presidental ticket.

Platt's Placation Announced.

The fact that Mr. Platt's influence in the Republican party of this State had been duly recognized by the administration was officially announced at the State headquarters in the Fifth Avenue Hotel to-night. It was said that Mr. Platt had an interview with Chairman Hackett, of the Republican State Executive Committee, to-day, at which the Republican leader made the first public declaration of his attitude toward the ticket since its nomination at Minneapolis.

Mr. Platt said that he would like an active part in the campaign in this State, and would aid the State committee in every way in his power. Mr. Hackett expressed a lively satisfaction at this declaration. "If every professed Republican in the State were as good a partisan as Mr. Platt," said he, "there would be little doubt as to the nesult." The interview between Mr. Platt and Mr. Hackett was held at Mr. Platt's downtown office this afternoon by appoint-

An Immediate Effect Noticeable.

The effect of the announcement that Quay and Platt had decided to come into the fold was very noticeable at both 518 Fifth avenue State beadquarters in the Fifth Avenue Hotel. The machinery, which has been standing still, waiting for motive power, began to grind, and the wheels went for the first time. Press Agent Lemuel Ely Quigg opened his bureau at National headquarters, but his typewriting force was not ready, so that he was unprepared to reel off information by the yard, as it is his purpose to do in the future. For the first time since the establishment of headquarters the announcement was made that there was news to be given out.

Chairman Carter saw no one before his departure for Philadelphia at 12:20 o'clock but Mr. Disston and Senator Hausbrough, of North Dakota, General Clarkson and Richard C. Kerens, the Missouri member of the National Committee. It was whispered that one object of Mr. Carter's visit was to induce Senator Quay to lend the weight of his influence and experience for the benefit of the executive campaign committee by joining it in an advisory capacity, What Chairman Carter Missed,

So precipitate was the Chairman's departure for Philadelphia that he missed seeing Judge A. H. Leonard and ex-Congressman R. C. Miner, of Louisiana, who have had an appointment to discuss with him the subject of the National Committee's recog-nizing the Leonard faction of the Republicans in that State as regular, as against the taction headed by ex-Governor Warmouth. The gentlemen sired their grievances before General Clarkson and Secretary McComas. Other visitors to the Republican national

and Printing at Washington; Postmaster W. W. Johnson, of Baltimore; Harry C. New, of the Indianapolis Journal, Major Alexander Shaw, of Maryland. Chairman Carter will return to his desk to-morrow. At the Republican State Committee's headquarters a list of visitors was given out, including the names of Congress man Quackenbush, of Troy; State Senators Joseph Mullin and John H. Derby, Assem blyman Milo M. Acker, of Steuben; Colonel H. E. Abell, of Albany, and Rev. Dr. William B. Derrick and T. Thomas Fortune. Dr. Derrick will stump the State, despite the fact that he was defeated for reelection as the colored member of the State Committee. Mr. Hackett will be relieved

Gresham, but, although he was stopping less than three blocks from the Republican National Headquarters, he did not call on General Clarkson. Judge Gresham had come over from Thompson, Conn., to visit Colonel Robert Ingersoll, and had put up at the Windsor Hotel for a few hours. He refused to be interviewed regarding his at-PUNKSUTAWNEY, Aug. 17 .- [Special]-The conference here is deadlocked, from the present outlook. In the meeting of the candidates at 9 o'clock this morning nothing whatever was accomplished. The conferees held three sessions to-day and took a number of hallots, the total being 209. It seems to the people here that one delega-tion is trying to starve the other into sub-mission. There appears to be no solution of the problem but to wait.

grounds was well filled this afternoon, when Congressional Nominee Sibley was announced as chairman of the day. He opened with a burst of oratory in regard to the "American House of Lords." He then very cleverly introduced one of the lords in the person of United States Senator Peffer, the speaker of the day, as an illustrious child of Pennsylvania and a citizen of Kansas. The theme which the Senator had chosen was "A New Bra in Politics." He said:

We people of Kansas are a peculiar people. We have started a new ara in polities which will sweep triumpnantly over the whole land. What do I mean by the new era in polities? I will tell you. A time has come which will raise up just, humane institutions and not break them down—a rebellion of thought and mind that will benefit aff mankind, and not a chosen few, and instead of its being a government of a class, by a class and for a class, it will be of the people, for the people and by the people. for the people and by the people.

for the people and by the people.

The Senator then entered into the historical aspect of the question, going over the growth of the country and its industries, showing how happy and prosperous people were in the "good old time" in their individual liberty until the present form of centralization of industries began. To-day the great mass of the people are depending upon the few who control the great industries and own the capital necessary to operate them. He depicted the evils of the time, but could not give his hearers what they wanted, namely, a good, reasonable way to remedy the existing state of affaira. Referring to the present labor troubles, he gave three remedies: First, let them alone as long as they do not destroy property, and gave three remedies: First, let them alone as long as they do not destroy property, and let them settle it themselves. Second, if the State must interfere, it should do so in favor of both. Third, if the Government must interfere, then own and operate these industries. Hon. Jerry Simpson was un-

PUSION IN ALABAMA.

Republicans and People's Party Men Agree to Trot in Double Harness.

BIEMINGHAM, ALA., Aug. 17.—The Kolb Executive Committee and the People's party Executive Committee held a joint session here to-day. They worked together in perfect harmony, and wound up by issu-ing a call for a joint convention to put out candidates for Congress and Presidental electors.

The fusion convention is to meet in Birmingham September 15. General Weaver, candidate for President, is announced to be present and make a speech. Leading Re-publicans say the Republicans will take down their electoral ticket.

Fusion Likely in North Dakota, FARGO, N. D., Aug. 17 .- Prominent Independents and Democrats have been in the city conferring with a view to fusion. The plans are that Shortbridge, independent candidate for Governor, is to be indorsed, while Tregen, candidate for Congress, is to be set aside for a Democrat—probably John D. Penton, of Fargo. It is almost certain the deal will be effected, and the Democrata will secure the electoral votes. Tregen said he would still be in the race, and the fight would be a three-cornered one. Should the Democrats indorse Shortbridge it is believed he will be elected.

Six thousand Knights of Pythias from all parts of the State paradedt through the two cities yesterday. The Union Division of Philadelphia had their crack drilling company of 24 men in line. The Mt. Washington, Homestead and Smoky City lodges also attracted a great deal of attention along the line.

Formation of the Parade. The time for the procession to move was 2 o'clock, but there was the usual delay and the front of the column did not get started until nearly 3. It was variously estimated that from 5,000 to 6,000 men were in line. The order of formation of the line was as

Reviewed by Grand Lodge Officers. The parade after passing over the route as given in yesterday morning's DISPATCH reached Sherman avenue about 4 o'clock, where they passed in review before the officers of the Grand Lodge; the Reception Committee, all of the standing committees, the Supreme Representative, Past Grand Chancellors and the Marshals. A great crowd had gathered there and watched the review with great interest. The review was finished at 5 o'clock and the Knights dispersed. One peculiarity rethe Knights dispersed. One peculiarity remarked by a great many people was the rapid step taken by the Knights throughout the line of march. They were going very near double quick time. Not a few complaints were heard about the length of the route, but, notwithstanding the heat, very few dropped out of line until atter they had passed the review. The whole event passed off smoothly, the only hitches being caused by the rapid transit cars and the large proby the rapid transit cars and the large procession attempting to occupy the narro streets at the same time. Although the committee in charge of the formation did all in their power to place the men in their positions, there were some 450 men who could not find out where they were to go and so did not appear in the parade. A great many of them went over to Sherman avenue and watched the review.

DISCUSSING DEATH BENEFITS.

The Second Day's Session of the Grand Lodge an Interesting One-Conferring of Past Chancellor Degrees-Some Prize Drills To-Day.

The second day's session of the Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias opened at 9 o'clock at the Grand Opera House yesterday morning. There was a larger number of delegetes present than at the former session. The meeting was called to order by the Grand Chancellor and the roll was called, after which the password was taken by the sergeant-st-arms. The minutes of yesterday's meeting were read and approved. Then the interesting ceremony of conferring the past chancellor's degrees upon 52 past chancellors was gone through, after which the report of the Committee of Finance was read and adopted as presented.

The Most Interesting Feature.

Then came the most interesting feature Then came the most interesting feature of the day's session. It was the report of the Advisory Committee of the relief fund. This is an optional benefit for the members of the order and pays $250 upon death. The fee is 25 cents per mouth, subject to assessments if necessary. It was proposed to take the control of that department out of the hands of the Grand Lodge and place it under the control of the subordinate divisions. Heretofore the Grand Lodge has appointed all the officers of the relief fund and has managed all its affairs. The Grand Lodge officials ex-officio are members of the Advisory Committee who control the fund. Membership can only be obtained by application and ballot through the subordinate lodge to which the applicant belongs. Thus every member is made a guard against the admittance of anyone who is not in good health.

A great many members of the order contend that the government of the relief fund should be in the hands of those who are members of it, and that it should not be governed by the Grand Lodge. The subject will hardly be acted upon at this convention as it was not known that it would be brought up and the delegates were not instructed how to vote on the matter. The delegates do not seem disposed to take the responsibility themselves. The meeting ad-Continued on Etahth Page

DOBLE SAYS SHE'LL GO FASTER

Thousands on the Chicago Track Wildly Cheer the Great Feat.

NANCY NEVER TOUCHED BY THE WHIP

CHICAGO, Aug. 17. - Maud S. is no longer queen of the trotting turf. The proud position which the daughter of Harold has held so long has been wrested from her, and Nancy Hanks reigns in her stead. This afternoon at Washington Park, in the presence of 10,000 spectators, Budd Doble drove his beautiful mare to beat her record of 2:09. She not only beat her own record, but lowered the world's trotting record from 2:08%, the time of Maud S., to 2:0714

The day was an ideal day for trotting, the sun shining warmly, hardly a cloud in the sky and a cool, gentle breeze blowing off Lake Michigan directly down the homestretch. The track was a trifle dusty in places, but as fast as it well could be. The mare was in excellent condition, fit to trot for a man's life, and before she made the trial it was the general opinion that if Nancy Hanks was ever to equal her record of 2:09, Washington Park and to-day were the place and time to do it. Everything was auspicious, there was nothing to pre vent the mare from doing her best, and it rested alone with her and Doble how far the record was to be lowered. Nancy Appears on the Track.

It was about 3 o'clock when Nancy first came up on the track. She passed the grand stand, while the other horses were scoring, and received but little recognition. An hour later she was out and went portions of the track at a 2:20 clip. She was warmly greeted this time, and after jogging a mile went to the stable and was rubbed down, preparatory to her trial heat, which was scheduled for 5 o'clock.

Punctually to the minute the gate at the east end of the track was opened and Doble drove her out. She was without boots or trappings of any sort, and was hitched to one of the new sulkies with ball bearings and pneumatic tires. Doble walked her slowly to the head of the lower turn and then came back to the wire at a gentle pace. After waiting a few moments until a drag which had gone around the track close to the pole had left the track, Doble drove her back to the sixteenth pole and then came down at a smashing gait.

Started on Her Fleet Mission. Frank Starr, behind the pacemaker Abe Lincoln, was waiting for him. Starter Walker leaned far over the railing of the judges' stand, his eyes on Doble's face, watching to see if he wanted the word. Just as the mare shot beneath the wire Doble shook his head. Mr. Walker drew back and Abe Lincoln pulled walker drew back and Abe Lincoln pulled up to await a second trial. Back to the distance flag this time, and at a gentle trot, which increased rapidly as she drew near the wire, a nod from Doble and "Go" flashed from Walker's lips as the mare shot like an arrow toward the turn and for the first sixteenth of a mile he lost ground steadily. Then Starr urged him on, and he was on Nancy's wheel at the quarand he was on Nanoy's wheel at the quar-ter. There was not a sound in the densely packed grand stand as the mare fiew past the quarter pole in :31½—a 2:06 gait. She started along the back stretch, trotting as true as a die, head well up, and her feet striking the ground with the regularity of a pendulum. The crowd began to murmur, pendulum. The crowd began to murmur, "She'll never do it; never in the world," but the old timers outlined Doble's gray jacket against the picket fence beyond him, and as she passed them so rapidly that they seemed to be going backward they held their breath and said nothing.

A Swift Half Mile Cheered They knew that the record was going

As the mare, still keeping up her beautiful gait, went by the half-mile pole in 1:03% a man in front of the grand stand called, "1:04 at the half," a mighty yell went up from the crowd. "Keep quiet as she finishes," shouted Starter Walker, but his warning was not needed. The growd had subsided of its needed. The crowd had subsided of its own accord. It's own breathless interest in the event kept it quiet. Not a sound was heard as she moved past the three-quarter pole and turned into the home stretch. Abe Lincoln under the whip moved up to Nancy's throat latch. Doble spoke gently to her and her feet flew faster than the eye could distinguish them.

"She'll do it; she'll do it, by --!"
yelled an irrepressible, and there was a faint yell as the fastest quartet of pattering hoofs ever heard on a trotting track swept under the wire. There was a moment's pause, a hasty consulting of watches and then an umbrella went sailing into the air from near the grand stand. It was accompanied by loud-lunged howls, and then bedlam broke loose.

Everybody Wild With Excitement. Hats, canes and coats were now tossed wildly into the air. Men slapped each other on the back and shook hands with each other in sheer delight. Incidentally they kept on yelling. The loud cheers which went up told Doble even before he had slowed up that the record was broken, and as he came back to the judges stand his face was covered with a smile as wide as the visor of his cap. He had said that Nancy Hanks would beat the record, and she had done it. As Doble dismounted from his sulky he

As Doble dismounted from his sulky he was surrounded by men, who wrung his hand again and again. When he had a chance to use a hand he litted his cap in acknowledgment of the cheers of the crowd. Lould calls for "Doble, Doble" went up, and the veteran reinsman, climbing into the grand stand, again removed his cap from that head which holds so much knowledge concerning trotters, and bowed repeatedly to the wild applause that greeted him. For the New Queen and Her Driver.

"Three cheers for Nancy Hanks," shouted Starter Walker, and they came from 10,000 throats with wild enthusiasm. "Now three cheers for the man who drove her," and again the air was shivered and hats, coats, handkerehiefs and about everything else that could be thrown up-ward were sent in that direction. It was fully ten minutes before the tumult sub-sided.

The official time for the mile, which was as The official time for the mile, which was as honest a mile as was ever trotted is :31½, 1:08¾, 1:36½, 2:07¼. The last quarter was trotted in 30¾ seconds. The exhibition was given for a certain sum to be paid by the Northwestern Breeders' Association, under whose direction the trotting meeting is being held. An additional sum was to be paid if the record was beaten, but Doble declined to say what it was. He waxed enthusiastic in speaking of his mare after the heat was over.

"She is, in my opinion," he said, "without a peer on the trotting tur." She was not distressed in the slightest degree at the end of the mile and finished fresh and strong. Within 20 minutes after trotting

A Daughter of Happy Medium.

Nancy Hanks, the queen of the trotting turt, is a bay mare, six years old, 15% hands high. She was sired by Happy Medium out of a Dictator mare.

Abe Lincoln, the running horse who helped Nancy along to glory, is a bay horse with something of a history. He was formerly the property of Adam Forepaugh, Jr., who used him for many years about the circus, his good points being his perfect gentleness and a fondness for the society of elephants, of which horses in general stand in mortal terror. Because of his level head, obedience and thorough reliability ha was taken by Doble as pace-

"Take down your shoe. We hold the record now." ABOUT THE RECORDS.

Marks That Save Been Lowered by the New Trotting Queen. All patrons of the trotting track will be startled to-day when they learn of the above performance of Nancy Hanks. For a long time Maud S has held sway on the regulation track, and there were many who thought that the only trotter capable of lowering her mark was Sunol. Mr. Bonner, owner of both the mares named, stated this the other day, but the feat has been seconnlished.

this the other day, but the feat has been accomplished.

Maud S made her famous record of 2:083, on the Cleveland track on July 30, 1885. She was driven by W. W. Bair.

On the 20th of last October Sunol startled the world by going the mile in 2:083, on the kite-shaped track at Stockton, Cal. She was driven by Charles Marvin, now at Meadville. There was much opposition to this record because of its being made on a kite-shaped track.

Nancy Hanks, the new Queen, is extremely well bred. She is by Happy Medium and she by Hambletonian. Her dam was Nancy Lee, and she was by Dio-
