

LAW TO BE ENFORCED.

Labor Leaders Will See That Eight Hours is a Day's Work.

IT IS NOT TO BE A DEAD LETTER.

Mr. Edbrooke's Figures Doubled by Mr. Oyster and Others.

FUND FOR THE G. A. R. NOT YET RAISED

(FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—There is little doubt that before long some one or more of the Government or District officials will be in trouble on account of the non-enforcement of the eight-hour law.

One of these is an opinion of Supervising Architect Edbrooke, which has been widely quoted within the last day or two, that the operation of this law will entail an increase of $3,000,000 a year in the construction of public buildings.

The attorney for the District, Mr. Hazleton, has decided that the engineers of the water works may work 12 hours, as heretofore, because the law provides that in extraordinary emergencies there may be a legal infringement of the eight-hour law.

Some Cases Where It Doesn't Go. The attorney for the District, Mr. Hazleton, has decided that the engineers of the water works may work 12 hours, as heretofore, because the law provides that in extraordinary emergencies there may be a legal infringement of the eight-hour law.

The Moral Effect of the Law. One of the chief arguments advanced in opposition to the enactment of the law has been little referred to in the public prints. It was brought forward first by Charles Cramp, the Philadelphia ship builder.

Why? said Mr. Oyster, "that is what I have been trying to impress upon you all along. I have said that it is not for you that a day of eight hours for the hands of workmen employed by the Government is an insignificant thing, but the moral effect will be immeasurable. The Government law will soon leave the whole lump."

When the committee representing hotel-keepers, saloonkeepers, pension agents and street railway managers, with, of course, a patriotic and enthusiastic contingent of war-worn veterans of the Union army, interested only on account of sacred memories, visited Detroit a year ago, for the purpose of inducing the Grand Army to hold its next annual encampment at the National Capital, that portion of the committee which claimed to speak for the solid financial multitudes of the city flourished in the faces of the G. A. R. leaders and the advocates of other cities, which asked for the honor of the encampment, promises to pay amounting to $100,000.

Not All the Sum Yet Raised. By stress of hard work, even to begging from door to door and from office room to office room, the "Committee on Finance" has succeeded in getting about $40,000, taking sums as low as a dollar, and to-day it comes out in the public prints with a whining request that the citizens come down with the remaining money.

I wrote yesterday, to save further expenditure out of their own pockets, these people who pledged themselves for $100,000 invaded the splendid public school edifices, take them without shadow of law, transform them into barracks, and deprive the tens of thousands of children of the District of a month's instruction.

While everyone in the District, even the many ex-Confederates, want to see the veterans well entertained and a grand time given them, pretty nearly everybody outside of the committee is denouncing the performance of the managers as outrageously disgraceful.

Schemes for a National Militia.

The frequent calls for the militia force of the States of late have again revived a daring project of the regular army officers to organize and equip a national militia, which will be subject to the call of the Federal Government at any time, and which, of course, they would expect to be virtually transformed into regulars after seeing a little active service.

A Growing Danger for Instruction. "Of late years there has been a growing and unfeeling desire on the part of the Government to disseminate military instruction among the people. This important question resolves itself into two parts: First, to train the requisite number of men to be disciplined and drilled; second, how shall the Government be guaranteed that in time of need it can command the services of the identical men upon whom it has spent its time and money."

Next, let us establish a standard militia, arm and fix the price to be paid for him. On looking the world over you will find that there is no commodity in its market whose price varies so much as that of the soldier. A soldier costs the German per year $202, France $209, England $448 and the United States $900.

False Economy. Is practiced by people who buy inferior articles of food because cheaper than standard goods. Infants are entitled to the best food obtainable. It is a fact that the Gail Borden "Eagle" Brand Condensed Milk is the best infant food.

The Iron City Milling Company. The great popularity with the trade which this firm enjoys is due to the superior quality of the "Rosalia" and "Our Best" brands of flour which they are now manufacturing.

Pittsburgh Female College.

A very handsome new catalogue has been issued by the college for the ensuing year. Few changes have been made in the faculty, while several additional teachers have been added.

SITUATIONS are frequently obtained by a small cent-a-word advt. The Sunday DISPATCH is by far the best medium for the purpose.
