GERMAN-AMERICANS TAFFY CLEVELAND

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] NEW YORK, Aug. 22.-Among the visitors Mr. Carter received at the Republican National headquarters on Fifth avenue today was Governor McKinley, of Ohio. The Governor also saw Secretary McComas and General Clarkson. Mr. McKinley was informed that he was in great demand for campaign speeches, and that there hardly a State in the Union which has not called for at least one speech from him. He said that he hoped to take an active part in the campaign, and would speak wherever the committee desired.

Regarding the situation in Ohio, he said: "The situation is as favorable as we have any right to expect. The question with us, of all other questions, is the tariff. Our people do not want it disturbed, and won't have it disturbed, and as long as the Democrats conduct their campaigns on the free trade issue they must expect an overwhelming verdict against them in Ohio.

Governor McKinley left for Seabright today. He will proceed to Brattleboro in a day or two, and will speak in Burlington August 30. His engagements in Maine are for September 5 and 6, at places to be designated by Joe Manley.

A Bone to Pick With Carter.

Senator Wilbur F. Sanders, of Montana, was also a visitor to headquarters. He is one of the 16 United States Senators who went to Minneapolis bitterly op-posed to the renomination of Har-rison, and he is said not to be quite placated yet. Senator Sanders has a bone to pick with Chairman Carter. Mr. Sanders is the short-term Senator from Montana, and Mr. Carter is said to have a longing to succeed him. To fur-ther his interests in this regard the Republican Chairman is said to have ignored a request for money made by the Chairman of the Republican State Committee of Montana, who is a friend of Senator Sanders, and to have sent the needed sum, instead, to one of his lieutenants for disbursement, so that it might not be used to further the interest of the present Senator.

Chairman Carter announced that many callers to-day were from the Southern States, and that they furnished him with glowing accounts of the possibility of Republican success there through Democratic disaffection. One of these was John W. Conner, of Knoxville, who said the Republican majority up in Eastern Tennessee would be largely increased, and that the Alliance vote will seriously affect the Democrats in the western and middle parts of the New Jersey to Have a Big Meeting.

Major Carl Lentz, Chairman of the Essex County Republican Committee, and ex-Congressman John Mean and Postmaster Edward L. Conkling, of New York, called at headquarters to secure speakers for a mass meeting to be held in Newark soon after the holding of the Republican State Convention in that city on September 15. They said they wanted Whitelaw Reid and Governor McKinley.

The campaign managers were disturbed today over the information that the Indian Bureau of the Interior Department is being used as a campaign argument against the re-election of Harrison, and that a circular denouncing it is being distributed extensively among Roman Catholic clergymen. The document in question is the report of Rev. Father Stephen, secre-tary of the Roman Catholic Bureau for the Education of Indians, to Bishop Marty, of South Dakota, President of the Bureau. It is well-known that Morgan's confirmation was opposed in Catholic quarters, and it is charged that he retaliated by recom-mending that the Government support which has heretofore been extended to denominational schools established among the Indians he discontinued on the expiration of existing contracts. This ac-tion, while it affects schools established by all denominations for the education of the Indians, particularly affects those of the Roman Catholic Church, which are far more numerous than those of any other

A Quiet but Pleasant Sunday With the Old

Folks at Home. CEDARVILLE, O., Aug. 22.-Whitelaw Reid has been spending the time quietly with his mother at the old homestead since the reception tendered him on Saturday. Mr. Reid and his wife attended the Presbyterian Church at this place vesterday morning and occupied the pew in which the father of Mr. Reid, an elder of the church, used to sit with his little family. After the services were over and Mr. Reid was moving toward the door the members of the congregation crowded around him, and as he shook each of his old acquaintances by the hand, reminiscenses were called up and pleasant memories revived. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Reid devoted to the society of his aged mother, whose clear intellect is alive to all that is going on, and who appre-ciates keenly the interest in and kindly demonstration of the esteem manifested

To-day Mr. Reid was feeling refreshed from the fatigue of last week's trip with its intense heat. His injured hand is less painful and gradually improving. Friday and Saturday he suffered considerably, but did not permit his affliction to interfere with any of the arrangements for his entertainment. There were some callers at the homestead during the day, but the list was limited to neighbors in the locality of Cedarville and Xenia. Mr. and Mrs. Reid start to-morrow evening for New York by the Pennsylvania limited, due in that city at 4 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Shouldn't Be Very Hopeful. PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22.-[Special]-In answer to inquiries as to the condition of affairs at National headquarters, Chairman Harrity, of the Democratic National Com-mittee, said to day: "The machinery is now running smoothly and everybody connected with the organization is hard at work. Reports from all sections of the country a most gratifying state of affairs, and I can see no reason for changing my opinion that

GERMANS TAFFY GROVER.

Big Dose of Sweetness Dealt Out to the Democratic Candidate for President Carl Schnrz and Others Pleading for Votes for Cleveland,

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.-The German-American Cleveland Union has issued an address signed by Carl Schurz, Oswald Ottendorfer Steinway, Henry Villard, Louis Windmuller and Gustav H. Schwab, which, after praising Grover Cleveland and giving its reasons, urges all German-Americans to east their ballots for the Democratic candidate. Translated, the address read as

To Our German-American Fellow Citizens:
Impressed with the unusual importance of the coming Presidental election, we regard it as our duty to give you our reasons for believing that the welfare of our adopted country requires the election of Grover Cleveland, and that he deserves the votes of the naturalized Germans.

the naturalized Germans.

Above all, we wish to state that he is a thoroughly honest man, which fact even his most bitter enemies do not dare to dispute. No one ever attempted to create the slight-No one ever attempted to create the slightest suspicion in this respect. When he returned to private life, after having held the highest position in this country, his name was as unsulfied as that of Washington. Among his most marked characteristics are his undaunted courage and his adherence to his convictions. In his career as Governor of New York and as President of the United States he demonstrated in the most impressive manner that in this respect he is second to no other historical character in this country.

As bearer of the executive power, he in variably subordinated party interest to the solve the most important questions according to his own unbiased conviction, resisting to his own unbiased conviction, resisting all pressure from members of his own party. On several occasions, seeing his party in danger of being misled, he successfully and unfinehingly with stood their pressure, without considering the opposition of party leaders. We need only refer to the firmness with which, notwithstanding the strong tendency of the party in the South and far West to bring about an unlimited coinage or silver, he unhesitatingly warned them of the dangers liable to arise from such a policy. His innute sense of duty cannot be better proven than by the fact that such a policy. His innate sense of duty cannot be better proven than by the fact that during his Presidental administration, as well as during his second candidacy, he never was a favorite with machine politicians, whose aim was their own wellare. Grover Cleveland also distinguished himself by a more than ordinary measure of political sagacity and statesmanike foresight. "Its not only by his determined standard." political sacacity and statesmanike foresight. Tis not only by his determined stand on the sliver question that he has shown himself to be an admirable exponent of these qualities, but by his highly creditable treatment of the tariff question he forever secured for himself one of the most conspicnous places in the history of our republic.

He keenly recognized in the protective tariff system fostered by the Republicans for many years with the tendency of levying still more oppressive duties, a steady growing evil that required immediate and strong remedies, and he fearlessly expressed his views in his celebrated message to Congress. It was owing to his intelligence and courage that tariff reform was inscribed on the banner under which his whole party was united and led to glorious victory.

Another Victory Predicted.

Another Victory Predicted. There is no doubt that by following the same banner it will win another victory at the end of the present campaign. Therefore we earnestly beseech our fellow-citizens to aid us in securing the election of Grover Cleveland, the independent, far-sighted statesman, the true patriot, the honest and courageous man. We expect a hearty cooperation on the part of the German-Americans, the more so as we are convinced they particularly should favor his candidacy as a true and immediate expression of the will particularly should layor his candidacy as a true and immediate expression of the will of the people, which at Chicago triumphantly prevailed over all party usage, notwithstanding the opposition from the delegates from his own State as well as the politicians in general.

We do not hesitate to make this appeal to our countrymen, because the platform of the Democrafic party is entirely attisfactory in regard to the main question. It calls for civil services reform, it advocates that gold, silver and paper money be placed on an absolutely equal basis, and that the obnoxious so-called Sherman law be repealed. It alms at the reformation of the existing protective system that only tends to enrich the owners of industrial establishments and to impoverish the masses of the people, and to impoverish the masses of the people, and strives to re-establish the good old princi-ple of limiting the amount of duties levied to the actual requirements of the Govern-

QUAY IN THE QUAKER CITY.

He Refuses to Say a Word About Politics Few of His Friends Knew He Was Coming-How He Put in a Very Quiet Day and With Few Catters.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22.—[Special.]— Outside of Collector Cooper and ex-Collector Dave Martin, no one knew of Senator Quay's intention to visit the city, today, and a telegram apprised those two gentlemen of his coming. The Senator slipped into the Continental Hotel just be fore noon, accompanied by his son Dick. He very rarely fails to register, but to-day was an exception to the rule, and his rooms were a quiet retreat during the hours of his stay.

Life at the seaside has given the Senator a bronzed and ruddy look, and his eye is the eye of a healthy man. "I am feeling much better than usual," said the Senator to inquirers, "and expect to improve on present conditions. Don't ask me anything about politics. I haven't a word to say on score, not a word," was his reply to all attempts at an interview.

During the morning Mr. Quay called at the People's Bank, the offices of the Trac-tion Company and at the Custom House, where he met Collector Cooper, With this business over, he met General Reeder at Republican State headquarters and was in conference with him over an hour.

A STATE OFFICER UNDER ARREST

Fer Prostituting His Position in Behalf of the Riotous Miners.

CARNES MAY SHELL THE MOUNTAINS

NASHVILLE, Aug. 22.-General Carnes and his troops are still arresting miners and others who are suspected of having conspired with them against the peace and dignity of the State. Seventy-five miners have been taken into custody at Jellico and more than 300 guns seized. The searching of houses for firearms and ammunition goes on, and a large quantity has been found in the Coal Creek Valley.

The arrest of George V. Ford, the State Commissioner of Labor, on the charge of aiding and abetting the lawless miners, has been followed by the arrest of George Irish. Mr. Irish is alleged to have been the chief counselor of the miners. He was captured five miles from Knoxvill this afternoon while making his way westward. It is understood that an order has already been issued by General Carnes for the arrest of Charles T. Allerman, Mr. Ford's assistant. Allerman represents Anderson county in the Legislature.

Allerman's Account of Himself.

Allerman, who was being searched for in Knoxville and Anderson counties, arrived here to-day from Knoxville. He said in an interview that he had not been to Coal Creek since last Thursday and was then in the town only a few hours. He said he had always been opposed to the course pursued by the miners, all of whom knew his posi-tion, and that he had only been in Coal Creek a short time when he was notified that it would be best for him to leave and return to Knoxville. This advice he con-sidered wise and left on the next train. Mr. Allerman said he did not know why Mr. Allerman said he did not know why an order for his arrest had been issued, as he had done nothing to agitate the trouble. He said that when he was going to Coal Creek he saw about 125 miners armed with rifles, and he also saw a fuse sticking out from under the railroad track. Knowing this and believing an attempt would be made to blow up the train if soldiers went upon it, he felt it his duty to notify the militia, telling them they should be cautious. As to the arrest of Mr. Ford, Mr. Allerman said he knew nothing except what had been published in the papers. ished in the papers.

Bud Lindsay the First Prisoner.

The scenes at Coal Creek are decidedly interesting. Soldiers are everywhere. On a side street is a little Methodist church, and within its walls are 250 odd prisoners, with the uotorious Bud Lindsay, the mur-derer of 7 men, the most closely guarded of them all. He it was who put the pistol to Colonel Anderson's head.

There is a little story connected with him in this affair. When General Carnes reached Offatts, a heavily-built, evil-browed man stepped on the train. He had with him a pair of telegraph "climbers," pinehers and some wire. To the General he said:

"I am a lineman for the Knoxville and Ohio and I will so on with your to fix you Ohio road. I will go on with you to fix up the lines. General Carnes scrutinized the man losely. "I have linemen of my own," he closely. "I have linemen of my owa," he replied, "and I can take no chances. Consider yourself under arrest." On all the roundabout ten-mile march from Offuts to Coal Creek, over which the soldiers dragged by hand a tannon and gatling gun th n driving rain, that man was under guard. Thus Bud Lindsay became the first prisoner of war. He was released at Coal Creek.

Captured a Second Time, Afterward, when his identity became known, Colonel Sevier took a squad into the mountains and recaptured him. At present General Carnes' intentions are to try his prisoners before Squire Wilson, who was one of the committee who recently called on the Governorto ask that the militia be withdrawn.

The condition of the women of Coal Creek is pitiable. They rarely venture into the streets, and then only carry food to their fathers, brothers or husbands in prison, who are fed twice a day on coffee and bread by order of the commander. A negro who went during the late excitement to visit his relatives at the station above Coal Creek was so frightened that when he got back to Knoxville his speech was gone. He has been writing since.

The uneasiness of the women cannot be described. They gather up their children and peer through the little windows, asking quavering questions of every passer-by. The war is over, although Morton's battery was ordered from Chattanooga last night.

General Carnes May Shell the Mountains. It is said that General Carnes intends to shell the mountains to dislodge, if possible, sharpshooters, and although it is said that the miners are only waiting to reorganize, there will not be any more fighting. The miners never have given open battle, and

The only fatality that is likely to occur is the death of Bud Lindsay. It is almost certain that he will be killed before many daya. By one means or another, all of East Tennessee is on his track. Lindsay nar-rowly escaped lynching last night, his life being spared on condition that he would give the names of all the guilty miners he give the names of all the guilty miners he known. Work will be resumed.

Two additional pieces of artillery and a big supply of ammunition was sent to Coal Creek to-day. This is to more securely fortify the entire valley against possible intrusion. There was but little firing at Coal Creek last night and to-day. No one has been shot to-day, but there are many miners in the mountains, and they take advantage of every opportunity to get in a shot at the soldiers.

The troops at Fort Anderson are to be

The troops at Fort Anderson are to be strengthened. Every stranger entering the town, and, in fact, every stranger that comes within the sight of a soldier, is held up until he can give an account of himself. Failing in that he is locked up under a heavy guard.

Miners Beginning to Open Their Mouths.

General Carnes was found at supper tonight, and made the following statement:

"We have made better progress to-day in our investigation than at any previous time. These men (meaning the prisoners) are just beginning to open their mouths, and some startling developments will be made in a short time. They all belong to a secret oath-bound order, and the penalty of their obligation is death—consequently they have been as close as clams heretofore. We have been at work on them, however, and are just now beginning to convince them that they will be protected against violence for making statements. We have gotten several confessions from them to-day, which at this step of the proceedings it would be unwise to give out; but I state this much, that when they are made known they will create much surprise." Miners Beginning to Open Their Mouths much, that when they are made known they will create much surprise."

The Geperal also stated that at the rate of progress that had been made to-day he would be able in five or six days to separate the chaff from the wheat, and that their work would be completed.

George E Irish, the notorious miner leader, was brought from Knoxville to Coal Creek at 11:30 to-night. At 11:50 P.M. a detachment of soldiers forcibly entered the telegraph office and are examining the files to get addresses and names of miners. Rumor has it to-night that Governor Buchanan has rescinded the commission of Sheriff Rutherford, of this county, but it cannot be verified.

Coal Miners' Narrow Escape PEORIA, ILL., Aug. 22.—The Wesley City coal mine, across the river from this city, caved in this morning. Several miners were imprisoned, but no lives were lost. The men all made their escape through another shaft, one mile from where the accident occurred.

INDIANA FOR HARRISON.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.-[Special.]-Atorney General Miller, who has been out in Indiana looking over the political field and at the same time enjoying a vacation, has returned to Washington, and was at his desk in the Department of Justice to-day. He declined to be interviewed on the situation in the Hoosier State, but his personal friends say he is very well pleased with the outlook from a Republican standpoint.

The Republicans are counting upon carry-ing the State because of the discontent among the Democrats over the new tax law passed by the last Legislature. It affects the farmers particularly, and they are exceedingly bitter in their denunciation of the politicians who enacted the obnoxious

There is also a remarkable lack of enthusiasm among the followers of ex-Gov-ernor Gray, for they feel that they were betrayed at Chicago after they were given assurances by the friends of Mr. Cleveland that their man should have the second place upon the ticket. They claim that it was the action of the Indiana delegation, under the leadership of Senator Voornees, in soing to the support of Cleveland, that in going to the support of Cleveland, that made his nomination certain. They also remember that two of Mr. Cleveland's most trusted friends threw away the votes of Michigan and Wisconsin, which should

Under Thoughtful Consideration by Secretary Charles Foster.

THE SHOW FOR THE PITTSBURGER

Not Considered Especially Flattering at the Present Time.

JUST WHAT THE SECRETARY HAS TO SAY

[FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.1 WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.-After an absence of about two weeks at his home in Ohio, Secretary Charles Foster, of the Treasury Department, was again at his desk this morning, looking much the better for his vacation. He hurried through with an immense amount of business to-day, as he expects to start the latter part of the week for a trip across the ocean, the second he has taken this year, this time for the special purpose of accompanying his family on their return home.

Mr. Foster knew nothing of the strained condition of affairs with regard to the application of George L. Cake or the position of Immigrant Inspector until he came to the department this morning. The day he left for home he had ordered the appointment of Mr. Cake. The appointment was made out by the private secretary, and was made out by the private secretary, and was ready to be given to the public that evening, when telegraphic protests came stating that Mr. Cake was a bigamist, and should not be appointed. Unknown to the Secretary, and on the strength of the representations, the appointment was held up and a special agent ordered to investigate the charges, and until his return this morning Mr. Poster has looked upon Mr. Cake as an employe of the Government.

A Cause Celebre Made of the Affair. A Cause Celebre Made of the Affair.

Meantime, requests for the appointment and protests against it have been pouring in upon the department, and the matter has become a sort of cause celebre. The Window Glass Workers' Association, of Pittsburg, passed resolutions of admiration and renewed confidence, and to day a similar declaration from the association in New Jersey was received. Individual letters by the hundred have been filed away, bearing on both sides of the case. A few of the the hundred bave been filed away, bearing on both sides of the case. A few of the workingmen have protested against the appointment, but the bulk of the opposition has come from employers who dislike Mr. Cake's activity in labor matters. This has added zest to the contest, and it has become, in a way, a question of employers against workers, the pride and the influence of each being in the balance.

Secretary Foster gave the case some consideration to-day, but had no positive conclusion to announce to the public. He had learned that Mr. Cake was the possessor of one wife with whom he did not live, and that the wife with whom he does live, and who is the mother of his children, is a wife on account of bonds of affection so much stronger than those imposed by the law that the legal proceedings usual in such matters were unnecessary to assure protecion, and were therefore entirely dispensed

Delicate Position of the Secretary

To the Secretary it was a delicate matter to decide the case. On the one hand, good citizens seemed to have boldly and heartily condoned the fault of Mr. Cake, if they deemed it a fault; and on the other were other good citizens who opposed the ap-pointment because of that fault-whether wholly on moral grounds he was not in-formed. Then the question arose in regard to the wisdom of appointing in any circum-stances one situated as Mr. Cake con-fessedly is. It was possible that in the Government service there were men quite as deservedly a mark for criticism as Mr. Cake, but if so the fact was kept exceedingly quiet, and had not been made an issue, either against their appointment nor Dropped Like a Hot Potato. Inquiring in regard to this, at one time, Mr. Foster was told that it had been discovered that the gentleman had been living with a wife in Washington to whom he was not married, while the legal wife was at home all unconscious of the dual alliance. Of course, after the latter made this dis-covery work on the biography proceeded no

All of the objectionable elements, paupers, criminals and persons supposed to be imported under contract had been pretty effectually barred out during the past year.

It had been asserted, however, that the appointment of Mr. Cake would satisfy the appointment of Mr. Cake would satisfy the glass workers that there was one in the service who would give special attention to the prevention of importation of glass workers under contract, and the Secretary was willing to believe that they were right; but the intervention of the moral question had not a new force on the moral question had put a new face on the matter, and there it rested for the present.

A Prediction That Cake Must Go.

It was plain that notwithstanding his desire to avoid any positive indication of his purpose, the Secretary was convinced in his own mind that the appointment of Mr. Cake, under the circumstances, would be inadvisable and impossible. It is easy to forsee that the department, even if its chief could personally overlook the conditions, would be attacked all over the country for making such an appointment after the facts were all known and had been publicly dis-

Whether the final word be spoken tomorrow or at some future time, it is safe to say that it will be a refusal to make the appointment; and therefore, if the glass-workers desire to secure the office for one of their number, they may as well make a new recommendation at once.

PECULIAR STRIKE IN A BREWERY. One Knight of Labor Hired for Another

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 22.-[Special.]-A small strike occurred here in the brewery operated by Granger & Story. The strike was insignificant, since only eight men were concerned, but the principle involved makes it worthy of note. The firm had signed a Knights of Labor contract to employ only members of the order, and the proy only members of the order, and the privilege was given them to discharge any man "for cause," provided another Knight was hired to take his place.

A week or two ago the firm discharged one Morrissey for cause. Another Knight was hired in his place, but Morrissey's friends continued to labor for his reinstatement and to describe the continued to labor for his reinstatement, and to day secured an order for a strike from the circle of Knights to which he belonged.

A TRIUMPH OF SCIENCE.

The Big Electric Flash Light Sure to Rev o'ntionize the System of Signaling— Telegraphing by Means of It a Distance

Mr. Washington, Aug. 22, -[Special.]-Each day brings proof that the big electric search light, which Electrician L. H. Rogers has placed on this summit is going to revolutionize the system of signaling. Letters and telegrams from various parts of New England arrive every day, telling of the practical value of the light as a means of transmitting communications when wires are not at hand or have been severed by one ause or another. The distance between this station and Portland is about 85 miles in a bee line, yet even at that distance a message was flashed through the air which was read by a telegrapher on the top of the Western Union building in that city. The source of the light itself was not visible from the Western Union building, but its needle-like beam shot across the heavens and was clearly out-

Telegraphic communication had been es-tablished between the tower and roof of the Western Union building, and at 9:30 o'clesk the electric light was turned on and the beam directed toward Portland. The operator at this station telegraphed over the wires: "Can you see the beam of light in the air?" and the answer came back: "Yes;

Then the Mt. Washington operator wired:
"I am going to telegraph by flash light; send back instantly by wire the word as von will get it."

Then the key which operates the flash light was used, and by the code system of dots and dashes the name "Mt. Washington" was flashed across the sky.

Instantly after the completion of the last word the little ticker repeated the words which were sent back by wire by the Portland operator. Other messages were also

During the past week there have been superb weather conditions, and many features with regard to the light's penetrating power have been developed. At Maplewood, 20 miles distant, it was northly to want to the constant of the control of the contr possible to read print. On another occasion a lady read a letter on the piazza of Sunset Pavilion, North Conway, by the light of the big flash light. That was covering a distance of 20 miles. At Littleton, 25 miles away it was possible to read a book.

PORGING INTO SIX PIGURES.

A Sharper Victimizing Eastern Banks With Myriads of Small Bogus Checks.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.-To-day brought to the notice of the bankers of Chicago a carefully planned scheme of forgery. The name assumed by the sharper is R. J. Whipple; the place of operating Boston, Providence and New York. The checks are drawn on the Atlas National Bank of this city, and so far as has been discovered are made payable to J. S. Stevenson, by whom they are endorsed

They are first cashed by some seaside hotel keeper and by him placed in the bank. The checks are drawn for reasonably small amounts, but follow each other in such rapid succession that if the resourceful Whipple be not soon under lock and key the sums are likely to run up into six figures with a remarkable degree of speed. The checks are perfect, except for a slight inaccuracy in the certificate stamp. Among the victims in the East are the Narragansett Hotel Company, Providence; National Bank of New York and Exchange Bank of Boston. It is not known how many of the bogus checks are out, but they are pouring in upon the Atlas National Bank at a lively
