Result of Exempting Rich Corporations From the Payment of City Taxes.

How the Board of Assessors Defend Their Course of Action.

SHOULD EXEMPT ONLY CITY PROPERTY

Under the law expounded by the attor neys on the exemption of public corporations from local taxation the city will lose over $125,000. This only applies to the taxes of 1892 and previous years. What it will amount to in future years can only be conjectured. In fact, the city can congratulate herself that the question was not raised years ago. Most of the big corporations have been keeping their taxes paid up, evidently ignorant that the courts had freed them from the annovance of paying for the privileges they enjoyed. The Board of Assessors, for various reasons, have declined to make public the list of corporation properties which are exempted, but they have such a list prepared and it shows a total of something over $125,000.

Only one corporation demanded exoners. tion yesterday, but no doubt is entertained but that those who imagine they are entitled to it will all come forward and make a de-

A Big Saving in Taxes. The Monongahela Water Company came to the front yesterday and secured what it wanted without opposition. The Board of Assessors promptly allowed the exemption after Controller Morrow had signed his approval to it, and the Delinquent Tax Colector checked the charge off his books This company had paid its taxes each year until 1891. Its assessment this year on its property in the Twenty-fourth ward alone, including the water works, basin, improve ments and machinery amounted to $1, 615 30. The company owns property in the Twenty-seventh, Twenty-eighth and Thirtyfirst wards aggregating about $12,000 in value, on which the tax would amount to

The Allegheny County Light Company has not paid any city taxes on its Third ward plant. The assessment for 1892 siene amounted to $1,770 44. Its new plant in the Ninth ward is assessed to the previous owner at a valuation of $92,000, on which the city should receive $1,186 in Walting for an Exemption, The Pittsburg Gas Company has already paid a part of its taxes for 1892, and no charges appear against it for previous years. Its plant in the Sixth ward is assessed at $120,400, vielding $1,625 40 in taxes. Its office building in the Third ward, assessed st $71,000, yielded $862 14. In the Fourtrenth ward, where the plant of its East End branch is located, it has paid $398 on one piece of property valued at $30,200, but on the balance, valued at $639,000, which should yield $8,434 80 in taxes, it has held off, evidently waiting for the exemption. The traction companies have all paid up on their nower plants and ear sheds. The car barn used by the Duquesue Company at Bellefield is assessed to Senator Flinn, but the power plant located in the Sixteenth ward, on ground which is not considered valuable, is assessed to and paid by the company.

"We have been aware of the Su preme Court decisions bearing on the case, but as long as the rich corporations were willing to pay or could be induced to pay their share for the advantages and protection they receive from the people of this city, we felt it our daily to get all we could. It relieved the other taxpavers for whom there was no escape, and was nothing more than right. All these big corporations have lawyers, generally smart fellows, whose business it is to look after the corporation interests, and if they did not know it was possible to avoid the payment of this money to the city, we would be poor servants of the people to call their attention to it. By watching this matter and standing some of the corporations off from time to time we have prevented the loss of a considerable sum to the city in past years, a sum compared to which the amount to be paid on the liens illegally filed is only a Opposed to Granting Exemptions, "As to the exemption of the properties named in Mr. Frazier's opinion, I was op-posed to them and would not have granted them. But after Controller Morrow approved them no other course was left open. This board has been wrestling with that matter ever since the early part of June, and had it received less publicity at this time, I feel satisfied a number of corporations affected would not have found out heir opportunity to escape, but would Controller Morrow said yesterday that he would approve all exonerations that were covered in the City Attorney's opinion, not because he thought it right or just, but be-cause he has no choice in the matter. "However," he continued, "the fact that exonerations are approved by me or by the assessors, will not have any effect if we subsequently find that they are illegal. If we find later on that that these corporations are not legally exempted from taxation we can notify them, and, on their refusal to pay, can file liens against their properties. Our signatures do not make the exemption legal if the law does not. We are acting now as we understand the law, but can easily reverse ourselves if we find the law

NEW SOUTHSIDE HOSPITAL.

Site Purchased for $20,000-Work t Be Commenced as Soon as Possible-Ladies Show Their Ability to Hustle

A lot on Twentieth and Mary streets has been purchased as a site for the proposed new Southside Hospital. The Ladies' Aid Society met yesterday afternoon and ratified the purchase. The Board of Directors held special meeting at the hospital last evening, indorsed the action of the purchasing ommittee and made arrangements to pay part of the price at once and give a mortgage for the rest.

The lot is the site of the old Jones & Cavitt glass works, and was purchased direct from William Schuette. It has a direct from William Schuette. It has a frontage of 120 feet on Twenteth, and extends back on Mary 124 feet to Harcum's alley. It is ample for all the requirements of the proposed building.

The price paid was $20,000, but these terms were only agreed to on condition that the owner donate $1,000 toward the hospital fund, which was done. The old buildings on the ground have been removed, and everything is ready to begin the erection of the new building. When that work will be begun has not been decided yet. The plans are now under discussion, and will be acted are now under discussion, and will be acted upon at the next regular meeting. It is the intention of the directors to begin work on the new building as soon as possible. A building to accommodate about 100 patients will be put up on the back part of the lot and the front left for a more pretentious building in the future.

At the meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society yesterday afternoon the treasurer reported $12,000 in the treasury. This sum is to be put into the ground at once. Preparations are now going on for a fair which is expected to net the management between $3,000 and

The directors expressed themselves as highly pleased with the purchase, when spoken to last evening. They said new life had been infused in the project, and the work of raising the necessary funds could be carried on much more successfully. Dr. Arnholt also stated that he considered the price very reasonable, and continuing said:
"The lot is large enough to not only allow a building for 100 patients to be built, but if necessary four lots can be sold off, and enough ground left for the hospital. This, of course, would not be considered except in case of not being able to raise funds to meet the mortgage. I want to say also that all the credit for the success so far is due to the ladies, who have worked so hard for the new hospital. I would not be surprised to hear of $6,000 or $8,000 more raised before the end of the year for this fund."

THEY WERE MUCH ALARMED.

Residents of the Twenty-First Ward

Anxious Over a False Rumor, Residents of the Twenty-first ward were such alarmed last evening. Their anxiety was the outcome of a report that a case o "black" smallpox had been taken from that district in the early part of the week. This report, in passing from one to another, was considerably exaggerated, until it had be-come current that there were several cases of a similar character in that neighbor

An investigation last night revealed that on Tuesday last it was reported to the Bureau of Health that there was a man suffering from a light case of smallpox in the Twenty-first ward. The officers went to the house of the sufferer and found him to be an ironworker employed at the Brad-dock mills suffering from a mild attack of varioloid. For fear of contagion the health officers removed the man to the municipal hospital, where he is now resting easily and in a fair way to speedy recovery.

A Pittaburg Broker Gives a Cure Used in Constantinople.

GENERAL CLEANING UP PROJECTED

The possibility that the terrible scourge Asiatic cholers, may appear in the United States before the frosts of winter come is stirring the health authorities of all the large cities to extra exertions to secure cleanliness. Chief Brown has directed the inspectors of the bureau of health to examine carefully the quarters of the poor and the localities where the foreign colonies are and to compel the destruction or removal of all filth and decaying organic matter. Some parts of the city are not in very good condition, as far as cleanliness goes, and the health officers have their hands full. Among the Italians, Russian Hebrews and Slavonians there is a great deal of filth and squalor. All expert authorities agree that the spread of cholera is aggravated by filth. Where houses, yards and streets are kept clean the disease finds slight foothold. It generally rages in the quarters of the poor, where cellars are unclean and where there is more or less decaying matter in the alleys. Even in Hamburg, where the scourge is virulent, it is confined almost entirely to the old city, the new portion having developed few cases.

Chief Brown said yesterday that he did not expect any cholera in this country, but he thought it well to be prepared for it. Immigrant Inspector Layton is carefully watching all the arrivals of foreigners. Immigrants are coming in daily, and if the cholera should be brought to this city it will come in by way of the immigrant car. There is not much danger from this source, however, as all arrivals are carefully examined at quarantine in New York and in other seaports. The cholera develops quickly after exposure to it, and does not lie latent for any length of time. If an im-migrant should be affected, the disease will lay hold of him before he reaches the American shore. Jacob Glosser, the broker, has been through four epidemics of cholera in this country and abroad, and he vesterday gave THE DISPATCH a cholera cure, which has been, he says, used with marked suc-cess. The ingredients are simple, and the mixture will be prepared by any druggist. This is the cure:

Cut This Out and Paste It.

One ounce of laudanum, one ounce of spirits of camphor, two ounces of tincture of ginger and two ounces of capsicum or red pepper. The ingredients should be thoroughly mixed.

Mr. Glosser said: "A dose is a teaspoon ul in a wineglass of water, and should be taken at the first symptoms of the disease. If the case is obstinate repeat the dose every three or four hours until relief is obtained. Usually, if taken in time, one dose will be found efficacious and will check the disease. A smaller dose, of course, should be given to children. The

"This is called the Constantinople cholers cure, because it was used by the American missionaries during the great epidemic of 1832 with marked success. I have seen this remedy tried in many cases, and never knew it to fail if taken at the proper time. It brings almost instant relief. The lauda-num produces a slightly comatose condition and stops the pain in the stomach."

The cure offered by Mr. Glosser is similar the New York Sun's cholera remedy, which has been very efficacious in cases of powel trouble, and is as follows:

Equal parts of tincture of opium, tincture of rhubarb, assence of peppermint and spirits of camphor. Mix well and take 15 to 30 drops in a wine glass of water, according to age and violence of attack. Repeat every 15 or 20 minutes until relief is found. Among the arrivals in the city yesterday was H. Seamon, the toby manufacturer of Wheeling, who has just returned from a trip to Germany. He stopped for awhile at the St. James Hotel. Speaking of the cholera he said: "Germany is thoroughly cholers he said: "Germany is thoroughly scared over the plague, and when I hurried scared over the plague, and when I nurried away from Bremen the people there were nearly panic-stricken. Every indication points to the spread of the disease in Europe, and I do not think it can be kept out of England."

CATERPILLARS VISIT THE PARKS, Devour the Leaves, Frighten the Ladies and

In these last days of summer the dust and the caterpillars have formed an unfortunate and pestiferous alliance wherewith to deface ing. the beauty and injure the leafy growth of the trees. These wretched heasts of prey, as an observer haracterized the caterpillars yesterday, are an annoyance and even terror to many of the passersby. This is particularly true in the case of the gentler sex, upon whose fair shoulders the little hairy, wriggling things sometimes unwittingly descend when they lose their foothold.

Like some other beasts of prey, they devour the flesh and leave the skeletons of their victims, and, in consequence, instead of the fair, firm substance of the leat, only its ribs or bones are left to wither and bleach in the sun or fall and decay in the coming rains of the autumn. In the opinion of several citizens spoken to yesterday an intelligent systematic treatment should be persisted in until the trees are well rid of their undesirable visitants.

Rev. Louis Albert Banks, of Boston, eminent divine who is famous the country over as an unfaltering friend of labor, and who within recent years has attracted widespread attention by his exposure and assault upon the sweating system in the New England industries, was in Pittsburg yesterday on his way back from Homestead. Mr. Banks went to Homestead on Thursday atternoon. He was accompanied by L. M. Warden, of the Lake Erie Railroad, and R. C. Catel, a painter of Wheel-

Mr. Banks does not look like a minister. He dresses in good taste, but with an utter disregard for the conventional ideas of the church. He wears tan shoes, a well-made pair of light-colored pantaloons, a pepper and salt coat of the skeleton pattern, a light leather belt, a negliges shirt and a white plug hat. His face is handsome and oval. He wears a blonde mustache, and looks well pleased with himself and the rest of the world.

Believed All He Heard of Homestand. "I came from Boston to Homestead just o satisfy my curiosity," Mr. Banks said vesterday before leaving for his home. 'When Hugh O'Donnell and Burgess Mc-Luckie were in Boston some time ago I went to hear them tell of the Homestead strike. Their story was interesting, and from what they said on the subject I was positively convinced that the men who had zone into the mill to work since the strike were being badly treated, and in fact were being subjected to all sorts of outrages. I believed that men were being chopped to pieces by the great saws in the mill and I had no doubt that the new men were unable to operate the great concern. How-ever, I came to see for myself and now I am heartily glad I came."
"Well, tell me what you found there,"

time past, the Warden states, some of the soldiers have been carrying on disgracefully with women and young girls, who came to the armory to see them. The women did not enter the armory, but were entertained on the street, in tull view of the Warden's residence, where their actions, as well as their loud, and at times foul conversation could not be avoided by the Warden's family.

On Thursday at nearly midnight the Warden was awakened from his sleep by the noise just under his window. Police Officer Fred happened along soon afterward and the Warden asked him to arrest the soldiers and their female companions. The party fled at the officer's approach, but he managed to capture two girls. Jones walked after them to the patrol box and was arrested also.

At the hearing yesterday morning the Warden told his story. The magistrate said he had heard other stories of the same character and he believed them. The whole party was fined $5 and costs, but in default of the fine Jones was sent to jail. The other guardsmen on duty at the armory claim

Every train coming to Pittsburg for two days past has been crowded with excursionists from the Eastern resorts. On the street corners may be seen at every turn faces that have been missing from the great throng for a month or two, and business seems to move just a trifle faster. The pretty girls who with their summer beaux have swelled about on the beach at Long Branch, Cape May or Atlantic City for two months are back to the stern reali-ties of life. Their parents are also back from the resorts figuring out just how the tame amusement of the shore comes to cost Each of the incoming trains yesterday carried extra chair cars and sleepers. The greatest difficulty of the railroads is to get sufficient cars in the East to supply the de-mands of the people who are hurrying

While some people enjoy the beach even in winter, the bulk of the visitors will leave there within the next week. All the leading hotels will then close up with the exception of one or two that will remain open to entertain those who linger there in search of health.

"The last excursion from Pittsburg to Wisconsin. They were not successful there and moved to Pittsburg where Rosinski has established a good publishing business and has remained ever since. As soon as Rosinski was prospering he brought his first love to Pittsburg where he married Atlantic City will be due to return to Pittsburg on Sunday night. After we get those excursionists in we will have but little trouble handling the others who are still lingering there," Depot Master Cowie said last night.

Grandfather's Hat.

Grandfather's hat may be an ancient and rusty tile, but it has a inculty of getting there, and that's all that is necessary. It's the same way with the new grandfather's hat cake that Marvin is baking—although it it is neither ancient nor rusty it gets there. Everybody seems to want it. It keeps two or three immense ovens busy all the time turning them out. Ask your grocer for a pound of grandfather's hat, and see what a delightful cake it is.
