

DEATH OF G. W. CURTIS. After Two Months' Illness the Mugwump Leader Passes Away.

A PRIVATE FUNERAL ON FRIDAY. One Remarkable Financial Incident of His Early Career.

ACTIVE IN POLITICS AND LITERATURE

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—While the feet of the serious illness of George William Curtis was generally known, the announcement of his death today came as a surprise.

Mr. Curtis became ill about two months ago, when he began to complain of pains in the abdomen. Dr. Janeway was called and he, in consultation with Dr. McMurrie, and Dr. Curtis, made a careful examination.

At the request of Mrs. Curtis it was decided early last week to adopt homeopathic treatment, and Dr. Keizer was called.

At the request of Mrs. Curtis it was decided early last week to adopt homeopathic treatment, and Dr. Keizer was called. From that time Mr. Curtis suffered little or no pain, and during the last days he seemed comfortable.

Mr. Curtis was not a native of this city, although he spent most of his life here. He was born in Providence in 1834, his father, a merchant, being from Worcester, Mass.

THE MINE ON SCREAMER MOUNTAIN. BY ELIZABETH M. LEYDEN.

It was winter in the mountains—the mountains of North Georgia—and though only a little after 4 in the afternoon, darkness was creeping on.

Not a house or sign of habitation was in sight. Not a sound could be heard save the rustle of the tall hair river, which, though narrow and far from deep, was rushing along its rocky bed and dashing over bowlders and gorges with a loud, continuous murmur.

ALLISON'S HOT SHOT. He Pours It Into the Democratic Ranks in a Great Speech.

IOWA'S CAMPAIGN NOW OPENED. Reasons Why the Republican Party Will Win in November.

QUESTIONS OF THE HOUR HIS SOLE TOPIC

WAVERLY, Ia., Aug. 31.—Senator Allison opened the Iowa Republican campaign here this afternoon with a stirring speech. It was generally known that the speech was to be the principal effort of the Senator, during the campaign, and there was a large assemblage, in consequence, of Republicans from the adjoining counties of the State.

After a brief reference to the candidates of the respective parties, Senator Allison said that he believed the Republican party would win in the coming contest, because its policies are such as secure the confidence and support of the majority of the people of the United States, constitutionally expressed, if only that majority can vote and be fairly counted.

Why the Republicans Will Win. Industries have been prosperous and many new ones have been established; our internal commerce has grown beyond reasonable computation; our foreign commerce has never been so active.

He referred in detail to the record of the Fifty-first Congress, to the revision of the tariff laws, and to the work of the Democratic House of Representatives in the last session. The appropriations of the Republican House were compared with those of the Democratic House, and the latter alleged to be much more extravagant.
