To win ball games one side must get more runs than the other and as far as the result

Giants, they counted and placed victory on the side of the home team. It may arouse feelings of sadness among the admirers of the New York fellows to say that not one of the eight runs scored by the locals came near being earned and that all of them were the result of the most ridiculous errors. In fact, of the 13 runs made by the two teams only two were earned, and the visitors had these two rarities.

Quite a Singular Contest.

The game was one of the most singular that has been played here this season. Both teares had an off day as far as fielding was concerned, and it seemed to be a question as to who could make the most costly mis-takes. In this the visitors excelled, and their efforts in doing it will not readily be forgotten by the 1,200 people who saw the game. The home players made more blunders than the visitors, but they were not as cosily. Beckley, Shugart and Ehret particularly made some egregious mistakes, and there is something of a beauty about Earet's blunders. When he makes one, no matter how flagrant it may be, he views the surroundings and contemplates the results with the blandest of smiles and seems exremely well pleased with himselt and the

SINGLES-FIRST ROUND.

The surprise of the day, though, was the defeat of Ewing and Vaill in the doubles by Campbell and Arbuthnot, a defeat that is hard to explain, for when the winners took the first set, 62, and the losers won the second, 66, it was iuly expected that the third would go the way of the second. But it didn't. Pier and Edwards shut out their opponents, Treadway and Parker, and will be in the finals. in the fluals. The finals in singles between Moorhead and Coster will be played to-day. The draw-ings for consolations resulted as follows: Pier versus Handy, Eirby versus McClin-tock, Guthric versus Treadway. The score for to-day's play was as follows:

The mile

to face the kite before her. The attempt was fruitless and she came back and scored down again. Frank Star had the runner, Abe Lincoln, who prompted her in her great mile at Chicago near her, while Williams with Ned Gosdon, was waiting at the post. When she reached the wire she the post. was going square and true and Doble nodded for the word. From the word "Go" Nancy trotted as only Nancy can trot; a steady clockwork and swifter than a bird. With her matchless swinging gait she reached the quarter pole in 30 seconds. "Too fast" is the verdict of the crowd. "Budd Doble will never drive her too fast," s accepted by all as the truth. The half was reached in 1:01, and men who catch the figures on their dials find it hard to believe. Without taking their eyes from the world-beater, they ask their neighbor his time and are bound to accept the mark.

Doble Gant'y Used the Whip,

The third quarter flag goes down at 134, and fearing that she is lagging Williams closes up with his runner, Ned Gordon. The act is useless. Doble has loosed her head and is urging her on gently with whip and voice. As she darts under the wire there is a deathless silence. Watches are consulted and range all the way from 2:051/2 to 2:06. No man dares tell the time caught, and each spectator assures himself that the cation and he showed it in his game yester-day. Christy took the second round from Tread-way rather easily, but it was somewhat of a surprise when he succumbed to Coster. Coster had won the second round from Os-burn, and played an even, strong game, placing his balls effectively and making sev-eral very pretty drives. Christy showed the want of steadiness and broke down, tak-ing but four games out of the 16 in the two sets. time is gone in 2:06 at least. Cheers are sent up as the great horse is driven back to the stand, but a hush falls over all as the bell is tapped. Starter Mc-Carthy announces the official time of 2:051/ and his voice is drowned with yells. The grooms give the mare a loving caress as they adjust the blankets, and many willing hands, only too anxious to touch the Oneen of the Turf, assist in arranging the folds. Doble is lifted from the sulky, both arms are wrung sore by congratulatory friends and huzzahs sound above the din for Nancy, for Doble and for the kite track.

So dense is the crowd around the horse that passage is almost impossible. Nancy Hanks longs to be free from all bonds and playfully nips the shoulders of her admin ers as she walks her way through the crowd.

The Latonia Winners.

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 30 .- This was the fourth day of the Latonia races. The track was a triffe lumpy and dusty to-day, so that it can be called only fair. About 3,500 people were present. Only one race, the fourth, was won by a favorite. Remini, a 3 to 1 favorite in the third: Bettie Archer, a 2 to 1 first choice in the fifth, and Golda, a 3 to 1 prime favorite in the sixth race, falled to even show. All other favorites came sec-ond or third, generally in close finishes, Summaries:

the doubles, which are to result in a chain-pionship game for Western Pennsylvania, ware to commence, had not a little to do with the attractive powers of the tournament. It was also anticipated that there would be some good play-ing in the singles, and the onlook-ers were not disappointed. Bansemer had defeated Guthrie in the first round and was to meet Moorhead in the second round. It was not expected that Bansemer would win from Moorhead, but that he did not take a rame in the two sets played was sur-prising, though Moorhead played more like himself than on the first day. This brought Moorhead and Vaill together in the semi finals, and this was a great display of good tennis and hard fighting. The two sets lasted about an hour and a half, and were both fought to the end by Vaill, who played as strong a trame as he has ever played. Both sets were "decee" sets, and a total of 26 games were played before the conclusion was reached. As intimated in THE DISPATOR yesterday Vaill has improved since his va-cation and he showed it in his game yester-day. But, of course, victory covers a multitude of mistakes, and the runs, though made by the visitors tumbling over them-selves and throwing the ball every way but the right way, just counted as much in the grand total as it they had been scored by ur sluggers welting the ball over the # ience. The Glants Were Broken Up.

Captain Ewing had a poor lot on the field. He was unable to play on account of his arm. It is probable that his arm is "gone" for the season. Doyle, too, had an injured leg, but started in to play. He made it worse when running to second and was compelled to retire, Rusie going to right field. Doyle does not figure in the summary, but he was once at bat and got to first on an error. Fuller had his leg hurt in the seventh inning and had also to retire. Ewing going to first and Boyle to short. Ewing couldn't throw the ball 12 feet and made a sorry show. Altogether, King had the most miserable support ever given to a pitcher, and it is a wonder that he did not become reckless.

The visitors were first at bat, and in the first two innings failed to score. In the second half of the second inning after Shu-gart was out Beckley was hit by a pitched ball and then Farrell knocked the ball to the left fence for three bases. Farrell was but out at the plate trying to score on Mack's grounder to Fuller. Mack stole second. Bierbauer got to first on Denny Lyons' wild throw and Mack reached third. The latter scored on a wild pitch, Bierbauer going to second. Earet's single scored Bierbauer.

Ehret's Ridiculous Mistake,

In the third inning after King was out Faller popped up a little fly which Ehret let drop in the most graceful manner possi-ble. Faller reached second on the error and third on Burke's sacrifice. Farrell fumbled H. Lyons' grounder and Fuller scored.

The vistors tied the score in the fourth. After Denny Lyons was out O'Rourke made a single and got to third on Beckley's fumble of Boyle's grounder. Boyle stole second and O'Rourke scored on King's out at first.

The home players made one in their half. Farrell made a single and sacrifices by Mack and Bierbauer and a flagrant error by Fuller scored him.

In the seventh, after Miller had struck out, a fumble by Burke allowed Donovan to reach first. Donovan stole second and scored on Shugart's single to middle. Shugart got to second on the throw in to the plate and scored on Boyle's wild throw to first to head off Beckley. In the eighth inning Mack started off with a single and stole second. Bierbauer flew out and Ehret's sacrifice sent Mack to third. Miller knocked a grounder to Boyle and the latter threw the ball to Ewing, who was now at first, and Ewing muffed the throw, Mack scoring and Miller getting to third. Boyle muffed Donovan's fly and Miller scored.

In the ninth inning O'Rourke made a single and Donovan made a great catch of Boyle's liner. King made a single, and then Ewing lined out a triple to center, scoring two runs. Smith made a remark-able running catch of Burke's foul fly, and Farrell caught H. Lyons' fly. The score:

CAMPBELL STILL CHAMPION.

He Defeats Hovey for the United States Tennis Title at Newport. NEWFORT, R. L. Aug. 31 -- This was the last day of the tennis tournament whose issue should determine the championship for another year. A cool, brisk wind swept across the court and was the only thing to detract from the most favorable conditions for good play. The crowd was one of the largest ever seen on the grounds, even on a champlonsnup day. Campbell opened play with the service. On the first ball over Hovey made a pretty pass and scored. The next Campbell drave into the net and then served two faults, making the call 40-love against him.

faults, making the call 40-love against him. Here he braced and two good places and a netted ball by Hovey made it dence. Then Hovey drove out of court and Campbell placed, and the latter took the first game. He took the second also, and then Hovey began to place and kept it up till he too had scored twice, and the game was 2-all, Camp-bell in the fourth making several weak re-turn. Campbell took two more games, and then Hovey two. The play was so strong on both sides and so even that neither man could get much of a lead over the other. With the score 4-all, Hovey won the odd game, making three straight, and it looked if he might take the set, but Campbell took three games in sueset, but Campbell took three games in suc-cession, making it 5-all, and then winning the set, 7-5, Hovey driving the last ball into the net. The play in the second set was much of the same order, neither was showing so fast a game as is usually expected of them and the style of play was skilltul and cautions rather than dashing and brilliant. Hovey won with a rush won with a rush. In the third set Campbell played well and won also capturing the fourth set and the match. The scores were: 7-4, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5.
