Preparing for the Open Bace Over the Sewickley Course.

NOTES GATHERED IN MANY FIELDS.

The cool weather of the past week has seted as a sort of a warning to the smateurs that the days of outdoor sport are numbered. It has, therefore, stimulated them to greater activity, and they are filling the days of September with events in which they anticipate enough pleasure to compensate for the close period to follow. 'Cyclers who have been on summer outings have returned. Some of them are busy rolling up their mileage records, while others are making centuries. Still others are prep ar ing for the Keystone open road race to take place toward the latter and of the month. Weekly runs that have been saspended for the past month are again becoming notable incidents, and there are signs of an un-

Football will soon be in full swing.

Every athletic organization in the city has a team selected and in practice and the colleges of Western Pennsylvania are about ready to announce their teams. It is expected that the season will be full of bril-iant games, and that they will come with a frequency that will give all the enthusiasts plenty of amusement.

T' - numals of the tenals world hereabouts contain po record or a tournament in which the ladies were given their adeptness with the racket. It is a well-known fact that there are in this vicinity a large num.

One of the surprises of the club road race was the appearance of Mr. Paul Myler immediately after Mr. Neison, crossing the tape in second place, thus establishing for himself a reputation for rapid and skillful road riding. He was entered by his club in the Gym field meet races, and an account of his riding will be found elsewhere in this issue. As a road rider he has quite a reputation, and proposes to shortly have a try at the record held by Mr. W. B. Corwin of ten hours for actual riding time in a club cen-tury.

hours for actual riding time in a club century.

Mr. W. L. Addy, another well-known road rider, made the best time at the club road race, 50% minutes, which, however, was not quite low enough to take the time prize. Mr. Addy has been riding several years, and has made several century rides in excellent time. In the Washington to Pittsburg relay race of yesterday he took a prominent place and in the open road race of this club will, no doubt, be again heard from. His club also entered him in the Gym races, but, owing to the relay race, he could not take part.

Perhaps the best all round road-rider in this part of Pennsylvania is Mr. Frank S. Carmack, who began riding some seven years are. A special feature of "he gentleman's riding is his ability to make long distances in one day, and on local centuries he is the only rider approaching Frank Lenz's record of 162 miles, over roads about the city, inside of 34 hours. Mr. Carmack has made several long Western and Southern tours, a wheel of which he has many interesting reminiscences.

tours, a wheel of which he has many interesting reminiscences.

Mr. J. P. Barr is another rider of note, and one selected to ride in the late relay race. A member of the Keystone club for several years, he has attended most of the runs and several of the club centuries. As a hill climber he can hold his own with the best local riders, and usually makes a practice of not being last on club runs.

Mr. W. M. McCulloch, in the late road race, would, no doubt, have finished up among the first but for an unfortunate breakage of a portion of his wheel, which caused him to drop out and take the train, after more than half of the course had been covered. Mr. McCulloch is an accomplished wheelman in every way and has numerous centuries to his credit.

The first organization to give a tournament among-its own members in which ladies occupy a prom-inent part will be the East End Gym Association. This tournament will take place on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at the East End Gym Park, and entries will close on Wednesday evening with E. W. Dravo, Chairman of the Tennis Committee, at the Gym-nasium. The drawings will take place on the same evening, and will be announced incidents, and there are signs of an unusualty active fail.

In the tennis wor'd there are no signs of a cessation of the tournaments. The East End Gym players will hold one the on the same evening, and will be devoted to gentlemen's singles and mixed doubles. On Friday there will be ladies' singles and gentlemen's doubles. On Saturday all the finals will be played off.

There will be first and runner-up prizes in the gentlemen's singles. The first prize is a cup which must be won three years, not necessarily in succession, to entitle the win-ner to its possession. The first prize in the mixed doubles will be a silver trophy and for the gentlemen's doubles tennis flatures. the Pittsburg Tennis past week the championship in doubles was determined at

event was one that W. M. McCulloch called out all the enthusiasm of the Sewickleyites. Tennis will be played until the cround freezes and even after unless snow interferes, but the Pittsburg Tennis Club does not propose to allow its courts to remain idie all winter. When it is no longer possible to play the game that is becoming national, the courts will be flooded and turned into a sheet of ice where the members of the club and their friends expect to have merry times on the frosty evenings.

The clubhouse project of the Allegheny Cyclers is approaching consummation, and it is anticipated that before winter the organization will be comfortably housed. THE hill-climbing contest of the Keystone has caused quite a furore in Wheeling circles. A number of cyclers who never tool much interest in this branch are now taking in every hill in their way.

G. A. BANKER received for his prizes at the Buffalo meet a lot in Deer Park, New York, a roll top desk and a musical smoking set. He will be in the races at Springfield, Mass., Hartford, Conn., and Syracuse, N. Y., this SEVERAL wheels have been stolen lately at the East End. The latest victim is K. J. Lydel, who losts 210 Union pneumatic. W. H. Gandy, whose wheel was stolen some time ago, has recovered it from a man who easy he bought it for $30.

LENZ was snowed in at the Grand Canon Hotel, in the Yellowstone Park, on August 28. He was 7,000 feet high on the mountains when overtaken by the storm, and the ther-mometer dropped to 30°. His address to September 15 will be Cliff House, Spokane, Washington.

It is probable that the Reystone Club will hold a special meeting soon at which it is likely that it will be decided to open the road race to riders outside of the State. The time prize will be a high grade safety pneumatic cycle and the other prizes range in value from $10 to $100, so that they will be an inducement riders to enter.

E. B. Vaill is playing an improved game since he has returned from the East. THE ladies part of the East End Gym tourney this week will be one of the most interesting features.

CHRISTY seems to have lost some of his prowess with the racket or else he has played n the worst of luck. DUNN, of Latrobe, is not an easy man to beat, as some of the Pittsburg Club members know by experience.

LATROSE players have enjoyed themselves at home during the past week. None of them were in the Sewickley tournament. Dr. Haines of the Oakland Terrace Club plays a very strong game and will probably be heard from in the big tournaments here-abouts next season.

THE Pittsburg Tennis Club moved into its new clubhouse during the week. The opening will probably occur when the ladies' tournament takes place.

MESSES. M. A. CHRISTY, Charles A. Woods and John E. Porter are deserving of considerable praise for the manner in which the Sewickley tournament was conducted. MCLARER, Dravo and a few others of the East End Gymsought to have been entered in the open tournaments this year. They could have won places without much doubt.

TREDWAY, of Coraopolis, thoroughly enjoys tennis and has been in almost all the tournaments hereabouts this season. Even if he has not yet won a place, Coraopolis is well represented in him.

The Oakland Terrace Club will have some good men to enter in the open tournaments next season. It proposes to add several more courts to its possessions and will have several tournaments of its own. R. C. Porter will probably take the conso-lation prize at the Oakland Terrace Club tournament this week. He was considerably out of practice when he started in last Fri-day but is back in his old form again.

Ewing will probably enter in some of the bir Eastern tournaments next season. He intended to be in them this year but other matters interfered. He will be able to hold up Pittsburg's good name and will give some of the best a bard fight for honors.

ALTOONA'S deleat early in the season seemed to take all the ambition out of its players and they have stayed strictly at home ever since. This should not be. There are too many good players there to allow them to withdraw themselves in this way.

VACCINE BEEF GOES

Not Stopped the Practice.

The New York Board of Health Has

CONSUMERS DISGUSTED WITH IT.

Until Ordered To. .

WHAT AUTHORITIES HAVE TO SAY

"SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] NEW YORE, Sept. &-The serious disclosures telegraphed exclusively to THE DISPATCH Sunday last, concerning the consumption by the public of vaccinated beef is causing a great deal of talk in the metropolis. Women, hotel proprietors and restaurateurs are almost in a panic about it, but the Board of Health has taken no

The facts in the case are undisputed. The city has an establishment at No. 326 East Forty-fourth street, where heifers are inoculated with smallpox virus, for the purpose of getting from them the vaccine which is used by physicians as a preventive of smallpox in human beings. This establishment is called the City Vaccine Farm. It is under control of the Board of Health, and Dr. Pardee superintends its management.

The Heifers Go Direct to the Butcher, The cattle used are supplied by J. Fleischaur, a wholesale butcher, at the foot of East Forty-fourth street, within a few hundred feet of the "farm." The city pays $12 apiece for the use of the heifers. After the virus has been extracted from the large sores that are developed by the inoculation, the heifers are driven back to Mr. Fleisch-aur's place and slaughtered. Their car-casses are sold in the regular way, and the meat is distributed among the people.

At the abattoirs it is claimed that the Health Board indorsed the use of these virus subjects as beef, but the board refuse virus subjects as beef, but the board refuse to say whether they did or not.

Dr. Henry Wilson, of the Board of Health; Dr. Bryant, of the board; Dr. Cyrus Edson, Dr. Roberts, of the Board of Con-tagious Diseases, and Veterinary Burgeon Johnson, of the board, all maintain that the meat is perfectly healthy, and that the only possible objection to its use is founded on sentiment. President Wilson of the Board sentiment. President Wilson, of the Board of Health, said to-day:

Opinion of the Health Bureau. "It is hardly a proper question to ask the Health Department if the custom of allowing vaccinated cattle to be used for food is proper. You may as well ask if we steal from or defraud the public. Of course the use of such cattle for beef is safe or it would not be allowed.

"The cattle operated upon to obtain the vaccine virus," said Dr. Roberts, "are cured before they are slaughtered. Because the scabs still remain on their sides is no proof they are not cured. Besides, after every animal is killed, all its organs are examined by Veterinary Johnson, and if they are not all perfectly normal, the meat from that animal cannot be sold for food; neither, in such a case, do we use the vaccine virus ob tained from such an animal. We keep a record of every soimal operated upon, and can tell from which one every vaccine 'point' is obtained."

The head of the firm of J. Fleischaur & Co. was out of town yesterday evening when the correspondent called, but his brother, Julius Fleischaur, was seen, and said for

What the Butchers Say. "Of course, we would not kill these eattle for food if permission was not granted by the Board of Health, and I take it that such Proprietors of the Abattoir Will Not Stop the Board of Health, and I take it that such permission means that the beef is fit for food, even though it has been used to obtain vaccine virus," said he laughingly. "You may depend upon it that the meat is good and healthy."

Mr. Fleischaur was asked if he would give the names of the hotels and restaurants which bought the inoculated meat. To this Mr. Fleischaur replied: "You will have to see my brother about that. He attends to all such matters. I can tell you nothing all such matters. I can tell you nothing about our customers. The virus-inoculated beef is perfectly good, though. I would as soon eat it as any other."

F. Fraensnick, a butcher doing a large business at No. 812 Third avenue, voices the opinion of the retail butchers on the subject. Butcher Fraenenick said: "I formerly bought some beef of Fleischaur & Co., but have not done so for some time. I never knew before that beef was used for food after being used at the city vaccine farm for obtaining vaccine virus. As a retail butcher, I certainly should not take into my shop or sell beef that had been treated in that manner if I knew it. There is no way by which a retail butcher can tell whether or not the beef delivered to him is from an animal which has been used to obtain vaccine virus. The only way would be to tell by the hide, and that never comes with dressed beel. It should be labeled 'vaccinated.'"
