TWO HORRIBLE MUFFS

By Mack Were Mainly Ecsponsible for the Loss of Yesterday's Game.

PERCIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. NEW YORK, Sept. 9.- A miserable combipation of errors by the Pittsburgs in the seventh inning of to-day's game at Eastern Park spoiled what would otherwise have been the most brilliant of the contests played on the home grounds this season.

Kennedy pitched against Smith, and had rather the best of the encounter. Each was hit safely seven times, one Pittsburger getting a two-bagger, and two Brooklynites hitting for doubles. While Kennedy struck out five men and gave but two bases on balls. Smith gave four bases on balls and struck out but one man.

The fielding was more than praiseworthy, that is, with the exception of the seventh inning. At that point of the game Smith and Kelly did poorly; Mack disgusted the crowd by making two horrible mufts, each of which let in a run.

Made Four Double Plays,

To offset this the visitors made the remarkable record of four double plays, the fourth coming in at the end of the seventh inning, when Miller made a beautiful catch of Griffin's fly, which went so much on a line that it seemed safe. Kennedy, who had started home from second, was the man doubled up. In the very first inning a double play was made. With Ward out, O'Brien to first on balls, Brouthers hit to Singart, who touched second and then threw to Beckley, completing the double. The two other plays were made in the third and fifth. The Brooklyns, to show what they could do, made a double play in the eighth, Corcoran duplicating Shugart's act in the first inning. Kinslow made a great catch of a high foul in the second, and Tom Daly, in the fifth, after a long run, captured Smith's foul fly; and though he ran with violence against the picket fence, he re-winning the pennant from the East End Gyms, who are again the winners of the County League championship. • The work of Wallace, of Wilkinsburg, was brilliant in the box: he also did well at the bat. In the second game Jordan was relieved by Wallace atter pitching two innings. Ta-rentum played four old Wilkinsburg play-ers arainst the later-Neeves, Gaunder, Paul and Pim Kuhn. Neeves was touched up in the first inning at a lively rate, much to his disconfiture. Wilson, of Tarentum, sprained his ankle in the fourth inning and was re-placed by Haller, of the East End Gyms. Lysinger, of Wilkinsburg, played right for Tarentum in the first game with great credit, The W. A. A. will play the Sewickleys this afternoon at 3:45 at Athletic Park, Wilkins-burg.

The scores were as follows:

Another Chance for Dixon.

General Sporting Notes.

THE Dartmouth football team have begun train-ing under Captain Allen. The greater part of last full's team were '02 men, tried and true, who will have to be replaced by inexperienced recruits. The outlook, therefore, is not promising.

BECOKLYN sports are bent in getting a man to beat Dixon, however, and they now have their eyes surned toward Eddie Pierce. They figure it that Pierce is more of a fighter than a sparrer and would go in and "smash" the colored boy from the start. On that ground Sullivan should have whipped Corbett. AMONG the various bets on the Sullivan-Corbett fight reported is one from Baltimore. It is between James J. Kelly, a saloon keeper, and George Ham-ilton. The bet, which was originally for a small sum, was run up until it reached $2,000 to $1,000, Kelly giving the odds on Sullivan. The men have pledged their houses as security.

Interest in the tournament in progress a the East End Gym Park increases as it progresses, and to-day, when the finals are to be played, will end a session of keen enjoyment by the lovers of the game, which has become almost national in its character. ladies' singles and gentlemen's doubles. The drawings for the ladies' singles took place again yesterday, owing to the fact that the original drawings contained the names of Miss Potter and Miss Thompson, of Wilkinsburg, neither of whom was a mem-ber of the club. The ladies decided that as the tournament was a club affair, their por-tion of it should be kept free from outside players. During the afternoon, however, Miss Potter and Miss Thompson played sev-cral games together and it was a pretty game. ought to enter in the open tournament of the Pittsburg, Tennis Club next week, when it would be surprising if they did not come out in the finals. Both possess an excellent back hand stroke, something not often seen in young ladies. Of the two, Miss Potter plays the steadier game and Miss Thomp-son the more brilliant. Their exhibition "set" was one of the most in teresting events of the afternoon. In the indies' singles the first set between Miss Volght and Miss Fahnestock was the hardest fought and brought out the best playing, and both of these young ladies should represent the Gyms in the open tournament this week. The round was com-menced quite late, but it took until dark to decide the winner of the first set. Miss Fahnestock had been playing almost all afternoon and was not quite so fresh as Miss voight, but she played a very pretty game and lost only after 16 games had been played. She played a more brilliant gama. She has excellent control of her racket and on one or two occasions in after the best of the volleying. Both of the young ladies are entitled to places in the front rank of lady players here. All Around Good Flay.

All Around Good Play.

Miss Gill won a round against Miss Wells rather easily, and is also a player who should be in the open tournament. Her play yesterday was better than on the first day, when she took part in the mixed doubles. She had more could once in her-self and was able to place the balls when she self and was able to place the balls when she pleased. Miss Mitchell took the first round from Miss Barnes who did not play so good a game as usual. In the gentlemen's doubles Messrs. Proctor and Auli worked their way into the finals. They played an excellent game together and were too strong for Messrs. McClaren and snively and Johnson and Hamilton. The mixed doubles were worked out to the finals which will be played to day between Miss Volght and Dr. Proctor and Miss Potter and Mr. McClaran. It will be a very inter-esting round, for Miss Potter and Mr. McC Claran play well together. They make a strong team, as also do Miss Volght and Dr. Proctor.

Proctor: In the gentlemen's singles Messrs. P. B. Barr and H. McClaren finished their round yesterday in the semi-finals. Mr. Barr won, and this brings the two Barrs together in the finals. Both of them play strong games, and the round is very apt to be full of ex-citament. citement. The scores made yesterday are as follows:

Would Mrs. Lowis Zollinger, of Brashon, East End, who suffored for years the utmost agony with her stomach and other compli-cated affections, and who was cured away has winter and who remains cured, agree with these physicians that her trouble was of such a slight nature? Would Mr. Courad Apel, of 342 North avenue, Allegheny, aged 72 years, who was also cured last winter of a bad case of asthma, which had kept him out of his bed nearly every night for years, be-lieve that the agonizing hours that he put in were due to some simple little allment that could so easily be relieved? Mr. Apel called at Drs. Copeland, Hall & Byers' office a fow days ago to again thank them for the relief which they had afforded him, and for the days of comfort and enjoyment he is now experiencing. Again, would Mrs. Mary Gorman, of Sawyer street, subscribe to the statement that her ulcerated mouth and de-ranged stomach, which caused her so much trouble that she was reduced almost to a shelleton, were merely triffes, which no one should take any account of? ### tained possession of the ball. How the Game Was Won.

The Brooklyns made the first run of the game in the fourth. O'Brien reached first by forcing out Ward, who had singled, at second. Darby stole second and crossed the plate on Brouthers' single. The visitors tied the score in the sixth on Mack's double and Donovan's single. Brouthers started the seventh with a single. Burns hit to Smith, who threw too low to second to catch him. He reached third on an error by Kelly, and made his run on Mack's muf when Coreoran hit to Shugart. Another muff by Connie let Burns home. Daly's single and Kinslow's double added two more runs.
