ADONIS TERRY DID WELL,

His Magnificent Pitching and Timely Hi ting Demoralized the Bridegrooms. NEW YORK, Sept. 10,-['pecial.]-It was Terry here, there and everywhere at Eastern Park this afternoon. First, before the game the Adonis was made a present of a beautiful white onyx clock, with onyx and brass candelbras, by the Climax Bowling Club, of Brooklyn, of which both he and Secretary Charley Ebbets are members. Then Will pitched a great game allowing his old comrades but five scattered hits. Besides this he made two neat three-base hits, each of which scored a run.

First Basemen Beckley should have made a sensible sacrific hit instead of foolishly flying out to O'Brien when he came to the bat in the first inning. Of the four men who had batted before him, the first two had gone out, while the other couple lads made singles. Beek's fly left two good men on the bases.

The Brooklyns did not make a hit in their halt of the inning but they were discreet. John Ward was given a base on balls just to show him that Terry had no ill-will for having been cast aside. Both O'Brien and Brouthers made sacrifice bits. O'Brien's was a bunt which Terry and Miller strug-gled for but which the latter got, Ward in the meantime having reached third. When Brouthers sacrificed John, scored.

Terry on His Mettle.

Terry made a hero of himself in the second. Farrell went out to Brouthers unassisted and Bierbauer singled. Terry then wielded the cudgel and made third on a beautiful ground hit past third base.

"That's the time the clock struck three," called out one of the Climax boys, and Will smiled. His hit tied the score. No more runs were made until the fourth.

Terry struck out Daly and Haddock in the second inning. In the fourth Beckley gave O'Brien a chance to make a great running catch. Farrell flied out to Grifin. Then ierbauer sent a ball in the same direction, but it went far over Griffin's head to the long grass beyond deep center. Bierbauer season yesterday afternoon at Wilkinsburg red to third, rounded that base as by defeating the Sewickley team in one of the ball was returned and slid across the plate as Kinslow dropped the ball. Umpire McQuaid said that Kinslow could never have caught the man, so Bierbauer

Three events, however, were settled yesterday, the ladies' singles, mixed-doubles and gentlemen's doubles, and there was in these some lively and interesting bouts. The st-tendance was larger than on any of the previous days and the spectators were gen-erous with their applause. McC'sran Outplays Himself.

McClaran had not played before during the week nearly so good a game as he played in this match, and Miss Potter was at her best. On the other hand, Dr. Proctor did not play his game. Neither did Miss Voigt. Neither of them were equal to the emergencies that constantly arose. They showed an unmistakable lack of confidence in themselves at the start, but they gained self-possession as the games went on until, in the last of the trio of sets, it appeared as if they might make the match a little close. But they were too far behind, and their opponents were playing too strong. The consequence was that they lost three sets straight and the match. There were but three sets in the final round of the ladies' singles, and Miss Voigt won two of these and the first prize. Miss won two of these and the first prize. Miss Gill played rather an irregular game, some-times brilliant, and at other times it seemed impossible for her to get the ball over the net. Miss Volgt, on the other hand, played steadily and care-fully, and took the match. Miss Gill had carlier in the afternoon a match with Miss carlier in the afternoon a match with Miss Mitchell, in which each won a set, but Miss

Mitchell, who had been playing a strong gaine, forfeited the match by reason of her strength, which gave out. In the first set between the two it looked very much as if Miss Mitchell would win the match, but Miss Gill braced up in the second set and

Messrs. Barr and Barr had their eyes on the first prizes for the gentlemen's doubles, and they won them from Dr. Proctor and C. E. Aull after three close sets had been played. Two of these were clean sets and the other 6-4, a total of 34 games being played in the three. The Barrs play a very strong game together, but they had no easy victory in Dr. Proctor and Mr. Aull. Altogether the match was one of the most interesting of the tourney. In the gentlemen's singles Frank Barr will default to his brother, D. H. Barr, in the finals, owing to his enforced

In this Miss Voigt and Dr. Proctor were to meet Miss Potter and Mr. McClaran. More than ordinary interest was attached to this match from the fact that Miss Potter had been barred from the ladies' singles, and she had shown during the tourney that she was probably the best lady player on the ground, if not in the dicap and the defeat of Montana, the 9 to 10 favorite, who had Garrison as pilot. All ran well under a pull for seven furlongs, making a sprint of the last five furlongs. The race was run precisely to suit Sleipner, who won after a gruelling struggle with Lizzie. August Belmont, Jr., added Lady Violet to the entries for the Great Eastern stakes, accepted her 125 pound impost and put Garrison in the saddle. She ruled slightly over Don Alonzo, 123, and won by half a length in 1:10 1-5, rattling fast time. Sir Francis, 20 to 1, a stable companion of Don Alonzo, beat him a neck for the place. The never have caught the man, so Bierbauer rejoices in a clean home run The Brooklyns tried hard to tie the score

Brouthers singled, Burns sacrificed, Corcoran flied out to Bierhauer, Daly went to first on balls and Kinslow singled. This filled the bases. Haddock, however, filed out to Donovan, retiring the side. Terry Pittsburg in the seventh. Farrell was hit by a pitched ball and went to third on two by a pitched pair and where the rery then lined the ball to where he had put it before. This hit also netted three bases, scoring Farrell. The Brooklyns could do nothing in this inning. Shugart picked up the ball Kinslow hit and threw him out to Beckley. Belore he threw the ball Shugart touched second, putting out Daly, who had gone to first on balls.

A Horrible Nightmare,

The eighth inning was a horrible nightmare for Brooklyn. Pittsburg scored five runs, none of them earned. Corcoran and Haddock, especially Corcoran, did mise ably, making a fumble and the worst kind of a wild throw to the plate. The Brooklyns were retired with three men holding down the bases. Three of the visitors retired on flies in the ninth, Haddock only pitching in four balls to the three of them. The Wonders got in two lingles in their half, but Terry would not lot them score. Somehow the ex-champion has few iriends on this side. Mitchell has his money all ready, so he says, for a match with the new champion. Jackson, however, will probably be the first man to meet the new wearer of the belt. He is anxious to settle his drawn battle with the Calfor-nian at the carliest opportunity, and he will sail for New York the third week in Octo-ber. Jim Hall is decidedly ambitious. Beside offering to fight any middle-weight for $10,-000 to $25,000 a side, he is ready to bet $5,000 to $12,500 that neither Corbett, Sullivan nor Jackson can whip him. CLE'D A. C. R B P A R A. A FEW FACTS

About Pitt-burg's Progress and One of Its Mammoth Institutions,

Manmoth Lustitutions. The energetic and reliable clothing house of saller, corner of Smithfield and Diamond streets, this city-always argressive and progressive—has justly excued, by houest merit and conscientions endeavot, an en-viable reparation as the most thoroughly wide-awake firm in their line in Pittsburg. Not content with the adoption of new ideas and methods calculated to increase both confidence and their ability to serve their patrons, they are always striving for new means to accommodate their enormous and fast increasing trade which they have ac-quired as a result of honest and straight-forward dealings. In pursuance of this pol-icy, it being found that the old quarters were inad-quate both in size and in afford-ing means tor further facilitating the hand-ling of the trade, they have enlarged their quarters, increasing their floor space to nearly double its original size by leasing and remodeling the adjoining building. These improvements have been cartried on through a space of two months, and so thor-oughly has the work of rejuvenation been accomplished that to chay their quarters may be said to be entirely new. New de-partony as a the original size by leasing and remodeling the adjoining building.

partments have been added, new inclutes afforded, until their building is now the hundsomest, most complete in appoint-ments, best lighted and ventilated business house in the cities. Upon entering, the visitor is struck with the changes that have taken place. The first floor, decorated in white and gold re-lieved by a coloring of delicate blue, pre-sents a most handsome sight. The electrical devices used were made especially for this building, and are said to be finer than can be found anywhere in the State. To the right of the entrance is the hat department, where all the newest and most stylish blocks in hats are in stock. To the left is the men's furnishings department, omplete in every detail; and in the center is the mer-ohant tailoring department, which is made a special feature. The grand staircase leads to the second floor, where is to be seen the fullest line of men and boys' war, compris-ing the very best qualities and styles of clothing.
