BALDWIN COULDN'T PITCH.

He Failed to Fool the Bean Eaters at They Took the Game,

BOSTON, Sept.12.—[Special.]—With a retling fire of base hits the Bes Eaters rushed upon the sturdy repr sentatives of Pittsburg to-day, and two short innings regained the s ond place in the baseball fight. After Mar Baldwin had been tortured until life was burden in these two innings, Ehret took h place and a mighty change came over the spirit of the champions' dreams. Hits we scarce, and runs were even scarcer. Ba ring those first two innings it was a t game, and a struggle which was well wor watching.

There was some wonderful fielding by players on both sides. Bierbauer, Nash and Quinn especially distinguished themselves. Joe Kelly's Cambridge friends were out in force, and when he stepped up to the bat in the third inning he received a handsome gold watch and a big floral piece as evidence of their good opinion of him.

How They Lost Second P ace. This is the manner in which the Pitts-burgs lost second place, as has been stated: Mark Baidwin's efforts ended in disastrous failure. Long opened with a single, and got to second on Shugart's fumble of Mc-Carthy's hit, but was caught in an attempt to steal third to steal third.

The latter stole second, and then the fun began. Duffy and Ganzel picked out singles, and Nash got in a two-bagger, everybody else scoring. Nash scored a minute later on Tucker's single, after Bierbauer had attended to Lowe.

Long started in again and was safe on Farrell's fumble. McCarthy and Duffy hit safely and the bases were filled. Ganzel sacrificed and Long scored, and then Nash again cleared the bases with a three-bagger. This time Nash himself scored on Tucker's sacrifice. That settled Brother

Too Late to Make a Fight,

The Pittsburgs had been shut out in the second inning by a pretty double play, but in the third they resumed business with enthusiasm. Enret signalized his appearance by dropping a safe one in left field.

Joe Kelly flied out. Then Miller gave Nash a hot one which was fumbled and both runners were advanced by Donovan's Smith and Shugart each hit enfely and each sent in a run.

In the fifth inning the Bostons came near scoring. In the sixth inning the Bostons made another bid for a run, but a double play by Shugart, Bierbauer and Miller prevented. In the sixth inning, also, the Pittsburgs got men on third and second bases, but their two hits did no good.

Lively fielding by the visitors held the Bostons down to one run in the seventh, and Farrell's wild throw let that in. It was a battle royal on both sides now, with the Pittsburgs having a shade the best of it. The Bostons got in two runs in the ninth, thanks to Ehret's wildness, but the game was theirs anyway, so it made no material

The Washington Magnates Threaten to Call H m Strongly Down.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 .- [Special.]-There is a prospect for a lively time at the Washing-ton ball park when the St. Louis team play here again, owing to the action recently taken by President Von der Abe in with holding a portion of the gate receipts at St. Louis. He was induced to take this step on account of a transaction involving the de-funct association in its business connected with the transfer to the National League, and George Wagner is very sore. He says the St. Louis President had no right to hold the money out, and he would get satisfaction if he had to bring the matter before the League.

He declares that the old Washington club was responsible and that Von der Ahe should have brought a civil suit for recovery of the money against the old stockholders. An alleged claim against the Washington club on account of the renewal of the Pendleton's grounds at Cincinnati is at the foundation of the trouble, the amount involved being about $3.0. You der Ahe has the money and the best of the argument at present, but Wagner will make things warm for him at this end of the line.

President George Wagner declares that the Washington Club salary list is the fourth largest in the League and that the Senators are nearly $10,000 higher priced than the Clevelands. He sees where mistakes have been made, and says that hereafter than the Clevelands. He sees where mistakes have been made, and says that hereafter things will be conducted differently. Too many changes have been made, too many opportunities lost to secure good men when they were available, and too much dead timber has been carried.

"I have talked with Manager Richardson," he said, "on the situation, and we are a unit in the conclusion that it would be folly to let a man go for an inferior player. Any change to be made should be for the better, and my manager has carte blanche to strengthen whenever the opportunity is offered. My brother, J. Earl Wagner, is half owner in the club, and he agrees with me that the team should be strengthened if possible. I believe we will yet get out of last place and so do the players, and to do so, they will have to make a change for the better from now on."

The Diamond. MANAGER POWERS expects to sign a new third

OUR Sluggers were beaten yesterday, but they must lose some time. A VICTORY to-day for the heroes of this town will put everything right. If the local team can come home in second place they ought to be considered wonders. Among Southern people the Pittsburg club is considered the most plucky and the most popular. UMPIRE KEEPE, of the County League, has done remarkably good work during the season. Many people think he would be a good man for a "big" League.

KINGSTON NOT IN IT.

The Oriental Handicap Damages the Talent

at the Gravesend Irack. GRAVESEND RACE TRACK, Sept.12.—[Special.] The original programme for this afternoon was a gem, but when the secretary's pen had fluished its labors there were 32 absentees. The most damage was done in the Oriental handicap, from which nine were withdrawn. The rading, however, was good. The talent opened the meeting by making Kingston a 2 to 5 favorite for the first race at five furlongs. The distance was a little too short for him and Correction, 10 to 1, beat him a end in a desperate finish, after the mare had made all the running. Of the four start-had made all the running. Of the four starters in the second race, Parvenue, I to 3, won from the start, galloping at the finish.

Then came the Prospect stakes and the defeat of another red-hot layorite, Lady Violet, I to 3, finished second to Prince George, a 15 to 1 chance. Tarai held the mount and won the stakes for Father Bill Daly, from fiag fall to finish. Ajax took second place from Lady Violet by two lengths. Lamplighter ruled a 6 to 5 favorite for the Oriental handleap but was forced to finish third, Pactolus, Thrope up, an 8 to 1 in the betting, winning by a head from Fidelo, 3 to 1, in a red-hot finish. Lamplighter was only a neck away. He would have won in a course of more jumps. Pactolus was quite lame after the race.

The Zormetsa colt then set the talent right by winning the fifth race at 2 to 1, and Diablo made it an even break for favorites and longshots by capturing the last race cleverly at 4 to 5. Weather inir, Track fast, Attendance 5,000. Summaries:

John once halled a Chicago sporting man, who was dashing by alm with a fast trotter, and remarked when his acqualutance had pulled up: "It strikes me that you must be a Pharisee." "Why?" asked the driver. "Because," Phoenix explained, "you appear unto men too fast." It is evident that Nancy Hanks has leanings toward Phariseeism.

CORBETT BACK AT HOME.

Crowds Block the Way of the Train to Give the Champion a Greeting. NEW YORK, Sept. 12-When the Corbett train pulled into Wilmington the throng was so great that the train had to come to a standstill, to avoid accident in the shape of running over a lot of people. By degrees they managed to work their way up to the depot, where the crowd closed in on Cordepot, where the crowd closed in on Cor-bett's car until the people were packed together like sardines. At Philadelphia the throng was great, but fortunately the bulk of the people were kept outside the iron fence. Corbett says the man above all others in the world that he wants to meet is Charley Mitcheil. He has made up his mind to make Mitcheil do more fighting and less talking. Mitchell do more fighting and less talking.
Saurdny, September 17, has been left open for Sullivan's benefit, at which Corbett offered in New Orleans to spar four rounds. He has not received any acceptance yet, inrether than a dispatch saying Mr. Moran, Sullivan's manager, would meet Mr. Corbett today in New York. It is his opinion, however, that Sullivan will accept. An immense throng was gathered at the Jersey City depot, and it was with difficulty that the police opened up a way and got him on the Debrosses street ferry boat. He had a pressing invitation to go up to the New York Athletic Club, but he said it was his intention to go directly to his own home, where he will remain until it is time to go to Madison Square. He intends making New York City his permanent home.

Hear All the Cases. SUMMARY CONVICTION OF UNION MEN

The trials of the Homestead workmen who have been held to the grand jury on varying charges of murder, aggravated riot and conspiracy, will not begin in the Criminal Court until the first week in October. Fifty-five men have been so held, and against some of them there are four and five harges.

The lawyers on both sides of these prosecutions are now hard at work arranging their testimony and preparing for what must be a memorable series of trials. The Carnegie Steel Company has agents at work, not only in Pittsburg and Homestead, but in distant cities, seeking new witnesses. It is probable that some of the outside newspaper correspondents, who did work in Homestead during the troublesome days of July, will be brought here to testify. The resources of the defendants are more limited, but they are working hard, The grand jury is at present occupied with jail cases, and minor charges of misdemeanor

When the hearings begin, they will all be conducted before one Judge. Who this Judge will be has not yet been decided, but it is probable that in October there will be three Judges holding Criminal Court.
Judge Porter appeared at the Court House vesterd av after his vacation.

The murder cases will be taken up first, and Hugh O'Donnell will probably be the first man tried. The hearing of all the Homestead cases by one Judge will greatly expedite proceedings, and in most of the cases the juries will be largely the same Three Homestead prisoners were ar-raigned before Pittsburg aldermen yester-day afternoon, charged with disorderly con-duct on last Friday. On that day, while the non-union men in the mill were going in squads to various restaurants for their meals, men and boys shouted at them, call-ing them "blacksheep" and "scabs." H. Brady, who swore that he knew "The Rogue's March" and that Shaup whistled it. He was the only witness for the prosecution, and for the defense Shaup and two friends testified that he did not whistle anything of the sort. Indeed, Shaup said that he did not know "The Rogue's March." He was discharged.

John Renshaw, a man of 45 years, was accused by H. B. Collins, a non-union workman, of shouting opprobrious epithets. Benshaw admitted the offense, but his attorney, John F. Cox, contended that the utterance of such words as "blacksheep" and "scab" did not constitute disorderly conduct. Magistrate Gripp sentenced Renshaw to the workhouse for 30 days, under what is called the workhouse act. An appeal was taken and bail furnished. Before Alderman McMasters, for

The proof was positive, but Attorney Cox made a strong plea for elemency. Attorney Petty, for the prosecution, asked that the boy be sent to the workhouse for 30 days, and the alderman so ordered. An appeal was taken in the case also. In his address Attorney Petty said he had begun to doubt whether there were any law-abiding people in Homestead. in Homestead.
