SPECIAL TELEGRAMS TO THE DISPATCE. WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.-Governor Flower and the State authorities of New York are deriving considerable glory out of the cholera complication, and some of the Government officials here are disposed to complain because the Administration has not been permitted to play a more conspicuous part in the gailant fight that has been made to keep the dread disease out of the United States.

In spite of all the denials or evasions, there has been a continual feeling of jeslousy existing between the State and National authorities in New York ever since the cholera scare began. Treasury officials say that Dr. Jenkins does not seem disposed to accept National assistance, and he has rejected it from the very beginning. When Secretary Foster went to New York, accompanied by ex-Surgeon General Hamilton, of the marine hospital service, he at once communicated with Health Officer Jenkins. The Secretary proposed a meeting of the steamship people and Dr. Jenkins promised to attend. The meeting was held at Hoboken, but Dr. Jeakins failed to put in an appearance. He explained afterward that he was too busy to attend

Jenkins Running the Business Alone.

Secretary Foster than informed the health officer that he (the Secretary) was in New co-operate with the State authorities in preventing the cholera from being introduced into the country. He thereupon offered to detail marine hospital surgeons, notably Dr. Hamilton, who had considerable experience in dealing with yellow fever and cholera, and also offered to furnish a naval patrol to assist in the enforcement of the quarantine regulations. All of these offers were politely declined by Dr. Jenk-ins, who said he was fully able to cope with the situation unaided by the Government

It finally dawned upon the Secretary that Dr. Jenkins would not accept anything tended to divide the responsibility between State and National officials, so he concluded not to press the matter any further. He requested that Dr. Hamilton be permitted to visit the Quarantine station for the pur-pose of reporting the condition of affairs there. It was while making an inspection of the quarantine that Dr. Hamilton suggested that it would be wise to separate the passengers who were well from those who were sick, or suspected of being infected with cholera. He also suggested that Sandy Hook would be a desirable place to estab-lish a camp of detention.

The Doctor Not at Sandy Hook,

Dr. Jenkins was informed of the proposition and he promised to visit the Hook with an engineer to arrange the details for erecting suitable accommodations for such pas-sengers as were removed from the infected vessels. Again Dr. Jenkins failed to appear with his engineer, so Dr. Hamilton and Mr. Corbin proceeded to make such improvements as were thought necessary for the comfort of the unfortunate passen-

Thus maiters have progressed, and the Secretary feels that his good intentions have been either misconstrued as an interference or else there has been a studied deference or else there has been a studied deference or else there has been a studied deference or else there has been as the Government. termination not to allow the Government officials to exercise any authority or lend any substantial assistance in fighting the cholera in New York harbor.

It is a little early to commence quarrel-ing over the distribution of the commendations for the amicable service that has been rendered in New York, but it is evident that as soon as the danger is past there will probably be a lively controversy between the State and National officers. While the crisis is pending a dispute between the rival officials would not be tolerated, but the Treasury officials appear to be loading up for the dis-cussion. After all the preliminaries and preparations at Sandy Hook, Secretary Foster begins to realize that his labors in that direction have been in vain, for he very frankly says he does not believe Dr.

Jenkins will use the Sandy Hook camp.
Dr. Jenkins and those who have been associated with him in entorcing the quar-antine regulations of the State of New York can well afford to ignore the comments made upon their actions and the motives which prompted them to decline to divide the responsibility of the occasion, but the fact remains that the country at large believes that the New York health authorities have had but one object in view in this connection, and that was to stamp out cholera and prevent its introduction into New York City.

Flower Patted on the Back, Governor Flower has also displayed admirable executive ability in dealing with the Fire Island complication, and his prompt action in the emergency that confronted aim receives just commendation in official as well as in unofficial circles here. The Star in an editorial thus pays its respects to the Governor of New York:

specis to the Governor of New York:

Governor Flower is evidently very much of a man. At Buffalo when there was danger of losing prestige with the labor element by a strict enforcement of the laws he did not besitate a minute, but sent to the scene of the rictions State a force large engight to put down the disturbance and restore order. Now at Fire Island, when it becomes necessary to but in the interest of humanity, and a few hundred thoughtless citizens with sediesh, narrow-sighted views, stand in the way, the Governor secures the State's rigots and the rights of all the people by dispatching to the vicinity of the Fire Island outrages a military detachment large enough to maintain the belies and uphold the quarantine authority. First of all he bought the Island and its appurtenances for the State by paying out his own money, then he went to the spot in person and has now installed the tempest-lossed people from the Normannin in quiet possession. Governor Flower may not be a Colossus among the Republic's statesmen, but when there is anything to do be not only knows when and how to do it but he does it, and does it promptly and seasonably.

TROOPS TO BE WITHDRAWN.

The Latest Report From Harrisburg-The Locked-Out Men Still Hold Out-A Non-Union Man Dies of Typhoid Fever,

Adjutant General Greenland stated to THE DISPATCH correspondent at Harrisburg last evening that he had determined on the withdrawal of the troops at Home stead on Thursday of next week unless the situation changed for the worse.

There was an unusual stir among the locked-out men at Homestead yesterday. The men seemed to be more hopeful of winning than ever. They claim to have facts to prove that their chances of forcing the firm to accede to their demands are better than ever, but are very careful not to reveal anything that would confirm this opinion. The rumor that the firm desired a settlement gave color to this report yesterday and caused a good deal of comment among the locked-out men. The rumor could not be confirmed, but from what was learned, it is evident there is some move on foot that will lead to important results soon. Events seem to in-dicate that it is the begining of the end of this struggle.

A large number of new men were received at the mill yesterday. About 50 men, many of whom had their families with them, arrived at Munhall station. There was said to have been about 150 new arrivals during the day.

The Sheriff spent the day in Homestead, but he had little to do. The deputies performed their duties satisfactorily, and the formed their duties satisfactorily, and the non-union men went about the streets quite freely, but were not molested in any way.

Evan Patton, 32 years of age and a resident of Philadelphia, died in the mill yesterday morning from what was said to be heart disease. Coroner McDowelf investigated the matter and found he died of tenhold force. typhoid fever. The body was shipped to Philadelphia last night.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 .- [Special.]-The National Board of Steam Navigation concluded its annual convention at noon to-day York, not to interfere with, but simply to and adjourned to meet again in New York on the second Tuesday in next September. A question which greatly concerned the meeting was the probability that at the next Congress another bill similar to bill 1755, which was defeated, would be formulated. The members of the Board say that the provisions of this bill were such as to be a serious menace to their in-

> The bill fixed a standard for the construction of boilers and steamships, and also fixed the qualifications of engineers, which they say it would be impossible to comply with and would disqualify 90 per cent of their steamships from engaging in commerce. The matter was referred to a special committee to draft a resolution to be presented to Congress, which would counteract the influences which might be brought to bear in any attempted passage of another suck bill. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Presi-dent, F. A. Churchman, Philadelphia; First Vice President, B. D. Wood, New Orleans; Second Vice President, J. A. Orleans; Second Vice President, J. A. Henderson, Pittsburg; Secretary, C. H. Baver, New York; Assistant Secretary, T. W. Venemann, Evansville.

A COMEDIAN IN TROUBLE.

Arrested at Altoons for Playing the Heavy VI am in Pittsburg.

Constable Thomas Murphy, of Alderman Gripp's office, yesterday arrested James A. Callan at Altoona and brought him to Pittsburg to answer a charge of assault and battery made by Isaac Jope. Callan is a comedian in the Telephonia Company, which played in Pittsburg last week. Jope is proprietor of the First Avenue Hotel. Callan stopped at the hotel last week and it is alleged came into the hotel late Saturday night and began to amuse himself by drawnight and began to amuse himself by drawing pictures on the register. He was ordered to desist and picked up the ink bottle and poured its contents on the book. He was finally induced to go to bed, and on going into his room, he began to throw the furniture around and tear up things generally. Jope tried to expostulate with him and he replied by hitting him in the eye and throwing him out of the room.

It was too late to make an information against him that night and the first thing against him that night and the first thing Monday morning he entered suit against him. By that time Callan had left the city. Constable Murphy went to Irwin and then to Altoona, where he found Callan. He was brought to the city. Being unable to procure bail he was committed to jail for a hearing Saturday. hearing Saturday.

A STRIKE IN THE VALLEY.

The Hookers-Up and Dragouts at a Youngstown Mill Object to a Cut,

Youngstown, O., Sept. 14.-[Special.] The hookers-up and dragouts employed at the 16 and 18-inch bar mills at the Valley Mill have struck against a 10 per cent reduction in wages, refusing to work at the reduction, claiming that they would not make living wages. Their places were declared vacant and new men put to work. It is probable that the men in the Sharon Mills will strike, as they are only waiting to receive word from the men here.

The decision reached to-day by the directors of the Ohio Steel Company to erect a million dollar steel plant on a site in the western part of the city was received by expressions of pleasure from all classes, as it means not only an addition of the largest industrial plant in the State, but will give the city a population of 50,000 within the next year.

A Hitch in the Proceedings. James Rothermel and Miss Mamie Herman, a young eloping couple from Allegheny, went to Youngstown yesterday, and on the prospective groom admitting that the girl was not a resident of the State, a marriage license was refused. Miss Herman sent a message to her father. Frederick Herman, Woodland avenue, Allegheny, asking him to telegraph his consent to Judge Wilson. The consent was not telegraphed last night.

EDWIN ARNOLD'S WAY

He Shocks Japanese Society as Well as Hissionaries.

ONE OF THE LATTER TELLS WHY

The Poet Flew to the Defense of the Almond-Fyed Women,

SERIOUS CHARGES BY REV. BARTLETT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] CHICAGO, Sept. 14.-Rev. Samuel Bartett, who attacked the character of Sir Edwin Arnold at a preachers' meeting in this city Monday, was visiting General C. H. Howard in Glencoe to-day. He graduated half a dozen years ago at Dartmouth College, soon afterward going as a missionary to Japan. Not long ago he returned to America, and for a fortnight past he had been the guest of various Chicago friends. After dinner to-night he threw his stalwart form into a chair and related what he knew of great Englishmen somewhat more in detail. He said that in his talk to the ministers he was led into speaking of Arnold by a question, and that he used the poet's name merely in illustration of a class of men in Japan who slur the missionaries' work and, by secret approval or connivance, encourage the natives in im-moralities that are of course inimical to the progress of Christianity among them.

Why He Defended the Women, At the time Bartlett felt some regret at having blundered upon Arnold's name, but ne was reassured by the certain testimony which he possessed, and he proceeded to make some countercharges to the frequent mentions in Arnold's writings against the missionaries. "Not long ago," he said, "Edwin Arnold, in referring to Japanese women, spoke of them as half angelic and undertook to defend their notorious infidelity on the ground that they were early forced to marry without love, and hence were in all purity and innocence led to seek love elsewhere.

Continuing, Bartlett said that during his entire stay in Japan, at least when in Tokio and at the summer resorts, Edwin Arnold openly lived like a Turk, and it was in defense of his own personal indulgences that the great author of the "Light of Asia" flew to the support of the freedom and laxity and license which were the baneful characteristics of that Griental life.

Arnold's immoralities were the frequent and surprised comment of the Japanese everywhere, who have been long under the delusion that Englishmen and Americans were all Christians and followed puritanic modes of life. Actuated by the same mo-tives of shielding the impurities of his own life Edwin Arnold has made attacks upon the work of the missionaries.

His Presence Grew Undestrable. Bartlett had been for some time a membe of the faculty of the great Doshisa University at Kyito, Japan, when Sir Edwin Arnold went there to lecture, and he said that the practices of the poet in his pri vate life became so offensive to the directors of the university that his services as lecturer, though marvelously valuable from a scholastic point of view, were dispensed with. In fact, his presence at the University, which is in a same accelerate. is in a sense sectarian, was remarked upon by the Chinese, to whom his modes of life were matters of familiar talk.

Bartlett said further that while his own acquaintance with Sir Edwin was very limited, his information in the more specific details of the poet's conduct was not gossip, but the word of responsible men whose in-tegrity was unquestioned, and whose testi-mony was conclusive and the matter of public record.

The glamorous and poetic, but yet ficti-tious praise and adulation which Arnold bestows upon the Japanese women, whose code of morals is anything but ironelad, have aroused Christians in the realms of the Mikwlo to feelings of disgust, and they with which Arnold has dressed the shockingly prevalent immorality women and men of Japan.

FARMER ADAMS INSANE.

He Decomes Violent After His Conviction of Obstructing the Fort Wayne.

NEW CASTLE, Sept. 14.—[Special.]— "Farmer" George W. Adams, the man who was convicted of placing ties on the Fort Wayne Railroad, is a raying maniae, and it required two or more attendants in the county jail to-day to hold him. Adams is the man who claimed to have discovered three ties on the Fort Wayne Railroad at Enon Valley and to have removed them after being shot three times. Though he subsequently confessed to detectives that he had placed the ties on the track as a scheme to gain a reward, he afterward stated to THE DISPATCH correspondent that his first story was the truth and that he was frightened into making the confes-

As soon as the verdict of guilty was rendered Adams began to rave at the detectives. He became so violent that two physicians were called, and they were compelled to administer injections of morphine, but without success, and he still raves. This summer Adams fell in love with a young lady at Enon, and as she repulsed his attentions he threatened to secure a revolver and kill himself. It is said that the action for which he was found guilty was action for which he was found guilty was for the purpose of gaining the girl's consent to a marriage. He will likely be taken to an insane asylum.

BRADDOCK'S SENSATIONAL MARRIAGE. A Strange Story, in Which Father and

Daughter Both Charge Intimidation, --BRADDOCK, Sept. 14. - [Special.]-A sensation has been caused in Braddock over the marriage of Elizabeth Follen, aged 15, to John Woelfel, 40 years of age. The father of the girl is employed by the Carrie Furnace Company, and he claims to have been arrested on complaint of his daughter, who charges that she was afraid of being killed by her father. The warrant was issued by 'Squire Glunt, of Rankin. The case was quietly settled, and the daughter married Woelfel yesterday, the ceremony being performed by 'Squire Glunt. The friends of both parties then began to inquire as to the nature of the settlement.

Follen, the father, then confessed that he had signed a paper drawn up by 'Squire Glunt, giving his consent to the marriage of his daughter to Woelfel, and it was under these conditions, it is alleged, that the suit was withdrawn. Rev. Father Malonaux is interesting himself in the case, and it is likely that suits will be entered against 'Squire Glunt and his constable, William

Thirty-Fourth Ward School House, The Thirty-fourth ward school building is wanted by Father Crosgrove, of the West End. He wants to buy it and turn it into a parochial school. To-night the school board meets to decide whether the sale will be made. The meeting promises to abound with interest, as it is said there is considerable feeling in the matter, many thinking the building should not be sold for sectarian purposes.

It is said the attendance at this school has decreased greatly in the last year. So much so that two teachers have been dismissed. The reason given is that Father Cosgrove has started a school and the children have all flocked to him. Now his building is 'too small and he wants to buy the Thirty-fourth ward school building. The matter rests entirely with the school board. What they will do is doubtful as there is such a great feeling against the

MRS. HARRISON BETTER.

Her Physician Thinks Her Condition Has Slightly Improved-Her Vitality, However, Is Still at a Low Ebb, and a New

Complication Will Prove Dangerous. LOON LAKE HOUSE, N. Y., Sept. 14 .-The best that can be said of Mrs. Harrison's condition to-night is that it is no worse than it was this morning when the bulletin was issued. She rested quietly during the day and had several short naps, which failed, however, to re-fresh her to any noticeable extent. She seems to suffer principally from exhaustion. Her physicians see to it that she has as much relief as possible from physical pain and employ every known method to cheer her up.

It is gratifying that no more unfavorable symptoms manifested themselves to-day. All the patient's friends now realize that any new complication will be attended with the greatest danger. Mrs. Harrison's vitality is at a very low ebb, indeed, and cannot successfully resist further inroads. She has now been confined to her bed since last Wednesday, and has gradually declined in strength. This condition is partly due to two operations rendered necessary by the accumulation of fluid in the chest cavity. The first operation took place on Friday last and the second on Monday of this week. It is feared that still another will be necessary in a day or two. These opera-tions, however, afford only temporary re-lief. They are usually followed by a sense lief. They are usually followed by a sense of exhaustion and depression. Mrs. Harrison has stood them both very well, and that has been one of the tew favorable features of the case during the past week.

At 9 p. M., Dr. Gardner had just concluded an examination of Mrs. Harrison. He expressed himself to the family as being semawhat encouraged at her condition. In somewhat encouraged at her condition. In response to inquiries of newspaper men, he said: "Well, I think there is a slight improvement in Mrs. Harrison's condition to-night, from the fact that she is resting quietly, that her respiration is not quite so labored as it has been and because the fluid has not gathered in her chest as rapidly as

From other sources, however, it is learned that, while the production of fluid in the chest cavity during the last 24 hours has not been so extensive as during the preceding 24 hours, it is sufficient in quantity to indicate that another operation will be necessary to-morrow unless a decided im-provement should occur in the meantime. The physicians realize fully the debilitating effects of these and never make them when they can be avoided.

A representative of the Associated Press visited the house at midnight and found that the physician and all the members of the household, excepting the nurse at Mrs. Harrison's bedside, had retired for the night and that she was resting quietly.

INSPECTING THE SCHOOLS.

me Found in Bad Condition-Dectors Asked to Volunteer for Special Service if the Piague Com-s-Selecting the Sites for Cholera Hospitals.

Plumbing Inspectors Layton and Taggart xpect to complete the inspection of the school houses of the city to-day. Their report to Chief Brown will probably be made to-morrow. Some of the buildings already examined have been found in bad condition. from a sanitary point of view, though the majority are in good shape. The inspectors decline to make public any specific informa-tion as to their work until they report to Chief Brown.

All the physicians in the city received notices from Chief Brown yesterday asking if they would volunteer their services in case of a cholera epidemic. A few replies were received, but several well-known medical men called at City Hall yesterday afternoon to get further information before assenting to the proposition. They desire to know if, in event of their becoming spe-cial cholera doctors, they will be compelled to give up their regular practice and to re main where the cases are until the epidemic has passed. Chief Brown was not at his office when the doctors called, but they will return this morning.

Mayor Gourley and Chief Brown spent a couple of hours yesterday morning looking around the city for suitable places for cholera hospitals in event of their being necessary. Neither of the officials would say what selections had been made, but it was learned the new fire engine house on Second avenue had been seriously talked of for that section of the city. It was also stated that if the disease should make its appearance here a temporary frame building will be erected on the municipal hospital grounds in the Eleventh ward, so arranged that after the scourge has passed over the structure and its contents could be entirely destroyed by fire without danger to the present hospital. The officials intend to select suitable buildings conversion to every section of the city. ings convenient to every section of the city. In addition to the points mentioned there will be one each in the West End, Mt. Washington, the Southside, Lawrence-ville, Bloomfield, Hazelwood and the East End. It is probable that quarters have already been selected in each of those sections but the efficiels do not derive to tions, but the officials do not desire to frighten residents in the neighborhood of the places selected unnecessarily, and for that reason they will withhold the locations until it is necessary to use them.
