1200 DISPATCH, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1892. THE PITTSBURG Among the most prominent weakening factors was the enormous receipts in the North west-meanly 1,500 cars—the weak and lower cables, and a report that the yellow flag had again been hoisted over a couple of steamers in quarantine in New York harbor, indicating that other cases of cholera had proken out there. The visible supply also proved a depressing iactor. But the buying on all the weak spots was sufficient to prevent anything like a siump, and prices kept tolerably ateady. Buyers found a little enouragement in the fact that Chicago stocks for more anything like a siump, and prices kept tolerably ateady. active and strong. But, on the other hand, the disorganized conditions now prevailing among railroad affairs in the Pacific northwest furnished the strongest inducement for the selling of long stocks in Northern Pacific, and the pressure brought to bear upon the preferred stock was such that it was driven down about 3 per cent, and such a movement acted as a check upon the naturally advancing tend-ency for the rest of the market. To aid the liquidation, rumor had it that the most prominent director of the company was a seller of the stock and had advised its sale seller of the stock and had advised its sale to his friends. That there was no lack of short sales by the bear contingent was to be expected and the whole strength of that class of operators was concentrated upon this one point with the design of counter-acting the new strength developed in the market since the announcement of the set-tlement of the Reading labor troubles, and these were, to a certain extent, successful, unable to induce any new solling movement in the general list. The natural strength of the market finally carried evorything before it and in the last hour there was an urgent demand for stocks of all kinks. The market closed fairly act-ive and strong at the top figures for most everything on the list. Bailroad bonds were stimulated into something like activity and a much better temper marked the trading, though only

J. S. Bache & Co. to Oakley & Co.: "During the afternoon the bears became a little nervous, and as Gould's pet stock was bid up the shorts thought best to even up, and they bought the market, causing a sharp rally. The market looks to us as though the shorts would cover further in the morning, but then stocks must be sold, as we think the rally is nearly over. The east-bound slipments continue large, and the total shows an increase over last year. Another factor, however, has been little inferior in its effects. Money is apparently becoming easier. Foreign houses have been induced by the prevalence of high rates of interest here and the accompanying decline of foreign exchange to lend money freely." A special to another house read as follows: "The newspapers that have been doing their best to produce a panle in this city by means of their sensational head-lines are beginning to show a change and have at last become conservative. We are told that this was only accomplished after very energetic means had been taken by some of their biggest customers in the retail business. These houses notified the differ-ent dailies that if they kept on doing every-thing in their power to increase the ner-vousness of the public it would be useless for them to insert any notices in their stores." No matter what produced the change, it was a welcome one, as the tension here was very appreciably relaxed. Course of the Local List. decline of foreign exchange to lend money to the inside, is not especially interested and is known to be reliable and conservative: PITTSBURG, Sept. 19. Financial Editor Dispatch:

CHICAGO 'CHANGE.

Slight Declines Established in the Grain and Provision Pits.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18 .- At 75 cents a bushel toduy there seemed to be millions of bushels of wheat wanted by purchasers and for sale by owners. A fear has existed in some quarters that when the market reached that figure for December delivery the pit would be swamped by a deluge of stop loss orders. The instructions to buy about that price The instructions to buy about that prior that prior that the directions to sell. Nevertheless the feeling was on the whole beavy, and at the close 1/20 was knocked off Saturday's of the trade, and the market oblighter than it closed Saturday and the directions to sell. Nevertheless to need in order to sustain the price-a dam aging frost. The Trolley Growing in Favor. The big syndicate controlling the surface lines of street railways in New York appear to be meeting with success in overcoming the feeling there against the introduction of the trolley lines. Several of the big dailles the trolley lines. Several of the big dailles with powerful influence have recently come out, says the Philadelphia Stockholder, and plainly characterized the howl about the "deadly" character of the trolley and de-scriptions of it, "as an instrument of death," as the sheerest nonsense. They have also stated that the trolley is the only really practical method yet known for the use of electricity for motive nurposes and advise electricity for motive purposes, and advise the citizens not to be deceived by the wild scare raised in other places where every-thing in the way of an innovation is opposed on general principles ral principies.

Firmly Held and Advices Bullish-Grain Dull-Fruits Lower.

MONDAY, Sept. 19. The Elgin Butter board did business today at last week's prices, and in consequence there will be no change here in creamery butter quotations this week. The market is quoted steady to strong. Cheese is firmly held at last week's advance and advices from primary points continue to be bullish.

The markets are opened fairly active for Monday, the only line in which positive dullness was observable being in grain, feed and hav. Receipts of late have been rather Standard Harford county canned corn was sold in good-sized blocks at 85c f. o. b, in the Eastern market late last week, and that price was subsequently bid for addi-tional quantities. Evaporated California peaches, while rather slow of sale in the Eastern market, are no cheaper. Ordinary goods in sacks are still valued at 134@15c, and choice at 155c and upward.

Western valued at mysteric, and choice av 15% and upward. Western jobbers, so it was reported, were free biddens at 10c f. o. b on the coast for California prunes, 60s to 90s, in sacks. East-ern jobbers are as yet very indifferent buy-
