Why Rev. S. W. McCorkle Resigned His Allegheny Pastorate.

THE FRENCH MISSION REOPENED.

Addresses Commemorative of the Late Prof. Parker.

TOPICS TOUCHED UPON BY CITY PASTORS

The members of Rev. S. W. McCorkie's eburch yesterday expressed deep regret over their pastor's resignation, Resolutions setting forth their sorrow and highly complimenting him for the work he has done were passed. Mr. McCorkle has held the pasterate of the First Congregational Church, Allegheny, for three years. Durch, Allegheny, for three years. Durch, allegheny, for three years. Durch chosen few. "All others suffered destruction. The rening that time he has added 100 people ing that time he has added 100 people to the membership rolls. His church is in a part of the city which is rapidly giving way to manufactories. This is causing the people to find homes in the suburbs. His congregation has suffered greatly by their exodus. A whole colory has left and cone to Edge. whole colony has left and gone to Edgewood and there organized a church of its own. This has thinned the ranks considenably and caused the field of labor to grow smaller. This in part brought about the resignation of Rev. Mr. McCorkle. He feels it his duty to enter the evangelistic field, and the Allegheny parish does not afford him the labor It was just 100 years yesterday since the but he thinks a young, energetic man like himself should do. Mr. McCorkle has had a ! number of offers this summer, all more lucrative than his present pastorate. He has refused them all, until he has severed his connection with the work in Allegheny, at

Yesterday morning he preached a sermon on the "Fullness of God." "Love," said he, reme love that thinks, runs, embraces and plants the kies of reconciliation and says to the wondering child 'My son,' 'My daughter,' is a love that passeth me knowledge. Whatsoever God works, is results passeth the knowledge of men, he knows all about a rose patal, or the min of an ant, or the wing of a fly? No me. There is not a sunbeam in infinite more, nor a mote that floats therein that loss not surpass the knowledge of man, dere are some things we cannot measure. "As much as the glory of the colors in the owers of the earth, or the rainbows of the ypass the knowledge of a blind man; as belies the out-poured harmonies of Moknowledge. Whatsoever God works, much as the out-poured harmonies of Mo-cart and Handel surpass the knowledge of the deaf; as much as the brooding mother's passes the comprehension of the much does God's work on every enrices does dod's work on every enricass our knowledge, flow much brighter His thoughts must be than and how inconceivably higher must be than ours. I tries to come to all our faculties. He is put within us a perception of beauty to it. He unkes the dewdrops to mirror e starry beavers; has created flowers of a ousand names, and has drawn the rainneroes the stermeloud. He has put in us a perception of music, and filled has put within us a perception of grand

IT IS USELESS TO LIE.

Men Can Work Great Injury to Themselves by Telling Falschoods.

ev. E. R. Donehoo, pastor of the Eighth Presbyterian Church, yesterday preached on "The King's Business," He took his text rom I Samuel, xxi: 8. During his sermon, he said: "The haste which is here spoken of is not that headlong precipitation which will spoil any undertaking. As soon as one axidibits haste it is a token that the work will be only half done. A critical reading of the text indicates that no such thought was in the mind of the speatter. David was a fugitive, fleeing from Fand, whose anger and jeslousy threatened to end in his death. Cell if wint you please, David hed to the high priest, and in the most hallowed piace on earth. Lying can never be justified while the law of God stands.

"David lied, as the whole narrative clearly shows, nor do the Scriptures justicy his con-duct. While the Scriptures record the shows, nor do the Scriptures justity his con-dract. While the Scriptures record the crimes and follies of good men, like Abra-ham, Lot and David, they never gloss them over, apologize for them or afford us any en-cauragement to imitate their example. So far from admitting that lying helps a man or momotes his welture, the Bible invaria-bly shows that no lie ever told by the hollest man on earth benefited him in the slightest, but, on the contrary, brought with it disap-pointment and punishment. The Bible teaches, both by precept and example, that lying always brings surrow and shame to ing always brings sorrow and shame to m who resorts to it. All wrong doing is ald effectually deter all from employing it for any purpose, whether that of personal ends for the nation or the church of God. No man is ever justified in screening him-self bulled a falsebook."

the reverend gentleman occupied one hour in his delivery and at the end stated that he had prepared the fectures with the special purpose of helping young men to a chance knowledge of their country's history and of the events and causes which have produced the different "Americans" of the present day. He believed that a knowledge of the lessons which food has written in the the lessons which God has written in the story of America would help to make them etter citizens and better men. GOD WILL NOT ALWAYS PLEAD. There Is a Point in Every Man's Life

Where He Must Decide for Himself. "God shall send them strange delusion that they should believe a lie, that they might all be damned, who believe not the truth and have pleasure in unrighteous ness," was the text from which Rev. J. W. Riddle, pastor of the Union Baptist Church, preached yesterday. It was taken from II Thessalonians, if: 11. Using "Strange Delusions" as his theme, he said:

"There is a time in every man's life when he must stop to consider and change his course of life, or he will be etermally lost. God will not always remonstrate with him. He can go so far, and then if man does not reform and turn from his evil ways God will leave him to his own destruction.

"The views concerning God held by so many are delusions, and the result of his evil ways. This is strikingly illustrated in the account of the times before the delure. God tried to win men back to himself, but when he would not, Noah was ordered to build an ark for the protection of God's chosen few.

AFTER DEATH.

Dr. Sutherland Gives His Congregation

Look Behind the Vell. Rev. Dr. Sutherland, of the Second Pres byterian Church, preached last evening to a large congregation on "A Look Behind the Veil, or After Death-What?" He showed that there was no provision in the constitu tion of man for death or decay primarily. "We come," he said, "to a knowledge of death from without, by seeing others die, hence we cannot conceive of death, or know the experience of dying. When we die we lose nothing that is essential to our personality or identity."
Speaking of Heaven he deprecated the unscriptural, ghostly, and unreal light in which it is often represented in overzeal for the spiritual. The Bible presents it as the homeiand of the soul. Dying is but going
