and not one of us has had an attack of "richness" since. We further found that, unlike lard, Cottolene had no unpleasant odor when cooking, and lastly Mother's favorite and conservative cooking authority came out and gave it a big recommendation which clinched the matter. So that's why we always fry ours in Cottolene.

The proximity of the Bradford oil fields has often stirred home capitalists to prospect in various parts of Lycoming county for petroleum, but all the dozen or so wells sunk have only been dry holes in the ground. SATURDAY, Oct. 1. According to the Clearing House figures the volume of general business this week was 4.7 per cent smaller than last week, but, as compared with the figures of the like week of 1891, an increase of 7.1 per cent is shown. The movement slackened somewhat during the closing days of the week, as it invariably does toward the close of a month, but there were plenty of indications that trade was improving and that increased activity would prevail during October. Some pretty good authorities expect that politics will interfere more or less with business, but in a general way the prevalent sentiment is confident and prevalent sentiment is confident and cheerful. In the way of prices staples ruled rather irregular. Wheat and floor were firm; onts tended upward: corn, feed and hay were lower; sugar was easy; coffee was a little stronger if anything; provisions closed lower for hams and bacon; rice, noinsses and syrups were firmer; dairy products, eggs and poultry were steady to firm; vegetables and rults were slightly higher; mackerel and a few other varieties of fish were advanced; drygoods, boots and shoes and fall and winter clothing were active at strong prices, and hides and leather were firmer without being any higher.

Prime made the following report Friday: The almost perfect weather for the matur dentical with that which we experienced a car ago. Taking the corn belt as a whole, per cent of the crop is safe from damage y frost. Spring wheat reports show nearly alf the crop threshed. In Northern Min-esota and North Dakota, where 60 per cent esota and North Dakota, where 60 per cent f last year's crop was expected, threshings aw do not indicate the yield will be 50 per ent. Farmers are not selling very freely, at are looking for better prices later on altere have been no killing frosts. Ground reported generally to be in good condition or fall plowing. General situation in winger wheat belt is now a dry one; still farmers are seeding winter wheat everywhere, looking for tain later. Excellent progress has been made with seeding up to date, but there is no disposition to push seeding, for the reason that there is ample time to get wheat into ground and growing before cold weather.

The Cincinnati Price Current's estimate is for a crop of 185,000,000 bushels of corn in Kansas, where the Government report indicated a crop of only 96,000,000. The yield of the State of Kansas last year was 142,000,000 bushels, in round numbers, so that if this report is correct the State is again blessed with an unusually good crop. In 1890 this total crop was only a little over 55,000,000 bushels.
