TO MAKE BAD CHILDREN GOOD.

The First Test in the United States to Be Made in Pittsburg.

EVERY HOME CAN HAVE A HYPNOTIST

The incorrigible youngster, the girl who plays truant from school, the small girl who aggravates her mother by clinging to ngly habits, in fact the whole tribe of children who annoy their elders and grow up into bad citizens, are to have a new deal. The reformatory agent is not to be the time-honored slipper nor the shingle; whiping is to be a back number henceforth, and sending to bed, putting in the corner and the rest of the code of juvenile punishments are to be relegated to the rear. Dr. Benjamin Franklin, of 213 Ferguson block, Fourth avenue, says the old methods o restraining the tender sapling that shows a tendency to crookedness are to give place to applied psycho-therapeutics. In other words hypnotism is the new machine by which warped souls may be made straight. Dr. Franklin says that he believes that bad habits in children may be corrected and cured, whether they be physical or moral, by hypnotic treatment. Hypnotism is generally known in a vague sort of way as a process by which artificial catalepsy, or a condition of unconsciousness wherein most of the senses are paralyzed and certain others made more impressionable, is induced. Its application in the practice of physicians in this country is almost unknown, but in France it has taken its place as a recognized means for the cure of divers diseases, as well as a moral reformatory agent. Dr. Franklin makes the matter practically interesting to Pittsburgers by offering to treat free any 25 children, b tween the ages of 7 and 16 inclusive, who are now in any of the schools of Pittsburg or Allegheny. The only other conditions he makes are that the children shall be accompanied by a parent or guardian, and apply at his office between 2 and 5 o'clock. Vices That Are Cured.

The doctor promises to eradicate among others the following vices from his young patients: Persistent laziness, lying, kleptomania, or plain every-day thieving, tobacco chewing or smoking, malicious mischievousness, uncleanly habits, habitual disobedience, and the use of profaue and vile language. The only means he will use will be hypnotism, or to use his exact term, psychosuggestion.

Yesterday Dr. Franklin unfolded something more of the subject to a Dis-PATCH reporter. He said: "The study of hypnotism is no new thing with me. I have been interested in it since I left the army in 1866. Not till the last six years, however, have I been able to procure all the data I desired. In 1860 Dr. Durand, of France, wrote: 'Psycho-Thera-peuties provides us with the basis of an in-tellectual and moral orthopoedia, that is right a plan of instruction, which will certainly some day be introduced into schools and correctional institutions. His words were prophetic; they have been abundantly fulfilled in his own land. The Nancy School, of France, has become famous by its successful application of this simple science which seems so mysterious. At Nancy, Prof. Liebault, Bernheim, Beaunis Amey, Prof. Liebault, Bernheim, Beaunis and Liegeois, all members of the faculty, Prof. Berillon. of the Faculty of Medicine, of Paris, and Dr. Voisin, of the Salpetriere, Paris, associate of the celebrated neurologist, Prof. Charcot. have treated thousands of children, some merely stupid or lazy, others more radically deprayed or vicious, upon this psycho-sug-gestive plan, always with good effect and never with bad. So successful has Dr. Liebault, of Nancy, been in this application of hypnotism to children that Europe is ringing with his fame, and thousands o gusting habits, are living witnesses to the efficacy of this combined moral and physical

A Rival of the Keeley Cure.

"It is remarkable, and not flattering to us, that so little has been heard of psychotherapeutics in this country. Sufferers from the various forms of narcomania, under which head are classed the alcohol, morphine and tobacco habits, have been cured in large numbers, it is true, by hypnotism, but the little children who are after all more important in the scheme of redemption have not been allowed to share in its blessings in America. In France, as I have said, the improvement of the reaches have of the race has been extensively promoted by hypnotic treatment, children by the thousand, and grown-up criminals, thieves and other enemies of society have been redeemed in this way."

"What is the formula, doctor?" "There is no formula in set terms. Any-one may be a hypnotist, although of course the hypnotic influence of one man may be greater than another," replied Dr. Franklin. "Tell us how the hypnotizer proceeds,

then."
"In the case of a child? Well, the child may be supposed to be sitting in front of me," Dr. Franklin went on, "and I simply suggest to him—we'll presume it is a boy—that he is to go to sleep, looking fixedly at him all the while and bidding him to look intently at some object, say the snake ring on my finger. Look intently at anything and you instinctively will seren up your and you instinctively will screw up your eyes. I raise the ring gradually above the customary level of the boy's sight, and as his glance follows it the upper lid grows tired. These are simple inducements to se the machinery of sleep to moving. Directly I see the patient's eyelids quiver I know that I have won, and the next moment he is in a lethargic condition closely resembling sleep. But though he is unconscious in many ways, he is able to hear and heed my voice.

A New Way to Fill Churches.

"The hypnotist then gets down to work. He suggests positively to the patient the reformatory measures to be taken. For instance, in treating a man for alcoholism the other day, I suggested to him that next Sunday morning, at 7 o'clock, he was to go to church. He hadn't been to church in two years, and his wife had complained that he was getting into bad company and staying out o'nights. She laughed and shook her head when I told her husband, sitting there asleep, that he had to go to church. When he came out of the trance he knew nothing of what he had said or what had been said to him—patients never do remember what transpires while they are hypnotized. On the following Monday he came into my office and remarked with a laugh: 'Doctor you can't guess where I was yesterday? Do you know that fur the first time in two years I got up at 7 o'clock and went to early mass. What's more I signed the pledge with Father — for five years.' He had carried out the hypnotic suggestion to the letter."

"And you find children susceptible to suggestive hypnotism, toe?"

"Yes, as much as, if not more so, than adults. I experimented with my own little daughter, and her case is a fair sample. She is 8 years old, and through playing with other children in the street, most of them A New Way to Fill Churches.

daughter, and her case is a fair sample. She is 8 years old, and through playing with other children in the street, most of them boys, she acquired the habit of loud speech. She talked at the top of her voice all the time, and no amount of correction seemed to improve her. I hypnotized her, and suggested to her while in this receptive state that she must moderate her tones and avoid shouting. She has been a changed child in this respect ever since. Her school teacher stopped me the other day and told me of the child's quiet style of speech in violent contrast to her previous manner. The teacher said that before she had hed to reprove my daughter frequently for talking too loud, but now had to urge her to speak

The Parents Must Be Virtue The Parents Must Be Virtnous.

"There is practically no limit to the improvement that may be effected in children by hypnotism. I have found no difficulty in removing any of the victous tendencies common to childbood. The only characteristics or habits that are immovable under hypnotic treatment are those which are hereditary. The child born of lying parents cannot be cured of lying ordinarily by hypnotism. This is one of the difficulties of hypnotic practice, for it is a little awkward to explain to a fond mother that her little cherub of a son must have got his ineradicable penchant for picking up things not his from one of his parents or ooth.

"Finally, let me remark that hypnotism
is fast receiving the recognition of the highest medical authorities everywhere as a real means for helping mankind. The other day one of England's greatest doctors appointed to investigate the bichloride of gold cure said in his report that Dr. Keeley
would have been accepted if he had but admitted that hypnotic influence was a potent
factor in his treatment."
