Pittsburg Speak-Easy Keepers Get Salty Sentences From the Court.

MRS. SHERRY ON THE LIST.

She Gets a Year in the Workhouse and Has to Pay a $550 Fine.

HER LITTLE PLACE OF BUSINESS.

Where Men of All Classes Have Often Sipped Ecer Together.

NUMEROUS PROPRIETORS ARRESTED

Pittsburg and Allegheuv speak-easies are sailing on rough seas just now. This is especially so in Pittsburg. The police department yesterday gave evidence that it proposed to force these illicit liquor dealers out of business. It had Mrs. Mary Sherry up before the courts and succeeded in getting her quite a heavy sentence. It is no doubt the intention of Superintendent O'Mara to at once proceed against the other speak-easy keepers who thickly throng that neighborhood.

Samuel Whitehouse, Jr., a brother of Police Captain Whitehouse, did not appear in Criminal Court vesterday when his case was called. He had been indicted on four charges of selling liquor without license and on Sunday. Whitehouse could not be located, and the Court ordered the forfeiture of his bail. Bryan Devine furnished the bonds. The sum was $2,000.

An Allegheny Proprietress' Sentence.

Margaret Morrow, alias "Davis," was up in the Criminal Court charged with the same offense. She pleaded guilty to both charges. Her sentence was three months to the workhouse and to pay a fine of $550. Robert Middlemis had offended in the same manner. He will have to pay a fine of $500 and go the workhouse for three months and 20 days.

Of all these cases, Mrs. Mary Sherry's is the most interesting. She pleaded guilty to the charges. Her sentence was extraordinarily heavy. For one year she is to be confined at Claremont and will also have to pay a fine of $550.

In a little story and a half house on Secand avenue, between Ferry and Short streets, for several years Mrs. Sherry has reigned a queen. Her circle of acquaintances was large and embraced almost every class of respectable men in Pittsburg. The professional man, the business man and the laborer have all knocked at her little side door and inside have split many a bottle together. Her customers in the several years of her reign have been many. If a register had been kept, it would have afforded many sur, prises. Names of merchants, officialspolicemen, Councilmen, politicians, great and small, would have been on it.

Inside the Little Side Door.

Passing down Second avenue one would never have supposed that No. 40 was a speak-easy. The front of the house was dark and presented the appearance of a quiet little home. It was seldom that anyone entered the house through the front door. A little side door admitted all the patrons. Sometimes a knock was necessary, but more often the door was unlocked and he who wanted to could enter. The inside was tidy and cozy. There were three rooms, which were used by visitors to the house. The two back apartments were moderately furnished, and there many a barrel of been has been consumed. Here 100 men have often gathered at one time, and corks have popped like minic balls in bat-tle. The politicians of both parties have gathered there and in these rooms many a political scheme has been hatched while the originators sipped their beer. In all these discussions good feeling prevailed, and no one ever heard of disorder at Mrs. Sherry's.

In Mrs. Sherry's Front Parlor.

The front parlor was not thrown open to all. It was a cosy little room, fitted up with easy chairs. Here select parties of men have met and over a glass of beer formed friendships which were lasting.

Mrs. Sherry is a woman of about 30 years of age and rather pretty. She alone man-aged the affairs of her house, and her doors were never open but to male patrons. Everybody who came in was known to her and she had many friends. She had little to say to her customers, but all were treated with great courtesy.

An evidence of the great following she had was shown last night when the news of her sentence was made known. Many ex pressed great sympathy for her, and thought she had gotten a very salty sentence.

The community in which Mrs. Sherry lived is thickly thronged with speak-easies, and it is now supposed that Superintendent O'Mara will clean them all out.

He Ran a Speak-Easy.

John Wheian was arrested last evening for illegal liquor selling. He ran a speakeasy at Water and Grant streets which ha given considerable trouble to the police lately. Whelan was locked up at the Central police station, and will have a hearing

TRIED TO BLEED TO DEATH.

Charles H. Oliver Is Tired of Life and En deavors to End It-Makes a Deep Gash in His Wrist - Discovered in Time to Save His Life.

Charles H. Oliver, aged about 45 years, attempted to commit suicide at the Windsor Hotel yesterday by cutting a deep gash in his left wrist with a pocketknife. Between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday morning he went to the Windsor Hotel, Diamond street, and asked the clerk to give him s warm room. Room No. 18 was assigned him, and after paying for his lodging he went to bed.

At 12 o'clock yesterday the porter knocked at his door, but, receiving no answer, went away. At 1:30 Oliver knocked on the door of his room and asked for a on the door of his room and asked for a physician. Dr. T. P. Muller has his office in the hotel, and when he went into Oliver's room he found him lying on the bed holding his left wrist over a slop jar, which was nearly half filled with blood, which was flowing from a fresh cut wound in the wrist. The gash is about 1½ inches long, and within a quarter of an inch of the radial vein. When asked what was the matter, he said: "I have tried to kill myself, but I guess I've made a botch of the job." He was very weak and nervous, and asked the doctor why the cut was not fatal. He said he is a widower; has two children, a son who is bookkeeper for a lumber firm at the foot of Craig street, Allegheny, and at the foot of Craig street, Allegheny, and a daughter 12 years of age, who lives with Mrs. McMasters, on Broad street, near Negley street, this city, and that he has no home nor money. He was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital, and will recover.

INSTALLED AS ABBOT.

Rev. Father Schneurr, the Benedictine Monk, Consecrated by Bishop Phelan.

Rev. Father Leander Schneurr, O. S. B., was installed and consecrated Abbot of the Monastery of St. Vincent, by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Phelan yesterday morning. The ceremonies attracted a large attendance of priests and were unusually impressive. Quite a number of Benedictine monks from different parts of the country were present. The vacancy of the Abbotship was caused by the resignation of Father Andrew Hintenach in June last. Father Schneurr's election was confirmed by the Pope and and Father Basil, of the brotherhood, was so officially notified.

The newly consecrated Abbot was born in The newly consecrated Abbot was oorn in Germany 56 years ago. He came to America and settled here about 16 or 17 years later. His parents sent him to St. Vincent Monastery to school, and he was ordained a priest in 1861. He had done much missionary work in his time, and is largely responsible for the widespread establishing of the Benedictine order in this country. His election at the present time makes him Arch Abbot of the order in America.

YOUTHFUL ROBBER IN TROUBLE,

Stein Johnson Arrested for Tapping a Till

in a Southside Store. Stein Johnson, of 2874 Carey alley, was arrested yesterday as a suspicious character. He is only 9 years old and is thought to be one of three boys who tapped a till in Mrs. Miller's store on South Fourteenth street Tuesday evening. Mrs. Miller was out of the store at the time, but three boys, all about 10 years old, were seen to come out and run up the street. Yesterday afternoon when some boys went into the store, Mrs. Miller tried to catch some of them. When they went up the street she followed them and caught young Johnson. While bringing him down street, Officer Diebold came up and lodged him in the Twenty-eighth ward police station. He will be given a hearing before Judge Succept his morning. For some time a number of petty robberies have been committed by small boys, but the police have not been able to catch them heretotore. An effort will be made to send young Johnson to Morganza if he is

Mamie Harrington Said She Was Assaulted on Penn Avenue

A young girl about 17 years old and giving the name of Mamie Harrington, was brought to the Inspector's office last evening by a colored man. She told a rambling story to Inspector McKelvey of how a man had met her on Penn avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets, and had assaulted her. She was found in a stable by two men, who turned her over to the colored nan to take her to the station.

After a short examination it was found that the girl had been in the habit of sleeping in stables on Ord avenue nightly. She said she lived with her aunt, Nettie Smith, in the Eleventh ward, but could not exactly say where. Her father, she claimed, is an engineer on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern road. She said later that she had been married in Cleveland some short time ago. The Inspector sent her to the Central station, from where she will be sent to Morganza for three years.

The Committee Investigating the Mercer School Returns Home.

Senator Lloyd and Representative Fladd. members of the Legislative Committee charged with the investigation of the management of the Soldiers' Orphans' School at Mercer, Pa., returned to Pittsburg last night. They will go to their homes this morning.

"Our work at Mercer was very unsatisfactory," Mr. Fladd said. "The management refused us an inspection of their books and we had no power to compel them o show up their accounts. Senator Gobin did not attend the meeting and Representa-tive Baker was called home before we had taken up the work, and as a result we were unable to make any headway. We may in the near future resume the work, but I am fearful that we will accomplish nothing."

THE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Physicians Recommend That Garbage Be Removed at Public Expense.

The committee of doctors appointed two weeks ago to take measures to fight the cholera reported to Chief Brown yesterday. The report contained formulas for disinfecting patients, clothing, utensils and other

The report in closing says: "We would also recommend that the present method of collecting garbage is a faulty one, and one which, in the very probable event of cholera infection reaching us during the next year, would be a source of great danger, therefore we suggest that the Department of Public Safety use all the influence it may possess to secure the collection and disposa of garbage at the public expense.

Wagon Wrecked by a Street Car. Birmingham car No. 4 ran into a wagon loaded with potatoes at Diamond and Smithfield yesterday. The wagon was demolished and the potatoes scattered about the street. James Powers, the owner and driver, was not injured, but says he will sue the company for damages, as the motor-man was the cause of the collision.

BANDS AND TORCHES.

Both Parties to Formally Open the Campaign Saturday Night.

THE FIGHT IS ON THE DEAD QUIET.

People Evidencing Marked Interest in the Contest.

QUAY AND MAGEE HAVE GONE EAST

The Presidental campaign in Allegheny county will be formally opened on Saturday night- when the marching clubs of both political parties will turn out and parade the principal streets of the city. So far during the campaign the parades have been confined to the small boys, but Saturday night's demonstration promises to be a glittering success, as the managers of both parties are industriously working to have all their forces in line, and each party is watching the other to prevent anything like an eclipse. At the headquarters of both political parties considerable work is being done and both parties seem to be conducting a still-hunt campaign.

"It is true there has been no music, n flourish of trumpets, no flashing of torches," Chairman Gripp said yesterday, "but there is a strong undercurrent and the campaign, while it is on the quiet, is just as hot now as ever I saw it. I have never known a campaign where so much interest was manifested by substantial people of both par-

Very Peculiar Campaign. "It is to me the most peculiar campaign I have ever known," County Commissioner Weir said yesterday. "Our office is practically crowded every day with people who come there to inquire about the election laws, the Baker ballot system or to see if they have been registered. Our clerks have been unable to wait upon all our visitors, and we have been compelled to keep the registry lists where the people can examine them for themselves."

The marshals and staff officers for the Democratic parade Saturday evening met last evening at Democratic headquarters to complete arrangements for the demonstration. Chief Marshal Rutledge presided. He announced that the colors of the Chief Marshal and staff would be red, white and blue; for the Pittsburg division, red; for the Southside division, white, and for the Allegheny division, blue.

Marching Clubs vs. Street Cars. Colonel Rutledge stated that he had called on Chief Brown for the purpose of learning just what rights the parade would have in respect to street cars, etc. He had done this because of the trouble there has frequently been with motormen, etc., and he wanted to know just what rights the parade had. Chief Brown at first said he didn't just know. Finally he said that at a prossing when one division has passed the next division should halt a few minutes and let five or six cars pass, and so avoid too big a blockade. In regard to marching parallel with a street car line, Chief Brown said that where there was room between the tracks and the curb the procession should take that. Where there is not room between the track and curb they can take the whole

The marshals of the divisions are ordered to report their divisions to the adjutant divisions general at the Monongahela House at 8 o'clock sharp Saturday evening The East End Democratic Troop, Captain G. M. Bell, will report to the adjutant general for escort duty. The line will move at 8 sharp

The Iron and Steel Workers' Cleveland and Stevenson Marching Club, composed of workers in the Keystone mill, was added to the list of clubs enrolled for the parade.

POLITICS IN TEXAS.

A Red-Hot Fight Raging in the Democratic Ranks.

R. P. Rentfro, Collector of the port at Brownsville, Tex., the most southern point in the United States, passed through the city last evening bound for Washington He thinks if the election in Texas were held to-morrow that Clark, the independent Democratic candidate for Governor, would beat Hogg, the present incumbent.

Hogg is a great opponent of corporations, and when a railroad company is mentioned he takes a fit. This opposition has made him the pet of the Farmers' Alliance, which has indorsed him, and the renegade Democrats, while the better element of the party is supporting Clark. Last week the Republicans put Clark on their ticket, and Mr. Rentfro is afraid that this act has hurt

Mr. Rentfro added that Democratic polities in Texas are in such condition that Mills and men of his school are disgusted, and will not speak in the State. They have have asked Harrity to send them to other

Ex-Solicitor General George A. Jenks, of Brookville, registered at the Seventh Avenue Hotel yesterday. He says he has been too busy attending to his law business to give any attention to politics, but he expects to take the stump for Cleveland before the campaign is over. Mr. Jenks doesn't think that he will go out of the State, but will confine himself to the northwestern counties. He is not at the disposal of the State Democratic Committee.

Many Voting Schools. A number of voting schools are being opened throughout the two cities by the managers of both political parties. The school at Republican beauquarters and that at Democratic headquarters are both being liberally patronized, regular booths and bal-lots are being used and those in charge of the various schools say they have little difficulty in educating the voters on the

GONE TO NEW YORK.

Senator Quay Will Confer With Chairn Carter and Clarkson Senator Quay left for Philadelphia yesterday morning and was followed by his son Dick last evening. Mr. Quay expects to reach New York by the latter part of the week when he will hold a consultation with Chairman Carter and Clarkson.

with Chairman Carter and Clarkson. If he is needed he is willing to stay in New York, but Dick thinks his father will not remain in the metropolis more than several days. He says Carter is running the campaign satisfactorily, and he sees no reason why his father should stay there.

Senator Quay thinks the campaign in Pennsylvania is too dead, and he will try to put some life into it. He wants to see a little lively work done in the western counties. As he is charged with indifference he is anxious to roll up a greater majority he is anxious to roll up a greater majority for Harrison than he had in 1888 to show the croakers that they were wrong. He will consult with Chairman Reeder in Philadelphia and at the same time see physicians about the vertigo in his head. Mr. Quay says the good condition of the crops and the general prosperity of the people will make lots of votes for the party. He thinks the outlook is fair, but it remains to be determined whether the people have had too much tariff talk or not. It makes him augh every time he thinks of the wildcat banking plank in the Democratic platform, C. L. Magee left for Philadelphia and New York last evening. It is expected that the Senator and he will meet in New York.

ON THE FENCE THIS YEAR.

General Warner Is a Democrat Who Won't

Stump for Cleveland. General A. J. Warner, of Marietta, was at the Union depot last evening going to Washington. The old man is disgusted with the Democracy this year and is on the fence: "I was invited," he said, "to take the stump in Ohio for Cleveland, but I refused. The rainbow chasers who imagine that the Buckeye State is going Democratic will be badly fooled. The Democrats have gone back on every principle they ever held. Their tariff plank is neither Jeffersonian nor Jacksonian. It is in direct violation of the Constitution, and I believe that Watterson had Cathoun's tariff doctrine substituted for the original resolution to defeat Cleveland. I do not mean to say that McKinley's policy of excluding traile is constitutional, but there is a medium between the tariff planks of the two parties that is just. It is what the old-time Democrats advocated, but the modern fellows repudiated.

"As for the wild cat banking plank, it is the most ridiculous thing ever put in a Democratic platform. We want the double standard of gold and silver in this country. It is the only sensible money."

AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING.

The Democrats on the Southside Meet to Prepare for the Campaign.

The Democrats on the Southside last evening held an enthusiastic and well-attended meeting in the rooms of the John A. Snea Democratic Marching Club rooms, on Carson street. Joseph McCarthy presided. Speeches were made by J. A. Wakefield, William Walls and F. I. Gosser. The currency, labor and tariff were discussed and the local Democratic ticket strongly supported by the speakers.

The club now has 175 full-uniformed members. Charles McVay is Captain, and Joseph Jay, Lieutenant. On next Saturday evening a banner will be presented the club by Hon. John A. Snea, after whom the club was named.

READY TO MARCH.

The Americus Club Completes Its Prepar tions for Saturday's Parade.

The arrangements for the Americus Republican Club's parade Saturday evening have been about completed. The Grand Army Band will head the club, and a strong turnout of the members is expected. All the clubs in the country have been invited to participate, and a number of them have signified their intention to be in line. There will be no formality about the parade, no

The Americus will march from their rooms on Smithfield street to Grant street and Fifth avenue, and will lead the column. All other clubs will take their places as they report, and then the parade will move over the route as previously published.

Voting Schools on the Southside. A Republican voting school was opened in the Conkling Club rooms on South Twelfth street last evening. Judge Gripp, Attorney Miller and Secretary Moore were present to give preliminary instructions on voting under the Baker ballot law. By this even-ing Alderman McGarey will have fixed up model booths in a room on Eighteenth and Carson streets, where daily instructions will be given in the use of the new ballots.

A Big Club in Corry.

Mayor Lambing, of Corry, is proud of the Republican Club that was organized in his town last week. The membership is now 250, and before the week is over it will be pushed up to 400. The Mayor claims it is the largest club in the northern counties. C. L. White is President and James M. Lambing, Jr., Secretary and Treasurer. The boys have rented a hall and are prepared to howl for Harrison and Reid.

PICKED UP AMONG POLITICIANS.

THE Allegheny General Republican Club will hold an open meeting this evening at the rooms, corner of Lacock and Federal streets.

THE Allegheny Campaign Cadet Club have received their new uniforms and torches and last night 150 members of the club turned out and drilled for an hour or two. THE Prohibitionists hold a meeting a Turtle Creek on Friday night and one at Coraopolis Saturday night, both to be addressed by Rev. J. A. King, of Pittsburg, after which a Bidwell and Cranfell Club will be organized.

THE Democrats of the Fifth and Sixth vards, Allegheny, will hold a mass meeting at their wigwam on Market street to-mor row night. The meeting will be addressed by J. J. Miller, J. D. Watson, A. C. Braden, William Walls and others.

THERE will be a meeting of the Republican Campaign Committee at Republican head-quarters in the Times building this after-noon to take action on the holding of public meetings, parades, etc., and on Satur-day afternoon there will be a full meeting of the County Committee at the same place.

STILL ON THE CHASE.

Hunting for Advisory Committeemen and Pinkerton Rifles.

ADJT. GEN. GREENLAND HERE. Burgess McLuckie Says He Is Not Afraid to Face the law.

YOUNGSTOWN ROLLERS NOT HAPPY

The detectives, in the employ of the Carnegie Steel Company, at Homestead, have received information as to the whereabouts of 50 of the missing Pinkerton rifles. A remark from a 9-year-old boy gave the clew upon which the detectives went to work, and they have received sufficient corroborative information to convince them that they are at length upon the right track of the Winchesters. The time for making the descent has not been decided upon, but the locality is now under surveillance to prevent a removal of the weapons. The detectives have also clues to several of the nen who are wanted on the treason charges, and arrests may follow to-day.

There is little change in the operation of the mill. The break in the 35-inch mill has been repaired, and the management expects that plant to be running as usual to-day. About a dozen new men secured work yesterday, and no desertions were reported. The converting mill is gradually increasing its capacity as the men become more accustomed to working the big ten ton vessels, and this gives more steel to be worked up in the various departments. It is reported that a large hotel for workingmen is to be built shortly at the corner of Eighth avenue and Heisel street.

The Men Want to Retaliate,

Members of the Advisory Committee are anxiously awaiting the action of the grand jury in the cases against the Carnegie Steel Company officials, mill bosses and Pinkerton men. Lawyers have given them reason to hope that the charges will stand. Chair-man Crawford says that contributions are again coming in with gratifying regularity, and that some amounts are surprisingly Adjutant General W. W. Greenland ar-Wiley and Colonel Hulings waited at the Seventh Avenue Hotel all evening for him. Colonel Hulings had an idea that the troops would be withdrawn this evening or in a few days, and he was jubilant over 11, but General Wiley said there was no ground for such a feeling. He was positive the soldiers would still be in Homestead next Monday, and the time of their removal is as sionday, and the time of their removal is as uncertain as ever. The General denied that a conference had been called. He said he got a telegram from Adjutant General Greenland to meet him, but during the trouble he received at least 100 messages, and there is nothing significant in this fact. Burgess McLuckie Is Not Afraid.

When seen in Youngstown last evening Burgess John McLuckie, lately of Home-stead, said: "I don't propose to return to Pittsburg simply because the Carnegie Company says I must. I have always been a law-abiding man, and if the legally constituted authorities notify me that I am wanted I will return. My present post-office address is Youngstown, O., and a letter so addressed, postage paid, will reach me. If the Carnegie Company wants me so badly they needn't take the trouble to get a requi-sition. Let them send an officer here with warrant and I will cross the State line without giving anybody any trouble. Prominent men of Allegheny county have assured me that that they will go on my bond at any time I see fit to return, so the officers of the company will not succeed in getting me behind the bars for any length William Roberts, of the Homestead Advisory Committee, was in Youngstown last night and had a conference with McLuckie. There is a feeling among the rollers and iters of Youngstown in Isvoi drawing from the Amalgamated Associa-tion. A member said yesterday that it was the intention now to form a separate organization, the membership to include the ers and heaters in the Mahoning and Shenaugo Valleys, and the new association to meet the manufacturers on the completion of contracts under the present scale. It is stated there that when President Weibe retires from the association next month he will accept a lucrative position with Oliver Brothers, of Pittsburg.

PECULIARLY AFFLICTED,

Three Mill Men Return to Their Home

Under the Doctors' Care. A dispatch from Chicora, Pa., says: Three men who went from here to work in the Homestead mills are back home under the doctors' care. They are L. H. Craig, G. W. Arney and Harry Thomson. They are all suffering with a complaint that combines low fevers with cholera morbus symptoms, and declare that a majority of the men in the mills, particularly those who came there from other places, are more or less afflicted with the same peculiar ail-ments. They say the men attribute the difficulty to the drinking water and to the rank odors about the place.

COLUMBUS DAY CELEBRATION.

Pittsburg Expected to Make a Fine Sho ing in the Demonstration

The General Committee on the Columbus Day celebration met in the Council chamber yesterday afternoon. About 70 of the members were present. There was much discussion over the appointment of aides to the Grand Marshal. A motion was made that the entire General Committee suggest representatives of organizations to act on Chief Ehlers' staff. About 250 aides will be required.

It was reported that Allegheny would be represented in the demonstration by 20 societies at least. Dr. Arnholt said he would be able to say at the next meeting how many the Southside would send to the celebration. Mr. Burchfield said that Pittsburg proper would make a splendid showing.
