ON TREASON STATUTES.

Both Sides Ready for the Important Legal Battle.

THOS. M. MARSHALL ON THE ISSUE

Homestead Is Still Excited Over the Dynamite Scare.

CHARLES JOERNER'S LEGS CUT OFF

Chief Justice Paxson, of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, will this morning sit as a County Court Judge, and will deliver a charge to the grand jury on the law of treason, handing over the indictments in the Homestead cases. It is understood that the Chief Justice has spent considerable time in preparing his charge.

Both sides are well prepared to meet the legal fight, which it is considered is the most important issue among all those arising out of the big strike. Captain E. Y. Breck will be on hand to look after the interests of the Carnegie Company, associated with District Attorney Burleigh, who will plead the cause of the State. W. J. Brennen and his associate counsel, Thomas M. Marshall, will be there to show, if possible, the absurdity of the treason charges. All the witnesses examined in the various cases of riot and murder against the strikers will then be examined the grand jury. The Law in the Treason Cases.

"There has been so much talk about the treason cases that is nothing but nonsense," said Thomas M. Marshall, who will help defend the men, yesterday, "I would like to make a few explanations. By the act of Assembly of March, 31, 1860, it is treason to levy war against the State or adhere to its enemies. By another section it is misprison of treason for any one to conceal the knowledge he may have of treasonable offenses from some of the proper authorities. This is the act under which the Homestead informations were made. Section 3 of Article V of the Constitution states that the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court extends over the entire State. Justices thereof by virtue of their offices are judges in the Courts of Over and Terminer and Justices of the general jail delivery, with the same authority as those officers. These trials for treason by an act of March 31, 1861, are not matters for the Supreme Court to try, but belong to the common courts, the same as murders. Under our criminal code these crimes of treason and misprison of treason are pu on a par with the other offenses named in the

The Commonwealth has the right to challenge peremptorily four persons. The defendants have 20 peremptory challenges and as pany as they can show just cause for.

No Mystery About the Trial. "All this talk about King's juries and the special powers of the Supreme Court Justices in these cases is mere bosh. There is no mystery about these cases; they are about the same as any other stationary offenses. The common law doctrine of treason has no place in our law, either as to the offense itself, the mode of trial or who shall preside. There is nothing very strange or extraordinary about this proceeding There have been far more novel proceed ings in Allegheny courts and the

'At the commencement of the Rebellion, indictments were preferred against certain Pittsburg clothiers for defrauding the sol-diers in giving them shoddy instead of good garments. Bills of indictment were found against Frauenteld & Co. and Morganstern & Co., and the case was fixed for trial on a Monday morning before Judge McClure. The counsel for the defendants fearing that the great excitement attendant upon the reaking out of the war would prevent their clients cetting a fair trial, applied to Court of Pennsylvania, who, upon cause moving the indictment from the jurisdic-tion of Judge McClure and giving the case the Chief Justice sitting as a criminal Judge in Allegheny county.

Judge Lowrie held his official term of court but the case never came up, the main witness having left for Europe for his health. This case attracted a great deal of attention at the time, the most prominent lawyers in the city being engaged upon it. The defendant's counsel were Hon. Charles Shaler, Frederick H. Not Treason Against the State.

"Recently the case of Casper Haneray who was tried in the Circuit Court of Phil adelphia before Justice Greer for treason has been cited as precedent. It is not a precedent, however, as Haneray's crime was treason against the United States. Haneray was one of a number of people who resisted United States officers and the owner of an escaped Southern slave, who attempted to capture the fugitive under the fugitive slave act. The fight occurred at Christians, and the slave owner was killed in the altercation. Charles Joerner, a Homestead mill worker, was brought to the Southside Hospital yesterday morning, having both legs terrihiv crushed and mangled. They were after-ward amputated just below the knees. He suffered so from loss of blood and shock, that his condition is considered critical.

Joerner was found at 4:30 o'clock early in the morning near the Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston Railroad tracks by a train crew. He could not tell how the accident happened or how he came to be there. It is supposed he was struck and run over by a train. He is about 20 years old and was employed in the mills. He came recently from Baltimore. Last evening he was in a comptose condition and had not recovered sufficiently to tell anything about the acci-

It was the sentiment that a resolution should be prepared and laid before the battalion and this resolution had been given to the press.

At a previous meeting the battalion had decided to participate in the parade. There was no inclination on the part of the gentlemen at yesterday's meeting to reconsider the action, but on the contrary the representatives of the several commanderies that make up the battalion, reported that they would turn out to a man and do all in their power to make the celebration a success. Considerable regret was expressed that the public had been given the impression that the Knights of St. John had even contemplated any other action. The probabilities now are that this order will make a stronger showing than it would have done under

TRIPARTITE FUSION

Between the Populite, Prohibition and Social-Labor People

TO SECURE LEGAL RECOGNITION

Pittsburg Printer Ready to Take the Ballot Contract. GENERAL HASTINGS IS CONFIDENT

The People's, the Prohibition and the Social-Labor parties of this State have hit on a novel plan to demand recognition in the preparation of the ballot in future contests. Chairman Thompson, of the People's party; Chairman Patton, of the Prohibition party, and the Chairman of the Social-Labor party will meet in Pittsburg early this week to formally put in operation the scheme which promises them relief from the annoyance and inconvenience suffered during the present campaign.

The official Baker ballot when it is issued will have the candidates of these three parties alphabetically arranged in one column of the ticket. Each of the three parties insisted that its candidates should be given a eparate column on the ballot the same as he two old parties. The amount of space was not allotted to them in this arrangement of the ballot in this campaign and each of the three chairmen are fearful that as his candidates are now arranged neither party will secure sufficient votes to demand place on the ballot hereafter, as each party must secure at least one-third of the votes in the State to guarantee recognition.

Will Vote a Mixed Ticket. At the meeting of the three chairmen it has been arranged that they will unite in a call to their followers to vote for the first 32 electors representing in their alphabetical arrangement in the column devoted to them on the ballot several electors of each of the three parties. "

This plan to demand future recognition for the three parties was first conceived by J. H. Stevenson, Chairman of the Alle gheny County Committee of the People's party. He says the scheme will be of no particular benefit at the approaching election, but he argues that it will dispose of the trouble and annoyance of securing suf-ficient signatures to guarantee a place on the ballot for the three parties in the future. Chairman Stevenson says he had little difficulty in securing the necessary signatures during this campaign and he believes that several times as many signers could have been gotten had he desired them. He estimates that the People's party in this State will poll 25,000 votes, while the Pro-hibition party, he thinks, will poll 20,000 votes and the Social-Labor party about 5,000, or the three parties combined will poll 50,000 votes.

Will Need No Petitions Hereafter. This will give one or more elector of each party more than the 3 per cent of the highest number of votes polled by any candidate, and thus insure them the same recognition hereafter as accorded the nominees ognition hereafter as accorded the nominees of the two old parties.

Mr. Stevenson, who is conservative and thoughtful, is confirmed in the belief that the People's party will play a conspicuous part in the approaching Presidental election. He is confident the People's party will carry one or more of the Western States, and he believes the President will be elected by the Electoral College and be elected by the Electoral College, and that neither of the present candidates will be named as Presider fore force a compromise and will name for President some prominent man who will be satisfactory to us and to one or other of the old parties.'

WANTS THE CONTRACT.

William P. Bennett Will Bld for Printing the New Ballots.

William P. Bennett, the Pittsburg job printer, will early this morning present to the County Commissioners a proposition to print the Baker ballots. He contends that he can print the ballots in plenty of time if the contract is awarded to him at once. It is probable his proposition will be accepted.

Mr. Bennett when seen yesterday said: "Yes, I will make a proposition to the Commissioners early this morning to print the hallots for Allegheny county. If my proposition is accepted, and I am awarded the contract in time to get away from Pittsburg on the 8:10 train in the evening, I will give bond in any amount required to print and have the ballots out in strict accordance with the Brooks ballot law."

TROUBLE WITH AN INCLINE. LIVED IN A CAVERN

Ecott Robinson Plays Hermit on Monument Bill, Allegheny.

CARVED A HOME OUT OF THE ROCK.

Arrested on Suspicion of Raiding Cellars for Provisions.

HIS RETREAT LOCATED BY CHILDREN

Scott Robinson, a colored vagrant, was arrested yesterday morning in a cave on Monument Hill, Allegheny, by Detective ohnson. For some time past the residents in the vicinity of Thomas street, which runs along the slope of the hill, have been missing provisions and small household effects. It was at first thought an organized gang of petty thieves was committing the depredations. Yesterday morning Ely Herdley, of No.

14 Thomas street, was treated to an unpleasant surprise. Sometime during the night his cellar was entered by tearing off the wire screen, and the window being loose easy access was gained. All the edibles were taken, together with a coat, shirt and an alarm clock. "The only thing left for Sunday dinner," said Mr. Herdley, "was bread, and we were entirely dependent upon the generosity of our neighbors."

Upon making known his loss he learned from the children of the neighborhood that a colored man had been living in a cave on the hillside about 200 yards from his house the past three weeks. Had a Snug Hiding Place.

He called upon Superintendent Muth and entered a complaint against the man. Muth detailed Detective Johnson to investigate the case. Johnson atter a hard climb up the steep hillside found the hiding place of the suspect, who at first refused to go with him, claiming he was unable to move. was finally persuaded to accompany the detective to the Central station.

Fully 100 feet above Thomas street and about half way to the summit of the hill, just behin a clump of bushes which conceals the entrance, Robinson constructed his habitation.

Hewn Out of the Rock. The opening was orginally about 18 inches wide and 2 feet high, but a portion of it has been removed. The cave is about 7 feet long, 4 feet high and 3 feet wide at the widest part. It formerly was a shelving of rock. Its occupant had dug out the rock, which he utilized to build a front to the retreat. On the top layer a board was placed, to which was attached a piece of burlap which hung down like a curtain and effectually kept out the keen night winds. Two pieces of scantling were propped against the roof on the inside of the wall to prevent it from falling upon the hermit. Altogether the quarters are rather snug.

Robinson was first discoverd about three weeks ago by some of the children of the neighborhood who were playing on the hill-side and accidentally found the entrance to the cave. Nothing was thought of it at first until provisions and other articles began to mysteriously disappear, and a visit to the cave was made. Robinson told those who called that he was sick and lame and unable to move out.

Robinson has figured in police circles before. He was recently released from the workhouse.

The St. Clair Plane Not Running-Unsatis factory Service Displeases the People -Patronage Had Greatly Fallen Off-What One Man Has to Say.

For the second time within the past two weeks the St. Clair incline plane, at South Twenty-second street, stopped running last Thursday and has not been running since. The people of the Twenty-seventh ward are compelled to walk up the hill, and are making great complaint about the position in which they are placed. As there is no other way to reach the hill top than by a rough tootpath, it makes it all the more difficult for the people to reach the city. About all the residents of this district are employed in the mills and have to make two trips a day.

It was reported last night that the ineline had stopped running because the foundations of the boilers and doums were beginning to give way. Another report had it that there was dissatisfaction in the management. There is little prospect at present of the incline being started for some time. The people are very impatient and charge that this has been brought on by and charge that this has been brought on by negligence on the part of the company.

George Story, in speaking of the matter last evening, said: "I have been living on the hill for the past five years. When I came here the incline did a large business, but since then the patronage has fallen off so much that of late the plane has been used as little as possible. This has been brought about by the lack of accommodations and neglect on the part of the company to comply with the public demanda. Why, of late it seemed as though the company did not care how things weat. Cars ran very irregularly and the service was ran very irregularly and the service was unsatisfactory. Had the people made com-plaint to the proper officials, I think a change would have been made. If the incline was run properly, it would be a pay-ing venture, as there are a large number o people to be reached at the top of this plane. A great fuss is being raised now since the cars stopped running and I would like to see something done soon. What
