INFECTAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCE.1 NEW YORK, Oct. 10 .- All the big men and most of the little men of the Republican party in New York State assembled at the grand council of war called for noon today at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. The morning trains brought in squads of Republicane from the Mohawk Valley, the great counties of the North and the more thickly populated regions of the Southern tier.

In honor of the event all the big chiefs of Republican National headquarters and ex-Senator Thomas C. Platt and ex-Senator Warner Miller, were on hand to receive

A Republican county leader is a great man just now. He was a great man four years ago, when the State was carried for Harrison by over 14,000 plurality. But he is a greater man to-day. The leaders of the party and those brought directly in communication with the President lean upon him. Most of the county leaders who came to town to-day did not dream of their importance until they were all assembled in the great council room of the Republicans on the parlor floor.

at noon they saw before them Republicans whose names are almost as familiar as the President's. Lounging back in an arm chair that was twice too large for him was Hon. T. H. Carter, chairman of the Republican National Committee. Beside him was General James Clarkson, who, with Senator Quay and the national campaigners of four years ago, won the battle for Harrison.

Near by was Senator John Sherman, the great financial statesman of the Republican party. Close to the Senator from Ohio was Cornelius B. Bliss, Treasurer of the National Committee, and next to him were Mr. Platt and Mr. Miller. Not far off was Hon.

This dissatisfaction has found expression in various forms and in various places. In this county it has crystallized into the Industrial Alliance, an association which, founded upon the disappointment of the industrial masses with the free trade platform, now exists in a permanently organized form in every district of the city.

the Democratic ward bosses in New York. The true Republican colored people are much excited over the matter, and the ne-gro who goes to New York between this and the election will be spotted from the time he leaves Washington. As for the Democrats, they say that if there is anything in the report at all, it is merely that the negroes concerned are try-ing to get a pot of money out of the Dem-ocrats, and that such scoundrels would not be worth buying, as they could not be trusted. SPRCIAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATCH. WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.-Before he left Washington for the West, Secretary Charles Foster reviewed the work of the Treasury Department in the cholers emergency, and expressed his approval of all that had been done by the department to establish a quarantine and keep the plague out of the United States. He outlined, also, the proba-ble course of the department for the future, subject to the action which Congress may take at its meeting next December.

It is altogether likely that the Secretary, in his annual report to Congress, will make in his annual report to Congress, will make a recommendation that steps be taken for the establishment of a national quarantime to take the place of the State quarantime and maintained under the existing law. Uniformity Is Sadly Needed. "Now all of these 45 States have similar laws, but each can apply the law according to its own judgment. There should be uni-formity in the application of the law, and this is particularly true of the seaport towns. At Baltimore and Philadelphia we established a quarantine of our own below the cittes, by which we were able to stop vessels before they came within the jurisdiction of State authori-ties. For Baltimore we established a quarantine at Cape Charles and for Phila-delphia at the capes at the mouth of the Delaware river. In these cases the ves-sels first fell into the hands of our represen-tative, then they passed to the State au-thorities, and then they came within Fed-eral jurisdiction again. The New York State authorities were better prepared for the emergency than we, and they have borough. The firm had had more experience. We felt that it was necessary to establish our own quarantine regulations as supplemental to theirs. That is, we would not interfere with any of their regulations, but after they had done with vessels, we would take charge of them and impose any other restrictions that we thought necessary. This we could do through the customs officers.

"Now, the best thing known concerning the cholera is that its favorable subjects are those who from poverty have badly neglected their persons and live in dirty, ill-drained and badly-ventilated houses, yet notwithstanding the unhealthy conditions I have described, and the presence of the cholera at their gates, the au-thorities of Three Rivers are only now be-ginning to move. It has seemed next to ginning to move. It has seemed next to impossible for them to realize that if the city was to be protected from the plague it was they and not the clergy who were to be the means of saving it.

A Conference With Closed Doors.

The doors were closed and bolted. Anderson Lawrence was stationed at the keyhole, and staved there until nearly 5 o'clock. Ail this time the big chiefs and the little chiefs consulted. Mr. Brookfield called the meeting to order, and on his proposition L. H. Humphrey, of Wyoming county, was made Chairman, and John S. Kenyon Secretary. There were no representatives present from Albany, Allegany, Chautauqua, Clinton, Columbia, Essex, Fulton, Genessée, Greene, Hamilton, Kings, Queens, Suffolk and Washington counties. These counties were heard from by letters addressed to Chairman Brookfield and Chairman Hackett.

After a consultation lasting five hours the assemblage dispersed. It was then made known that the chiefs had listened to speeches from Mr. Carter, Mr. Platt, Mr. Miller, Mr. Sherman, General Clarkson and Mr. Bliss. Mr. Martin also gave his experiences since he came to town.

The County Leaders Warned.

The speeches of the loaders refers entirely to their contest in New York State. All warned the county leaders that the battle on hand was the most important in the history of the Republican party. It was pointed out that the Democrats were soundly entrenched, and, even though the State was carried for Harrison four years ago, the greatest efforts must be made if that success was to be accomplished again.

In the words of one who participated, the speeches were made for the purpose of encouraging and stimulating the county leaders in the present fight. The first day's registration in the cities outside of New York and Brooklyn was discussed. In certain interior cities the result was gratifying to the Republicans. In others it was not. Better work must be done on October 15, 26 and 29 in those interior cities. The days for town and rural registration, October 26 and 29, must also not be forgotten.

Plenty of Money for the Work.

Mr. Bliss announced that there was money enough on hand to pay all the legitimate expenses. The County Committeemen are to have more than the usual liberal amount, and this money is to be used in getting the Republican voters to the polls on election day. That day promises to bring small fortunes to the country liverymen and anybody who owns a horse and wayon.

Mr. Martin told of his efforts to prevent colonization in New York and Brooklyn. Mr. Martin is co-operating with United States Marshal Jacobus aud John L Davenport. Deputy United States Marshals by the regiment are to be appointed, and Martin and Davenport have instructions to arrest all suspicious characters. The 46 County Chairmen out of 60 counties of the State present had an important document submitted for their consideration. It is an address to the members of the Industrial Alliance and to all "citizens in sympathy with the great doctrines of protection, reciprocity and honest money." The document declares:

FALL RIVER, MASS., Oct. 10.-At 10 'clock to-night the Borden murders are the sole topic of conversation at hotels, clubs and on the streets. The story published this morning has caused a revulsion of feel-this morning has caused a revulsion of feel-ing in tavor of the girl. Attorney Jennings went to the Borden eouse to-night in company with two re-porters. They were shown to the parlor, where Miss Emma and Mr. Morse denied emphatically all statements made about quarrels. Mr. Morse is very angry and he has commanded his lawyers to take steps at once to score local reducer. Detective Mt contains the following provisions: Noministor shall solemnized the marriage of any person under 18 years of age unless the parent or guardian of such person be present or shall have given written consent to the marriage. Every minister of the Protestant Episcopal Church shall keep an official register of marriages, to contain the names, birthplace, age, residence, and con-dition of all persons married, two witnesses and by the minister performing the cere-mony. once to secure legal redress. Detective Mo-Henry denies all knowledge of the matter published. [Details of the published story will be found on the sixth page of this issue.]

AN BARLY MORNING ROW.

A Restaurant Cleaned Out by a Fight on Wylle Avenue.

A fight occurred at 1 o'clock this morning in Miller's restaurant, No. 7 Wylie avenue. Shortly after midnight a party of colored men went into the place and are reported to have begun to throw dice on the counter. In a short time a dispute arose and the waiter ordered them out of the place. One of the men seized a sugar bowl and threw it at the waiter's head. This started a row that lit-erally cleaned out the place. Broken dishes were scattered over the place, the mirrors behind the counter were smashed, while the plate glass windows in front were shattered. Officer Sewell bearing the rumpus came receiving this report at once passed a series of resolutions denying the charges in the report and protesting against its insulting style. Copies of these resolutions were sent to the United States Consul General at Montreal and to the Dominion Secretary of State. The citizens were highly incensed, and when the news became generally known a crowd gathered at the consulate and a num-ber of stones were thrown, breaking the windows. The police were summoned and further violence was averted. It is feared, owever, that the wrath of the Triluvian might carry away some overzealous persons and that something serious might occur. The city authorities are now maintaining olicemen on duty at the consulate day and night, but the force is not large, and serious trouble is feared. The Canadian Govern-ment will be asked to request the recall of the offending Consul.

HACKED TO PIECES.

The Terrible Fate of an Alabama Farmer and His Daughter.

MOBILE, Oct. 10.-Hacked to pieces with an ax and then cremated was the awful fate of Richard L. Johnson and his charming 18-year-old daughter. A gang of desperate negroes is supposed to have commit-ted the horrible crime. The tragedy occurred at Johnson's plantation near Davis Ferry.

at Johnson's plantation near Davis Ferry, Monroe county, Friday night. There are no telegraph lines near the place and the news of the awful butchery did not reach here until to-day. Beven negroes have been arrested and the people of the neighborhood are searching the country round about for several more who are thought to have taken part in the bloody affair. The indications are that Johnson died in defending his daughter from the assault of the brutal blacks. That there was a terrible struggle in front of the house there can be but little doubt. The sod is torn up and bloodstains cover the grass for several rods from the front en-trance to the house. Just how it occurred trance to the house. Just how it occurred may never be known, unless some of the ferocious blacks confess.
