A CELEBRATED SINGER.

Mile, Clementine De Vere Delights Two Big Audiences at the Exposition Yesterday-The Lady's Remarkable Voice Pleases Everybody.

Probably the best pleased people in Pittsburg last night were those who almost crowded the Exposition building last night to hear Mile. Clementine De Vere sing. The celebrated indy is not a stranger to Pittsburgers. She has appeared in this city before, but always at prices ranging from $1 50 to $2 50 per seat.

The mere announcement that De Vere would appear at the Exposition yesterday afternoon and last night was sufficient to attract a satisfactory crowd of her enthusiastic admirers at both entertainments of the big Point show.

Miss De Vere is a delightful woman, be

Miss De Vere is a delightful woman, besides being one of the sweetest singers in the country. Her voice, cultivated with polish and skill, is soft and tender, yet it is strong enough to fill the Exposition building with melody.

The andience last night was especially pleased with the voing woman's singing and round after round of wild appleause greeted her every effort.

De Vere will remain at the Exposition all this week and she will appear at each atternoon and evening performance. Her singing is a rare treat, and Manager Johnston and hist night that he expected this to be the best week of his show. The Exposition will remain open but il days more.

CALIFORNIA VINTAGES.

Products of the Napa Valley. The time has passed for America to have to rely upon Europe for fine wines and brandles; the celebrated district of Napa to rely upon Europe for fine wines and brandies; the celebrated district of Napa Valley has wrought a wondrous change in giving from this great grape_growing section the finest liquors for table and medicinal uses at prices within the reach of all. The list includes "flant Sauterne," "Riesiling, sweet "Muscate," "Santa Rosa" and "Mouro," the latter especially for invalids; also champagnes of undoubted excellence; brandies that rival the most famed of Europe; "Gutedel" and "Sauvignon" white wines (which heretofore commanded high prices) and "Zontandel" and other clarets. It is an admirable list of wines, etc., of line flavor and undoubted purity and body. It is not because they are poorer wines that they are cheaper, but that the expense of heavy import duties is avoided, the consumer deriving all the benefit of the difference. The above list by no means includes all the varieties, only the most familiar names have been given, but for particulars apply to Mr. Gregor Meyer, 27 Ohio street, who will give information about the wines and the difference of price to wholesale buyers. There is a consignment of two carloads now due for his trade.

PLATE MIRROR GLASS.

Conroy, Prugh & Co.

Only a brief time is left in which to enjoy the very elegant mirror display made by this house, Haudsome mirrors tastefully framed meet the approval of the visitors; framed meet the approval of the visitors: the variety is immense, and the adaptability of glass for decorative and useful purposes unlimited. The facilities possessed by Conroy, Prugh & Co. for turning out large orders rapidly at moderate prices are unquestioned, a fact to be remembered by those in need of these articles. They also farnish plate window glass and plain and fancy bevered door lights, or, as it would seem, glass for all architectural needs. Upon application at 41 to 47 Western avenue, Allegieny, measurements will be taken to insure just the right sizes desired.

Taylor & Dean, 203 Market Street. Fire engines are going about just now with an energy that suggests the propriety of securing all safeguards from the devouring element; therefore, take a glimp-e at the beautiful models at the Expo., and then penutivii models at the Expo., and then give your orders either for platform or double sairal fire escapes to this firm. You can see at the same time the fire guards and the "gravity fire extinguishers," which should be in every house and office. It is advisable to examine the iron doors and shurters, iron staircases, grille work, fence, raitings, have and porch furniture and ormanents, and the host of valuable heavy ok the tasteful and useful article

THE H. J. BEINZ CO. Pickles, Preserved Fruits, etc.

If the goods of this firm are found in every well regulated household in the twin cities is accepted as a matter of course; but it is a triumph that they are justas universally used all over this country and in Europe. To see jurs and buttles decorated with the Iteinz Co, label, is to know that they contain wholesome fruits and ve cetable

Forms the basis of the J. R. Weldin & Co. exhibit. Writing paper of delicate, new tints and fashtonable forms; newest ideas in dinner and menu cards, correct styles in the matter of invitations and announcements are all duly presented for inspection. The foremest place is conceded to the engraving of visiting cards; the press is constantly at work printing from finest steel places these cards for which this house is fomous. Society has learned that this firm is always to be relied upon in these matters pertaining to the polite world.
