

HUGHES IS ACQUITTED.

The Boy Slayer of Thomas Connors Was Set Free Last Night.

JOYOUS TEARS SHED BY DAVIE.

Judge McClung Gives Him Some Very Fatherly Advice.

THE NEWS OF THE COUNTY COURTS

Davie Hughes is free. Last night he was acquitted of the murder of Thomas Connors. The jury went out at 5 o'clock and at 8 came in. The foreman asked Judge McClung what the sentence would be in case a verdict of manslaughter was rendered. The Court replied that was a matter left to himself. The jury returned to the room. In ten minutes it came back with a verdict of acquittal.

As the words fell upon the little fellow's ears, tears rushed into his eyes and he broke down. In a couple of minutes he called and wiped the tears away. Judge McClung called him up to the bench and said: "The jury has found you not guilty, and it is my duty to discharge you. Before I do so let me say to you, let this be a warning and never again touch a knife in this way as long as you live. You are discharged."

The trial commenced before Judge McClung at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. District Attorney Burleigh representing the Commonwealth, and William Reardon and W. H. Miller for the defense. The story of the murder, as presented by the prosecution, is that on the evening of July 11 last, Thomas Connors, Jr., was killed by being stabbed in the throat with a knife in the hands of the defendant on the bridge at McKee's Rocks.

ORPHANS ASK FOR DAMAGES

For the Killing of Their Father by a Birmingham Traction Car.

Mrs. W. F. Walsh and Patrick, Margaret and Ellen Golden, children of the late Patrick Golden, yesterday entered suit against the Pittsburgh and Birmingham Traction Company for $10,000 damages for the death of their father, Patrick Golden. On August 30, while driving a team on Liberty street, his horses were struck by car No. 4 and he was thrown to the ground and badly hurt. His skull was fractured and he died September 12, 1892.

To-Day's Trial Lists.

Criminal Court—Commonwealth vs Peter Madden, Lizzie Stark, T. W. Gorman, Roger Peenev, Adolph Bingley, Samuel Richey, Thomas Mickey, Joseph Brooken, William Smith, William McGill, Pat McCarty, Walter Bandanti, Fred Nagle, Gus A. Zeruth, Della Marshall, W. T. Brooks, Frank Brier, Mary Anderson, Barney Harry, Thomas McDonald, Mary R. Lea, George Lightenheld, W. J. Forsythe, John McGovern, Adam Walker, C. C. Walker, Daniel Harvfield, Steven Canoe, Isaac McLean, Amanda Lisset.

The Hum of the Courts.

Two suits of A. A. Thompson against William and E. L. Brand, actions on contracts, are on trial before Judge Cottler. A verdict for the defendants was given yesterday in the case of M. Crawford against W. W. Patrick, an action to recover a commission for selling a lot.

October Styles.

What looks newer or is more fashionable than a handsome silk dress? And it is really the most economical, since it can be made at trifling expense from an old dress and two or three packages of Diamond Dye fast blacks. These dyes are simple to use, never crock or fade, and make old clothing look like new.

Death May Have Been Accidental.

Dr. George W. Beam, of McKee's Rocks, testified to the nature of the wound in Connors' neck, and thought it might have been inflicted by Connors running upon the knife while the defendant held it in his hand but did not thrust it. A number of character witnesses were examined but none of them testified against the defendant's character.

Fatal Fight on the Bridge.

"I was waiting for a street car to go home for I was afraid to cross the bridge for fear Connors would catch me there and beat me. While I was talking to a gentleman the street car went past and I tried to catch it, but could not. I concluded to walk across the bridge. It was dark on the bridge, and just as I got near McKee's Rocks side Connors jumped from behind a post and kicked me and jammed my head against an iron bar, cutting it badly. I pulled out my knife and held it up and Connors ran off. I heard him say: 'Jack, run for a doctor; I'm out.' They took me down to the 'Squire's, and the policeman who arrested me said to keep there, that I had nearly killed a man. That was the first I knew of Connors being badly cut."

Recovered Heavy Damages.

A verdict for $3,000 for the plaintiff was given yesterday in the case of Andrew Kunze against George Bleandinger. Kunze was employed by the defendant and was hurt by a fall from a stack being erected at Straub's brewery, in Bloomfield.

SENT TO THE WORKHOUSE.

The Fate That Overtook Two Men Who Took Other People's Property.

In Criminal Court yesterday, before Judge Kennedy, William Hutchinson pleaded guilty to embezzling $38.80 from a former employer, Robert Roberts, at 754 Second avenue, and was sent to the workhouse for a year.

Annie Hirschkon was found guilty of assault and battery on Josephine Weber at Cochran station on September 2.

William T. Millholland was convicted of cruelty and neglect to his wife and seven children, on oath of J. N. Morrison, Humane Agent.

Thomas Jones pleaded guilty to the larceny of a coat and two suits of underwear from the house of Harry Clark, at Walker's Mills, on July 18, 1892. He was sent to the workhouse for 30 days.

William Valentine is on trial before Judge Kennedy on a charge of felonious assault and battery on Charles Ezzo at Walle station on October 15, 1892. It is alleged he hit Valentine on the head with a railroad spike. The defendant claims to have been in Cadiz, O., at the time.

NOT A PARTY WALL.

Monongahela House Proprietors Want to Restrain a Bullder.

A bill in equity was filed yesterday by C. J. Clarke, F. C. Miller, M. L. Crossan, A. C. Donaldson, K. C. Hays, V. C. Dilworth, A. C. Blair and J. N. Donaldson, committee of W. M. Crossan, proprietors of the Monongahela House, against the Pennsylvania Tube Works and —, Wherry, contractor. The defendants, it is charged, are attempting to raise the wall of the Monongahela House as a party wall for a building to be erected on First avenue. It is claimed the wall is not a party wall and the defendants have no right to it and the court is asked to restrain them from using it in any manner.
