JURY'S BAD FIX,

Thomas L. McHugh, Stricken With Serious Sickness. Delays a Murder Case.

JURY ROOM A HOSPITAL.

LIST OF THE ELEVEN UNFORTUNATES

Thomas L. McHugh, who had been selected yesterday afternoon as a juryman in the case of John Bradford about to be placed on trial for the killing of H. S. Floyd in Boley's Hotel on July 12, was taken seriously sick and the trial of the case was postponed until the juryman recovers.

The jury had been sworn and District Attorney Burleigh was opening the case for the Commonwealth when McHugh was struck with a severe attack of cholera morbus. Dr. Chessronn, who was in the court room at the time, was summoned. He administered some relief and the sick man was removed to the jury room. The 11 other jurymen were sent to the same room and the physician and court officers, John Wallace and Matt Boyce, were placed in charge of the place. It was at first thought that McHugh would soon recover, and that the case could be pro ceeded with during the afternoon, but Dr. Chessrown reported to the court that his patient was seriously sick and would not be able for duty before this morning, and possibly not for two or three days.

All Must Be Locked Up.

In the meantime, the jury having been sworn, the murder case cannot be tried before another jury. It can-not be tried while one of the jurymen is sick, and the men cannot be separated until the case is tried or the jury discharged on account of death. The jnry room, therefore, has been temporarily transformed into a hospital, where the jury must stay until McHugh recovers or his death dissolves them. Outside of the court officers the physician is the only one admitted to the room. He has been in constant attention upon his patient.

The jury room is fitted up with 12 cots. The room is large and siry with a toilet room attached but the severe sickness of McHugh requires absolute quiet on the part of the other men, who retired soon after their evening meal was served. All the meals during McHugh's sickness will be served in the jury room.

Their Gloomy Vigil.

Two of the court officials sat last night in the Court House hallway at either side of the entrance to the jary room. Another court official and the doctor labored with the sick man and a melancholy quiet prevailed about the place, which was disturbed occasionally by the groans of the suffering juror. The murder for which Bradford is on trial occurred in Bolcy's Hotel, while the defendant and Floyd were drinking. Brad-ford began to abuse the National Guard which was just being ordered to Home-stend and Floyd called him down. Bradford then shot Floyd and he died in the Homeopathic Hospital a short time after. Thomas M. Marshall is defending Bradford, while District Attorney Burleigh represents the Commonwealth. He will ask for a first degree verdict.

BOUND FOR THE FAIR The Major Montooth and Many Other Re publican Clubs Hold Lively Demoustrations-Major McKinley Invited to Speak in Pittsburg-General Political Brevities. The Major E. A. Montooth Republican

POLITICIANS ARE BUSY.

Club held a mass meeting on the inside and outside their club house at 19 Wylie avenue last evening. A large concourse of people gathered in front of the club building early in the evening and offered their enthusiam in no ungenerous way. Major Montooth, District Attorney Burleigh, S. U. Trent, General Blakely and several other prominent speak-ers were announced to speak, but they did materialize in time to make speeches.

General William Blakely was the first speaker introduced to the crowd. hist speaker introduced to the crowd. He spoke from a platform erect-ed at the entrance to the club, and started by asking his hearers if they read THE DISPATCH of October 17, 1892. If not, he would respectfully direct their attention to the issue of that date, and said that on the fourth page of the paper they would find an object lesson on the differ-ence between the America of to-day and that of seven years ago. It told a story of the finances of the country that was truly refreshing. It told of the increase in the wages of the workingman, and told it beau-tifuliy. And it was all brought about by the tariff. "However, it is not the only benefit de-rived from the measure of protection which the Republican party is upholding," con-tinued the speaker. "Business shows a large increase in the cotton, wool and silk trade. The Democratic theory is incompre-hensible. It cost $4,000,000 to run the Government with their ideas, but they propose no way of raising that money, or of showing a return for it."

Several other speakers addressed the meeting, among them a colored man named Foster, Dr. S. T. MacCord and Attorney T. Foster, Dr. S. T. MacCord and Attand Mr. K. Wallace. Major Montooth and Mr. Burleigh arrived at the clubhouse too late to address the crowd, but the meeting was kept up within the club until midnight.

REPUBLICAN MEETINGS.

A Busy Week Arranged by the Local Campaign Managers. This promises to be a busy week for the Republican campaigners in Allegheny county and two meetings a day will be held until the election. The vigilance committee of the Twenty-seventh ward met at the county committee headquarters last night. The vigilance committee of Homestead also met last night. The general commit-tee will meet at headquarters on Saturday afternoon and the campaign committee will meet on Wednesday afternoon. The vig-ilance committee of Sharpsburg will meet to-night. The Thirty-second ward com-mittee will meet to-morrow and on Mon-dey the Sewickley committee will meet in the Republican League club rooms. Several other meetings have been fixed for this week, but no effort is being made to attract attention.

SYMPATHY FOR THEIR FOES.

A Democratic Club Adopts Resolut the Wylie Avenue Accident.

The Democratic Association of the Eleventh and Thirteenth wards met last night and completed the arrangements for their mass meeting to-night. The following

The following resolutions were also adopted: WHEREAS, on Saturday evening last a ter-rible accident occurred on Wylie avenue whereby two of our neighbors lost their lives and several others were injured, be it Resolved. That we, Democrats of the Elev-enth and Thirteenth wards, Pittsburg, do most sincerely regret that this political campaign should have been marred with such a dire calamity; and be it further Resolved. That our most sincere sympa-thy is extended not only to the friends of the deceased, but also to the club and band of which the deceased were members.

REVIEWING STAND AT THE HAYMARKET

Last evening Miss McCandless, the ladies' commissioner for Pennsylvania, and A. G. Roenigk, another commissioner, and his wife started for Chicago, Bishop Phelan was also one of the passengers, and he will take part in the exercises. To-day several special trains from this State, Boston, New York and Washington will pass through Pittsburg. Governor Pattison and his staff, the brigadier generals and their staffs, and Major General Snowden will occupy one of the specials.

The trend of travel just now is toward Chicago. Great crowds are going to the Windy City to attend the dedication of the World's Fair buildings. New Yorkers may poke a good deal of fun at the pork packers in the Western metropolis, but they are certainly taking lots of interest in the National Exposition at present. All the trains from the East are crowded. Last evening an extra train carrying the United States Marine Band, of Washington, rolled into the Union depot under the command of Major Huntington. They were bound for Chicago to participate in the parade.

The Marines Were Hungry. The boys alighted from the train with alscrity and lined up on the platform in equads to march to the dining room. There were 216 people in the party, 150 in the battalion, 16 officers and the balance were in the band. When they got into the din-ing room it was jammed Mr. Lee, the restaurant keeper, had made ar-rangements for them, and there was plenty to eat for all. In the marine corps was Corporal Colunen, tormerly a sergeaut in the Eighteenth Regiment, A geant in the Eighteenth Regiment. A number of his friends were at the depot to receive him, and Major Huntington gave him permission to leave the battalion and meet the boys.

On a second special train were 305 Indians from the Carlisle school. They were in charge of Captain Prat. Just 42 tribes were represented. Some of them were bright looking fellows while others appeared to be stolid and stupid. Captain Pratt was asleep, but one of his teachers furnished information about them.

"Our boys," said he, "are well drilled and you never heard of an Indian that didn't know how to handle a rifle, but in the parade we will try to show the people that the redskins are capable of doing something that is useful.

A Novel Feature for the Parade.

'Instead of carrying guns, the boys will bear the mechanical tools they are taught to use, and will exhibit some of the articles they have made. We think this will be a novel teature. On our ban-ner is written, 'From barbarism to civilization.' Some of the redskins are capable of considerable training. My experience has been that they can reach a certain standard, and beyond that they can't be forced. We do the best we can with them, but it remains for future generations to show the high degrees of culture an Indian can reach. Educating the reds is a slow process, and it will require years of hard work. The Sioux tribes pre-dominate in the school. I think the Cheyennes are the smartest and display the greatest aptitude for learning." The Maryland World's Fair Commission,

Paul's Cathedral at 9 A. M. Columbus Day. The choir will sing Marzo's Mass, following it with the "Salve Regina" (Saving Queen), which was the prayer Columbus said when THE CREMATION OF REFUSE DEMANDED he landed on American soil. It has been set to music by Dr. Wilcox, and is very beautiful. This will be the first rendering The Chamber of Commerce yesterday had of the selection in Pittsburg. An innova-tion in a Catholic church will be the playthe smoke and garbage nuisances up before it. The Executive Committee made a long ing of national airs on the organ by Miss Alice Carter, besides which there will be a special programme of music and a sermon having special reference to the event commemorated on that/ day. Special services will be held in all the Catholic churches in the two cities on the morning of Columbus Day.

Brewers Will Be Represented.

At a meeting of the brewers held yesterday it was decided that each firm will turn out one wagon in the Columbus Day parade, each of which will show some branch of the brewing business. It was also decided that no beer or drink of any kind will be allowed on the wagons and those on the wagons will not be allowed to leave them during the parade.

McKeesport Will Be Here.

McKeesport will be largely represented in the Pittsburg parade. All the city schools will join the delegation from Mc-Keesport, numbering about 5,000 of the, young folks. The City Cornet Band will furnish the music.

A MURDEROUS ASSAULT.

John Whallen Sent to Jail for Fracturing the Skull of John Thornton-The Victim May Die-Both Men Are Colored.

John Whallen, colored, last night murderously assaulted John Thornton, also colored, at the latter's home on Dauphin street, Nineteenth ward. Whallen, it is alleged, walked into Thornton's house and struck him on the head with some blunt instrument, fracturing his skull and destroying the sight of his left eye. Thornton's wife witnessed the assault. She sounded the alarm but Whallen escaped.

An information was made before Alderman Kerr. A warrant was issued and Constable Jack two hours later arrested Whallen. The prisoner fought viciously when the Constable placed him upder arrest and the officer and prisoner rolled over the street in a desperate struggle. Constable Jack is an old police officer, and he finally sub-dued the prisoner and landed him safely in jail. Whallen is a powerful looking young colored man. He refused to say why he had assaulted Thornton, who is said to be inoffensive. Thornton was employed at the Carnegie mills in Lawrenceville until the strike. He has been idle since then. He was seri-He has been tale since then. He was seri-ously, and probably fatally, hurt by Whal-len. He was unconscious until a late hour last night, and the physician who was sum-moned was uncertain as to his recovery. Whallen is a hod carrier. He was em-ployed by Contractor Finny of the East End. He was on his way from work to his home when he made the assault. The sffair created considerable confusion in Lawrenceville police circles, as it was reported that Thornton had been murdered and that the murderer had escaped. Whal-len was brought to jail at 10 o'clock last night

He at once notified the police department and the body was removed to Ebert's undertaking rooms. At the post mortem, held by Dr. J. "Years ago, when I was a boy," he said, "I worked for Sam Flack as an office boy when he was one of the best known oil operators in this vicinity, and he has been a life long friend of mine. has been a life long friend of mine. A kinder hearted man never lived. He was formerly connected with the well-known firm of Flack and Bly, which owned a large refinery in the Eighteenth ward before the dars of the Standard Oil Company." Dr. McCandless said that the man had been dead for at least two days when dis-covered. The reason given for not finding the body sooner was that the family with whom Flack boarded had been absent for the past week and no one had been in the house except his brother, who saw him on also. Smoke was proven to be a great creator of lung and throat trouble. There is a moral loss brought to those who are compelled to live in its dirt and unwholesomeness. The increase of the smoke nuisance is said to be growing faster in Pittshouse except his brother, who saw him on last Saturday. He did not seem to be very sick at that time. Mr. Flack was 55 years old and married, burg than the population is increasing. The Chamber feels that it will take a long time to efface the trouble, but it thinks the density of the smoke could at least be re-

thought to be the best solution at the pres-ent time. There was a general condemna-tion of the system of dumping it in the rivers. The manufacturers present spoke against this very strongly. They argued that the city had no right to dump its refuse in the river if those manufacturers having works along the river were prose-cuted for placing cinders there. Then it was attacked from a pure water standpoint. This report of the Executive Committee was on a communication to the Chamber from the Women's Health Protective As-sociation of Allegheny county. John B sociation of Allegheny county. John R. Jackson presented the report. It follows:

Compulsion Would Be Just. In view of the benefit that would accrue to the whole community by at least a par-tial abatement of this nuisance, it cannot be considered unjust to compel the use of approved methods where practicable, any more than compelling a party erecting a building to provide a gang way over a pave-ment during the time the vault is being dug and flagged, for even as much, for in one other its a constant injury. The city has seen fit to direct what kind or pavement may not be used, and this exercise of its powers is either to improve the condition of our sidewalks or their appearance, or both. If the right and proper to dictate in such case, it cannot be considered arbitrary in the other case, within the limits suggested. Awing the full report from the Society of Engineers of Western Pennsylvania as to the wider application of suck prevent-ers, we yet venture to suggest that steps ought to be taken to compel a gradual buildings, stores using steam för elevators and sufficiently large smoke stock. Having enjoyed the banedis for oblet room and sufficiently large smoke the basence of smoked during the sub-our citizens will doubtless be willing to sub-mit to some such police regulation as here indicated. Jackson presented the report. It follows: A perfect combustion in the use of coal does not seem to have been attained under all conditions, it would seem harsh and even unjust, to enact an ordinance forbidding the emission of smoke from every power-boiler, no matter where situated. But the question is one of very grave importance to the interests of our two cities. Your com-mittee deems it a duty incumbent upon this body to urge by every means in their power the creation of a public sentiment that will in time demand the use of such means as will abate the nuisance. Compulsion Would Be Just.

He said, however, that the attack was so sudden and so severe that at first he was considerably alarmed, but that he was hopeful that his patient will be able to resume his duties when court calls this morning.

The occurrence is said by the attorneys to be peculiar one, and a similar case has not been known in Allegheny county for 30 years.

LIVELY VIEWERS' MEETING.

Ruch's Hill Property Owners Kick on Paying for a Sewer on Alliquippa Street.

There was a lively meeting in the Board of Viewers' office yesterday afternoon. All the property holders on the hillside above Fifth avenue, between Soho and Robinson streets, had been called in to hear the Viewers' report of assessments made for the Alliquippa street sewer. The people came in large numbers, and they kicked hard against the assessment. They allege the sever was built as an accommodation to the sever was built as an accommodation to the Pittsburg Traction Company, because every heavy rain washed great quantities of mud and stones from the hill down on the car tracks. But a miscalculation had been car tracks. But a miscalculation had been made, they said, and instead of carrying off the water the sewer caused it to flow into the houses of property holders on Ali-lequippa street. Instead of benefiting them it injured them, and they objected to paying for it. A calculation made by one interested person showed that after the last heavy rain it had cost him and his neighors nearly $200 to repair the damage done. An old culvert which had formerly carried off the water from the hillside was mentioned by several of the complainants, who said it had been allowed to fill up with debris and fall into disuse years ago. They claimed that if the city officers had attended to the old culvert no sewer would have been needed to carry off the water from the hillside.

The Viewers have decided to assess all the property on the hill for the sewer as a watershed. While the whole assessment ill not exceed $3,000, those upon falls are all poor working people and they will oppose paying for it because of their claim that it is of no use to them.

Jacksonian Democrats Meet.

The rooms of the Jacksonian Democratic club of Allegheny were filled last night. There was also present a brass band, whose strains served to keep the audience in good humor. The speakers of the evening were J. M. Caldwell and Thomas J. Keenan, Sr., both of whom made stirring addresses. Mr. Keenan argued that the eyes of the classes were opened at last and that 10,000 workingmen who had formerly cast their votes with the Republicans would in November cast their ballot for Cleveland.

weather is the only thing which can now spoil the programme. Major Denniston and ex-Sheriff McCandless yesterday arranged with Chiels Murphy and Ehlers, of Allegheny, for a reviewing stand on the market square. It had been originally intended that the marshal and his staff should review the parade in the saddle, but as it is expected at least 30,000 men will be in line and it would be very tiresome to review the column in such very tresome to review the column in such a position, the reviewing stand was con-sidered a necessity. As planned, the stand will be 80 feet long, fronting on Federal street, and be reserved for the chief marshal, staff and aides, and the Judges of the Supreme and County courts. A place will be provided in rear of the platform for the horses of the nexts. Nearly 300 persons horses of the party. Nearly 300 persons have signified their acceptance of the chief arshal's invitation to turn out on horse back as aides-de-camp. Arrangements for the big aquatic demon stration are moving along just as smoothly as those of the landsmen. A meeting was held in the Coal Exchange yesterday after-noon and was largely attended. All the rivermen talked enthusiastically of their proposed demonstration. Captains W. W. O'Neil, John A. Woods and Charles Jutte were appointed a committee to ascertain just how many boats will participate in the parade, with instructions to report at 1:30 this afternoou. Comparatively few boats have thus far reported and the success of demonstration depends on the commit-s report to-day. It is the intention to tee's report to-day. It is the intention to form the column of boats above the Smith-field street bridge at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon and move forward to Davis Island Dam. Each boat will be gayly decorated.

At a meeting in Mænnerchor Hall, Mt. Washington, last night, it was decided that as a body the various societies on the Mount will not take part in the Columbus Mount will not take part in the Columbus Day parade. Lack of interest and the fact that most of the people up there are con-nected with other organizations which have already arranged for the parade is the cause. A well attended meeting of the business men was held. Nearly every one will have a ware in the procession a wagon in the procession.

The city of St. Louis has given the subject very careful attention, and the committee Storm Serges, 50c.

very careful attention, and the committee appointed to consider the subject has issued a pamphlet of over 40 pages, stating the re-suit of their labors. While this committee is unable to say that the practical problem of smo-e prevention, under St. Louis con-ditions, is fully solved, we can say that sub-stantial progress in this direction has been made. A number of meritorious devices are on the market. We cannot recognize any of them as of unfimited or unconditioned ef-fectiveness. What their practical limita-tions are we are compelled to think that neither those who have invented, sold or used them, know. The amove nuisance affects the whole community and all are interested in getting rid of it. All will admit that there is a great but uncalculated money loss in great surprise at this remarkable worthy; "The voicing of this organ is noteworthy; each stop has its characteristic quality; the flute is really flute-like and the clarinet pre-serves the pecaliar wooden character of the original. Most remarkable is the close ap-proach of sound to the pipe organ, bot many of the inter being the equal in qual-ity of tone to the Vocalion church organs. Last, but not least, the light, quick action and never-varying accuracy of intonation getting rid of it. All will admit that there is a great but uncalculated money loss in destruction of goods and furnishings in the defineement of buildings, in labor and ma-terial value expended to keep clear, and an increased necessity for artificial light, an esthetic loss through the discouragement of the ornamentation of buildings, homes and grounds, a sanitary loss in innaired health and prevalence of lung and throat troubles; a population loss in those who will not or cannot or will not live in a smoke-begrimed oity, and last, but not loast, the moral loss on those who perforce must endure its dirt and unvholesomeness. Great as the evil has been and is, its increase if unchecked, will be in a more rapiu ratio than that of popula-tion. "WALTER I. DANROSCH." Mr. Dimrosch is one of the highest musi-cal authorities in America, and his testi-mony must be accepted as final and conclu-sive. The Messrs, H. Kleher & Bro., 506 Wood street, are the exclusive Western agents, and they sell this wonderful church organ even below manufacturers' price,

City Officials Among the Offenders.

The time has come when a decided step should be taken. In that step it is appro-priate that the city, through its govern-ment, should take the lead, for the city ment, should take the lead, for the city authorities are themselves among the of-fenders. We would not advise any arbitrary action, but some pressure should be brought to bear on those who produce the great part of our smoke cloud, for while some are alert and willing to spend money to abate their share of the evil, the majority may safely be considered as hert and unready, as they have proved unwilling or careless about re-sponding to inquiries for facts. We do not think the cloud can be removed in the im-mediate future, but we are sure that its density can be very materially reduced, not without cost, but without hardship to any. Yet all should be willing to exercise patience and even make some concessions. As to the collection and distribution of

As to the collection and distribution of the garbage reierred to in the so-ciety's communication, your committee considers it an important subject and well worthy of consideration. The dan-ger to the health of the community lurking in docaying nuimal and vegetable matter is but little known to the great mass of people, and it is therefore all the more in-cumbent upon the municipal authorities to exercise an oversight upon this branch of the city's welfare. The great need for such work has been shown in many cities, not only in this country, but in England and on the continent and with the growth of this city and Allegheny the necessity for like action becomes apparent to even the casual ob-server. THIRD WEEK OF OGTOBER. MOQUETTE erver.

Refuse Should Be Burned.

From the fact that the large mass in our midst have not the means to dispose of their garbage except to throw is in a back alley, or on an adjacent vacant lot would seem to garbage except to throw is in a back alley, or on an adjacent vacant lot would seem to make it a part of the city's duty to gather up the offal and dispose of it. In recom-mending such a course, your committee does not feel, that it is proposing an exper-ment, but the adoption of a plan of action successfully carried out in many other cities. And further, the committee pro-tests against dumping the garbage, in our straums, or to be using it in filling up back channels or lowlands. Termation has proven to be the most ef-ficient method of disposing of such waste al danger and leaving a resideum, useful as a fertilizer. It is true the course recommended involves expenses, but we cannot expect to reap great benefits without some effort and ontary of money. Your committee would recommend that the Building Inspector he urged to take in account in all new buildings space for some be urged to make an appropriation in the next annual appropriation for the construc-tion of approved garbage furnaces, suf-ficiently large to meet the demand on them, to consume the garbage of the entire eity.
