GOMPERS SENT FOR.

Advisory Boards Consult With the President of the Federation.

MAY BOYCOTT CARNEGIE.

Two Meetings of the Amalgamated Association Will Be Held.

THE STRIKERS VERY ACTIVE.

The Knights of Labor Spend a Whole Day in Conference.

SEVERAL ASSAULTS AT HOMESTEAD

A conference was held yesterday at the rooms of the Amalgamated Association, No. 512 Smithfield street, that promises to have great weight in bringing about a settlement of the present strike in the Carnegie mills. The members of the advisory boards of the mills at Homestead, Twenty-ninth and Thirty-third streets and Beaver Falls attended. There were also a number of the officers of the Amalgamated Association present. President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, had been sent for, and met with them to discuss the situation.

The conference was held with closed doors and lasted throughout the afternoon. Every member present participated in the discussion and expressed his opinion on the outlook. The advisability of placing a boycott on the product of the Carnegie mills was one of the questions considered. After a thorough discussion it was resolved to hold the matter under advisement for a few days. The general sentiment of those present was favorable to such a move, and should it be done it will be indorsed by the Federation, so that all the trades embraced by this organization would be amenable to the order. The subject will be taken up and a decision is expected to be reached within a week.

President Gompers was seen after the conference, and when asked as to the prospects for the Amalgamated Association winning, said: "I consider the prospects fair, but do not care to further discuss the question."

"Will a proposition of any kind be submitted to the company by the association?"

"I will likely discuss that at to-morrow's meeting."

A meeting will be held at the Thirty-third street mills to-day at 10 o'clock. President Gompers, Vice Presidents Carney, Sheenan, W. T. Roberts and David Lynch will make speeches. In the afternoon another meeting will be held at Homestead.

LABOR MEN MEET.

They Decide to Continue the Homestead Struggle—Official Reports.

The quarterly meeting of District Assembly 3, Knights of Labor, was held yesterday at No. 66 Third avenue. The 31 locals in the district were represented by 55 delegates. Master Workman Hugh Dempsey presided. The various reports showed the locals to be in a flourishing condition, with an increase in membership and the financial standing good.

The position taken by Master Workman Dempsey in the Homestead struggle was indorsed, and he was urged to continue the fight, assured of the support of the locals in the district. The Knights are contributing liberally to the support of the locked-out men at Homestead.

Master Workman Dempsey will represent the district at the General Assembly, which meets at St. Louis November 15. No instructions were given as to how the delegate should vote, but no opposition was offered to his casting his vote for T. V. Powderly.

A committee, consisting of George T. P. Martin, William Ward and Hugh Dempsey, was appointed to call on the merchants in the city and ask that they close their places of business on Columbus Day. The Knights will not take part in the parade as an organization.

NON-UNION MEN ASSAULTED.

The Slavs at Homestead Uneasy—Strikers Becoming Boisterous.

Manager C. M. Schwab entered actively upon his duty as Superintendent of the Homestead Steel Works yesterday. Those who expected that he would at once send for the leaders of the locked-out men and request a conference were disappointed. Mr. Schwab has, so far, not deviated a particle from the former policy pursued by the firm, and it is stated that he will not.

The Slavs were very uneasy last night over the report of change in management. They held a mass meeting in Munhall Hollow. The result of the meeting is not apparent, however.

There were several assaults last night, which will result in the increase of the night force of deputies. David Williams was beaten in an Eighth street saloon while protecting his father, who is a roller in the 10-inch mill. Ludwig Apjones, inspector of the 119-inch mill, was assaulted and cut on the head while on his way to his boarding house from work. Austin Gibbs, a cook, was assaulted and robbed of $400 at City Farm station.

THE FIGHT NOT SETTLED.

Operators to Submit Their Rates to the Coal Miners—A Few Men Return.

The strike of the river coal miners still hangs fire and the situation shows little change. The operators express themselves as satisfied with the outlook, and expect the miners to return to work in a short time at the reduced rate. A few men have gone back but not enough to have much influence on the strike. P. J. Forsythe had 20 men to return to his fourth pool mines at 2½ cents. Several firms will post notices at their mines, expressing their willingness to resume at the reduced rates by supplying flats to be loaded. The rates offered are for the first three pools, 3 cents; fourth pool, 2½ cents. This is a cut of ½ cent on the old rate. No word has yet been received that the men would return to work in a body. Some of the operators yesterday expressed themselves as not desirous of starting up now, even at the reduced rates, as the water is low and the market dull.

THEIR DOORS THROWN OPEN.

The Immense Establishment of Solomon & Ruben Ready for the Public.

Promptly at 9 o'clock yesterday morning the immense establishment of Solomon & Ruben was opened to the public. Certainly a more wonderful display has never before been witnessed in this city. From the time of the opening until the close a steady stream of people, who were loud in their praises of the magnificent display in the various departments, poured through the building.

It is the intention of Solomon & Ruben to tender a grand reception to the public as soon as all the departments in their gigantic establishment have had the finishing touches to make them the finest in the city which will be within a very few days.

Mrs. E. A. Williams, the Southside artist in floral decoration, had charge of the arrangement of the plants and flowers at the opening.

HAD HEART DISEASE.

Mrs. Goff, the Clairvoyant, Stricken Down in a Railroad Depot—She Refused Medical Aid—Her Peculiar Career in Pittsburg and Elsewhere.

Mrs. M. Goff, a well-known clairvoyant of this city, was stricken with heart disease at the Big Four depot in Muncie, Ind., yesterday morning. She is now lying dangerously ill at the Kirby House in that city. After being brought to the hotel a doctor was summoned, but she refused positively to see him. She would not have any medical aid. Some hours later the clerk found here in her room cold and apparently dead.

Mrs. Goff is well known in Pittsburg as the woman who denounced the law against clairvoyancy. She is now 46 years old, and has been traveling through Ohio for the past 15 years. For a long time she lived at 87½ Liberty street, now No. 410, where a factory has since been erected, and there she practiced her secret trade until she accumulated quite a sum of money. Her right name is Puller. That was the name of her first husband, who died many years ago. Later she married a man named Manning, from whom she separated shortly afterward.

A girl child was born to her of the second marriage. This girl is now 26 years of age and is married to an electrician named Bigley who lives at 329 Fifth avenue. For some time past Mrs. Goff lived at her daughter's home. The latter is an unbeliever in clairvoyancy, and many times tried to induce her mother to give up its practice. This the woman stubbornly refused to do. She made periodical trips through Ohio and West Virginia, and advertised in all the newspapers of her presence in certain towns. She generally spent two or three months each year in Wheeling, where she is well known.

About a month ago she left this city on one of her annual trips. She went from here to Fostoria, O., and later to Delaware, O. From there she went to Bowling Green, O., and thence to Findlay, O., where she left the night before last for Muncie, Ind. From Findlay she wrote to Mrs. Bigley and sent her some money to pay off a debt. She usually sent money to her daughter every time she went away.

She is a fine looking woman 46 years old, of aristocratic appearance. When she left Mrs. Bigley's house four weeks ago she became angry with her son-in-law, and said she would never darken his door again. In the days of clairvoyancy in Pittsburg Mrs. Goff was the leader of her set, which included the then famous Mrs. Ward, the seventh daughter of the seventh son, and Annie Richards, familiar to the public as Madam Annie. Mrs. Goff has practiced very little in this city since 1883, when a law forbidding clairvoyancy was established. She will very likely die.

A SURPRISED ENGLISHMAN.

Mr. Frost Thought This Wasn't Much of a Country Until He Saw It.

F. A. Frost, of Altrincham, England, registered at the Schlosser yesterday. He is traveling in America, and is accompanied by his sister Miss Frost and his cousin Miss M. H. Stubbs. Mr. Frost was amazed at the progress he saw on all sides. Like most Englishmen he imagined this country was a bluff until he commenced to travel in it, then his eyes were opened. He marveled at the fine sleeping cars found on American railroads.

"It is the little things about a country," he said, "that impress me with its greatness. Now I came in on the C. & P. from Cleveland, and am going to Washington on the B. & O. I gave the checks for my baggage to the hotel clerk, and I know when I reach the B. & O. station that my trunks will be there. Somebody has transferred them, but I don't know who has done it. This is a trick that only the Yankees can perform. In Europe such a transfer is unknown. Over there I would have had to send a porter for my baggage, or gone after it myself.

"Then your sleeping cars are magnificent. At first I was afraid to use them, and traveled by day, but one night I took a berth at Omaha for Chicago. I never slept better, and the bed was almost as nice as the one I used at home. Your cable and electric roads are wonderful. Every city and town has them. You don't find anything like these tramways in the Old World. I noticed some electric railways in the suburbs of Paris, but they are nothing like the American roads. It is marvelous how this country has grown in 100 years. I saw hotels in Chicago whose size amazed me. I know when I tell my friends about them they won't believe me."

A POLICEMAN DESERTED.

Pretty Mrs. Ketter Disappears From Her Home and Leaves a Doleful Letter.

After a year of wedded life, Nettie, the wife of Police Officer Joseph Ketter without explanation deserted him. The officer says he went to his home on Federal street last Saturday morning after being on duty all night and found his house deserted. His wife was in the habit of visiting her folks at Brookville frequently, and supposing she was paying them a visit, Ketter thought little of her absence.

When Monday came and she had not returned or communicated with him, Ketter became anxious. Making an investigation, he found, to her astonishment, that his wife had taken all his clothes and belongings. In a bureau drawer he found a letter signed by his wife, informing him that she had left him for good. No reason was given, but he was informed that if he desired to communicate with her regarding their household goods he could do so by writing her name on the envelope and leaving the address blank, the letter to be stamped and mailed as any other letter. This implied that some person in the post-office was acting in collusion with his wife to keep her whereabouts unknown to Ketter, and he is now investigating to find out how she could receive a letter without an address. Postmaster McKean will be called on to assist in the investigation.

Mrs. Ketter was Miss Nettie McCullough, of Brookville. She is only 22 years of age, pretty, and until now has been an exemplary wife. Ketter is one of the best known officers on the force.

WILL DECIDE TO-DAY.

The Allegheny Street Railway Officials to Meet and Probably Combine.

The stockholders of the Manchester Traction Company will meet to-day to decide whether the consolidation scheme with the Pleasant Valley line shall be carried out. At to-day's meeting the question on which a vote will be taken is whether the capital stock shall be increased from $3,000,000, the present capitalization, to $5,000,000. If the majority vote affirmatively, and there seems no reason to doubt but they will, the next point to be decided will be whether the Pleasant Valley line shall be leased. The Board of Directors must be authorized to carry the scheme into effect.

The Manchester Company's charter and ordinances authorize it to lease and operate other lines. The Pleasant Valley Company is capitalized at $1,400,000. By the consolidation scheme proposed it is figured the value of the line will be increased to $2,000,000. The ratio of the old stock to the new has not been definitely fixed, but it is expected that for each seven shares of their old stock the Pleasant Valley stockholders will receive ten shares in the consolidated company.

A meeting of the Pleasant Valley stockholders authorizing its directors to carry out the scheme will be necessary before the deal can be consummated.

A PARTIAL ECLIPSE.

The Moon Will To-Day Travel Between the Sun and Earth.

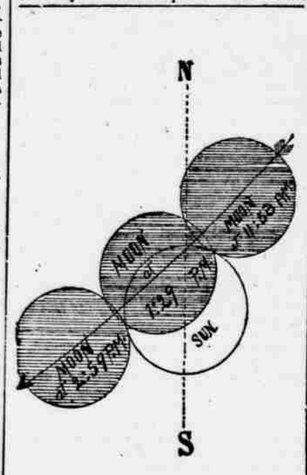
IT'S ASTRONOMICALLY IMPORTANT

Luna's Position Will Be Ascertained to a Certainty.

THE PASSAGE WILL TAKE THREE HOURS

Smoked glass will be in demand to-day. A partial eclipse of the sun will take place, beginning at 11:58 A. M. and ending at 2:59 P. M. For three hours the moon will be passing between the sun and the earth, and with the aid of smoked glass some very interesting phenomena can be witnessed.

The eclipse to-day will be of much astronomical importance in ascertaining the correct position of the moon. The moon tables which are designed to show the exact position of the moon at various times of the year are at present, it is claimed, decidedly incorrect, and it is expected to-day that the astronomers will ascertain its position to a certainty. A total eclipse will occur next April, visible in Africa and South America, to which places many eminent astronomers will go.



How It Will Look.

The eclipse to-day will be distinctly noticeable, though but little perceptible diminution in the light shed upon the earth will be occasioned by it. The phenomena that can be observed during the eclipse are numerous. By observing the sun and the shadow an idea of the moon's tremendous velocity can be gained from them. Her actual rate in orbit is nearly 2,100 miles an hour, but this is apparently reduced to 1,500 miles by the earth's rotation in the same direction. On account of the source of light being no longer circular during the eclipse the images of light, such as that passing through foliage, which were before circular, will become of crescent form. The quality of the light during the eclipse will be more like limelight than sunlight.

Will Take the Time.

Prof. J. E. Keeler, of the Allegheny Observatory, when asked about the eclipse said: "I will take time upon it, but it is impossible to get a view of the corona. I have some computations relating to the phenomenon which, with this sketch, may be interesting, made by Prof. Breading Speer, graduate student of astronomy at the Allegheny Observatory. Although the method employed is only an approximate one, the times of contact are probably correct to within one minute, which is sufficiently accurate for all practical purposes of observation.

"The moon will first appear to touch the edge of the sun at 11 hours 58 minutes A. M., or only two minutes before noon by Eastern time, at a point 26½ degrees west of the north point on the sun's limb. An observer not provided with a telescope will probably not be able to see the dark edge of the moon until some time after this.

Darkest at 1:29 P. M.

"The eclipse will then gradually increase until 1:29 P. M., when the moment of greatest obscuration is reached. At this time about six-tenths (0.59) of the sun's diameter will be hidden. The moon moving eastward in its orbit, the eclipse will then diminish and end at 2:59 P. M. Eastern time, the last contact occurring at a point on the sun's limb 103° from the north point. It is well to remember that the north point of the sun is not at the top (except at noon), but the point nearest to the north pole of the sky. By holding the picture up in front of the sun, and then turning it until the letter N points toward the place of the North star, the angles with reference to the horizon can be roughly obtained."

POLITICS ON WHEELS.

A Novel Feature Arranged for Next Saturday Night's Demonstration.

Chief Marshal Jim McKnight is arranging for a novel and pretty feature of the parade in the East End Saturday night. A club of bicycles will head the procession, each rider to have his wheel tastefully decorated with ribbons, flags, Japanese parasols and Chinese lanterns. It is expected that a club of over 200 wheelmen will turn out.

Other preparations for the East End demonstration are progressing rapidly and it promises to be the finest ever seen in that part of the city. An effort is being made to get the Americus Club to participate, giving them the right of the line as escort. The indications are that the decorations and pyrotechnic displays along the line of march will be particularly fine.

Southside Democrats.

The Democrats of the Southside will hold a meeting in New Turner Hall, South Thirteenth street, to-night. Speeches will be made by John A. Snee, William Walls, Joseph Howley, Fred Lauer, Frank Ergosser, T. C. Beinhauer and W. J. Brennen.

TOOK THEM OUT OF BED.

Three Southside Boys Arrested for Making a Midnight Assault—They Attacked and Brutally Beat a Man on His Way Home—All Old Offenders.

Relly Burns, James Butler and Harry Mahoney, three Southside boys, are in jail on a charge of aggravated assault and battery preferred by Michael Mitensiner. They will be given a hearing to-day before Judge Succop. The boys were taken from their beds Tuesday night and lodged in the Twenty-eighth ward police station. In default of bail they were sent to jail yesterday.

The assault for which they were arrested was one of peculiar brutality. Early last Sunday morning, it is alleged, they lay in wait for Michael Mitensiner at the head of South Twenty-seventh street, and as he passed along on his way home attacked and beat him in a terrible manner. One of the boys knocked him down, while the other beat and kicked him until his clothes were nearly torn off and he was covered with blood. He was left on the street unconscious.

After laying there for some time the assaulted man came to and managed to get home. He was unable to leave his home for a day or two, but on last Tuesday went before Judge Succop and made information against his assailants. There had been bad blood between them and he had easily recognized them when the attack was made. He was still suffering from the effects of the assault and was weak from the loss of blood.

Wednesday night soon after 9 o'clock Officer Brown went home, changed his clothes and went out to capture the boys. He waited until they had gone home and to bed. He caught Burns shortly after midnight and the other two were sent to the station house two hours later.

The prisoners are about 17 years old and are supposed to belong to a gang that has caused so much trouble in Brownstown and the Southside for several months past. Frank Shaw, now serving a term in the penitentiary, belonged to the same crowd. The police have been trying to break up the gang for some time, but have only partially succeeded. Burns is said to have served a term at Morganza and all are well known to the police.

HE STEPPED ON A BOMB.

An Allegheny Boy Severely Injured by an Explosion of a Dynamite Cartridge on Montgomery Avenue—The Police Are Mystified as to the Motive.

A mysterious explosion occurred in Allegheny yesterday which the police authorities nor anyone else can fathom. Yesterday afternoon Conrad Guier, aged 12 years, son of John Guier, of 197 Madison avenue, stepped on a dynamite bomb at the entrance to the parks at Montgomery avenue and East Diamond street, and was severely injured by the explosion. Conrad is a messenger boy for the Allegheny Bank for Savings and was delivering a message when the accident occurred. He was walking leisurely along when he tread upon the bomb.

The explosion tore the toe of the boy's right shoe off and mangled the foot badly, set his pants on fire, burned his legs, arms and face badly, and cut and lacerated his hands and face terribly. The clerk in the Park drug store was standing in the store door when the explosion occurred and the shock almost threw him off his feet. He said the boy fell enveloped with smoke, but when he ran to him he was able to stand up, but could not speak.

The explosion attracted several policemen who ran to the scene. The windows rattled for two squares away as though a cannon had been fired. The injured boy was carried to Dr. Hazzard's office, on Montgomery avenue, who dressed his wounds.

Dr. Hazzard, in speaking of the affair, said that had the boy stepped squarely upon the bomb the explosion would have torn his foot off and possibly killed him. He also said that he had heard of several such bombs being found in Allegheny of late, one on Federal street and one near the West Park, both of which had been exploded by passing teams, but without hurting anyone. He believes that they have been placed there by either Anarchists or by some one who wishes to destroy an enemy. The police have no idea who placed the bombs there, or what they were placed there for. Several pieces of broken iron and glass were picked up by the police near the scene of the explosion which are supposed to be parts of the bomb, and taken to the office of Superintendent Muth. The affair has created considerable excitement in Allegheny and will be thoroughly investigated by the Department of Public Safety. After Dr. Hazzard attended to the boy's injuries he was taken to his home, and last night, while suffering greatly from the burns, was able to walk about and eat his supper.

Revised the Information.

Ex-Senator J. W. Lee was very much pleased with Paul Emile Girodet, who was sent to America by the French Government to collect oil statistics. He said he had obtained considerable information from the Standard Oil Company. Mr. Girodet submitted it to the producers. Some of it was correct, while they took exception to other data. Mr. Lee said the Frenchman couldn't speak English, but he was quick to catch a point, and he thinks he will make a report favorable to the Yankee oil interests.
