SURPRISED BY A JURY.

A Verdict of Manslaughter Returned Against John Bradford.

THE PRISONER EXPECTED WORSE.

Fuit to Compel the Completion of a Purchase of Valuable Land.

THE NEWS OF THE COUNTY COURTS

When Criminal Court opened yesterday the jury in the case of John Bradford, tried for the murder of Henry Floyd, returned its verdict. They found Bradford guilty of manslaughter. The verdict was a surprise to Court and attorneys, as the crime, from the charge of the Court and the addresses of counsel, was either mur-der of first and second degree or there should have been an acquittal. Bradford himself was surprised, as he had told the deputy sheriff when bringing him into court that he expected the verdict would be first degree. He was remanded to jail to await sentence. Edward Maddegan, Charles Corrigan and C. Conroy pleaded guilty to riot. They were charged with raising a desturbance on the Greensburg accommodation on the Pennsylvania Railroad near Bruston. Each was fined $25 and costs. Ida Styles, of Ferry street, pleaded guilty to keeping a disorderly house and illegal liquor selling. She was fined $550 and sent four months to the workhouse.

Joseph Kossalka and Frank Pucher, who on Wednesday were convicted of libel and fined $50 and costs each, yesterday pleaded guilty to the other eleven indictments against them. Sentence was suspended on payment of costs. Joseph A. Nixon was found guilty of fraudulently making and uttering a written instrument, a check for $39 60, and of the larceny of $200 from R. T. Williams.

Thomas and Bridget Hall were acquitted of assault and battery on Rosalia Dreuwetzki. John Gretscke was acquitted of assault and battery on Francis Brickets and the costs divided. W. J. Landerbeck and J. A. Shaw were acquitted of assault and battery on Joseph Morris at McKeesport, ordered to pay the costs. Daniel Hartzfeld was acquitted of assault and battery on Henry Sautz in Reserve township and the costs divided. Hartzfeld and August Schaeffer were convicted of aggravated assault and battery on Fred

Suit to Compel the Completion of a Land

The First National Bank of Pittsburg and the Diamond National Bank yesterday entered suit against Daniel Wenke to recover $15,900. It is stated that the amoun is a balance of consideration money due for a tract of land in Shaler township. Wenke made an agreement to purchase the land and paid $100 on account upon delivery of the deed and he was to pay $1,900 cash and gave a mortgage for $14,000. The deed was tendered, but Wenke refused to carry out his agreement. The suit is now brought to recover the amount alleged to be due.

CESTRUCTED A STREAM

A Caplas Issued for the Arrest of George J. Free.

The United States grand jury yesterday returned true bills against George J. Free for obstructing a navigable stream and capias was issued.

True bills were found against W. R. Lowe for devising a scheme to defraud, John Benknett for making molds for counterfeiting and John H. Pringle for having in his possession counterfeat money. An attachment was issued for Pringle who it is thought has skipped his bail.

Two Suits Against the City. Two suits were entered against the city of Pittsburg yesterday to enforce the payment of moneys alleged to be due for the laying of a number of hoardwalks on various streets. One is entered by John M. King & Ca., for use of H. C. Gearing, and the other by H. W. Sellers & Ca., for use of H. C. Gearing. The amount due is claimed to be $4.700

Allegheny City Must Pay $8,000.

Allegheny City lost a suit yesterday which will cost it $8,000. John Huckenstein brought suit to recover damages alleged to have been caused to his property by the change of a grade in the street. The case was on trial two days, and vesterday a verdict for the amount stated was rendered in favor of Mr. Huckenstein.

The Hum of the Courts.

A DIVORCE was granted yesterday in the case of Effic F. Arthurs against Joseph Arthurs. Descriton was the charge. In the case of William R. Doty against Blythe & Co., an action on an account, a ver-dict of $90 was rendered for the plaintiff by E. F. Goller, who was tried for tampering with the mails at Ft. Hill, Somerset county, was found guilty and recommended to the mercy of the Court.

AT THE EXPOSITION.

Vast Throngs Visited the Big Show Yesterday-A Special Musical Program orative of the Day to Be Given This Afternoon-Other Features.

The double attraction yesterday in honor of the Columbus quadro-centennial drew an immense crowd of visitors to the city. A great number of the excursionists that arrived early in the day visited the Exposition and enjoyed a very pleasant after-noon. As the closing hours of this most successful show are waning the vast throngs of visitors increase. Just two days more are left in which to see the grand display and hear the colored queen of song, Black Patti, and Miss Raymond, the renowned cornetist.

The musical programme yesterday was deservedly well received. Brooks and his band seemed especially to catch the house. In Litolf's overture, "Robespiere," a descriptive symphouy poem, written to a delightful air, was of the most superb character and won foud applause. In her cornet rendition of "The Lost Chord," Miss Raymond drew the entire sympathy of her audience last evening and scored her biggest hit.

audience last evening and stored are gest hit.

A special programme has been arranged for to-day, which must necessarily attract attention. The Brooks' band will confine themselves to the national airs and "Patti" will sing the "Star Spangled Banner" and "In Old Madrid,' at both the afternoon and evening concerts.

Just now when public interest is excited in the Columbus celebrations a word may be said about the rival discovery of the magnificent wines produced from this garden spot of America, wines eminently suitable for table and medicinal purposes, for they are of rich fruity flavor, body and smoothness equal to the most renowned vintages of Europe; over which, however, they have the advantage in price, for, as there are no import duties, wines of equal grades can be bought infinitely cheaper, and wholesalers can buy here at home these wines cheaper than they could the same in New York. The reason for this is found in the fact that Mr. Gregor Meyer, sole agent in this section, has special arrangements with the producers, which are all to the benefit of his customers. The list of these wines includes porta, sherries, burgundies, champagne, brandy, white wines and clareta. Special inducements are offered the wholesalers and retailers who buy in large quantities, and while taking in the big demonstration to-day reserve a little time in which to call upon Mr. Meyer at his store, 227 Ohio street (take Troy Hill electric cars), and secure your supplies. Two carloads of Napa Valley wines have just been received from California.

LEADS THE WORLD

Pittsburg's Peerless Pickle and Preserve Purveyors.

THE H. J. HEINZ COMPANY.

Their Goods Having Conquered European and American Markets, Are Invading Africa and South America.

There are some facts and figures regarding he business of the H. J. Heinz Company that will be a revelation to the majority o Pittsburgers. A reporter visited their ex-tensive plant on the Northside a few days ago, and gleaned from the manager of one of the departments, who consented to be interviewed, the following interesting statistics. In answer to the reporter's questions he said: "There seems to be a misapprehension on the part of the public regarding the scope of our business. While we are, perhaps, the largest bottlers of pickies in the country, that is not all we do by any means. Besides pickies we manufacture a full line of preserves, jellies, fruit butters, mincement, vinegar, mustard, sauces and horse redish."

"Could you give me some idea of the quantities of materials you consume in the manufacture of your various goods?"
"That would be a difficult matter, but I might mention a few items: for instance, there is now one lot of 400 Casks of Cauliflower in Transit 400 Casks of Cauliflower in Transit to this factory from the Netherlands, and we use over 4,000 casks annually. We understand that some other concerns are complaining that cauliflower is scarce, but we have not found it so. We use the Netherland cauliflower because the soil and climate are especially adapted to its growth and produces a much more tender and delicious article than can be raised in America.

"We have on track here'at present time six carloads of apples and more en route. We have been using about three carloads daily during the last few weeks for manufacture of apple butter and mincement.

"We have a

"You must use large quantities of spices for your work. How do you get them?"

"In order to insure getting absolutely pure spices we buy the whole spice direct from the importer and grind it ourselves. In this way we know it is not only pure, but also fresh ground, which is quite important, as ground spice deteriorates by long standing." Kraut Factory at Aspinwall, Pa.,

"We make our own vinegar in those buildings yonder, which is acknowledged to be The Largest Vinegar Factory in America.
We do not care to use a vinegar in our pickling, etc., the manufacture of which we don't know all about, and this care in the selection of vinegar is one important factor in the success of our goods. Our vinegar factory is divided into three departments, viz.: Department A, where we make our white wine pickling vinegar, which we use for barriel pickles; department B, where we make our pure malt vinegar for our glass goods, and department C, which is devoted to eider vinegar. This article we make out of the smaller apples not suitable for paring for mincement and apple butter."

In our Indiana gardens we also raise the seeds which we supply to our 800 farmers, who bring the onions, pickles, etc., to our several saiting houses and they are put into the sait the day they are picked. This preserves their crispness and freshness."

"How many of these sating notices have you?"

"We have six, located at Aspinwall, Pa., Laporte, Plymouth and Walkerton, Ind., Hicksville, Long Island, N. X., and St. Paul, Minn. The honses at Hicksville and St. Paul we have opened recently for salting purposes and for the manufacture of kraut for our trade in the East and Northwest."

"Where do you get your bottles, jars, etc., for all this output of goods?"

"We buy our supplies of glass mostly from Pittsburg and Eastern Ohio manufacturers, but our increasing trade has compelled us to purchase a

"The two you see before you lying between the main buildings are from the Baltimore buildings is from the West Penn and the Pennsylvania systems. Through these roads and their various connections we can reach any part of the United States without breaking bulk, and can bring goods directly into this plant from any one of our salting houses without rehandling. You will notice that we have a track scale, where we weigh all cars as we receive and send away."

"The business is increasing so fast that we are compelled to add even to the large plant we already have and have bought a plat of graind directly across the street from our main buildings, fronting 300 feet on Main street and extending back 216 feet to River avenue. On this ground warehouses, stables, etc., will be erected. A significant fact is that any one of our present buildings in Pittsburg is as large as the entire plant of any other concern in the same business in this country. During the last month 175 carloads of finished goods were produced by the company and shipped out to customers, located in every State in the Union." The gentleman stated regarding the H. J. Heinz Company that they are Original in Their Ideas and never imitate anyone, though they themselves have many imitators. They were the originators of evaporated horse radish and to-day stand absolutely alone in its and to-day stand absolutely alone in its manufacture.

At one time the large London firms held undisputed away as purveyors of bottle goods, but now this country-exports goods to England and sells them at from 20 to 20 per cent more than English goods command. Pittsburg may well feel proud of such a company, which, by energy, push and good business judgment, has attained this position. Nothing but indomitable courage and unwavering maintenance of the highest standard of excellence in every department of manufacture could have put the business of this company where it is to-day, far ahead of every competitor.

The Builder of the Business.

To. Mr. H. J. Heins's generalship, foresight and to his skill in the selection of his business associates is due the rapid growth of the firm's trade. No more thoroughly organized business exists, and in very few mammoth concerns is there such an absence of friction and case of operation as in this company's. It is a favorite remark of Mr.
Heinz that he must first get the hearts of his employes before their hands will do him best service. To elevate and promote meritorious men has been his unvarying practice, and by all of his employes he is warmly esteemed as a man, quite apart from the fact of his being an employer. Mr. Heins's Northside factory is a monument to his care for the comfort and health of the working people, being planned on the best sanitary system and equipped with fire escapes, standpless and hose in every building, and with every device for safety and health.

The plant comprises also a printing office,
a carpenter shop, a blacksmith shop, a machine shop, a cooper shop, a paint shop, a plumbing shop, a wagon shop, a vat and tank factory, a box factory, an electric light plant and a restaurant for employes.

Some Interesting Statistics.

The firm owns 102 horses and 85 wagons and other vehicles, and employs over 1,000 men and women. Over 4,000 barrels of granulated sugar are used each year, and over 40,000 gross of bettles. The electric light special railroad cars and its railroad and river facilities for shipping are unexcelled. Besides the immense number of bottles used it takes 100,000 hand-made barrels and half-barrels and $20,000 boxes each year to run the factory. They are now turning out about ten tons of minoemeat per day.

The H. J. Heinz Company were the first to put sweet pickles on the market, and make them one of their specialties. They are now used largely by the public, as well as by the armies and navies of Great Britain and America. It is in such seasons as this, when fruits and vegetables are scarce, that the public is most benefited by a concern of this kind, for they can draw against its large supplies gathered from remote points by their agents, at prices very little if any higher than when fruits are pientiful. The company is represented by a superd exhibit at the Exposition at the Point this year, and in the Columbus parada to-day will have affecen wagons and their own cornet band.
