The Well-Known Philadelphia Independent Out for Harrison.

THE CIVIL SERVICE WAS BETTER

Under the Present Administration Than the Previous One.

PROTECTION AND HONEST CURRENCY

Henry C. Lea, the well-known Philadelphia Independent, who was so active in behalf of Governor Pattison in 1890, has written a letter to the New York Independent on the issues of this canvass. In it he says: | sirable. "The most encouraging sign in American polities is the growth and importance of the independent vote. It certainly decided the Presidental contest of 1884; it probably controlled that of 1888, and it bids fair to determine that of 1892. Unmoved by the clamor of spoilsmen and the unreasoning zeal of partisanship it represents the sober opinion of intelligent citizens who set country above party and who are influenced solely by what they conceive to be the highest interests of the nation. Yet the conscience of the independent voter is sometimes sorely exercised in the choice presented to him, for no political party or candidate is apt to satisfy his ideals, and he may sometimes feel that he is compelled to select the lesser of two evils.

"In the present canvass the independent, or Mugwump, has much to incline him against the Republican ticket. He remembers Mr. Harrison's promises in favor civil service reform and contrasts them with Mr. Clarkson's performances in dismissing some 40,000 fourth-class postmasters and with Mr. Wanamaker's sorry tilt with Mr. Roosevelt over the scandals of the Baltimore Postoffice; be revolts at the nepotism which has controlled many appointments and at the use made of officeholders at the Minneapolis convention; he recalls the disrepute brought upon the administration by its early alliance with Messrs. Quay and Platt and Mahone and other bosses; he recognizes that the conduct of the Pension Office has been far from immaculate, and he feels that it would afford him satisfaction to express his disapproval in a vote for the Democratic electors.

Better by Comparison, at Least. "Yet when he considers dispasionately that alternative he can scarce fail to see that such cure is worse than the disease. He must take in view both of the candidates and both of the parties, their principles and policies and methods, and he must base his decision coolly upon the influence which his vote will have upon the welfare of the country and the elevation of its political standards. As one of the original Mugwumps I have done this deliberately and anxiously, and I leel no hesitation as to the conclusion reached.

"To an independent the most important and far reaching question is that of civil service reform.

"In this the platform of neither party is satisfactory; there is little difference between them except that the Democratic plank necessarily contains some objurgation of the administration. We must therefore look to the candidates rather than to the parties for any hope which we may have of progress in the reform. Weighing their comparative merits or demerits in this respect we must admit that, although Mr. Harrison has been far from satisfying us, his record is much better than that of Mr. Cleveland, whose earnest personal anti-election pleages were so scandalously nega-tived by the unprecedented orgy of "patronage" that disgraced his whole ad-ministration, when the Executive power was prostituted not only to reward his fol-lowers but to control political conventions lowers, but to control political conventions and legislative action in support of his per-sonal policy. During the four years of his Presidental term he made no extension of the classified service, save just before its expiration, when, for the charitable purpose of embarrassing his successor, h plied the reform to the railway mail ser-vice. Mr. Harrison has at least extended it to the Indian service and the navy yards, and under him the enforcement of the law has been much more rigid than under his predecessor. The appointment of Mr. Roosevelt was a guarantee of this, and his willingness to retain the position is its Wisdom of Republican Tariff Measures. "Personally, I am a protectionist, and I regard the amazing progress and prosperity of the country since the war as sufficient proof of the wisdom of the Republican tariff measures, but I have no reproaches to utter against those who entertain different views. In the present canvass, however, the tariff question has its morals as well as its material aspect, which must not be lost sight of by those who are striving to purify our polities and elevate the standards of our public life. The Republican party has honestly proclaimed its views and purposes; it points to its record and asks to be judged by it; its candidate does the same, and no voter can doubt as to its principles and policy. On the other hand, the Democracy s engaged in a gigantic bunco game, with Mr. Cleveland as bunko-steerer-in-chief. To satisfy the free trade sentiment of the South and West, and to placate the Alliance, the Chicago platform borrowed a plank from the Mouroe Constitution and declared it "a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the Federal Government has no constitutional power to mpose and collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue only.'

This is emphatic and unmistakable; no one can vote for the candidates placed on this platform without giving his assent to the constitutional principle asserted, and without affirming his readiness to see every protective duty at once repealed and the customs revenue raised, as it readily can be, from a comparatively few articles of universal consumption. Yet, ever since the piatform was adopted and the revolutionary character appreciated, it has been the main effort of the party leaders in the North and East to explain that it does not mean what it says, or that if it does it is impossible of execution. In an underhand way the clothing interests are given to understand that the Democracy is really protectionist, because at the last session the House passed a bill, which failed in the Senate, limiting the wardrobes to be entered free by returning travelers. It is a clear case of talse pretenses, and of this the principal odium necessarily falls to Mr. Cleveland, the representative of his party, who solicits the popular vote on the platform of his

The Silver Question. "On this the utterances of the two parties in their respective platforms are almost equally vague, while the positions of the two candidates are about equally satisfactory. Such being the case, the only guide to intelligent action by the friends of sound currency is to examine the record of the two parties and determine which of them two parties and determine which of them can be most safely trusted to support the views of its candidate. Last July what is known as the Senate silver bill, was passed by the bulk of the Democratic Senators aided by a few Republican members from the silver States and Mr. Cameron, of Pennsylvania, who can scarce be called Republican; the vote in favor of the bill being 11 Republicans, 16 Democrats and 2 Alliance men, while against it were 18 Republicans and 7 Democrats. In the House it was favored by the Democratic organization, and was secured immediate consideration by the Committee on Rules. When the decisive vote was reached the record showed in its favor 9 Republicans, 118 Democrate, and 9 Alliance men; against it were 60 Republicans and 94 Democratic twee 60 Republicans and 94 Democratic twee 60 Republicans and 94 Democrate it were 60 Republicans and 95 Democrate it were 60 Republicans. Thus the measure, but thought it better policy not to pass it until after the election. Thus the Republican party, as a party is supported the measure, but should be a party in favor of an hones.

still more strikingly shown by the unex- [7] pected interjection in the Chicago platform of a new project with the same object, the resurrection of the defunct

State Banks of Issue. "It was like a clap of thunder from a cloudless sky to find this question precipitated upon us when we had supposed that a burial of 30 years had crased from the Hall and Byers. thoughts of men all memory of those old vultures which were wont to prey upon the community. Yet the hope of securing Alliance votes in the Southwest by the promise of unlimited supplies of worthless currency was too flattering to be resisted and the party has irretrievably pledged itself to this suicidal policy. The campaign text-book issued by the Democratic National committee seriously argues that the taxa tion of the currency of State banks is un constitutional and must be repealed, and Democratic orators and organs are every-where endeavoring to prove that the re-suscitation of the State bank system is de-

"Party and candidates alike have adopted the motio of anything to win, whether by deceiving voters as to their policy or by surrendering the city of New York to Tammany. It will be a dark day for the Re public when such methods are crowned with success, and the chair which has been honore by Washington and Lincoln has as its incumbent a man who can stoop so low that for him victory or defeat will be attended with equal dishonor."

OFFENSIVE ECZEMA

Useless. Cured in Four Weeks

by Cuticura.

I have a boy, fifteen years old, born in Fishkill, portrait enclosed, who had the ezema so offensive that I could not stay in the room with him. The poor boy suffered terribly, His feet were terribly sore, he could not wear any shoes, and had therefore to stay at home from school. When he put on a pair of dry stockings in the morning, they would in one hour he saturated with moistive and very offensive even in the coldest weather. The discase began to spread over his body, especially his hands and fingers. The thumbs on both hands became stiff and as useless as two withered sticks of wood. It would be useless for me to try to tell the suffering this boy endured, I took him to two different doctors, both gave him lots of medicine, but all to no use. He grew worse. I therefore despaired of ever having him cured. One day I saw the great benefits promised to those who would use CUTICURA REMEDIES. I went right away to the drug store and bought them. I must confess I had but little faith in them. However I used them according to directions, and to-day I say truthfully to all the world. If you wish to publish it, that my son is entirely cured, thank God and thank the discoverers of CUTICURA REM. EDIES. They cured him in four weeks as sound as a gold dollar. EDIES. They cured than a gold dollar.

Statements That Come From Men Whose Calling Bespeaks Their Remarkable Cures.

There is nothing more convincing than the direct personal testimony of people who can have no interest in saying aught but what is wholly and exactly true. The man or set of men who can come be fore the public backed with the indorsemen of persons who are known and respected in the community in which they live, whose veracity or whose motives cannot be im-peached or impugned, have but to produce and esteem with which they are regarded by those who know them.

Week after week Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers present to the people of Pittsburg testimonials in their favor of such high character as to not only leave no doubt of their professional skill and ability, but of their personal worth and standing.

As a rule they rest their case with the presentation of this evidence. It speaks for itself, and is irrefutable and unassailafor itself, and is irrefutable and unassallable.

There is a prejudice against physicians who advertise which is sometimes very difficult to remove. But after the public has tested such physicians, after the physicians have proved their claim to public confidence and esteem, this prejudice vanishes like mist before the morning sun.

There is no class of men more worthy of belief than ministers of the gospel. Clergymen will not indorse a man or system that is unworthy of indorsement. The calling of such gentlemen speaks at once for their truth and sincerity. Clergymen all over the United States have indorsed the Copeland system and the good work of Dr. Goveland system and the good work of Dr. Goveland system and the good work of Dr. Goveland system and the good work of br. Goveland system and the good work of br. Goveland system have publicly given their testimonials, so that all those who are in doubt as to the character, the ability or the trustworthiness of the physicians of the Copeland system can refer to them for an indorsement. Among the ministers who have given hearty testimonials are the following:

Rev. E. Morse, of the National Lecture Burean, Rochester, N. Y.

Rev. Henry C. Knott, German Reformed Church, 495 Fourth st., Milwaukee.

Rev. J. W. Ashwood, Grand Avenne United Presbyterian Church, St. Louis.

Rev. D. W. Ashwood, Grand Avenne United Presbyterian Church, Newport, Ky.

Rev. Chr. Staebler, First Church Evangelical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.
Nothing but a benevoient reason could induce such men to appear in print in any matter outside of their regular vocation, and it is beyond question that it was simply benevoience, a conscientions belief in the skill of these physicians, a conviction that they were doing good and that the public should know what they are accomplishing, that caused these gentlemen to make their statements.

A Local Instance.

A patient who began treatment with Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers a few days ago states that she was advised by her pastor to place herself under their treat-ment. She informed the Father that some persons opposed their treatment, but he in-sisted on her coming and told her to her to persons opposed their treatment, but he insisted on her coming, and told her to pay no attention to what people said, for he had investigated the treatment of Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers, and knew what good they were accomplishing.

As this reverend gentleman is personally unknown to Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers, he could have no other motive in indorsing them and their method of treatment, excepting for the benefit of his parishioner,

"I used to be in business for my self," says Mr. James McCormick, who resides at No. 175 Thirty-sixth, city, "but had to give it up on account of my health getting so bad. My friends advised me to travel, thinking it would be beneficial, and I obthined a posi-tion as traveling salesman, but had to give that up also. I had not been able to work for quite a while before consulting Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers, but in three weeks' time after beginning treatment with them was able to resume work.

morning and had a bloated-up condition of the stomach with rifting of gas, palpitation and fluttering of the heart, a smothering and suffocating sensation, with dizzlness and floating spots before the eyes.

"After a while an asthmatic condition set in, and I could not go to bed a week in a month for shortness of oreath and smothering sensation. All the sleep I got was while sitting up in a chair.

"Reading of so many remarkable cures by Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers, I decided to place myself under their treatment. Their success in my case has been something wonderful. As I said before, in three weeks' time I was at work, and now I can go to bed and sleep all night without being troubled with asthma. I go to sleep as soon as I strike the bed. My stomach trouble has also left me, I have no more vomiting or nausea, and can eat three hearty meals a day without suffering the least distress, and am improving in health and strength daily.

RHEUMATISM GOUT & LUMBAGO

GREENVILLE, OHIO. ?

October 14, 1892. }

McKinnie & Chessman aff'g Co., Pittsburg, Pa.—Gentlemen: Allow me to speak a word of praise for your Rheumacura.

Last November I became affilieted with inflammatory rheumatism and was troubled with it during all of last winter. I tried every cure that was recommended, but obtained no relief. After having been confined to my bed I became perfectly helpless and for nearly nine weeks I suffered severely. Finally a friend of mine who had heard of your Rheumacura advised me to try it. I sent to you for one bottle, as it could not at that time be had here, and when I began to take it I felt the good results from almost the first dose, and in less than 24 hours I had relief, and before I had taken the entire bottle I was able to take my situation again, which was just about one week from the time I began using Rheumacura, and in order to make a sure cure I sent for the second bottle and have not felt the rheumatism since. As a result, three of our druggists are new selling the medicine, and I have been instrumental in selling a great many bottles.

I consider it the most valuable medicine ever placed before the public for the cure of rheumatism, and anyone suffering from it should not hesitate one moment in trying it.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK POINTER.
