

DISPATCH... ESTABLISHED FEBRUARY 8, 1860... Vol. 74, No. 282—Entered at Pittsburgh Postoffice November 18, 1879, as second-class matter.

up his various football teams and the through training of the college teams cannot be had, the liability of the individual player to injury will be vastly increased.

There is something very exciting to spectators in the struggle on the football field. But all the same the fact that the young men who go into it may come out injured for life by concussions affecting the spine, the head or other vital parts, is a serious and painful aspect of the new sport.

THE CLOSING CANVASS. The most notable feature of the political situation, as shown by the elaborate and instructive review of the canvass published in THE DISPATCH this morning, is the increased number of States necessary to be heard from before any party can be absolutely sure of national victory.

MR. LINCOLN'S INTELLIGENCE. Minister Lincoln in an interview, in which he also refers to the official restraints on his communicativeness, states that there is good prospect for a sufficient change in England's monetary policy to enable the coming monetary conference to effect a decided increase in the use of silver as a money metal.

THE CONVENTION DAWNING UPON THE AMERICAN. The convention dawning upon the American people is a change of scene. The take in an indication that a superfluity of culinary artists is still apt to be detrimental to the quality of the connoisseurs.

THE MARRIAGE OF EDWIN GOULD, second son of Jay Gould, and Miss Sarah C. Shady, will take place next Wednesday evening.

THE GREAT GAME OF FOOTBALL. Football is a very exciting game, and of all athletic sports, it is best fitted for winter. That it is taking on immensely is proved not alone by the enormous interest in the annual college matches, but by the spread of the sport throughout all the Northern States.

THE ONLY PAPER WITHOUT COLUMBUS. The man who wants a paper without Columbus matter in it no wayward should look to the Dispatch for a good sample of newspaper.
