

CHAMBERLAIN IS BOLD

To the Verge of Socialism in His Programme as Announced.

HE FAVORS ARBITRATION BOARDS

And is Even an Advocate of a Legal Eight-Hour Working Day.

THE NEWS AND GOSSIP FROM ABOARD

(BY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH.)

LONDON, Oct. 29. (Copyright.)—Mr. Chamberlain held a conference today with the leaders of the Liberal Union party, preliminary to his departure for a holiday abroad. The details of his "unauthorized programme" appeared in the morning papers, taken from the forthcoming number of the Nineteenth Century, and the matters there presented were naturally the subject of the conference.

Mr. Chamberlain deals with labor and other social subjects boldly and in a socialistic spirit, but the measures which he advocates are put forward, not as remedies, but merely as harmless experiments. Thus, he approves an eight-hour law for miners, although the other day the members of the Durham miners' union voted 28,217 to 12,684 against a legal eight-hour day.

Mr. Chamberlain favors local option, regulation of hours, etc., of shop assistants upon application of 50 or 75 per cent of those affected. He would create boards of arbitration, but would rely only on public opinion to enforce their decisions. He is in favor of limiting and controlling pauper immigration, helping workmen by advances of public money to purchase their homes, and some plan of old-age pensions.

Practical Politics of the Programme. The practical politics in all this lies in the question whether Mr. Chamberlain and Liberal Unionism will be able to win the allegiance with the Conservatives while advocating such radical measures. The probability is quite strong that Mr. Chamberlain's ideas will dominate his own party, but some of his proposals cannot hope for support. Indeed, his programme as a whole would meet with greater sympathy among Mr. Chamberlain's supporters.

Mr. Chamberlain himself seems to take the contrary view. "In social questions," he says, "the Tories have almost always been more progressive than the Liberals, and the Conservative leaders, in their legislation, have only gone back to the old Tory traditions."

Certain it is that some of the subjects discussed by Mr. Chamberlain are of such urgent and practical value that they will be forced upon the attention of Parliament in the opening hours of its session.

Hundreds Demanded Food and Work. The cry of the unemployed grows daily more threatening. Tower Hill continues to be the popular forum, and, in spite of the continuous storm of the week, hundreds have assembled there daily to demand food and work. It was a true and significant incident at one of the meetings that the chairman complained that a gentleman had tempted away six of his best speakers by the promise of a meal. The talk at most of the meetings continues to be revolutionary and anarchistic.

The Government has thought it best, not only to have large detachments of troops in plain clothes upon the ground, but to have stenographic reports made of the words of the most violent speakers. The meetings are now followed daily by parades in the east end of the city, always under the red or the black flag. The great strike or lock-out in the cotton trade is now almost at hand. The attack on the coal strike, by the Mayors of Manchester and Liverpool to induce arbitration will not succeed, because neither side desires a compromise. I expect some time this week the market will be coming struggle, which will be unique in the history of labor troubles.

Both Sides Prepared for the Fight. The spinners, who number only 7,000 of the total who will be thrown out of work, hold the key to the situation. They have a reserve fund of $600,000 and they are determined to enjoy the fruits of several years' economy in the same time they test the mettle of the new federation of their employers. The mill owners, on the other hand, will be glad to get their shut down, for overproduction is the real trouble in the market. The actual victims of the struggle will be the 30,000 unskilled operatives, without union resources, who will be thrown out of work at the beginning of winter. They have no foretell the issue of the campaign which promises to be the most important in which federated capital and well-garrisoned, thoroughly organized skilled labor ever engaged.

The first of the series of Cabinet councils at which the business of the coming session of Parliament will be settled on Wednesday, and rumor has been busy since with tales of ministerial dissensions which may be safely described as ridiculous. A hint is said to be given by the cabinet that the question of the retention of Uganda, but there is the best reason for believing that the subject was not referred to at all at the Cabinet council.

Fifty of Time for Thought. Lord Rosebery's compromise has given time for thought, and the Government will take a note of the drift of public opinion and arrive at a decision before the opening of Parliament. It is pretty clear that the country is against the abandonment of Uganda, and the Tories, in hope that the Liberals will not have the sense to see that fact, are talking of proposing and carrying a vote of censure, with the aid of discontented Liberals, in whatever the final settlement may be. It will not take the form of further subsidies to the British East Africa Company.

The hearing of the petition against the election of Baldwin's men for East Manchester will commence November 14. The Liberals make no allegations save of carelessness against the Tory leader personally, but they have collected a mass of evidence showing that the agents are guilty of various corrupt practices, and if good cannot be proved—or which there is good prospect—the Tories in the House of Commons will find themselves once a leader at the opening of the session. The prospect is particularly pleasing to Irish members.

Sheer Anarchism. Manifesto of the Wild-Eyed Sects From the German Socialist Party.

Berlin, Oct. 29.—The programme of the Independent Socialist party has finally been drafted, and it marks their definitive secession from the main body of the Social Democrats. The programme declares that workmen ought to reject State socialism in every form. They should rather aim to entangle and completely abolish the State. They should try to capture the means of production and abolish capitalist society through strikes, boycotts, refusal to enter into legal obligations, etc.

They should oppose all the leading institutes of modern society, such as the Church, State schools, the army, bureaucracy and parliamentarism, and reconstruct society on a basis of perfect equality without distinction as to sex. The manifesto is the embodiment of sheer anarchism.

A German Standard Oil Company. Berlin, Oct. 29.—The Baku Standard Oil Company has been formed here. Its aim is to compete with the American Standard Oil Company for the German market. The company has built warehouses at Bremen and Amsterdam for the storage of Russian oil.

German Soldiers May Wear Armor. Berlin, Oct. 29.—Experiments have recently been made in Germany with a new kind of armor, which is claimed to be far superior to any kind heretofore made. It is said that the resisting qualities of this armor are so great that a thin layer of it will prevent the passage of the new small caliber rifle bullets. It has even been suggested that the new composition might be utilized in making armor for soldiers.

A DISGUISED BLESSING

To Capri's Government, Was the Promising Publication of the Military Bill—It Would Have Been a Bombshell in the Reichstag—The Two Houses to Meet.

Berlin, Oct. 29.—Emperor William will open the Reichstag in person November 22. While the Imperial Parliament is wrestling over the army bill, the Prussian Landtag, which has been summoned to meet November 9, will be involved in an eager party fight on the fiscal reform proposed by Dr. Niquel, Minister of Finance.

Both sessions will strain the energies of the Ministers and produce crises periods; yet the official circle is confident that the army bill will be approved, as they are also confident that the proposed budget will meet with acceptance. Members of the Landtag do not hesitate to declare that the Government will win all along the line. The story of abuse with which the Government proposals were assailed when they were first published, is subsiding.

The Government appears likely to benefit greatly by the so-called premature disclosure of the army bill. It is certain that if the measure had been thrown into the Reichstag in full session, surprising the members, it would have scattered the parties like a bombshell, breaking the groups into sections that it would have been impossible to reunite. Never has a Government project received such a glacial reception from its expected supporters, or aroused greater clamor among its natural opponents. Papers of such diverse opinions as the Germania (Centerist), the Reichshot (Conservative) and Das Volk (Dr. Von Stoecker's organ), have concurred with the opposition in declaring that the measure is impossible.

The early dissolution of the Reichstag was everywhere predicted, and it was said that the daughter of the late Captain Schuler was hostile to the Government. Now the tone of the Centerist organ has been modified. The Germania suggests that the bill will be possible if the Government reduces its demands. The Conservative press solicits the country on the prospects of the solidity of the army, and praises the section of the bill relating in the hands of the Government the power to keep certain classes of troops in the service for three years. This change of front points to the whole Conservative strength—177 votes—being cast in favor of the measure. It is to be necessary 199 votes to carry the bill, Chancellor von Capri can rely on the Centerists stepping into line, under inducements that are already on the verge of acceptance.

Cholera Causes a Tragedy. LONDON, Oct. 29.—The Standard's Vienna correspondent says that the Mayor of Lemberg, the capital of Galicia, has been poisoned, and adds that it is asserted the crime was committed by people who are angry because of the severe precautions taken at the Mayor's instance to prevent the introduction and spread of cholera.

Thornton Bros. In less than six years we have built up a tremendous business in dry goods. This is done by accident. Hardly a day goes by without some one coming in to buy a pair of shoes or a pair of trousers. They are getting their eyes open. The cut prices we are making get to their ears. They don't want to believe they have been robbed by the firms they have patronized so long. Still, they investigate our prices, and once a customer always a customer at the Cash Store. Simply Awful Worst Case of Scrofula the Doctors Ever Saw Completely Cured by HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA. "When I was 4 or 5 years old I had a scrofula sore on the middle finger of my left hand, which had got so bad that the doctors said the finger had to be cut off. I had more than half my hand taken off. Then they broke out on my arm, came out on my neck and on my back, nearly destroying the sight of one eye, also on my right arm. Doctors said it was the Worst Case of Scrofula They ever saw. It was simply awful Five years ago I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Gradually I found that the sores were beginning to heal. I kept on till I had taken an honest, ten dollars' worth of that return I got for that investment. A thousand people say, 'Yes, my thousand. For the past 4 years I have had no more.'

Work All the Time. Before, I could do no work. I know not what to say strong enough to express my gratitude to Hood's Sarsaparilla for my perfect cure." GEORGE W. TURNER, Farmer, Galway, Saratoga county, N. Y.
