Chief Bigelow Discusses the Effect of Widening Diamond Street.

EXPECTS SPEEDY ACTION.

Mayor Gourley to Sign the Petition for the Improvement to PREVENT A CHANGE IN THE PLANS.

His Honor Pleased With Chief Elliot's Course in Letting

THE CONTRACT FOR A NEW POOR FARM

Chief Bigelow yesterday predicted that in less than a year Diamond street will have been widened, paved and opened up for the great business houses which will naturally seek such an excellent location. At the next meeting of Councils the Chief will introduce a petition containing the signatures of a majority of property holders in number and interest asking for the improvement. Accompanying the petition will be an ordinance authorizing it to be carried out. The Chief says the necessary majority was secured months ago, but the matter has been delayed in order to get more signatures, which has been done.

Relative to the resolution authorizing the Mayor to sign the petition in behalf of the city Mr. Bigelow says its only object is to guard against a change in the plans by a possible change in the municipal administration.

Will Prevent a Change of Plans.

The effect of the city's becoming a petitioner will not affect her liability for damages or expense of the improvement one cent either way. Such a thing as the city becoming liable for the expense was not thought of by the framers of the resolution and Mr. Bigelow says it would be impossible.

"The enhancement of values on Diamond street," said he, "will justify every man on the street in paying his share of the damages. When the matter was first talked of, three years ago, Diamond street property was worth only $500 a foot. The natural increase since then would make it worth about $1,000, but in view of this improvement it is worth more than twice that. Make it a 50-foot street and it will demand $4,000 a foot at least. Fifth avenue property on the same blocks is worth $6,000. On Fourth avenue, only 40 feet wide, it is worth from $3,000 to $4,000. Those are market figures. Why should an owner not be willing to accept such a handsome increase to his wealth? No improvement ever made in this city has added so much to the value of abutting property as this will.

Two Years Make a Difference.

"The damages will not be nearly as heavy as they would have been two years ago. Leases then worth many thousands which would have to be assessed have since expired or will expire shortly and that money is saved. Those leases made since are subject to the improvement and will cost nothing. At the market house, for instance, all the stalls on the line of the improvement have been leased subject to the opening of the street, and the holders cannot claim a cent of damages. This would have been a considerable item three years ago. Men who were kicking and grumbling because they were compelled to pay the city $100 a year for rent of their stalls went before the Board of Viewers then and swore their business amounted to $125,000 a year, one-third of which was profit, and demanded damages in that amount for the two years their leases were to run. It is different now, not only in the market, but all along the street.

"The plans have been changed, too. The arcade through the market will not affect the second floor as at first intended. We will have 18 or 19 feet clear above the street, and that will be enough to comply with the law.

Some Contemplated Improvements.

"Elevators will be put in both buildings, Old City Hall and the Duquesne Grays' armory will be filled with stalls, and a glass-covered bridge will span Market street, connecting the second floors of the two buildings. Instead of ruining the market, the improvement will double its importance and availability."

Mayor Gourley had not examined the resolution last night, but said he would give it careful attention in a few days. At first glance he could see no good reason why he should not sign it. His Honor yesterday approved the resolution awarding the contract for the new Poor Farm buildings to C. A. Balph at $353,000. In speaking of it he said: "It affords me pleasure to say that Chief Elliot has been the first chief of department to award a contract by resolution of Councils since I have been Mayor. This is as it should be, as I am satisfied the decision of the suit now in court will establish, and Mr. Elliot was right to take no chances in having the construction of his buildings delayed. I think the contract is all right and the figures reasonable."

IN A TERRIBLE CONDITION.

A Nest of Russian Hebrews Found in a House on Penn Avenue.

Superintendent Baker, of the Bureau of Health, yesterday found a house at No. 2735 Penn avenue in which was a small room containing four beds, each of which contained four Russian Jews. These beds were used by the men on both night and day turn at the mills, and the place was in a terrible sanitary condition.

One of the men, Matthew Kowalski, aged 26 years, was suffering from typhoid fever and was removed to the Homeopathic Hospital.

A Market House Pickpocket Captured.

William Kennedy, who claims Akron for his home, tried to replenish his fallen fortunes by picking pockets yesterday. He secured the pocketbook of Mrs. Bloch in the Allegheny market but was detected in the act and after a chase through the market house was captured and landed in the lockup on on a charge of larceny. He will have a hearing this morning.

May Yet Elevate the Tracks.

The Allegheny grade crossing committee will meet First Vice President McCrea at his office this afternoon to examine plans for elevating the Ft. Wayne tracks at Federal, Sandusky and Anderson streets and Marion avenue. The subject was broached three years ago, but Councils and the railroad company failed to agree.

Clerk and Money Missing.

Harry D. Squires, manager of the Pittsburg Cycle Company, found the back window of his store open on last Thursday, and a large sum of money missing from the drawer. James Wilson, a clerk, has been missing since. The police have been put on the case.

ENGINES GIVING OUT.

Bad Water Ruining Locomotive Boilers on the B. & O. and Pemicky Roads.

In connection with the statement of President Mayer, of the B. & O. Railroad, to a delegation of coal men from Pittsburg, that the use of Youghiogheny river water had so injured the company's locomotives as to seriously cripple their business, it may be stated that two locomotives on the Pemickey road have been rendered unfit for service from this cause during the past 48 hours. This isn't the worst of it. Word came yesterday from Scott Haven, on the same road, that three engines had given out there. On this line, as on others, the freight traffic could not be properly handled with the entire equipment of the road working to its full capacity, and the crippling of so many engines at once puts the road in bad shape.

Last night several B. & O. engineers said they were running with locomotives that are in bad shape and rapidly getting worse. The only permanent relief is in the completion of Superintendent Holbrook's spring water scheme, as the other engineers say that the "Yough" river water has been steadily growing worse from year to year, and in the nature of things will continue to do so until it is unfit for use except at the height of floods in the spring and fall.

HIS TRIP POSTPONED.

Jim Ross Captured on the Eve of His Departure for Italy.

John Lynd entered suit before Alderman Kerr yesterday, charging Jim Ross with false pretense. Lynd is a manager for the Philadelphia Gas Company, and employed Ross, who was known as No. 30. Ross quit work on the last day of August. On October 31 he put in his name and got another month's pay, although he had not worked. A warrant was issued and Constable James James went to Ross' home in Bloomfield and found him with a packed satchel ready to start away. He had a ticket to New York and a passage to Italy. When he learned the officer's business he jumped out of a window and made a desperate effort to escape, but he was recaptured after a short chase. On the way to the Alderman's office he made another attempt to escape, and drew a knife, which was taken from him, and then he went along quietly. At the Alderman's office Ross returned the money and paid the costs and the suit was withdrawn.

HOTEL MEN KICKING

Against a Proposition to Suppress Their Billiard Rooms.

Proprietors of all the first-class downtown hotels are exerting their influence to secure an amendment or the defeat of Chief Brown's poolroom ordinance. The bill passed Select Council three weeks ago but was postponed last Monday by Common Councilman Thorn in that branch. It requires that all pool and billiard rooms shall be licensed by the police bureau, but absolutely prohibits a hotel or saloon keeper the privilege of a license. It is argued that in so far as it affects the ordinary pool rooms, where so many boys take their first step toward the bad, the ordinance is all right, but as to the respectable hotels who maintain billiard tables for the use of their guests and exclude minors it is an injustice. A number of Councilmen have already promised to assist in amending or defeating the bill as it now stands.

Powers, Jennie Coe, Emma Williams and Edward Montooth will give illustrations in the various branches of study.

Miss Basendorf to Be Married.

A license was issued yesterday for the marriage of Lawrence L. McDonald and Miss Margaret M. Basendorf. The latter is well known from her connection with the Bethesda Home. Mr. McDonald is 26 years of age and resides on Plymouth street, Pittsburg.

NEW MEN AT THE HELM

Quiet Inauguration of the Recently-Elected Officers of

THE AMALGAMATED ASSOCIATION.

River Miners Still Firm Against the Proposed Reduction.

NEWS OF THE GREAT LABOR WORLD

The inauguration of the new officers of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers yesterday was an event of particular interest to wage earners throughout the country. It marks the successful continuance of an organization, including the representative iron and steel workers in all parts of the land.

The officers installed were the President and Secretary with their staff of assistants. The inauguration ceremony was very brief and was conducted by Vice President W. A. Carney, who instructed the new officers as to their duties, and received bonds from them on behalf of the trustees of the association. The leading officials of the order were present, and it was a very pleasant gathering. The Executive Board had audited the accounts, and the conduct of the association will now be in the hands of the new officers. As a token of the high esteem in which William Weihe, the retiring President, is held by his co-laborers, he was presented with an elegant triple reclining chair.

No Formal Speeches Made.

There was no formal speechmaking, but the sentiments expressed were kind words for the organization and pleasant experiences with its members. Trustee Ed Mansell, who retires from office, was presented with a gold K. of P. charm.

Mahlon M. Garland, the new President, has acted as Assistantant President, and is thoroughly acquainted with all the workings of the order. He was born on the Southside in 1856, and has been engaged as an iron and steel worker all his life. He has worked in mills in various parts of the country, but spent most of his time in the mills of this city, among them Oliver Bros. & Phillips', A. M. Byers & Co., and Jones & Laughlins'. Mr. Garland has been an active member of the order since 1879. He has attended four conventions and acted as Vice Deputy to the First district. In 1890 he was appointed to the Vice Presidency by William Weihe, in which capacity he served until last June, when he was elected to his present office, Mr. Weihe declining to be a candidate.

The New Secretary's Record.

The new secretary, John C. Kilgallon, was born in Ireland in 1862. He came to America in 1880 and settled at Pittsburg. He worked in various mills and soon became an active member of the Amalgamated

John C. Kilgallon, the New Secretary.

Association. He has held every office in a subordinate lodge and has always been recognized as a leader during labor troubles. He was a delegate to the National Convention in 1889 and also to the convention of the American Federation of Labor in the same year. He has held the office of Assistant Secretary since 1890.

P. H. McEvoy, of Youngstown, O., has been named as the Assistant President. He is 30 years old and has been Vice President of the Sixth district for three years, as well a member of the National Council. Stephen Madden will be the Assistant Secretary. The staff of new officers is considered an able one.

At the meeting of the Auditing Committee of the Amalgamated Association last evening, the retiring President, William Weihe, was treated to a pleasant surprise. Secretary Kilgallon, in a neat speech, presented him with a handsome pen and ink sketch of the complimentary resolutions adopted by the association at the last annual meeting. Mrs. M. M. Garland, wife of the new President, was the artist.

RELIEF PROMISED.

The Coal Operators Told That They Will Be Furnished All the Cars Possible.

The delegation of railroad coal operators, who were at Baltimore to confer with the officials of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, have returned. They report having had a successful conference with the officials, who promised to do everything in their power to supply cars for the coal traffic.

The reason given for the present car famine was the scarcity of water. The water used was of a poor quality and was playing havoc with many of the locomotives so that an unusual number were in the shops for repairs. The freight equipment of the road was said to have been increased fully 30 per cent during the past year, but the trade had increased even more so that it was impossible to meet the demands.

RAILROADERS CONFER.

Chief Sargent Meets With the Engineers and Firemen.

Committees from the Brotherhood of Firemen and Engineers were in consultation yesterday at the St. Charles Hotel. Chief F. P. Sargent, of the Firemen, of Terre Haute, Ind., was present. Some business transacted at the recent convention, but left imcomplete, was discussed. After spending the day in close conference Chief Sargent left for the East on the 9:20 train.

Special Officers Discharged.

The special officers who have been guarding the Twenty-ninth and Thirty-third street mills since the strike began have been discharged. The management feel that the mills are now running successfully and apprehend no further trouble. Only one of the 30 officers is on guard and he is at the main entrance to the upper mill.

RIVER STRIKE STILL ON.

The Miners Hold Out but the Operators Hope to Win—Coal Held in the Southern Markets—More Firms to Be Prosecuted.

The Coal Exchange held a meeting in the Iron Exchange building yesterday. The meeting was well attended, and much interest was taken in the proceedings. The reports from the river miners were generally favorable to the operators, though the miners still refused to return at the reduced rates. The opinion prevails among the operators that it is only the matter of a short time when the mines will be in operation on the same terms as the railroads.

The report of a rise in the price of coal at Cincinnati is causing the operators some uneasiness, as each reported rise only tends to prolong the strike and make the miners more determined in their stand. While there is considerable coal in the Southern markets held by Pittsburg firms they are generally holding it for better prices, while some few are holding it up with the expectation of a long shutdown in the mines. Barge water is not expected for some time, so that should the supply be exhausted the Southern markets would have to be supplied by the railroads.

"John F. Walton & Co. have about 15 barges of coal at New Orleans," said Captain I. N. Bunton, "and have given orders to sell at 8 cents a bushel. No matter what the market is they will sell at that. The reports from the pools indicate an early settlement of the strike, but I am not bothering myself much about it just at present."

The report that the Eclipse mines in the fourth pool had started up at the reduced rate is not believed by many of the river operators. They have had nothing to convince them that a start has been made as in that case a general break among the strikers would likely result and the operators are slow to accept the report.

Secretary Tilly is securing evidence against a number of manufacturing firms along the river which are violating the law as to filling up the channel. He has been spending much of his time along the river and will soon make information against a number of firms. The Exchange has taken up this crusade in earnest.

The Treatment of Constipation and Ordinary Dyspepsia.

Sir Thompson, the English professor, believes that in the vast majority of cases chronic constipation may be successfully overcome by a dose of the genuine imported Carlsbad Sprudel Salt dissolved in a tumberful of water (half a pint), early every morning, and if necessary on going to bed. Outdoor exercise will aid its action materially.

Use only the genuine, which has the signature of "Eisner & Mendelson Co., Sole Agents, New York," on every bottle. w
