GENERAL SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 .- The tremendous purses that the Coney Island Athletic Club and the Crescent City Athletic Club are offering to Hall and Fitzsimmons for a fight at one of these clubs are just now the talk of the sporting world. The Coney Island Club vesterday offered to put up $26,000 to secure a meeting between these two men at its house, and to-day it has raised the amount to $36,000. This is the largest sum ever offered to any two men to meet in the prize ring.

Judge Newton, of the Coney Island Club, called upon President Noel, of the Crescent City Club, at the St. James Hotel this morning and had a talk with him in regard to the size of the purse the New Orleans Club was willing to offer. The sum of $36,000 was mentioned, and Judge Newton asked: "If we give Fitzsimmons and Hall $36,000, what in heaven's name will we have to pay for the Corbett-Mitchell argument?"

"That's just the point," replied President Noel. "The Crescent City Club," he went on, "practically had the Fitzsimmons-Hall fight, but the Coney Island Club keptraising our figures, and we only met them in justice to the fighters. We are not anxious to pay over $20,000."

"Can't we come to some understanding in the matter?" asked Newton. President Noel suggested that neither club make a bid for the fight until Saturday at 1 o'clock. That, he said, would give them time to decide upon the largest amount they could give in justice to them-selves. Judge Newton, it is reported, agreed to this and the two men then parted. This was at 11 o'clock. About an hour later Bob Fitzsimmons rushed into President Noel's apartments and said that Judge Newton had offered him $36,000 to get the fight for the Coney Island Athletic Club. "Now, what will you offer?" asked Fitz-

"Not a cent," replied Noel. "Judge Newton and I agreed not to make a bid until Saturday. If he has broken his word, it will not affect my action. I gave him my word of honor that I would not make an offer until Saturday and I won't, even i I lose the fight."

When Mr. Noel was seen by an Associated Press reporter this evening, he seemed at a loss to understand Judge Newton's conduct. "Perhaps the fighters," he said, "fooled him with the story that I had of-tered $34,000, and that he would have to bid $36,000 to get the prize. At any rate, said Mr. Noel, "I don't like his actions." Judge Newton said that he had violated no trust. If $36,000 is paid for the Fitz-simmons-Hall fight it will cost a fortune to secure the Corbett-Mitchell affair. It is probable that the place of meeting for both of these fights will be decided upon to-

They Will Be Here To-Morrow to Play the

To-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the State College team will line up against the P. A. C. eleven, and an hour and a half of excitement will tollow. It is probable that the contest will be very hot, and the P. A. C.'s intend to do all the scoring if they can. One of the State College team played with the P. A.C.'s in the game with the A. A. A.'s, and if all the rest of the cleven are as sturdy as he, the P. A. C's will find their hands full. Last year Captain Auli, of the P. A. C. s, was captain of the State College team, and several of those who are now on the Gyms have at one time been on the State College team, and this will make the game all the more interesting. The two teams will line up as follows:

. THE MAGNATES' PLANS.

A Louisville Authority Tells About the

Uniform Action Agreed On. A week or two ago it was stated in this paper that at the late meeting of the magnates in New York uniform action regarding the signing of players was decided on. The following dispatch from Louisville contains interesting news on this matter. It says: interesting news on this matter. It says:

Every player in the Louisville team has been reserved for next season. Aside from the League magnates themselves and the players this fact was heretofore unknown. It has leaked out that much more was done by the League magnates at the last meeting in New York than has been generally known or suspected. In fact the club owners resolved to complete business while it was still in the base ball active season, and alive, the drawbacks of the closing season made nearly all the arrangements for next year, except the routine business saved for the annual meeting beginning the light of this month. One of the most important things was the reservation of players for next year. Another important agreement made at the meeting was that all clubs consented to keep hands off and sign no contracts with players until after the annual meeting.

Every club consented to this agreement, and in consequence the reports about Von der Ahe and others signing men for next season must be unfounded, for other important business was transacted at the New York meeting.

REED FOR SPEAKER.

One of the Possibilities of the Congress Now to Be Elected.

IF THE POPULITES ARE IN POWER

They Will Frefer the Republican to the Present Incumbent.

A DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY CONCEDED

[FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 .- The headquarters of the Congressional Committee have about closed out business. A negro, a bony old horse and two bags carried the mail from Republican headquarters to-day. Only a few employes remain at each of the headquarters, and these are preparing to find

The precincts are quiet, almost gloomy, compared with the life and bustle of the past two months. They at least were spots on the face of the Republic where the Me-Kinley bill did not affect business unfavorably. They are old stands where business has been carried on for years, but it is a fact, demonstrable by figures that will not lie, that business was never so prosper-ous before. The volume of product and distribution was never so great.

The correspondent of THE DISPATCH was told at the headquarters of the Republican Committee to-day that upward of 30,000,000 documents were printed, sent out either here or at New York, and from local points distributed to the homes of the farmers, mechanics and laborers who are supposed to be the persons most needing education as to why they should vote for the grand old party.

Lots of Mental Confusion. As the Democratic Committee distributed about the same number of documents, but of a very different quality, so far as argu ments go, and to very much the same classes, and undoubtedly to the same per-sons in a great degree, the amount of mental confusion as to which side is right can hardly be imagined. The fact remains that never before in the history of the country has so energetic a "campaign of education" been carried to a triumphant conclusion, and the hard-worked clerks and the harder worked religious enthysiasts who gave much worked policical enthusiasts who gave much of their services gratuitously are breathing long sighs of relief to think that not for two years will their labors begin again. Beside the tremendous work of printing and distribution, the committee have kept close track of the movements in the Congressional districts. The net result is a greater amount of confusion of mind in regard to the result of the Congressional elec-tions than has been known for long years. At the close of the campaign this confusion is heightened rather than dissipated, on account of the new daily deals between the Third party people and one or the other of the old parties. These are considered cer-tain to reduce the Democratic representation more than the Republican, and it is generally admitted now that the prospects are good for the control of the House by the votes of the members of the People's party.

Figures of the Republicans. The plain figures of the Republican committee in these last moments are that the next House will consist of 160 Republinext House will consist of 160 Republi-cans, 166 Democrats and 30 members of the People's party. The Democrats claim s majority of from 50 to 60, including members of the Third party, who, they assert, are sure to act with them. This is much be-yond the claims of the Democratic leaders in private, however, for they admit that they will be lucky if they secure a majority of 16 over the Republicans, evelusive of of 16 over the Republicans, exclusive of Third party members with Democratic proclivities.

The closest observers, on both sides, who are not talking for effect, admit that the eleventh-hour deals make it as near certain as anything can be that has not come to pass, that the members of the Third party will have absolute control over the delibe ations of the House of the Fifty-third Con-

To what grand heights of legislation this will lend no one attempts to depict. Both sides will flirt with the middle, and the only sure thing is that the minority will be able to get almost anything it wants in the

One of the things not least likely to happen is that the Third party people, in case they hold the balance of power, will sup-port Tom Reed for the Speakership, as the man who is most hated by the Democrats, but also the man who was always kind to them, and who gave them many a word of advice in their vigorous onslaughts on the Democrats in this Congress. Leaders of Contrary Opinions.

Many Republicans are of the opinion that it would be better that the Democrats should have a clear majority, and thus be responsible for all legislation, rather than that they should be able to do all sorts of financial and tariff deviltry and blame it on the Third party. But this is not the view of the shrewdest of the leaders.

The one hope of the continued disintegration of the Solid South is in the perpetuaion and growth of the new party. The Republicans are fostering this growth in every possible way. They sincerely hope for such success of the Third party people as will give them the balance of power, and believe that in return for the invaluable assistance rendered them they will vote for a Republican for Speaker.

With Tom Reed in the chair, it is easy to with Tom Reed in the enart, it is easy to imagine what opportunities would be given the Third party people to annoy their enemies, and that Reed would in a thousand cunning ways foster the animosity between

The Republican leaders do not seem to stop to consider what course the Third party would take in legislation. The present thought is wholly for political advantage. If the day of legislative evil is to come it will be sufficient unto itself. No matter if the Third party go farther than the Demo-cratic party in the direction of free silver and free trade, that stream can be crossed when it is reached.

The Senate None Too Soll 1. With the Republicans and the Populists practical allies in political battle outside, it can hardly be feared but that some way would be found to work together for the common good inside of the House. This is the reasoning of the leaders who are anxious the Third party should secure the balance of power. But they admit there is such a thing as carrying the balance of power too far, and one place the Republicans desire that it shall stop is on the hither side of the

Many of the leaders in this city are today expressing grave fears that the legislative outlook presages the election of enough Democrats and Populists to that body in place of Republicans whose terms expire on the 4th of March to put the balance of power in the Senate into the hands of the Populists. It is a fact that they are of the belief that this is quite probable to happen if the Legislatures of some of the Democratic States, such as West Virginia, New Jersey, or Delaware, cannot be cap-tured. To this end much attention has been given to the legislative contests in those States. It is hoped confidently that the Legislature of one or more of them will be carried. Some of the Strange Possibilities.

With the anxiety of the Republicans that the Populists shall have the balance of power in the House, since they themselves cannot hope to win a majority, their ardor for assisting their disintegrating power would be much dampened if that balance of power should extend to the Senate, and if the worst would happen at the same time, and Cleveland be elected to the Presidency, a really distressing situation would cona really distressing situation would con front the Republicans, whose impregnable bulwark has been the Senate, in days when the House, and for four years the adminis-tration were in the hands of the Democrats. These are some of the strange possibilities that confront the Republicana, and with, as they think, a certainty that the Third party will hold the balance of power in the House, they are bending themselves all the more heroically to the task of preventing a similar condition in the Senate, and, of course, against the direct possibility of all, the loss of the administration.

IT IS INDORSED AGAIN.

Woods' Run Citizens Rally on the Bond Issue Question—David B. Oliver Makes a Rousing Speech, Which Carries the Day in Its Favor.

Two hundred persons attended the meeting in Hartman's Hall, on Preble avenue, Allegheny, last evening to discuss the bond issue question. Gilbert G. Follansbee was elected Chairman, and T. G. Jones, Secretary. On the call for remarks, F. F. Dimming said he was opposed to the issue of the bonds, because he did not know where or how the money was going to be spent. Christopher Gerber was in favor of the bonds, and did not believe the water to be as bad as claimed. The improvements in question are needed, and he is willing to trust Councils in expending the money. Richard Millard and J. B. Kennedy were of the same opinion. Mr. Kennedy said that Councils could manage affairs well and the citizens who can't trust them should go to Dixmont.

James Shipman was opposed to the bond issue because the people had been deceived in former years by Councils and he didn't trust them now.

D. B. Oliver said he was in favor of such improvements as would lift Allegheny from its present backward condition. There was no use denying the fact that Allegheny was going behind. He did not mean that it was not improving, but it was nothing as com-pared to Pittsburg. The census of 1890 showed that in ten years the increase in Pittsburg that in ten years the increase in Pittsburg was 60 per cent. In Allegheny the increase was only 30 per cent. Since 1890 they wers going behind much faster. Some of their best people were going to the East End. He said further: "Anyone going along the main streets in the residence part of our city and seeing the number of empty houses cannot fail to see this. We have natural advantages in our own outer wards incomparably in advance of the East End, but our people and Councils have been so niggardly in their expenditures, and so slow in opening and improving streets and avenues, that our advantages are lost to us and our people are leaving us. Our water supply is simply a diagrace to our city and ought not to be toleraised." Several other speeches were made after which Mr. Oliver speeches were made after which Mr. Oliver moved that it be the sense of the meeting that all good citizens favor the improve ments for their city and vote on election day for the money to pay for them. The question was called and the motion for the Schenley Zoo. Chief Bigelow expects to add a good collection of animals to the Schenley Park Zoo in a few days. Some time ago he received an offer for the entire stock of a circus which had closed the season at New Castle. On an inspection of the menagerie the Chief was much pleased with all excepting a pair of elephants, which he decided were too old to be of any use. A pair of lions of great beauty, six monkeys, a zebra, s camel, a panther, a hyena and a number of bright plumaged tropical birds were part of the collection, and the Chief decided to buy them if the Mayor and Controller would agree. Yesterday they conferred and agreed upon a figure. It is considered a reasonable one, and the Chief expects a favorable reply to his letter sent yesterday. If the offer is accepted the animals will be shipped here at once and kept in their present cages until new ones can be built. An experienced keeper now in charge of the animals will be employed to take care of them.

FOR FLORIDA WATERS.

The Nellie Hudson No. 2 Purchased by

H. M. Flagler. The Nellie Hudson No. 2, which is at wharf just above the Sixth street bridge, does not look as if she were just the sort of boat to put to sea in, but all the same in the near future she will be ploughing her way through the Gulf of Mexico and around Cedar Keys to the Indian river, Florida.

There she is to be used in the river pas-senger and freight service, for which H. M. Flagler, of the Standard Oil Company, bought her. She is a stern wheeler of very light draught, and therefore suited to the In-dian river channel. Before she adventures upon the ocean, the sides of her lower deck, which are now open, will be boarded up. She will dodge from harbor to harbor by day, and only in fair weather. Most of the steamers in Florida waters were taken there from Pittsburg or the vicinity.
