THE HOME RULE BILL DISAPPOINTING

COPYRIGHT 1892 BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.] LONDON, Nov. 4.-When Mr. Gladstone, soon after taking the reins of office, held a conference with Justin McCarthy, John Dillen and William O'Brien on home rule, he gave them a distinct impression, if not an absolute assurance, that the forthcoming bill of the Liberal Government would provide for a full representation of Irish members in the Imperial Parliament. The determination of the Irish party to retain all of its representatives at Westminster or to have none at all was made known to the Premier as an absolute condition of their acceptance of any home rule bill.

The progress of the bill in the Cabinet Councils during the present week has darkened the prospects of its approval by the Nationalists. Supporters of the ministry, in a position to possess precise information upon the subject, say that the Cabinet is discussing favorably a clause to retain an Irish representation in Parliament, but to reduce the number of members entitled to vote on Imperial questions from 103 to 78 under a new scheme of redistribution of scats. To define what an "Imperial ques-tion" is, is now taxing the Cabinet commit-

The Power of Veto Given to Parliament.

Another question is the decision that the Imperial Parliament shall, by a two-thirds majority, have a power of veto on all bills passed by the Irish Parliament. The Irish Nationalists demand that the sole right to veto such bills shall be vested in the Crown under the direct advice of the Irish Ministers. The McCarthyites are better pleased with amendments giving the Irish Parlia-ment control over the police and the judici-ary and the liberal provisions to settle the land questions after the funds under existing purchase acts have been exhausted. Though the main features of the bill are settled on, the details evidently bristle with difficulties.

Both Liberal and Conservative wirepullers are trying to seize the advantage in the agitation springing up because of the depression of agriculture to form a farmers' party. The Conservatives have a little the best of the Liberals just now, because they have a majority in the Council of the Central Chamber of Agriculture, that is now organizing a conference, where-at remedies for the existing depression shall be discussed. If Council succeeds in manipulating the apointment of delegates, the bulk will be Tories with leanings toward protection and slow to advocate a reduction in rents.

The Proposed Platform of the Party.

The agitation seems certain to result in the springing up of a farmer's party with a platform having a strong Liberal bias. Such a platform is already being constructed, and is being discussed at farmers' meetings. The agricultural press puts aside the question of imposing a tariff on grain, as it is impossible to obtain suffi-cient support for it. The demands made include readjustment of the rates farmers pay for holdings, the forming of land courts and the income tax reform of the game law.

This programme is very uninviting to the land owners, but the difficulties in the situation appear to baffle their ingenuity to solve. The farmers are now facing the worst year known to the present generation, and are seeking for relief in immediate legislation on these lines.

Women's suffrage and women's work are other questions of the day that have pushed to the iront. James Stuart, M. P., presiding at yesterday's meeting of the Women's Suffrage Society, took a gloomy view of the prospect of Parliament's passing a bill conceding their claims. He regretted that since the Rt. Hon, James Stansfeld had been excluded from the Ministry there is no one in the Liberal Government who can be relied upon to advocate the cause of women's suffrage, and no one prominent in the party to depend upon. Mrs. Stanbury and other women spoke, taking a more hopeful view, and basing their opinion upon promises made by a number of mem-bers of the House of Commons, whom the women suffragists mean to whip into the right lobby when Parliament divides on the Dividends of 42 Per Cent and Low Wages. The treatment to which the female employes of the Acreated Bread Company have been subjected has just been made public, and has aroused indignant public criticism. Many hundreds of girls work 60 hours weekly for from 8 to 10 shillings a week, often in overheated, badly ventilated underground rooms. The last dividend declared by the company was 42 per cent. A small portion of the shareholders proposed that the workers should also profit by the prosperity of the company and receive a slight increase in their wages. The bulk of the shareholders were thunderstruck at such a proposal. They howled it down. The Chairman declared that the company and act side at half the price part side. could get girls at half the price now paid; denounced workingmen in general for crav-ing for what was called leisure, and complained that pride in labor was lessening. The Women's Trade Union Association has taken up the cause of the girls, and protion and make things warm for the com-

A Bad Show for American Silver.

Now that the membership of the Monetary Conterence is fully made up, it is evident that the advocates of a single standard are in the majority. England, Germany, Austria and Belgium will send delegations having a preponderance of monometallists, yet the growing belief in London financial circles is that the conference will effect some arrangement. The talk formerly in-dulged in about the futility of the congress is no longer heard.

The President of the Institute of Bankers, in his inaugural address, referred to the currency question as urgently demanding a reasonable settlement. The duty of the Government, he said, to find a practical remedy for existing difficulties could never be met by theoretic discussion. This declaration had great significance as a distinct advance on the "laissez faire" treatment of the subject.

The attitude of the English delegates is expected to guide the decisions to a great degree. They have as yet received no definite instructions. It is reported that the Government is considering suggestions made by influential firms in Manchester, made by initioential firms in Manchester, Liverpool and London, to settle the question upon the basis of reciprocal concession, the gold standard countries taking silver coins at par and the silver countries giving in turn reductions in the tariffs. A leading expert on the subject told the Associated Press correspondent that reciprocity upon the silver coinage basis would be ity upon the silver coinage basis would be impracticable.

John Ruskin is the latest to be spoken of in connection with the vacant laureateship. Mr. Gladstone is known to admire his writings greatly. Yet another to be mentioned is Philip James Bailey, the author of "Festus," who is held in certain circles to be England's greatest living poet. Both, however, are aged men and in feeble health.

THE SULTAN'S PHYSICIAN FIRED.

He Kept a Diary and His Revengeful Wife Sent It to His Master

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 4 .- Navroyeni Pasha, the Sultan's favorite physician has been arrested in consequence of his revenge-ful wife sending to the Sultan her husband's diary, in which daily entries were made of the variable conditions of the Sultan's mind.

Navroyeni Pasha had been a trusted friend and confidante of the Sultan since the latter's childhood. He married a French Hebrew woman whose scandalous life has twice involved him in disgrace and finally compelled him to apply for a divorce.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

He lived-the skilful artisan, Who wove, in some mysterious way, This fabric where the colors play Across the woof in rainbow chase Or meet and link and interlace.

"But this I know-foot ne'er shall press Its worship-hallowed loveliness, For still about it dumbly clings A subtle sense of holy things; And woven in the meshes there Are strands of vow and shreds of prayer."

Oriental Rugs as a rule come to this country in great bales. They are sorted by experts. The commoner kinds, the poorer qualities and the defective Rugs are tossed aside to be disposed of in the auction rooms or to the wandering rug pedlers, who make the circuit of the American cities, never expecting to see their customers a second time. To one who is unwary in these things it is very easy to be woefully deceived in buying from irresponsible deal-

It would startle the crafty turbaned merchants of the bazars of Cairo and Constantinople to see our large stock of Oriental rugs, every one marked at an unvarying price.

After thoroughly clearing out our old stock of rugs, we have opened a new assortment three or four times larger than ever before shown in Pittsburg.

They cover a wide range of sizes; prices and nationalities, and are marked at a close margin of profit.
