THAT BIG SURPRISE

Local Sporting People Still Wondering About Princeton's Defeat.

THE YALE TEAM'S PROSPECTS.

Eastern Authorities a Little Euspicious About Hall and Fitz.

GENERAL SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

Local sporting people, and football players in particular, were never more surprised in their lives than when the news of Princeton's defeat by the University of Pennsylvania football team reached here. All day vesterday wherever a group of patrons of aport met the unexpected defeat of the Tigers was the topic of conversation. The opinions as to the cause were conflicting, out the majority of local talent were of the opinion that the Keystone State team won by superior playing. One ex-Yale player last evening said: "The Princeton team are hardly as strong as their friends expected, while the U. of P. lot are stronger than has been anticipated. It is not likely now that Princeton will defeat Yale Thanksgiving An admirer of the Princeton team said:

The defeat of the Tigers only shows that the U. of P. team are as strong as any team in the country. If they meet Yale they may defeat that team also. The Princeton team, however, can play a better game than that of Saturday?

victory of the Pennsylvania team will The victory of the Pennsylvania team will have one good result. It will give an impetus to the sport that never would have been given had what is known as the "big" teams kept on winning. The surprising result of last Saturday now puts forward another team as one of national repute. It will be better still if the U. of P. defeats Yale and finishes the season thoroughly on the tenns of the head.

e public's notice the last week or two, but e great array of conches have been work-glike beavers to teach the men how to act ing like beavers to teach the men how to act under all circumstances. Too many cooks are sure to spoil the broth, and it may be that certain men on the Yale team will learn too much before Thanksgiving Day.

The New Haven cleven has had its share of misfortune and there are many cripples on the team. Cockran's broken hand will keep him out of the race, and now Cox has smashed his nose so than he, too, will in all promability be relegated to the side lines for the remainder of the season. Ives, the oarsman, had a very short career on the eleven. He was hardly in condition, but he was worked so hard that he went to pieces. There is no question about his being a very variable man on the field, but as he is more valuable in the boat he should be kept away from the dangers of football. McCormick's going in at quarter back has proved to be a very wise move, as he is able to direct his men better from that position than from any other. Butterworth has

The Tricky Young Sport Is Recognized in San Francisco. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6 .- Sam Clay, the young man who robbed Bookmaker Tom annon of $8,200 at the Coleman House, New York, some time ago, has been seen in this city. He has been selling pools at the Bay District track under the name of J. W. Bluster Ferguson, who has been engaged by the Blood Horse Association for this ceting, is from Lexington, ky., Clay's ome, and recognized him here. Yesterday me, and recognized him here. Yesterday of was married in Oaklana to the woman of accompanied him, and they left town, sumably for Sait Lake City. Clay lost out $1,00 on the races, and had about $450 rth of pool tickets outstanding, which is accommon to-day made good. It is ted tint thay had $22,00 in bills and a tided chock on the Crocker-Woolworth ink for $31,000 when he left town.

A LITTLE SUSPICIOUS

Eastern Sporting People Think the Halland Fitzsimmons Purse Too Big. New Your, Nov. 6.—[Special.]—There is a leal of mi-trust about the proposed battle short notice at Pitcairn's, 434 Wood street. [] between Hall and Fitzsimmons since the se offered them has become so large. The men have had a great deal to say in regard to one another, and if some of their statements are to be believed, neither is to rusted. Presuming that they were to trusted. Presuming that they were to the for a $45,000 purse, without having desited any money to insure their appearance, or the Coney Island Club being aranteed that the fight would be what y were paying for, it is reasonable to be we that the speculation would not turn a satisfactority. When a $45,000 purse is ided up equally, each portion still reasonable to fix a fight for inducements a mently so large.

Can Play Football Sunday.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6 .- [Special.]-Judge Horto vesterday dissolved the temporary injunc-tion secured by Christopher Weatherson from Judge Orr restraining the Gaelic Athletic Association from holding Sunday games at the Indiana avenue and Thirty-seventh street grounds, Several depositions were introduced in evidence in which it appears that some of the witnesses were asked pears that some of the witnesses were asked if they went to church, etc. "I don't want any religion thrown into this case, for this coart does not recogn'ze religion on the bench," said the Court. After arguments were made the Court held that the companion was not entitled to an injunction mitl the final hearing of the case, and when it was shown that the Sunday playing was a misance. The mature was referred to Master Butler to take testinony, and meanwhile there is nothing to prevent the association from holding its athletic games on Sunday

A Promising Billiardist. Portland (Oregon) billiard expert, arrived Chicago yesterday morning. Harrison was introduced to a 5x10 table, the first he had ever seen. He tried to play on it and got lost. In the afternoon he played with got lost. In the afternoon he played with Tom Gailagher and made more points than the latter. He has been making averages of from 1't to B at 18'; inch line on 4x8 tables, but modestly says: "I am a good player where I come from, but my head isn't swelled on that account, and I don't think I'll class very high in Ghicago. I have come here to see what I can learn. If I ves can't improve my game, I'll have to go lack where I can be a champion among poor players." Harrison has a neat stroke and a good idea or the game, and is certainly one of the most promising young players who ever visited Chicago.

Want Professional Fighters. The Columbia Athletic Club, of Washington, it is said, contemplates holding a series of professional fights in its house this winter. Upon a previous occasion the members of this club determined by a vote that they should not hold such exhibitions, and it is now understood that if the question is de-termined in the negative this time a great many members will resign. The proposed more seems to be slumby for linancial cassors and athletic clubs seem to have de-
