PITTSBURG DISPATCH, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1892. FULLEST AND BEST RETURNS FROM DISPATCH ADLETS

Mr. Schermerhorn Again Makes a Gree Geological Discovery.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 .- F. B. Schermerhorn geologist of the World's Fair bureau, who geologist of the World's Fair bureau, who recently discovered the great glaciers in Idaho county, has found a fossil forest in the center of Custer county.

In the same locality he has discovered the petrified bones of a now extinct race of men and animals, which will be sent to Chicago.

The forest covers an aera of four square miles, and the condition of the ground shows that at one time an enormous flow of clay, which worked in from the northwest, clay, which worked in from the northwest, has buried the tree trunks to a great depth. This clay has turned to stone, and no one can be certain of its true depth without going to great expense. All the trees in this torest have their tops broken off and stand from 10 to 40 feet above the ground, averaging about 28 to the acre.

Schermerhorn took the exact measurement of all the trees and found them to average 12 feet in diameter on top and 16 feet in diameter at the surface of the ground. How far the trunk reached through the clay and stone to the soil he had no means of ascertaining. A branch which had become detached from a tree, and was lying about 16 feet from it, was three feet in diameter.

From the size of the trees and their branches Mr. Schermerhorn thinks they are a species of redwood such as is found in California, and he attributes their fossilization to the clay, which, bearing a large part of mineral, and presumanly coming from some volcano, soon turned the living trees into monuments of stone.
