The latest returns indicate that Ohio and Wisconsin are both in the Democratic column. Republican gains in Nebraska apparently take that State from the Weaver list, while on the other hand the Populists now claim North Dakota as theirs. These changes make the Electoral College stand as follows: CLEVELAND.....

The efficial figures will hardly change this result.

FIGURING AND GUESSING.

Both Parties Still Claiming It-The Republicans Not Nearly So Ready to Concede the State as They Were on Wednesday-The Apparent Democratic Plurality Less 'than 700-How S. M. Taylor's Vote Was Kept Within Halling Distance of Harrison's. [SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.]

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 10 .- The Republican chances in Ohio have improved greatly during the past 24 hours. From the wreckage and debris of seeming defeat, the dilanidated form of Victory is possibly rising. To be sure, the old fellow is perched on a wooden leg, his arm done up in a sling, his head wrapped up with bandages, but his familiar features are scarcely to be mistaken. The old boy looks rather forlorn, and shows signs of rough usage. One of his cont-tails (the Congressional) has been entirely torn off, there are many vicious tears in his clothes, which show the bruised and bleeding skin, but he still has good respiration. It is now claimed that the Republican Presidental and State tickets have been elected,

This morning Chairman Dick sent out telegrams to the different county chairmen, requesting them to send in the official returns by wire. The announcement in the papers this morning that Ohio was in doubt was a great surprise to the people of the State.

Consternation in the Party Ranks. It spread consternation in the ranks of the Republicans, and was, in fact, the sensation of the country. The result was that the committeemen of both parties, realizing the importance of accurate and reliable news, set to work to learn the exact situation in their respective counties. The votes were carefully canvassed and the returns telegraphed to

Columbus as soon as completed. The official returns began to come in about noon and were favorable to the Republicans from the first. The official count showed gains over the estimates made by Chairman Dick Wednesday. As the gains were small, but continued, it was claimed that the Presidental and State ticket would pull through. The Republicans caught their second wind and began to work with a will. Chairman Dick, Joe Smith, Hon. S. M. Taylor and others kept tab at the Neil House. At 8 o'clock they were claiming that S. M. Taylor had a plurality of 1,700, and that the Harrison electors were elected by a little less figure. Democrats Start a Fraud Cry. Secretary Hyman, Colonel W. A. Taylor, Al Carlisle and others were at the Democratic headquarters. Both parties claimed

When the Democrate heard the Republicans were claiming the State by 1,700, they became exceedingly suspicious, and started the cry of "fraud." Colonel Tay-lor, with his usual tact, tried to spring a sensation by publicly announceing that he had positive information that word had been sent to 50 of the counties in the State, by the Republicans, to count him out. The Colonel's "positive information" soon proved a roorback, as the Republicans, to the country of the colone of the country o licans discovered an error of an even thousand in their footings and announced the same immediately. This reduced the nominal Republican plurality to 700. Of this 700 there was a discrepancy in the returns from Hamilton county. S. M. Taylor led the Harrison electors there by 500, and this did not seem possible.

The Figures Not Compared Alike. · It should be explained here that the Democrats based there estimates on the vote for the Cleveland electors, while the Republicans based theirs upon the vote for S. M. Taylor. The Demoseemed anxious to secure crats their Presidental electors, and were claiming their election when they practically con-for ex-Governor Campbell for a place in Cleveland's Cabinet, and this may have had some bearing on the stubborn claims that the Democratic electors were chosen.

While Colonel Taylor claimed his election by pluralities varying from 500 to 1,500 during the afternoon, he announced privately that he did not care to give up a good salary on a newspaper for a poor one as Secretary of State; that he considered it glory enough for him to think that he had reduced the Republican plurality in Ohio in a Presidental year so that it would require the official count to decide. How ever, he believed he was elected, and intended to take his office if he was.

Bound to Be a Discrepancy. With the Democrats estimating their plurality on Clevelend's vote and the Republicans on S. M. Taylor's it is evident there would be a discrepancy between the two. It appears that S. M. Taylor ran a little ahead of the Harrison vote. This is accounted for from the fact that Mr. Taylor's friends made personal appeals for him in many localities. It was thought many Democratic soldiers would vote for Harrison, thereby causing Taylor to fall several thousand votes short. It was his ambition to keep in sight of the Harrison vote, and the efforts along this line seem to have landed him several hundred votes ahead. At 6 o'clock about half of the counties had sent in their official returns, and S. M. Taylor was holding his own.

It looked for a time as if there might be a split electoral elected. It was found that in some counties the first elector on the list ran ahead of the others. In Warren county the first elector on the Republican ticket ran 39 votes ahead, while in Coshocton one of the Democratic electors ran six ahead.

How the Electors' Vote Varied. This might be due to two reasons; first, that the voters made a mistake and placed their cross in front of the first name instead of in the circle; and second, personal friends might have voted for certain electors in

At 12 o'clock to-night the Republicans are feeling jubilant and claiming a victory. Chairman Dick stated he had received the official returns from 54 counties, and had heard unofficially from the chairmen of the remaining 34 counties. The official returns, with the unofficial, which in nearly every case were correct, gave S. M. Taylor a plurality of 1,540. He thought there would be little variation from that and a plurality of over 1,000 for Harrison.

At midnight the Democratic committee gave out the following statement: "Figures at hand indicate a small Democratic plurality. We think it proper to await the official figures for final result. In justice to our party friends and the public we hope they will have patience with us to await the offi cial count.'

The members of the Democratic commit tee are claiming 600 or 700 plurality.

TROUBLE IN CONNECTICUT.

Republicans Threaten to Keep Judge Mor ris Out of the Governorship.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 10.-[Special.]-Chairman Herbert E. Benton, of the Republican State Central Committee, is authority for the statement that Judge Morris has not been elected Governor of this State, having failed to receive a majority of all of the ballots cast for that office. Judge Morris' majority is claimed by the Democrats to be about 1,300, and this was conceded by the Republicans until this afternoon, when it was alleged that he fell short of a majority by about 400 votes. The Republicans claim is based on the statement that in Bridgeport and many other towns that in Bridgeport and many other towns throughout the State ballots which failed to have the heading "Republican" or "Democratic" printed at the top were thrown out and not counted, when they should have been counted as among the scattering votes.

If the Republicans force their claim, and the House refuses to seat Morris, or an attempt is made to seat General Merwin, the same state of affairs may arise as happened two years ago. The Democrats are exand say that it is no longer a question of what Republicans may attempt to do, but what they (Democrats) will dare to do. As near as can be ascertained there were about 20,000 votes cast in the State. Osborn (D.), Governor-elect, has 2,500 majority. Caffen (D.), Congressman-elect, has 1,000 majority over Clark, the most popular Republican in the State. Chairman Vandeventer, of the Republican committee, concedes the Legislature to the Democrats. This will insure a Democratic United States Senator.

Democrats reduced their plurality of 4,000. Until the official canvass is made the exact plurality cannot be definitely when the Democrats heard the Republistated. All four of the Democratic candidates for Congress are elected by pluralities ranging from 200 to 1,000. R. B. Dovenor, the Republican candidate in this, the First district, to-night concedes the re-election of Pendleton by 200. Senator Faulkner will succeed himself in the United States Senate as the Legislature will have a Demoate, as the Legislature will have a Demo-cratic majority of 14 members.

PITTSBURG,

WEAVER GETS KANSAS.

He Carries the Entire State Populite Ticket

Along With Him. TOPEKA, KAN., Nov. 10 .- [Special.]-Complete returns from 90 counties and reports from the rest of the State clearly indicate that Kansas has been carried by the Fusionists for Weaver, and that the entire People's party State ticket is successful by majorities ranging from 1,500 to 5,000. This includes also the election of W. H. Harris, Fusion candidate for Congressman at Large. The Republicans elect Congressmen as follows: Broderick, First district; Funston. Second district, and Curtis, Fourth district. Funston's majority is so small that it may be overcome by the official vote or dissipated by a contest before the Election Committee of Congress. The ing their election when they practically conceded the defeat of the State ticket. Ohio Democrats would be more solid with the incoming Cleveland administration if the Ohio electoral vote was on the Cleveland side.

Incidentally there was a boom started for ex-Governor Campbell for a place in tion the majority on joint ballot insures the election of a Republican to the United States Senate for the unexpired term of Senator Plumb.

The success of the People's party in Kansas this year is largely due to the fusion with the Democrata. The Republicans have gained probably 40,000 over the vote two years ago, but this was offset by the Demo-oratic aid given to the Populists this year. Massachusetts Republicans Told to Be Sure They're Beaten.

Boston, Nov. 10 .- The following letter has been sent to the Chairmen of the Republican Town Committees throughout the State by the Republican State Committee: The vote of the State for Governor is so close that it is considered wise to have a recount, so that the people may be sure that when the final result is announced it is absolutely correct. We enclose a petitio which it is necessary to have signed by ten which it is necessary to have signed by ten legal voters of your town, or if your town is divided into precincts there must be ten signers who are legal voters of each precinct. We ask for this recount in no partisan spirit, but where the vote is so large and the margin so narrow it is absolutely necessary that all doubt as to who is elected Governor should be forever removed. This petition must be filed with the City or Town Clerk within six days next following the day of election. Will you please, therefore, have the enclosed petition properly signed at once and filed with the Town or City Clerk by Monday at latest?

ILLINOIS' AWFUL BREAK.

The Plurality for Cleveland Will Be Something Like 20,000.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 .- Six hundred and ninety-three voting precincts in a total of 710 outside of Cook county give Harrison 139,303, Cleveland 127,507. The vote on Governor is very close to these figures, Altgeld running a little behind Cleveland, and Fifer ahead of Harrison. Cook county has given Cleveland a plurality of 32,000, and Altgeld one of 30,000. The remaining precincts cannot alter the result, and it is safe to say that Cleveland has the State by 20,000 and Altgeld by 17,000.

The Republicans in this county have plucked a brand from the burning by the defeat of Van Prang for the State Legislature. That and the victory of Aldrich in the First Congressional district are all they have to content them.

OMAHA, NEB., Nov. 10 .- [Special.]-The latest returns on the Legislative situation give the Democrats one more member in the House on joint ballot, The Independents and Democrats, with their strength almost equally divided, will have seven majority ver the Republicans.

The United States Senator will be a Fusion man. It lies between General Van Wyck, Independent, possibly Governor Boyd, and Hon. J. Sterling Morton, Demo-crat—very likely one of the three.

CALIFORNIA DEMOCRATIC.

The Plurality for Cleveland Will Not Be Less Than 2,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10 .- [Special.]-As the returns come in California will be Democratic by at least 2,000 and the Legislature will elect a Democratic Senator to succeed Felton. The city fight is not decided yet, but from the gains made by Ellert, non-partisan, he will probably win, beating O'Donnell, the anti-Chinese crank, by a few hundred votes.

NOT ALARMISTS.

No Calamity Croakers Found Among New York Merchants.

All Think They Can Stand a Second Term of Grover as Well as They Did the First-Injurious Legislation by Congress Not Seriously Anticipated-The Tariff to Be Tinkered, but a Gradual Reduction Is Anticipated-Financial and Commercial Interests of the Country Too Solid to Be Easily Disturbed by a Change of Administration.

SEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR, 1 NEW YORK. Nov. 10.-Now that the Democrats have secured complete control of the National Legislative and Executive Departments, the question arises what will be the effect on the business interests of the country of the change in administration? Reporters of THE DISPATCH interviewed to-day many representative men engaged in business and finance. All were requested to express their views as to the effect on the money market and the business of the country. The men interviewed were selected without reference to their politics.

President Tappan, of the Gallatin Na-tional Bank, said: "I do not expect any egislation injurious to the business interests of the country. If there is any change in the tariff it will, in my opinion, be gradual, and of such a character as not to njure business. The stock market has not been affected in the slightest degree as yet, and I do not believe it will be.

President Galloway, of the Merchants' Bank, said: "I guess this country is big enough to stand all that comes along. I cannot undertake to define the policy of the Democratic party upon the tariff, but I do not think it will be so changed as to damage the business interests of the country." Not Alarmists of Any Sort.

Vice President Porter, of the Chase National Bank, who is in charge during President Cannon's absence, said: "We are all Republicans down here, you know. Still, we are not alarmists. I do not believe that business will be unsettled by the lieve that business will be unsettled by the change to any extent. Any falling off in the value of securities because of the change will be merely temporary. I do not believe that the Democrats will do anything radical about the tariff. They may make some reductions gradually, but not such as to injure any great interests priously. No party would dare do anything to affect the business of the country."

President F. O. French, of the Manhattan Trust Company, who is also a Republican.

Trust Company, who is also a Republican, said: "I am glad to see that the Democrats have it all their own way. They ought to be able to give us the millenium for the next four years. If they don't we'll put them out at the end of their term. Cleveland didn't have a fair show the last time. land didn't have a fair show the last time, b-ing checked by the Senate. Now he can play his hand without hindrance. play his hand without hindrance. I do not apprehend any trouble, because I know there are many sensible men among the Democrats, and I believe that they will see to it that the business interests of the country are not injured. I suppose they will tinker with the tariff, somewhat. We will probably go back to the tariff which existed before the McKinley bill, and which was really very satisfac-tory. The force bill issue undoubtedly tory. The force bill issue helped the Democrats greatly."

Cleveland Not Exactly Experimental. President Dickerman, of the New York Stock Exchange, is a Cleveland man. He said: "We had tour years of Mr. Cleveland's rule and business was not ruined. My opinion is that people do not expect it to be ruined now. The way they voted would indicate that. So far as Wall street is con-cerned the thing that would affect us most is the currency, and upon that there is no sounder man in the country than Mr. Cleveland. The market is stronger to-day, and I have been unable to find any alarm anywhere. The general security holder is not disturbed, and I have not learned of anybody who wanted to part with securities less than the market price."

John E. Seatles, Jr., Secretary of the American Sugar Refineries Company, said: "I do not think any party would dare do anything that would materially disturb the country. The country is prosperity of the country. The country is too great to allow the upsetting of any of its industries, and the party that attempted it would come to grief."

The Second Vice President of the Farm-The Second Vice President of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company said he would not attempt to speak for the company, but his personal opinion was that business would be improved. "The verdict of the people," he said, "is that the Republican party has gone too far in favoring individuals at the expense of the country

Some Time Wanted to Get Together. Evan P. Thomas, President of the Produce Exchange, said: "The business men that I have talked with think that the result is a good thing for the country."
"You'll have to give me a little time to get my bearings," said President John M. Crane, of the National Shoe and Leather "I don't just know where we Bank. I am only just pulling myself to-Mr. Crane was one of the belated Repub-

the country is safe."

William J. Quinlan, cashier of the Chemical National Bank, said: "Oh, I expect that undoubtedly everything will go along all right. I don't look for any change whatever in the flow of the country's prosperity. Mr. Cleveland is a safe, levelheaded man. He is not going to do anything rash. I don't speak with any political bias, for I don't interest myself in politics. My opinion is just what I think from my knowledge and the probabilities. The financial interests and business of the country are solid." try are solid."

No Effect on the Railroads President Robert M. Oliphant, of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company, said: "I see no reason why the result should have then business will be interfered with, no doubt, but that is not certain. They may take advantage of the prosperity which the McKinley bill insures. Possibly they will think later on that they had something to do with passing it. The only bad effect will be if people who are contemplating inwill be if people who are contemplating increase in business and believing the Democratic party means to repeal the tarifi laws fail to go ahead with their plans. In our own business we shall go just as slow on contemplated improvements as possible, until we see what is going to happen."

Francis B. Thurber, of Thurber, Whyland & Co., said: "We must be governed to some extent by the opinions of others, and a majority of the people have confidence in the party they have put in power. All general conditions are favorable to business—another exhibition of Cleveland's luck."

No Immediate Cause for Fear.

Julius Catlin, the head of the firm of Catlin & Co., commission merchants in woolen and drygoods, said: "We cannot tell for more than a year yet what Congress will do. I do not think there is any immediate cause for apprehension or trouble. If the Democratic party is true to its declarathe Democratic party is true to its declaration, and tinkers with the tariff, the price of industrial stocks and securities is bound

Eleven of the Thirteen Congressme

Claimed by the Democrats. INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 10 .- [Special.]-Only 15 counties have reported officially, and the figures do not materially vary from first reports made to the Democratic State Committee. Cleveland's plurality will be about 8,000, but the Democratic State Committee positively asserts that it will run up to 10,000.

Democrats continue to claim 11 out of the 13 Congressmen. The Republicans claim two additional, Twiname, of the First, and Johnson, in the Tenth. Dispatches late to-night settle that Taylor, Democrat Dispatches is elected in the First district. In the Tenth, Johnson, Republican, does not con-cede Hammond's election, but says the result is in doubt, with the chances even. Hammond claims a majority of 55.

The Democratic Lead Over the Republicans in the Lower House of Congress-An Analysis of the Result by Sections -Latest Calculations.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 .- An analysis of the Congressional election returns shows that, with returns missing from 20 districts, in which the result is either entirely unknown or is very close, the Democrats have elected to seats in the House of Representatives for the Fifty-third Congress 88 more Representatives than the Republicans. This majority does not include nine memberselect who are classified as either Fusion or Third party men, nearly every one of whom will act with the Democrats in any proposed reduction of tariff taxes. Their support, with the additional strength the Democrats are certain to derive from secur-ing some of the 20 districts put in the unknown column, makes it conservative to estimate that the Democrats will have a majority of 100 members or more on the most important question likely to come before the next House of Representatives, viz: A revision of the McKinley tariff law. against the progressive policies of publican party.

Expected to Be Called Immediately After the Inauguration.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. - The strong probability of an extra session of Congress immediately following the inauguration of the President-elect is a subject of general conversation in Washington to-day. A special session of the Senate is always called at the beginning of a new administration to confirm the members of the Cabinet and the new diplomatic representatives of the United States abroad. But the present election having turned on questions of domestic policy, it is said to be obvious to experienced political leaders of all parties that an extra session of both Houses of Congress will almost inevitably result. Secretary of the Treasury Foster, among

Secretary of the Treasury Foster, among others, admits this. The country, he says, challenged the judgment of the Republicans on the McKinley bill, and the result must be accepted as the will of the people that a different policy shall be put into effect. Ex-Secretary Bayard writes to a friend here to like effect, adding that the people will expect this to be done without unnecessary delay. unnecessary delay.

Mr. Wanamaker's Fondness for Chestnuts-An Unpleasant Duty for Secretary Charles Foster-Private Secretary Halford Has a Task About as Unenviable-A Warm Welcome Awaiting the Clevelands at the National Capital-The Whitneys and Lamonts Not Expected to Return, Much as They Are Wanted.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 .- Postmaster General Wanamaker was eating ebestnuts this morning as his carriage wheeled into the White House grounds, shortly before 11 o'clock. Some of his political enemies might consider eating chestnuts an undignified occupation for a Cabinet officer on his way to consult the President of the United States on public business. However, that is just what he was doing, and those who are intimate with him say he is particularly fond of chestnuts.

There is a vacancy in the office of the First Assistant Postmaster General, and it is possible that Mr. Wacamaker called at the White House to-day to talk with the President about appointing a successor to General Whitfield, who resigned from the public service nearly two months ago.

As has already been stated in these dispatches, there are seven or eight Demo-erats in charge of Presidental postoffices, and it is barely possible that Mr. Wanamaker feels that in view of the result of Tuesday's election those offices should be filled at once by Republicans who remained faithful to the administration.

Charlle Foster's Unpleasant Duty. The most conspicuous caller upon the President, to-day, however, was Secretary Charles Foster. He returned to Washington this morning, and of course felt it his duty to explain to his chief why his estimates of Republican votes in the electoral college were "so many chips shy." It will be remembered that he authorized the state-ment just before he left Washington to "round up" the Republican voters in the West, that Harrison would surely carry West, that Harrison would surely carry every State except Nevada.

If Secretary Foster's political estimates are so faulty, his financial estimates for the next fiscal year may require careful revision before they are transmitted to Congress, a few weeks hence. It is probable that the President did not chide him very severely to the feel of the feel with president with president did not chide for the could be considered to the considered to the could be considered to the considered to t for the loss of Ohio, for he could, with pro-oint to Indiana and claim it is case of horse and horse."

In spite of his usually jolly disposition Secretary Charles Foster feels the defeat of his party keenly. He, like many other Republicans, sincerely believed that a majori-ty of the people in the United States were satisfied with the present condition of things and were opposed to a change of ad-ministration. He does not pretend to be able to account for the apparent collapse of the Republican party in many of its supposed strongholds. He views the situation philosophically, and quotes a remark of a colored delegate to the Minneapolis Con-vention: "Tain't no use getting cloudy when you can't rain."

Harrison Sees Nothing to Talk About, Private Secretary Halford has returned from Indiana with the announcement that the "Hoosier State" has gone Democratic by probably 5,000. Of course he made a detailed report to the President, and told the latter some things which have not yet been published. He says the President does not see the necessity for commenting publicly upon the result. Nothing he could say would change the verdict which was rendered by the voters Tuesday. Various reasons have been suggested by certain peoole, but Mr. Halford attributes the election of Mr. Cleveland to a general feeling of unrest among the people and a desire for a change in the administration, hoping that they may be personally benefited by a new deal all around. He says the President will at once go to work upon his annual message to Congress, feeling confident that he has discharged the duties imposed upon him four years ago in such a manner as to merit the approval of even his political adversaries. He has derived much comfort from the personal tribute paid to him by the Democratic press during the past 24 hours. The Losers Have to Stand Chaffing. Many of the Departmental employes who went home to vote returned to their duties to-day, and naturally were obliged to un-dergo considerable bantering from their Democratic associates. One of the striking teatures of the contest just ended is the good feeling that has prevailed among rival partisans. The Democrats are so overloyed by their sweeping victory that they can well afford to ignore their crestfallen

In official as well as social circles a cordial greeting awaits ex-Secretary Whitney, Vice President-elect Stevenson and many other gentlemen who were connected with the Cleveland administration four years ago. It is not expected that all of the ex-office holding Democrats will be restored to their places, but there is a large num-ber of them who look forward to coming back to Washington with delight. Mr. Whitney and General Stevenson are per-haps two of the most popular officials who were connected with the Washington end o the Cleveland administration. The former easily outranked any member of the adeasily outranked any member of the administration so far as social entertainments are concerned, and he also made a record for himself as Secretary of the Navy which will not soon be forgoiten. The navy would gladly welcome him back to the Navy Department, so that he might constructing navy tinue the good work of constructing new warships and placing that branch of the service to the front among maritime na-

Local Stocks Take a Jump. Among local business men the prospects of a change in the administration does not occasion such a depression as was predicted by many stump orators. On the contrary, it is hailed with pleasant anticipations. Local stocks took a jump to-day, and went several points higher than they have been for several months.

In social circles the one great topic of speculation is the second coming of Mrs. Cleveland. During her absence from Washington her popularity has not diminished a particle. Here is the way the Star refers to her: Mrs. Cleveland will return to Washington with as happy anticipations as those in which the President-elect has such good
