A HUNDRED YEARS OLD

Monongabela City Bedecks Herself in Bunting in Honor of Historical Addresses Are Made by Brainy Men of the Town.

INTERESTING RELICS ARE EXHIBITED

Monongahela City was crowded with visitors yesterday. The occasion was the hundredth anniversary of the founding of the town. Just one hundred years ago Joseph Parkinson held an auction sale of a plan of lots which he had laid out. The sale was not very successful, but it gave Williamsport, as Monongahela City was then called, a boom. The town was founded, and ever since has been making rapid strides forward. Monongahela City has been called by three different names during the various stages of its progress. First it was Parkinson's Landing; then, when the town was laid out, Joseph Parkinson changed its name to Williamsport, in honor of his son; and later it was given the name it now Monongabela City wore its brightest garb vesterday. The decorations, which had been made for the Democratic demonstration of the night before, were made more elaborate during the day so that every house in the town displayed the red, white and blue. The celebration of the one hundredth birthday of the town was a spontaneous affair. No one seemed to be making any extraordinary efforts in working the matter up, yet when the time came the result was as satisfactory as could be

The Committee of Arrangements. The committee who had the ceremonies in charge was composed of A. R. Parkinson, J. B. Findlay, T. H. Baird, Colonel

A. R. Parkinson, Descendant of the Founder of Monongaheta City.

Chill Hazzard, T. V. Lawrence, Dr. J. G. Sloan, G. A. Lynn, Dr. H. J. Gamble, Colonel W. J. Alexander and Dr. J. S. Vanvoorhis. The arrangements for the entertainment of the great number of invited guests were perfect. In fact the town folks of Monongahela City are so hospital that the door of every home was thrown open to receive the guests. What was lacking in the outward show of jollity was more than made up by the happy scenes in the households.

Friends met vesterday who had not seen each other for 30 and 40 years. All the old residenters who once resided in the town residenters who once resided in the town were out in full force. The great number of those good old faces, which are seen so seldom now except in old pictures, was particularly noticeable. Monongahela City being within that wonderful fertile field for brains and brawn, Washington county contributes very largely to the number of noted men that have emanated from it. The citizens are proud of the great minds that have been nurtured in their midst and talk by the hour of their great men's achievements.

The Programme for the Day. The programme as arranged for the exercises of the day was as follows:

MORNING SESSION 10 O'CLOCK. AFTERNOON SESSION 2 O'CLOCK.

B. Woods, who, in well-chosen words, welcomed the visitors to the city. He said it was an opportunity that should not be lost, for the people who at one time lived in the city to come and renew the ties of their youth and look upon the scenes of their childhood.

A General and Genial Welcome

After speaking about the ancestors of the people of Monongahela City, he said to the audience: "Now, if you are hungry, let us know, and we will give you as much as you can eat; if you need money, let us know, and we will give you all you want-of course at the regular rate of interest and upon good security. We welcome you one and all." Dr. Van Voorhis was then introduced and occupied the remainder of the forenoon, giving the history of Monongahela City from the time that Abraham Decker Isid claim to the land in 1769 down to the pres-

In speaking of Parkinson, the founder of the town, Dr. Van Voorhis said: "In early life Parkison was a tall, bony, muscular man, dressed rather fashionable in the costume of the day, with knee buckles and shoe buckles, such as these. In his older days he wore side whiskers and the well-known queue of the times. Some of the older citens can recall him changed to an old, bent in form man, sitting on the porch, trembling with nearly a century of years and waiting the summons to pass through the gate to the beyond. Instead of neglect marking his grave, the citizens should long since have erected over it a monument in commemory tion of his deeds of daring in establishing the town in a wilderness, now a garden of ever blooming flowers."

The Centennial Parade,

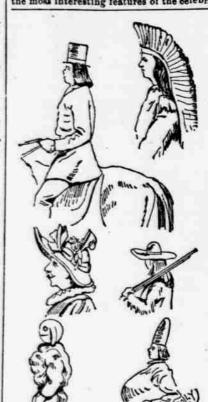

After the singing of an anthem by the Choral Society the morning session came to an end. Between the morning and afternoon session a parade was held. It consisted of a large number of men mounted on horses dressed as Indians, trappers and in other grotesque costumes.

The afternoon session opened with the reading of letters from invited guests who could not be present. Letters were read from Ex-President Hayes, Governor Pattison. Governor McKinley, Hon. J. B. Find-lay, Judge McElvaine, General Louis Wagner, Dr. Noss, Rev. Dr. Campbell, Judge Ewing, Clark T. Grant and many others. Hon. Boyd Crumrine, formerly reporter of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, then treating the subject of the history of Westmoreland county in a clear, terse manner.

Win. J. Alexander followed with a comprehensive history of the whisky insurrection.
Dr. Maxwell then gave a full history of the churches of Monongahela City. After careful research he compiled a most interesting paper. The programme was then followed as given above.

The loan exhibition of relies was one of the most interesting features of the celebra-

An original copy of the Declaration of Independence, old portraits, kitchen utensils, pottery, spinning wheels, everyone over 100 years old, were exhibited. that I am not doing Justice unless my testi-mony is added to others. I have been suf-fering with sick vomiting spells for three or four years, with giddiness, and was most of the time almost perfectly prostrated. I had no appetite, and suffered also with neuralgia in my head and eyes. I was treated for two years by the best physician in town and by other doctors, but Found No Relief.

At Last

I was persuaded to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after using four bottles, my improvement in health is wonderful. I candidly helieve I am cured of all my amments. My appetite is good, can eat any time, am free from neuralgia and other troubles.
