GENERAL SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] CHICAGO, Nov. 16 .- Little business was transacted by the Board of the National League and American Association of Professional Baseball Clubs at the Hotel Richelieu to-day, with these members present: Hart, Chicago; Von der Ahe, St. Louis; Von der Horst, Baltimore; Brush, Cincinnati; Elliott, Washington; Soden, Boston, and N. E. Young, Washington. On motion of Hart the pennant was formally awarded to Boston. The Chicago Baseball club presented a claim of $267 against the Pittsburg club for money due for the transfer of games at the close of the season, but was allowed only $255, which the Smoky City club was ordered to pay. Perhaps the most important business was the adjusting of the claims of Pittsburg against Washington and Cleveland. Both the clubs named forfeited games to Pittsburg and the local management sought to enforce the rule which provides for a fine of $1,000 for such offense. No attempt was sade to mulet the New York club, which slso was charged with such an offense. The directors voted that the Washington club pay Pittsburg $1,000, but immediately afterward remitted $750 of the fine and sustained the decision of the umpire in awarding the game to Pittsburg.

The Senators Will Pay $250.

As things stand Washington will ante up $250, and the Pittsburg treasury will be enriched that amount. By mutual consent the Pittsburg-Cieveland controversy was dropped. The two clubs played a tie game at Pittsburg, October 11, and the Pittsburg management claimed a fine of $1,000 because the Spiders, who had an engagement at home, rejused to play off the following law. The Cincinnati club was ordered to pay the

The Cincinnati club was ordered to pay the Pittsburg club $20 41. Carroll, who was fined heavily by the St. Louis club for allowing a ball to slide into his pocket, appealed the case to the board, but no action was taken. After considering other matters of importance, the board, at 5 30 o'clock, adjourned.

Then President Young called the annual meeting of the League to order. Those present were: Boston, A. H. Soden and M. H. Connat; New York, John B. Day and Pat rowers; Brocklyn, Charles A. HARVARDS ST PRACTICE.

They Are Working Hard to Down the Yale

Team on Saturday. Boston, Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Yesterday af-ternoon the Harvard football team began the weary routine of work on the Soldiers' Field. As only three days are left before the Yale game, the coachers improved every minus of the time and did their best o improve some of the weak points in the

The players themselves were not particularly discouraged at the game which they saw Yale play on Saturday, and a number of them expressed a belief that Harvard would make a good showing against her New Haven rival even if the latter won the game on the 19th.

The playing of the Harvard men yesterday was lairly encouraging to the conchers, who think the men all feel better after the who think the men all feel better after the trip to New York and the change of scene brought with it. More snap and life were shown in yesterday's practice than for some time before, but even now the Harvard game is a very slow one, compared with that which Yale plays.

Every effort has been made to strengthen the center, the weakness of which is generally recognized, but no changes have been made in the arrangement of the men, and the statement that Waters has been changed from left to right guard is not true.

It is generally felt at Cambridge that Harvard is weak in ground gainers. Besides the three backs, Waters, is the only man who runs with the ball, and he is not able to do much in that way, as his regular work at guard takes about all the strength he has.

GOOD FOR THE CRAFTONS.

They Defeat the Shadysides in a Very Good

Football Game. An exceedingly interesting Rugby football game was played at Brushton yesterday afternoon between the Crafton team and the team of the Shadyside Academy. The contest was just about as exciting as any seen here for a long time, and although the Craftons are a newly organized lot they defeated the Shadysides by 10 to 8. The playing of Heisey, McCain, Barrett, Foster, Dannal and Scull for the winners was very good. The tackling of Foster and passing back by Dannals are worthy of particular mention. Hartley, for the Shadyside, played capital football. The attendance was good. The teams lined up as follows:

"SANDY" GRISWOLD cruelly remarks anent the accident to 'Pig' Ward, who was upset in a run-away: "They say there is a dent in the curbstone where his head struck big enough to hide a chest protector in." A: THOUGH the coachers are reticent about the general style of play which is being developed in the secret practice, it has transpired that owing to the light weight of her backs, Harvard will depend largely on the gains around the end.

largely on the gains around the end.

SPEAKING of the "kite-shaped diamond," Harry Diddlebock says: "No radical innovation is necessary to popularize the game. As played now, baseful is the ideal game, and any plan to lengthen the sport, as this would, would not make it either more exciting or more popular. The game is all right."

Ball players are not in love with football. Jack O'Connor and Ed. McKean saw the battle in Cleveland last Saturday, and after the doctor got through putting patches on the battered up heroes they concluded that they would rather catch high flies and steal bases. Professional football! Not in a hundred years!

THE Yale team commenced Tuesday to practice tricks in earnest, using some of the newly devised ones both in the regular practice against the "serub" team, and rehearing more still in the secret practice for members of the first eleven only in the evening. The team practiced yesterday for the last time before the Harvard game.

So confident is Yale that she will whip off the football pennant this year-she is betting 3 to 1 on it. And Harvard money is frightfully scarce at that. The latter's consolation seems to be only that Penns Itania did not put up the usual strong game she is capable of last saturday with Yale. Pennsy played a pretty strong game just the same, and one that Harvard would have to work mighty hard to excel.

THERE is a possibility that within a few day Eddle Pierce, of the Nonparell Athletic Club, will be matched to fight Jack Skelly, of Brooklyn, at Coney Island. Since Skelly made his offer to meet any man from 118 to 125 pounds for a purse and a side bet of $2,500. Pierce's friends have been considering the proposition, and, it is said, regard it with favor. The two would make an interesting fight, and there is no doubt that Pierce would give a good account of himself.

STRAIGHT STAGE TIPS.

Mr. WILLARD showed some new phases of his genius in "John Needham's Double" at the Duquesne last night. The play is by Joseph Hatton, the author of the book o the same name. It is almost a monologue, and with any but an actor of the first class in the terribly trying double role, it would in the terribly trying double role, it would seem a mighty poor play no doubt. But Mr. Williard makes the single character, for the duplex character becomes one before the play is half over, so intensely interesting, so horribly real, that the fact that the other actors are mere shadows in the background, does not appear extraordinary at all. The story involves the murder of a country gentleman by a rascally financier, who resembles his victim in a most remarkable degree, and who conocals himself for a while under the respectable identity of the murdered man. The gradual development of a moderately bad man into a thorough-paced villain is superbly portrayed by Mr. Willard, and the horror of the bloody deed and the terror of the Bloody deed and horror of the bloody deed and the terror of the murderer both take hold of the audience. It is altogether unlike anything that Mr. Willard has done here; for he has to do without the sympathies of his audience. The artistic value of the performance is all the greater for these unfavorable conditions, and Mr. Willard's triumph last night was as great as any he has achieved in pleasanter roles. The company supporting Mr. Willard filled in the background. That was all they had to do. Miss Burroughs contrived to get a flash of fire into the final scene with her brother's assassin. To-night "The Middleman" will be repeated. The audience last night was a grand one, and Mr. Willard was called cut a ter every act, and even at the final curtain.

Wilson Barrett, with a good company and plenty of gorgeous scenery and cos-tumes, will be the attraction of the Duquesne Theater next week in "Hamlet." Dr. Bingaman's Bid for Government Property on Penn Avenue Befused.

For the third time in a year the Government property at Penn avenue and Garrison alley was offered for sale at public auction yesterday. The act authorizing the sale was read and John H. the delivery of the deed.

The bidding, which was very tame, started at $150,000 and by $1,000 bids was increased to $175,000, from which it went by $500 bids to $205,500. The last amount was offered by Dr. Bingaman, but the property was not sold. Mr. Bailey announced the limit of the Government was $225,000 and they held the right to reject any or all bids.

The sale was then adjourned until further notice. Dr. Bingaman, when seen after the sale, said he was acting for a number of private people, whose object in making the purchase was to improve the property and erect business houses.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

David M. Brodie, of Allegheny, Dies at His Office From Worry and Overwork.

David M. Brodie, of the firm of Dyer & Brodie, real estate agents, at Federal and Lacock streets, Allegheny, was found dead in a room adjoining his office shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr. Brodie had been in poor health for the past four months, brought on by worrying over the deaths of three of his children, who have all died within a few months, and added to this was a great amount of hard work he had to perform in the office. About an hour before his death, Mr. Brodie com-plained to Mr. Dyer of not feeling well, and went into the little room adjoining his office. He remained there so long Mr. Dyer went in to see what kept him, and found him dead. His body was still warm, and a physician was called, who, upon examination, said that the cause of his death was heart failure, superinduced by worry and overwork.

Coroner McDowell was notified, and an inquest will be held this morning.

ABOUT WOMEN.

Interesting Facts In Regard To Their Peculiarities.

In Many Ways They Have More Nerve Than Men-

Strange Compound of Timidity and Women are nervous. There is no doubt of that, but are they more nervous than men? The nervous sys-tem of women is much more delicate, more highly strung, more finely tensioned than that of men. This renders them capable of higher pleasures and deeper sorrows than is possible with man. Men have a greater brute bravery, more intrepidity, boldness and daring, but women, weaker physically by far, greatly excel men in moral ourage, spirit, fortitude, patience, and endurance of pain and grief.

Suffering or pain that a woman would scarcely heed will often make a big, strong man howl. Surgeons tell us that women will readily suffer pain in the endurance of operations which nine men out of ten would find unbearable. Men always make the

But it is because their nerves have become weakened and prostrated.

They are not well; something is wrong with them and they must have a renewal of nerve strength, power and vigor.

A case in point was that of Mrs. Lila C.
Root, who lives at 36 Elm St., New Bedford, Mass. Naturally endowed with strong and steady nerves, she was brought to such a weak condition by disease that she almost lost control of her nerves, even going so far as to often think of taking her own life to end her sufferings.

She says in speaking of her case: "My kidneys were in a terrible state, I had awful pains in the back and side, and could not sleep at night.

"My headache was a source of great annoyance, and I suffered much at certain "Why, I felt so miserable that I often thought I would take my own life. "But I at last took that wonderful medi-cine—Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and now I am well. I cannot speak too highly of this great remedy, for it cured me of my terrible complaints. I deem it my duty to say that I think it is the best medicine in the world, and I thank God for directing me to its use." We have no doubt that many readers of our paper, whose nerves are weak, whose blood is poor, who have stomach, kidney or liver complaints, or who feel tired, pros-trated and run down in health, will accept the above as directing them to use the same wonderful medicine which effected such a have, moreover, no hesitation, it our advice and guidance is asked in the matter, to urge our suffering people to follow her example and use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.
