

WILL DECIDE TO-DAY

Another Amalgamated Meeting Called to Act on the Homestead Mill.

ACTION WILL BE FINAL

If the Works Are Not Opened the Men Threaten to Desert.

THE FIRM'S READY BOOK OF FATE.

The Record of Every Workman Kept Complete in Detail.

OLD MEN PROMISED THE VACANCIES

To-day the Amalgamated Association will meet at Homestead to decide finally whether it will open the Carnegie Company's mill to its members or not.

The sole topic for speculation in Homestead is concerning the names which are upon the book of fate.

The Company's Book of Fate.

Few know what an amount of work the Carnegie Company has gone to in preparing the blacklist.

Comprehensive one. Not only has the company looked up the records of the various men who have worked for it, but they have also examined into their character and have pretty well determined just what part each one has taken in the doings in Homestead and the striking of the strike.

Notwithstanding Supt. Selwa's notice on Friday that he would receive no more applications till Monday morning, quite a crowd of workmen awaited his coming yesterday morning.

Among those who applied during the day were some of the most prominent members of the Amalgamated Association.

One full turn of the plate mill crew applied in a body, but were told they would have to stand until some vacancies were filled.

The Carnegie Company will eventually be able to give employment to about one-half of the men who were locked out. The question then arises, and it is a serious one, what will become of the 1,500 men and boys who will never obtain work in the mill?

At best those who will be employed will have to wait a long time for their turn, and it is a question of the means of obtaining a livelihood, the condition is deplorable indeed.

What will these men do? This is the question that the people of Homestead ask, and it seems as though the only course for them to pursue is to leave the town and seek employment in other places.

It has been as if did before the strike, and it is a great number of employment. The majority of the high-priced men are in a position where they are not being able to obtain work for six months or a year would not be a hardship to them.

They Can Fill Vacancies. The Carnegie Company will give the old men the preference whenever vacancies occur. There have been a number of new men applying during the last few days at the office, but the company would not consider them.

HE WILL ACCEPT THE PLACE

And Will Assume the Duties of His New Office at Once.

SKETCH OF THE POPULAR OFFICIAL.

George W. Miller, Superintendent of Water Assessments of the city of Pittsburgh, was yesterday reappointed Collector of Internal Revenue for the Pittsburgh district by President Harrison.

On March 9, immediately after the resignation of Collector Warramcote, Mr. Miller was appointed to succeed him. The appointment was made after a bitter fight for the place in which Senator Quay, C. I. Magee and other Republican leaders locked horns.

George W. Miller, appointed for the Second Time Collector of Internal Revenue.

TO AVOID THE NEW ORDER.

The Amalgamated Association Trying to Have the Finishers Return.

The Amalgamated Association officials had little to say yesterday. Since the break at Homestead there has been little to give out and the officials are not inclined to talk much.

LOOKED LIKE A SET-UP JOB.

"I produced an affidavit that men on the ship had coached them before landing and, all in all, I think I had a very strong suspicion that they knew exactly where they were going and could get work at once. It looks like a set-up job, but the trouble is to prove it from circumstantial evidence."

THE STRIKE KILLS ANOTHER STRIKE.

The River Returns Loss Heart and May Retire to Work Again.

A dispatch from McKeesport states that as the result of a miners' meeting yesterday it has become evident that the miners' strike along the river will end next week.

THE FIRST LODGE.

The Seceding Finishers Establish a Local one on the Southside.

The organization of finishers formed by the seceding members of the Amalgamated Association, to be known as the National Association of Iron and Steel Workers, is evidently gaining headway.
