NINE YEARS OF AGE. The Railroad Branch of the Y. M. C. A. Celebrates Its Birth. A. Celebrates Its Birth.

PREPARING FOR EMERGENCIES. PREACHING THE GOSPEL.

Dr. Sutherland Talks at the Second Pres byterian Church-

At the Walurba Presbyterion Church, Wall station, yesterday atternoon the preaching Pennsylvania Railroad branch of the Young Men's Christian Association celebrated its ninth anniversary. General Secretary M. W. Callender was not prepared for the large crowd of people who came from Pittsburg and overflowed the church from the aisles to the gallery. - As a result of the large influx a great deal of diplomacy had to be exercised by the ushers so that all of the visitors could be accommodated.

The exercises, which began at 3:45 o'clock and lasted until nearly 6, were opened with that old hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." Rev. J. M. Lesher then read a scriptural lesson from the 147th Psalm, which was followed by a fervent prayer by Rev. W. B. Carr. Mr. A. T. Miller and his three little daughters sang "The Ransom of the Lord," and then came the reading of the annual report by William McIntyre. After a hymn entitled "Throw Out the Life Line" had been sung by the entire congregation, Walker C. Douglas, of Philadelphia, was introduced to the assemblage.

To Mr. Douglas fell the honor of delivering the anniversary address. The speaker confined himself to the great and good work that had been accomplished by establishing railroad branches to the Young Men's Christian Association. He gave an account of the work in its infancy, showed the progress that had been made and claimed that in the near future Christian Endeavor among railroad men would reach far beyond the greatest expectations of the present. Mr. Douglas interspersed his remarks with several good anecdotes to illustrate his talk and to make it more thoroughly understood by his heavers. During Mr. Douglas' address the congregation one soment gave way to laughter and the next moment they were in tears.

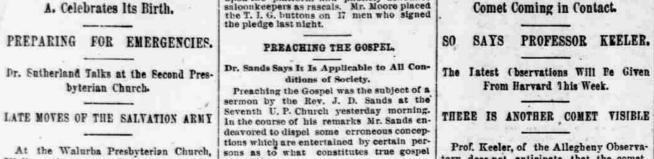

President Robinson, of the Central Asso-ciation, Robert Pitcairn and Mr. Jeffreys chaiton, kopert rhoatin and all, senreys also spoke upon the subject of Christian work nuong railroad men After the Doxology and been sing the benediction was pro-nounced by flex. R. L. Hecksman and the assemblage dismissed.

PREPARING FOR EMERGENCIES.

An Interesting Sermon by Dr. Sutherland Last Evening.

'reparing for Emergencies" was the theme of the Rev. Dr. Sutherland's dis-course at the Second Presbyterian Church ast night. His text was taken from John "There is a lad here which hath five harley loaves and two small fishes." After stalling the circumstances of the miracle from which the text is taken, he said: "We can imagine the' impression which this manifestation of superhuman power must omiscuous crowd present, but also on the inds of the disciples; and one cannot help wendering now the young lad felt as he witessed the miraculous multiplication of the provision which he alone had prudently

While studying the incident I have been in the studying the includent I may been conducting too what the result would have even it has had been as thoughtless as all the est, and in the excitement of the host and in occasion started off with the rushing rowd without his provision. I must contess also to a feeling of regret that the vanualists, or someone of them, have no-diven as a glinapse into his after life. How-ver, we are at liberty to draw on our imagito his subsequent career and

Prof. Keeler, of the Allegheny Observatory, does not anticipate that the comet, Taking for a text First Corinthians, 1:17, supposed to be' Bielas, will come in con-"Christ sent me not to baptize, but to preach the gospei," Mr. Sands defined what he contact with the earth in crossing its orbit. Prof. Keeler said yesterday: "The nucleus of a comet is supposed to be a solid body of metallic density. If the comet should come along before the earth got out of its orbit there might be a shower of meteorite that could destroy life and property. Such showers in the present case are not at all the gospel," Mr. sands defined what he con-sidered as Faul's conception of true gospel preaching. He said: "The Gospel, as preached by Paul, forms an interesting study, not for the preacher alone, but as well for the hearer. There are times when the minister, in dealing with some of the sins common to society, is charged with preaching some other doctrine than that of the Gospel. It is not an uncommon thing for those whose sins are rebaked to cry lustily for winat they are pleased to form the preaching of the Gospel. In view of this it is well for us to observe the preaching of the Gospel by one who may be regarded as a master preacher. Consider, primarily what wis the Aposties' conception of and what did Paul refer to by the term gospel-nothing short improbable. Astronomers . have 'been watching the new comet with their telescopes whenever the sky has been clear enough to do so, and it is fortunately in very good position for observation.

Aposties' conception of and what did Paul refer to by the term gospel-nothing short of that which is implied by the expressions: "Jesus Christ and Him Crucified," and "Christ, the Resurrection." Paul conceived the gospel to be sommed up in the statement of Christ, which was that power by which men are uplifted from the depths of sin into a state of primitive perfection. But it was not in merely setting forth of the doctrine, but in the fail and complete application of its truths to the needs of everyday life that its full benefit is obtained. The Gospel is nothing if it is not applicable to like in every form. There is nothing in life that can be regarded as beyond the reach of the Gospel. Paul applied it to everything in life, and there was no condition of society concern-ing which, in his hands, the Gospel was silent." "The chances of our coming in contact with the nucleus of the comet are about one in a billion, and while the earth may pass through some portion of the tail of the comet, as it has done before, there would not be a soul on earth cognizant of the fact, so far as we know.

Millions of Miles of Matter.

To give an idea of the extreme tenuity of the tail of this comet, we are now looking at it almost on end, and possibly looking through millions of miles of this attenuated matter. Observations made by myself and Mr. Brashear with the large telescope on Friday night showed there was no diminution of the light of stars through the DUIIES OF THE HOUR. diminution of the light of stars through the entire mass. No less than 13 stars were seen shining through it. One of these stars was quite near to the nucleus where the coma or surrounding haze was the most dense, and yet it seemed to shine as brightly as if it were standing out in the blue sky. The comet is likely coming almost directly toward us, as it has only moved in right as-cension about two degrees and its motion north has been scarcely perceptible since its discovery. Dr. Varner Preaches at the Trinity M. E.

Church Last Night. Rev. W. P. Varner, pastor of the Trinity M. E. Church, preached his annual Thanksgiving sermon last night to the members of the Mystin Chain, who were present in a body. The subject chosen was the "Duties of the Hour." Taking for his text Psalms 16:17, "I will offer Thanksgiving," etc., Dr. Varner dwelt upon the splended achieve-ments and possibilities of the age, and gave some attention to the social problem. He is ments and possibilities of the age, and gave some attention to the social problem. He is greatly in favor of organization. Among other things Rev. Mr. Varner said: "Human life is progressive, and this century has marked an era of progress, unparalleled in history. The latest evi-dence of the progress of intellect and cul-ture in America is evinced in our peaceful attitude toward the world. Diplomacy is taking the place of wariare and we are coming to recognize the truer principles which lie at the foundation of perfect gov-ermment. Great results can always best be accomplished by combined and organized effort. Concentrated effort as directed by great minds closely allied bent on the ac-complishment of some great movement cannot be otherwise than successful. And where such combined effort has failed in the accomplishment of its ends it is due to the fact that those organized efforts are divided among themselves. 'United we stand. Divided we fail.' In the accom-plishment of good it is the duty of every man to unite with a Christian church, that his efforts may be abetted, and consequent-ly make a greater impression."

"It is really very easy to trace the path of a comet through the sky, as it can be seen phasing over or near stars, and in this way the orbit can readily be determined. It is only necessary to ret three postfons on al-ternate nights to obtain a preliminary orbit, but if these times are separated by an inter-val of a week, the orbit can be very closely calculated." the larger girl—the coat was gray cloth and the embellishments were white lace of the kind called point du chine. A girl feels pret-ty risky about giving a man a pin when she knows the first real smart girl that wants it will get away with it. She lends him pins. Just that. It is a good idea. You say, 'Fred, wear this for me a little while-three weeks." Then you arrange the date. He is to call that evening, and you will go somewhere with him, and it will be made an event. If you are better friends than ever by then it all makes it nicer, and if you have had a row and you don't want to make it up it affords a nice excuse. And if you have had a row and you don't want to the pin back, or whatever it was and that's a comfort. And meanwhile of course you have stood very little risk of its being given away to some girl smarter than you are. FLORETTE. ghen; Observatory did not seem in the least concerned. "There is another very. interesting comet in the morning sky," continued the pro-fessor. "It was discovered by Mr. Brooks, of Geneva, N. T., during the summer, but it is now 25 times brighter than at the time of discovery. It is altunted just south of the constellation of Leo and will be in the con-stellation of Sextans to night. Its position, astronomically speaking, for to night is right ascension 10° 50':declination south 6° 37'. It is moving south at the rate of 1° per day, so that amateurs wishing to observe this in-teresting comet will have no trouble to follow it. There are also two other comets in the sky within the range of the telescope, but as they are difficult objects we will not give their positions unless desired."

But it has occurred to me that the conduct of this young had is worthy of some notice-that it surgests besons to which we would all do well to take heed, and berhaps the most important of these reasons is this, viz. the importance of pro-viding emergencies. They are occurring constantly in our lives and experiences. It is very evident that this boy was both thoughtful and prudent. He anticipated possibilities."

Continuing his remarks in the same train of thought, Dr. Sutherland concluded with: To fail to win the prizes of earth that were Information with the prizes of earth that were fairly and bonombly within one's reach is a misfortune truly, but an infinitely greater misfortune it is to tail through indifference or currelessness to win the prizes of Henven —nay, more, it is a trime as well as a misfor-tune."
