Secretary Rusk Reports What He Has Done for the Farmers in KEEPING UP PRICES OF PRODUCE.

The American Pog Triumphant and Our corn Finds New Markets.

NOT BADLY STUCK ON RAIN-MAKING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.-The report of the Secretary of Agriculture has been submitted to the President. The report begins with a comparison of the export trade of the past fiscal year with that of fortuer years, and emphasizes the fact that of the $1,000,000,000 representing the exports of our domestic products for the past year nearly 80 per cent consisted of agricultural products, thus not only making the United States the creditor of the world for a sum exceeding $200,000,000, the excess of our exports over imports, but relieving our home markets from a surplus product which would otherwise have reduced prices to a point below cost of production. For a large share in bringing about the conditions which have made these gratifying results possible the Secretary claims credit for his department. In regard to imports, he finds encouragement for the farmers in the fact that, in spite of an aggregate increase, there is a reduction in the proportion of imports con-sisting of products which compete with our American agriculture, for while in the fiscal year ended in 1899, 54 per cent of the imports were competing, and 44 per cent of our im-ports for the past fiscal year did so compete, e, nevertheless, regards imports competing with the products of our own soil as still

The American Meat Trade Extended. Since his last report, prohibitions against merican pork products have been withdrawn in all countries where they existed, and 40,000,000 pounds of inspected pork, which without inspection could not have found a market abroad, have been exported, comparing the export trade for May, June, July and August of this year, as a period in which the effects of inspection can be clear, by noted, with the same period last year, he notes an increase in quantity shipped this year of 62 per cent at an advance in prices, which increased values for the same period. vent of 62 per cent at an advance in prices, which increased values for the same period by 68% per cent. He compares prices for September, 1882, the ore the nork inspection was adopted, and shows an increase of 80 cents per 100 pounds in taxor of this year—an average of 82 per head on every hog sold, an increase in price highly gratifying in view of the large increase in the number of hogs marketed.

Referring to his proclamation of September 25, declaring the country free from plearo-pneumonia, he emphasizes the precautions taken before that proclamation was issued and the thoroughly satisfactory grounds existing for this declaration of our immunity from that disease.

The Secretary says of the work of his Indian corn agent in Germany, that many difficulties attended the introduction of a new food herstofore generally regarded in Europe as not suitable for human consumption. A mixed corn and ree bread was Restriction of Cotton Acreage Commended. Secretary Rusk notes the reduction of the action area in this country as a movement in the right direction. He says one of the gratifying features of our agricultural infurling the past year has been the parked reduction in the cotton area broughout the cotton States. One of the nost difficult things to control in the agriintual industry is a fair ratio of product ofenned. Every year of good prices tends on over-production the subsequent year, fit lie mitural result of depression in these trales this be fortunately prevented to the present and the prices of the prevented to the present and the productions.

he excessive anticipations formed re-ng the price for wheat throughout the sp year of 1891 to failure to appreciate the cheat crop. "Taking the world through-ma the fat crop," he says, "more than qualled the lean crops of 1891, so that there was acqually more wheat grown in that year han in 1800." Even the export from Rus-sia, where famine existed it so large a sec-tion and where exports were for a time pro-bilited, amounted to 195,000,000 bushels, nearly as men as the average of the past jour years and more than the average for the past ten years. He says: "The con-ditions which may at last overwhelmed the cotton growers now confront the wheat on and marketing of the world's rop. "Taking the world throughgrowers now confront the wheat " Hence the American farmer at reduce the wheat acreage and so bring

He Hasn't Squandered the People's Money Reserring to the economy with which he has endeavored to carry out his comprehen-sive plans, he says that, after deducting the appropriation for the Weather Bureau, which is not an increase, but a transfer, and the appropriation for the State experiment stations, which is not under his control, the total remaining of the present year's appropriations barely exceeds the appropriation princions barely exceeds the appropriation of the department, less that for the stations, for the fiscar year ended in 1889. He does not just y this restriction of the appropriation within narrow limits, but he does chain credit or what has been accomplished with the limited appropriations at his disposal. Reviewing the work of the Bureau o Animal Industry, he summarizes the work and cost of the suppression of pleuro-pneumonia, showing the entire cost to inve been less by $100,000 than was paid out by Great Britain during seven years as indemnity for shaughtered cattle alone.

The Secretary gives a detailed statement The Secretary gives a detailed statement of the extent and variety of the contributions alarmed from the Department of Agriculture to the World's Fair. In regard to the sugar industry and its domestication in this country, the Secretary says there is nothing to add to what he had to offer a year argo on this subject, beyond the fact that all the experiments conducted by the department, both in the laboratory and in the field and at the special experiment stations established for that purpose, confirm the hopeful anticipations he then experimed as to the possibility of this country in course of time supplying its own sugar. The Secretary gives a detailed statement

On the Road to Sugar-Making. Enough has been done to show clearly that in various sections either beet, sorghun or cane sugar can be produced with profit to the grower of the crop and to the manufacturer, provided the conditions of culture and manufacture indicated in the special reject shall be observed. secretary Rosk suggests important mages in regard to the future organization the department, by which all divisions of the work should be grouped with reference their character into bureaus, following the to their character into bureaus, following the organization adopted in other departments of the Government, greatly reducing the number of responsible chiefs in direct considering with the head of the department. He insists upon the necessity for the universal selection of all animal food products applicable, not only to products intended or inter-State or export trade, but entering nto domestic consumption everywhere.

A Plea for Healthy Food.

"Americans," he says, "are large meat 1000. Science is revealing daily mo. inti-mate relations between the diseases of the human and animal race, and the insidious means by which they are communicated from one to the other." He wishes to see at his trade. When the war broke out he entered the army, was wounded, and, when discharged, married a second time. On the score of wounds received in the service he applied for a pension some years ago, his second wife being dead. Recently he received $3,000 pension money, and with it he bought a home.

He then began to look after some of his relatives, whom he had not seen for many years. Years after his separation from the first wife she had secured a divorce and had first wife she had secured a divorce and had remarried. By her first husband she was the mother of one child, a son, and three children were born to her after the second marriage. Her second husband died several years ago, and the first husband had never seen the son of his first marriage. The estranged couple who had parted nearly half a century ago, chanced to meet recently.
