

RETURNING TO WORK

Former Employes of the Carnegie Company Applying for Their Old Jobs.

MUST SIGN AN AGREEMENT

To Obey Orders and Not to Affiliate With Labor Organizations.

BEAVER FALLS MEN GOING BACK.

Seven Members of the Advisory Board Refused Employment.

THE SITUATION AT THE UNION MILLS

The Amalgamated men of Homestead have placed their applications for positions on file with the Carnegie Company.

All day long the men came in groups to Manager Schwab. The majority of the applicants were Amalgamated men.

The Carnegie Company intends to treat with its employes as individuals. Each man employed is required to sign an agreement. The paper is an agreement between the Carnegie Steel Company and the man employed, in which he pledges himself to refrain from belonging to any labor organization and to be governed entirely by the rules and regulations of the company.

How Some of the Men Feel.

It is a peculiar fact that the men who refused to go back to work when the company gave them notice never thought what their condition would be if the Carnegie Company was successful. They simply reasoned that even if they did lose their jobs they would only have to apply for their old positions and they would be reinstated.

Manager Schwab issued instructions yesterday to the foremen and superintendents to be blacklisted. Strange, too, the men who were the first seven men to apply after the decision of the Association, Saturday.

There have been not a few men at work in the mill for some months past who have been taking advantage of the position in which the company has been placed and have not been attending to their work as they should.

There are some men in the Beaver Falls mill of the Carnegie Company who are blacklisted. Strange, too, the men who were the first seven men to apply after the decision of the Association, Saturday.

PENN AVENUE STILL OUT.

Strikers Meet but Fail to Reach a Decision—General Meeting to-Morrow—Thirty-Third Street Mill Full but Old Men Will Be Placed at Twenty-Ninth Street.

The Lawrenceville steel strikers don't seem to comprehend the import of the Homestead capitulation. They have not yet declared their strike off. They held a large meeting at Elntract Hall yesterday to decide whether they should return to work, but though they continued in session several hours failed to reach a conclusion.

Some of the speakers argued against going to work, and were loudly cheered. The five Amalgamated lodges of the Lawrenceville district will meet to-morrow morning to decide the question.

At the Thirty-third street mill the superintendent said they had all the men needed, but many old men will be taken back when necessary. A lot of the Twenty-ninth street mill men are putting the works in order. Old men will be assigned to this mill temporarily when they apply for work.

Quite a number were fixed up yesterday. At Amalgamated headquarters the officers were at present, but were evidently concealing their feelings. No one cared to discuss Homestead except Secretary Killgallon. He said:

The association is well satisfied with the conduct of the men during the strike. While some features of the contest were painful, the loyalty of the men to the association and the confidence they reposed in each other and without parallel in labor disputes. From the start the men were masters of their own destiny, and the association was confident of assisting to bring about a successful termination. If it has not been able to do that, it does not reflect upon the power or influence of the organization.

The men have not been defeated because of anything which they could have avoided. On account of the enormous wealth of the company they were able to dig secure in large numbers in the great cities of the country. They were able to work, and their wealth enabled the company to stand the expense of experimenting, which a firm less powerful would have been unable to do.

The association raised money to go into the contest at first, as its officers are always ready to do such things. Unfortunately, such a large sum of money is not always available. The workers have often only their labor to depend upon in such a contest. It does not alter the fact, however, that the association will use all its influence to help the men who may not for a time be able to secure work.

Secretary Lovejoy said: "The company is naturally pleased that the strike is ended, but none of the new men, if competent, will be discharged for the old workers."

THEY ARE NON-COMMITTAL.

Youngstown Amalgamated Men Have Little to Say About the Homestead Strike. Members of the Amalgamated Association at Youngstown, with few exceptions, are inclined to be non-committal regarding the effect the failure of the big strike will have on the future of the association.

The general feeling seems to be that it will cause those who have remained firm in the faith to draw more closely together and to exercise the utmost caution whenever an important move is to be made, before taking any action. They assert that the Amalgamated Association, as an organization, had not gained a firm foothold in Homestead since the trouble broke out there, and that the result there is not decisive in determining the strength of the organization in general.

The finishers of Youngstown, outside the mill, are not yet ready to go back to work. They have not yet organized under the name of the Youngstown Iron Company, but are preparing to do so. Unions have already been formed at the Youngstown mill and at the mills of Cartwright, McCurdy & Co.

Here's something everybody needs! Extra fine sheets, hemmed ready to use, made of fruit of the loom sheering; size 36x36, will go at 50c. New Drygoods Department.

A POLITICAL CINCH.

Postmaster Protzman Will Retire in Favor of His Son.

TO KEEP THE OFFICE AT HOME.

A Merchant Who Spreads His Business Over Parts of Three States.

INTERESTING LOCAL POLITICAL GOSSIP

Tom Protzman, of Morris Cross Roads, Fayette county, Pa., was in Pittsburgh yesterday. Tom is a remarkable fellow. He is a merchant with almost unbounded patronage. His store, an unusually large one, is located in this State near the West Virginia and Maryland lines and his business extends over parts of the three States. His store, a blacksmith shop and a tavern comprise the town, and he is the postmaster. He is a Republican, but while in Pittsburgh yesterday he announced that the postoffice will remain at its present location, as he will resign the place before Harrison retires, and his son will be an applicant for the place under Cleveland.

"My son will get the appointment," Mr. Protzman said. "There is but one other man in the place, and he is blind. My boy is but 25 years old, but he is still better than a blind man. And besides," Mr. Protzman went on with some enthusiasm, "my boy carried a torch in every Democratic parade we had up there during the campaign. Of course he did the same in the Republican parades, but then he and his younger sister are the only ones who took part in the demonstrations in our section, and so far as I know neither of them was offensively partisan. Personally I have been looking after my mercantile affairs, and politically speaking I have been enjoying innocuous detours. I brought with me to-day 1,100 dozen of eggs and 100 quail. I sold the eggs for 20 cents per dozen and gave the quail to my friends. I also carried with me a satchel filled with maple sugar, but I have just given the last cake to John Doyle to use in his campaign for Sheriff."

GRIER MAKES A STATEMENT.

Reform Association Wants to Kill the Allegheny Four-Year Term Ordinance. The Allegheny City Reform Association met last night in the First National Bank building on Federal street. A. M. Marshall presided. About 25 members were present. The feature of the meeting was the attendance of Delinquent Tax Collector Grier. He replied to statements made at a previous meeting by Thompson Walkup. Mr. Walkup had asserted in a speech that Mr. Grier had collected $100,000 worth of taxes which his books did not show and which had never been turned over to the City Treasurer.

After some discussion a motion was adopted allowing Mr. Grier to be heard. He stated that the charges were false and he could easily prove it. He made a sworn statement every month to the Controller, and it would show every dollar collected and the City Treasurer's receipts would show it. It was all laid into the treasury. His books were straight and showed everything and the association, a committee from it, or any of the members were welcome at any time to examine his books. He stated, however, that the measure extending the terms of office of the heads of departments.

A special meeting of the Common Council is to be held to-night, at which it is expected the ordinance extending the terms will be taken up. The association adjourned. It was to meet to-night in the lobby of Common Council chamber.

WANT AN EXTRA MAN. The Twelfth Ward, Allegheny, Demands Another Representative in Council. Proceedings were commenced in Common Pleas No. 1 yesterday to secure for the Twelfth ward, Allegheny, an additional representative in Common Council. Attorney J. D. Ramsey filed a petition for a writ of mandamus in behalf of G. A. Overbeck, A. B. Smith, Jacob Martin, Louis Luther, Edward Hoffman and John Sattler, residents and taxpayers of the Twelfth ward, Allegheny. In their petition they refer to the act of May 26, 1892, for second-class cities, providing that it "shall be the duty of the assessors of each ward to return, under oath, a true and exact return of resident taxable property to the President of Common Council on or before the 1st of July each year, when an appointment is to be made. At the meeting of Council thereafter a joint committee of five, two from Select and three from Common Council, shall be appointed, who shall examine the said returns and divide the whole number of taxable by 40, and the quotient shall be the ratio of representation for member of Common Council."

In the Thirteenth ward of Allegheny a new appointment was made, and the court is now asked to order an investigation and give to the ward its proper representation in the City Council.

REFUSED THE CROWN. Major E. A. Montooth Would Not Run for Mayor of Pittsburgh. Major E. A. Montooth yesterday refused to become a candidate for Mayor of Pittsburgh on the Republican ticket. On Saturday several leading Republicans called upon the Major and tendered him their support for the Mayoralty nomination. They practically promised him the nomination if he would allow the use of his name. He refused to consider the proposition.

When they called upon him yesterday the general major said: "I am practicing law now, I am not a politician and I want no office."

County Commissioner Mercer has not yet decided whether or not he will enter the race for the Mayoralty nomination.

Demanding More Recognition. Twelve colored men, headed by Ajax Jones, called on Mayor Gourley to have him assist in putting at least a few of the colored voters of the city on the new fire companies soon to be manned by Chief Brown. Mayor Gourley promised to aid the colored men in the nomination if he would refer their request to the Chief of the Department of Public Safety.

A Democratic Reception. The Young Men's Democratic Association of Pittsburgh entered into a very successful friends at their club rooms, No. 3 Wythe avenue, last night. Nearly 1,000 Democrats attended. Refreshments were served and all present enjoyed a delightful time. An orchestra supplied music and the Democrats mingled together and talked of their recent victory.

A Citizens' Candidate. Jacob Keller, the Smithfield street saloon keeper yesterday announced himself as a citizens' candidate for Mayor. Mr. Keller is a Republican.

Robert S. Murphy in the City. Robert S. Murphy, of Johnstown, son of Francis Murphy, the eminent temperance

MILLER NOTIFIED.

The New Collector of Internal Revenue Receives Official Information of His Reappointment—He Holds a Conference With the Acting Collector.

George W. Miller, who was on Saturday reappointed Collector of Internal Revenue for the Pittsburgh district, was yesterday officially notified of his appointment. Mr. Miller and his wife spent Sunday with his son at Uniontown. He arrived home at noon yesterday and the official notification was awaiting him. He telegraphed his having received the notice but said nothing to the department of his acceptance.

It is known however that Mr. Miller will accept the place and that he will assume the duties of the office at the earliest possible time. Mr. Miller yesterday called upon Acting Collector Mitchell and the two enjoyed an hour talking of the office and its duties. During the talk, however, Mr. Miller did not say anything regarding his purpose or when he contemplated taking charge. Captain Mitchell said the office was ready to be turned over at any time and Special Officer Tarned, a brother of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, is now in the city waiting to make the transfer.

Mr. Miller's friends say he is likely to make but few changes in the service for several months, and the present force feel very nervous at his assuming the Collectorship.

SEEING HOW HE STANDS.

Farmer Kuhns Visits the City With His Application for Office. Farmer John Kuhns, of Westmoreland county, was in Pittsburgh yesterday in conference with his political friends. Mr. Kuhns is a candidate for Collector of Internal Revenue under President-elect Cleveland, and he has already received the endorsement of the Westmoreland county Democrats for the place.

Mr. Kuhns was a candidate on the Democratic ticket for Senator in Westmoreland county. He was defeated for the nomination by two votes. D. Ogden, who defeated him for the nomination, was defeated for the election by nine votes. He alleged that Mr. Kuhns defeated him, and he and his party are opposing Mr. Kuhns for the appointment sought. Between them it is thought Westmoreland county will not get the place.

Visiting Heptastoph.

Supreme Treasurer Gustavus Brown, Supreme Organizer John W. Cruet, and one or two other supreme officers of Baltimore will pay a visit to Pittsburgh on Thanksgiving Day. They headquarters will be at the Hotel Duquesne. A large number of the members from this city will call on them between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock. A banquet will be tendered them in the evening.

Killed at a Street Crossing.

Charles Morath, a cabinetmaker, of Taylor avenue, Allegheny, was struck by a train on the Ft. Wayne Railroad at the Pennsylvania avenue crossing at 6 o'clock last evening and instantly killed. He was on his way home from work and was run over as he was crossing the track. Mr. Morath was 62 years of age and leaves a family.

MONEY FOR POISON.

Very Sensational Testimony at a Hearing in a Bigamy Case.

TWO HUSBANDS FOR ONE WOMAN.

Mrs. Kapucinski Disappeared Two Months After Her Marriage.

NOW WEDDED TO A WEALTHY DAIRYMAN

Alderman Pike conducted a hearing in a rather sensational case yesterday. Mrs. Valerio Kapucinski, alias Marie Geriz, was charged with bigamy by Constable Daly, and it transpired in the testimony that the woman had offered another of her ex $600 to poison her first husband. The latter was a friend, but spurned the request and testified against her on the stand.

The first witness called was Joseph Kapucinski, the husband of the defendant. His story is substantially as follows: Kapucinski is a Russian Pole, an exceptionally handsome man, and owns a pottery works on Voeghtly street, Allegheny. About two years ago he met and fell in love with Valerio Kolaczynska, a pretty Polish girl, who lived with her parents on Ohio street. A short courtship followed, and on February 6, 1891, a marriage license was taken out. Everything went well for two months when one day his wife suddenly disappeared. He instituted a search at once, but failed to discover any trace of her. He gave up all hope of seeing her again until about three weeks ago, he was notified that she visited two sisters, Rose and Kate Jerzaska, who lived near him on Voeghtly street, and with whom his wife had formerly been very intimate.

Trapped by Constable Daly. Kapucinski went to Joseph Rosiak, the Polish interpreter, and confided to him his suspicion that his wife had deserted him for some other man. Together the two went before Alderman McKel, and Kapucinski made an information against his wife for desertion. A warrant was issued and placed in the hands of Constable Daly, who went to the house in Allegheny where Mrs. Kapucinski was alleged to have visited. He found the two sisters who emphatically denied that she had been there, and said that they knew nothing of her. Constable Daly pretended to be satisfied with their story and said, "Oh, well; all I wanted to see her for was to tell her that her husband had gotten a divorce."

Both women became interested at that, and finally Rose Jerzaska said that if he had a divorce she supposed it was all right to tell, and that Mrs. Kapucinski had been there only a few days before. Further investigation established the fact that she was living with a man named John Habegger, who runs a large dairy establishment in the rear of the Homewood Driving Park. Constable Daly next went to Habegger's place and there found Mrs. Kapucinski, who denied that she was there and said her name was Marie Geriz and that she had married Habegger on the 6th of last May. She produced her marriage certificate, showing that they had been married by Dr. Hengartner, of the Bloomfield German Lutheran Church.

The constable was staggered for a moment by the woman's proof of her story, but from a picture in his possession was convinced she was the right person and placed her under arrest.

An Inducement to Marry. Upon investigation it was found that a marriage license had been issued May 6 to John Habegger and Marie Geriz, and Kapucinski withdrew the charge of desertion which he had preferred against her, and Constable Daly made a charge of bigamy.

Rose Jerzaska, who had been a friend for the defendant, testified that when Mrs. Kapucinski had visited her house she offered her $600 to poison her husband, saying she had a man in mind to marry, and kind to her, and that Kapucinski having learned her whereabouts, she was afraid he would expose her. This proposition the witness refused to listen to, and it was on this account that she turned against her. Mrs. Kapucinski made no defense and was held under $1,000 bail for a trial by court. Habegger furnished the bail.

Three Important Questions.

WHY INSURE YOUR LIFE? Because not one in a thousand can say that a life policy would not benefit his family were he to die to-morrow.

WHY INSURE YOUR LIFE? There are thousands of families in want to-day, because their natural protector perished in waiting for a "convenient season" to take out a policy.

WHY INSURE YOUR LIFE? Home Life Insurance Company. It has $10,000,000 of assets to every $100 of liabilities, nothing is larger than that of any other company.

It has realized the largest interest on its investments. In view of the above facts, its results on its dividend endowment policy necessarily will be larger than those of any other company.

You do not have to die to win, as by a dividend endowment policy issued by the Home Life Insurance Company of New York you not only secure the protection free, but an amount over and above your payments, equalling a 4 per cent to 8 per cent compound interest investment.
