A RISE IN EXCHANGE

Checks an Advance in Stocks and Revives Talk of Gold Experts.

EARLY GAINS ALL WIPED OUT

Under a Vigorous Fear Attack and the Market Clo.es Weak. RAILROAD BONDS GENERALLY STRONG

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 .- The stock market was strong in the early trading, particularly for the industrials, which advanced 1/2 to 2 per cent, Distilling and Cattle Feeding, National Cordage and American Tobacco leading the upward movement. Among the railways Chicago and Eastern Illinois preferred rose 114 and Jersey Central 2 points. The improvement was checked by the advance in the posted rates of sterling ex-change, which renewed the discussion about gold exports, and during the afternoon the bears attacked the market with considerable confidence. Eric preferred sold down a little over 2 points. United States Rubber dropped 3½ to 41, American Sugar 1½ to 109½, Distilling and Cattle Feeding 1½ to 67½ and the other leading shares ½ to 1 per cent. The market closed dull and weak.

The bond market was strong. The transactions footed up $1,156,000. The Reading issues were quiet and ½ to ½ per cent lower.

The European orders were entirely wanting in our market and prices were ragged all day. During the morning some long stock was forced out, and in the afternoon the market was dull, but did not rally at all from the depression of the morning. The sterling exchange market is very strong and it looks as if about $i,000,000 of gold would go out by Saturday's steamer. If this proves correct it will surely be a very discouraging feature, as gold exportations at this season of the year are entirely unexpected. The reason for the strength in exchange is the increased imports and the decreased exports resulting from the low price of grain and the decreased exports of cotton.

Holders of stocks are getting nervous about the situation, and some quiet liquidation has been going on all the week. We advise our friends to be conservative, and to take advantage of rallies to sell stocks, so as to purchase then again on the decline.

Some short covering was noted to-day in whisky, in which the short interest is said to be large, but we think in the rest of the market the short interest is about the same as last night.—J. S. Bache & Co. to Oakley & Co. The European orders were entirely want

WHEAT LOWER

On Generally Bearish News and Corn, Oats and Provisions Also Decline.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.-Wheat got a black eye to-day. There was a very general indispo-sition shown to hold long stuff over the holiday. To-night, compared with yester day's latest prices, wheat is le lower for December and Mc lower for May. Corn is from Me to Me lower, oats Me; January ribs and pork are each 10c off, and lard 15c. The sharp down-turn in wheat began at the opening upon reports of big receipts in the North west and, above all, the very large increa-e in the available supply reported by Lradstreet's, amounting to nearly 4,400,000 bushels on both coasts. The situation was bushels on both coasts. The situation was regarded as very unpromising, and longs made a general effort to unload. With sharp competition among seilers, the decline was easy and rapid. The vigorous selling of December by Armour, Brossau and Councilman and Day, and the decline in that month, also helped to weaken May. December fell to 6 c discount, which is the largest discount yet. Much long wheat was dislodged, and particularly some big lots held by New York. The market recovered a little on the liberal buying by Partriage, who took advantage of the break to cover short wheat and take in profits, but prices turned weak again during the last hour on free sales, and the close was at the bottom figures of the day.

A Sioux City telegram says that "the crain blockade in Nebraska and South Darain blockade in Nebraska and South Da-kata is becoming worse daily and now ex-ceeds anything of the kind ever suffered. Elevators filled to bursting point and va-cant buildings of all sorts being pressed into the service."

Corn was easy on the colder weather which was expected to stimulate the inte-rior deliveries and probably start the new corn to market. The small estimated re-ceipts sent the market up some during the last hour, but weakness again set in near the end.

How products opened lower on the reof vessel room was offered, but agents were slow to accept the rates bid. Shippers only wanted to pay 2½c for wheat and 2c for corn wanted to pay 2%c for wheat and 2c for corn to Buffalo.

P.& B. CONTINUES FIRM

And Citizens Traction Picks Up a Little More of Its Late Loss.

PHILADELPHIA CO. RULES WEAK.

Duquesne Traction Rather Heavy and a Fraction Lower.

LOCAL AND GENERAL PINANCIAL NEWS

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 23. Pittsburg and Birmingham traction continued to lead the list in strength to-day, followed by Citizens traction, and Philadelphia Company was most prominent for weakness, but aside from the course of these shares and fractional losses in Duquesne traction and Westinghouse Electric the market closed at about Tuesday's final prices. The demand for P. & R. and Citizens tractions was quite sharp and from the best sources, but apparently there was considerable stock for sale at the advance and those under the market for these shares held off somewhat, evidently with the intention of keeping prices down until their orders were filled. At the close, however, a farther advance seemed to be a certainty after the holiday. Phila-delphia Company was affected by continued reports of a shortage of gas in some sections of the city, and while there was no special pressure to sell a continuance of the decline a hulf point or so would not surprise very many people. At the last call one of the many people. At the list call one of the brokers who would probably be surprised at such a decline showed his faith in the stock by offering to bet that it had seen bottom at 21½. It cannot go very much lower before it will be supported by those who have used it as collateral. There was continued strength in Luster, steadiness in Union Switch and Signal and Airbrake but everything else was without brake, but everything else was without change worthy of notice. The character of the general inquiry was accepted as indicat-ing a greater degree of activity a little later

A report was current in Wall street today that $600,000 gold had been withdrawn from the Fourth National Bank for export, but it was subsequently stated that it was "not for export to Europe. None of the houses who usually ship gold know of any engagement for export, and the report of shipments by Saturday's steamers, it is believed, were started for speculative effect."

Arrangements are being made for a meeting of the presidents of all the Southeastern railroads, in Atlanta, on December 8, to take formal action with regard to the direct trade project from Southern ports, and to consider what tacilities for transportation and what traffic rates can be given to induce a sufficient amount of traffic to supply a line of steamships running from a Southeastern port to Liverpool and other European ports. The Florence Oil Company Drilled in a 150-Barreler on the Verner Property-Operators Agree on Southwest Locations-Reports From West Virginia The only well reported vesterday as completed was the Florence Oil Company's No. 1, on the Verner property, or Gibson, as it was known some months ago. It is located south of Noblestown, and only a short distance south of the big No. 6 Marshall of the Tidal Oil Company, which was originally drilled by Greenlee & Forst.

The Verner well was drilled through the fifth sand yesterday and last evening was reported to be good for about 150 barrels per day. There will be scarcely any more wells put down for the present in that locality. The Florence Oil Company is ready to put the last string of easing into its No. 2 on the Miller farm, which is located south of the

In the McCurdy district no new developments were reported. The Forest Oil Commany's No. 2 on the Devine farm is due in the sand the first of next week, and their No. 3 is drilling in the 100-foot.

No. I on the Aiken farm is down about 800 feet.

In the region southwest of McDonald and around the big Scott farm wells the principal operators arrived at an agreement yesterday in regard to drilling along the lines of their leases, and it is possible that not quite so many new wells will now be started as were at first contemplated.

The Wheeling Gas Company is starting a rig on the George heirs' farm, which adjoins the Knox Bros.' Scott farm lease on the southwest. Their No. 2, in which a little oil was found in the Gordon sand is just across the line fence, and east of the big No. 2 Scott of Knox Bros. & Co. Southwest of the big wells the Wheeling holds leases aggregating nearly 1,000 acres of what now looks like gilt edged stuff, and they are preparing to thoroughly test it.

The Philadelphia Company expects to drill in three gas wells next week at Lock No. 3 on the Monongabela river.

Preparations for Thanksgiving Day have been conducted on a liberal scale, which, with the movement of staples and seasonable clothing, etc., gave to the markets this week to date an appearance of unwonted animation. More attention was paid to poultry, game, cranberries and kindred stuff today than to anything else, but supplies were heavy and prices were barely steady as a rule. In a general way business is moving along satisfactorily, the conditions govern-ing the movement and the course of values being better than at any previous time this year.

Higher Prices and a Better Feeling at the Local Yards.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 23. Supplies were rather weak at the Central yards this week, the demand was much better than expected and prices showed an up ward drift all around. The markets were all quoted strong to-day, with good grades of all kinds of stock in active demand and hogs higher at $6 00, which price was paid for some attractive Yorkers as well as best Philadelphias.
