GENERAL SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Of course not a sporting man in this city expected, even on the inducements of an exceptionally large purse, that Jim Hall and Bob Fitzsimmons would be brought together in a finish fight without a final difference of opinion. It appears now that Hall, having received the articles of agreement sent to him by Charles Noel, does not agree with them in several important particulars. Where his opinion differs with that of the New Orleans Club, Mr. Hall has seen fit to make those changes which suit his convenience and pleasure.

He says that he will not fight unless the Crescent Club puts up a $5,000 deposit. Judging from the history of the men most interested, the members of the Crescent Club have a good deal more at stake and are more to be depended on than either Hall or Fitzsimmons. The following cablegram has been received:

"LONDON, Nov. 22, 1892.—Jim Hall perused articles for match with Fitzsimmons, and suggests the following alterations in case of any quibble. He accepts the conditions, but proposes to fight at 160 pounds and weigh on night of contest, which is to be the first week in March. Hall's money goes up to-morrow. He insists that the Crescent City Club deposit $5,000 with Richard K. Fox, to be forfeited to the men in the event of unforeseen circumstances preventing the club from carrying out the match, though he has every confidence in Charles Noel and the Crescent Club. Amended articles, signed by Jim Hall, will be forwarded by the first outgoing steamship."

STATE CHECKER TOURNEY.

The Philadelphia Representative Creates a Sensation by Winning Every Game.

The annual tournament for the State championship commenced yesterday at the Home Hotel, at 2 P. M. A great many checker enthusiasts were present from all parts of the State, but the absence of the two leading experts from Central Pennsylvania, Mr. Lyon, of Big Run, and W. C. Brown, was commented on. Mr. G. W. Kearns, at the request of Mr. R. W. Patterson, who represents the eastern part of the State, created quite a sensation by winning every game he played in the first two rounds of the tourney. Allegheny representatives both fell in the first round to Pittsburg and Washington, Pa. The following are the names of the players and their individual scores:

FIRST ROUND.

Wins.		Drawn.		Wins.
2	Maize	5	Craig	1
3	McAteer	1	Binhart	1
4	Boyle	0	Benney	2
4	Kearns	0	Kenoid	0
4	Gibson	0	Harrison	2

SECOND ROUND.

The New York Club.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—[Special.]—John B. Day and Pat Powers, of the New York Baseball Club, have returned from the Chicago convention. Powers said the club is going to get some new players, and, what is more, they will be good ones. At present he will not disclose their names, but admits that three men are in view. It is probable that Jimmy Richardson is one of them. In Pat's opinion hereafter all League meetings will be held in New York, as the delegates no longer fancy the Windy City. Powers likes the idea of putting the pitcher further back on the diamond, and suggests that it will encourage heavy batting and will prove the salvation of the catcher.

Buck Ewing Celebrating.

Cincinnati Enquirer.]

"I'll tell you who has the most popular cart pin in town."

"Who is that?"

"Buck Ewing, the ball player."

"What is it?"

"Why, a miniature rooster. It is made of diamonds save the comb, which is set with rubies. It is one of the neatest things ever made."

Ryan Fights a Draw at Detroit.

DETROIT, Nov. 24.—Two thousand disgusted spectators filed out of the Auditorium to-night at the conclusion of the eight-round glove contest between Thomas Ryan, of Chicago, the champion welter weight, and Jack Collins, the instructor of the Detroit Athletic Club. The fight resulted in a draw and was really nothing more than a clever sparring exhibition. Ryan had the better of the fight throughout, but both men finished strong and apparently good for an almost unlimited number of rounds.

TALK WITH NICK YOUNG.

The League President Gives His Views on Matters of Baseball.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—After being in two railroad wrecks during his journey President Nick Young, of the baseball League, has got home and says: "No more Chicago meetings for me, and I donbt if I care to take in the World's Fair. Hereafter the Fifth Avenue Hotel in Gotham will about suit me and a majority of the League baseball magnates, too. As a result of the conference of the backers of the national game, with a view to increasing the batting work, it is quite likely that the ball will be livelier and the pitcher's box moved back several feet. This seemed to be the conclusion of the magnates, although the subject of changing the playing rules was left to the discretion of Messrs. Brush, Byrne and Reach, who will report the result of their deliberations at the spring meeting of the League, which will be held in New York City.

"It is all poppycock," continued President Young, "to talk about changing the number of bases and appearance of the diamond, not five persons in a hundred being in favor of such a proposition. We talked it over informally, to be sure, but the general opinion was that it would not add to the benefit of the game. So far as salaries are concerned it was agreed to let every club regulate its own affairs, although it was not denied that the past season would have been much more profitable had it not been for the high grade salaries which the League people were compelled to shoulder. These contracts were made before the amalgamation of the American Association and the National League and had to be lived up to. Take the case of the proposed Chicago American Association club. Where would it have been at the close of the playing season of 1892 had it continued in existence? Not less than $50,000 and probably nearer $100,000, in debt. Yet the League was compelled to purchase its franchise, together with the franchises of other organizations, and this crippled the financial promoters of the League at the outset. Next year there will be deficiencies of $12,000, $18,000 and $20,000 at the wind up, but these baseball affairs will be conducted on a purely business basis. I it does not pay there will be a shutdown, but no one expects any such emergency as that."

The Swimmers.

Last night's gala at the Natatorium by the Pittsburg Swimming Association was largely attended. The swimming was spirited and greatly appreciated by the large audience who thronged the building. The winners of each event were as follows:

Four-length novice race—George Baker first, time 1:04; W. Schanwecker second.

Four-length handicap—George Baker first, 1:07 3-5; J. T. Taylor second.

Twenty-length handicap—Price first, 8:25 minutes; J. T. Taylor second.

Long distance plunge—Cassidy, first; H. Hay, second.

Dive—Price, first; Hay, second.

Two-length boys' race—T. Moran first, 38 seconds; H. Kenny, second.

The polo game was won by Captain Taylor's team, score 1 to 0.

Profs. Fox and McEwan gave a very elegant exhibition of swimming and lifesaving and were liberally applauded.

Sporting Notes.

M. K.—Yale and Princeton played on that date.

SOMETHING is going to drop in the New York Baseball Club in a few days. A special meeting will be held and small-fry stockholders who haven't anteed up on assessments will, it is said, be frozen out.—New York World.

WALTER EDGERTON, "the Kentucky Rosebud," a feather-weight black as the ace of spades, will probably be matched against George Dixon or Johnny Griffin for a limited number of rounds by the Coney Island Athletic Club.

INQUIRER.—First. See answer to G. W. Jones, Second. The first Sheffield handicap of note was in 1857 and was won by G. Darley. Third. There was an F. Darley who ran a dead heat for a handicap in 1862. Fourth. G. Mole, of Walsall, won his first Sheffield handicap in 1862.

G. W. JONES—Typographical errors caused both mistakes. Of course it is a matter of book record that G. Darley won the handicap of 1857 and W. Darley one in 1861. The latter also ran a dead heat for a handicap in 1861. We are not responsible for the mistakes in answer to "Inquirer."

M. J. KENNEDY has accepted Gus Guerrero's challenge to run any man 25 miles. Kennedy has deposited a forfeit of $50 with John A. Rogers, 342 West Madison street, Chicago, and wants to run for $250 a side. He will be ready to run within three weeks and will meet Guerrero on any indoor track.

MANAGER KOUNTZ, of the A. A. A., has chartered a special car for the eleven's trip to Cleveland next Thursday, and it will go via Cleveland and Pittsburg Railroad at 12:05 A. M. Thursday. Kountz is hunting players. Boden goes East to see the big game. J. Kountz may take Ross Fisca, of Indiana Normal School.

HARVARD'S captain is feeling sore. He says: "The game was a square one and I suppose merit won. At the same time there is a feeling that the umpiring was no fair. In about every case where there was a chance for doubt the decision was against us. Members of the team insist that if there ever was a touch back it was in the first half when an interference was claimed."

JAMES A. MCCREA, Jr., is probably the youngest player who ever played on one of the great university elevens. He is just 17 years old, but is 6 feet feet 3 inches tall. He entered St. Paul's in 1888, and from two years served guard on the Dedham eleven. His rowing was of high order, and he pulled just behind Hickok in the Halcyon eight last June. He is a son of Vice President McCrea, of the Pennsylvania Company.

THE match recently arranged between Paddy Smith, of Pittsburg, and Joe Walcott, the colored lightweight champion of New England, is off. The backers of the boxers, John J. Quinn for Smith, and Thomas O'Rourke for Walcott, recently posted $100 a side for the men to fight at 135 pounds, for $1,000 a side, agreeing to fight in the Coney Island Athletic Club. The latter organization refused to offer a purse, and Quinn, on behalf of Smith, withdrew his money.—New York World.

JOE DONOGHUE, the world's champion amateur skater, has decided to become a professional. A short time ago he sent a challenge abroad to A. D. Norseng, of Norway, to skate a five-mile race, to take place at Minneapolis in December or January next for $5,000 a side. He sent a second one to Herald Hager, of Norway, for a five-mile race a $1,500 a side or a series of one, five and ten-mile races for $2,500 a side, the date and place to be determined on should the challenge be accepted.

EXPLANATION.

CLOUDLESS. PARTLY CLOUDY. CLOUDY. RAIN. SNOW.

Arrow flies with wind.

First figures at station indicate temperature; next figures indicate change in temperature; and figures underneath, if any, indicate amount of rainfall or melted snow in hundredths of an inch during past 12 hours; T indicates, trace of precipitation; isobars, or solid black lines, pass through points of equal pressure; isotherms, or dotted lines, equal temperature.

Storms generally move from West to East in atmospheric waves, of which the crests are marked "High" and the oval trough, or depression "Low." These waves move Eastward on an average of 600 miles per day.

High winds, rain or (if cold enough) snow, Southerly winds, and consequently high temperature, usually precede "Lows" across the country.

When the "Low" passes East of a place the wind changes to North, bringing lower temperature, clearing skies, and often cold waves and Northers.

The high area brings sunshine.

FOR WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA, WEST VIRGINIA AND OHIO—Fair, Except Snow Flurries on Lake Ontario; Warmer; Variable Winds Becoming Southeast.

WEATHER CONDITIONS—The storm has remained nearly stationary off New Brunswick. A second storm has moved from Idaho to Colorado, increasing in energy. A ridge of high pressure stretches from the Lake region to Florida. A second clearing condition has moved to the north of Montana, causing very low temperature. Snow flurries have occurred in the northwest. The temperature has fallen in the South Atlantic, Middle and East Gulf States, and generally risen elsewhere.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—In the United States District Court yesterday a nolle prosequi was entered in the case of Bernard Reiss, of the firm of Noberger, Reiss & Co., of this city, under instructions from Attorney General Miller, at Washington. Reiss was jointly charged with D. R. Cashin, Deputy Collector of the port, with conspiracy to defraud the Government.

Reiss had previously been convicted of defrauding the Government of duties on silks, satins and kid gloves, which his firm had imported under fraudulent invoices as cotton goods. Reiss compromised the case by paying $70,000 back duties and $5,000 fine, but was subsequently indicted with Cashin. The latter left the city and is believed to be in British Columbia. It was stated to-day that the quashing of further proceedings against Reiss is the result of investigation of the latter's relations with Cashin, which proved satisfactory to the Government officials.

A Farmers' Congress Speaker Called Down for Touching on the Currency.

LINCOLN, NEB., Nov. 24.—The second day's session of the National Farmers' Congress was devoted largely to a discussion of the resolutions relative to dealing in options and for improvement of public highways they were recommended for passage, and an invitation from the World's Fair Directory to visit Jackson Park previous to returning to their homes was accepted.

During a discussion of the the transportation question, L. H. Weller, of Iowa, said the issue was dwarfed in comparison with the currency. A point of order cut short his remarks when they proceeded dangerously near a political discussion.

Heiskell's Ointment
Is a positive cure for all forms of
SKIN DISEASE.
We base this assertion on our observation of over thirty years, in which time a very large number and variety of Skin Diseases have been reported to us as cured, by the simple use of Heiskell's Ointment, without the aid of internal remedies. Many of these were cases of long duration, that had resisted the treatment of the most eminent medical talent in this and other countries. Heiskell's Ointment seems never to have failed in a single instance.

PRICE, 25 CENTS.

IN making the customary preliminary announcements of the leading features for 1893, the publishers call attention to the number and character of the contributions which ensure above all the ENTERTAINING quality of its pages; the year will be especially notable for its short and serial stories.

FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT will contribute the first serial to appear in a magazine from her pen for many years, entitled THE ONE I KNEW THE BEST OF ALL. This serial is something probably entirely unique in literature, being the frankly autobiographical story of the experiences of a child up to girlhood, with its sensations and emotions as each new phase and problem of life opens to it. In no sense, however, is it a juvenile story, being distinctly the study by a mature mind of that wholly different world which a child's mental life presents.

JERSEY STREET AND JERSEY LANE: URBAN AND SUBURBAN SKETCHES. By H. C. BUNNER. A series of six sketches of town and country life, in the most charming vein that is known to readers of his other works. Each sketch will be illustrated in thorough accord with the text.

SEQUEL TO "THE REFLECTIONS OF A MARRIED MAN." By ROBERT GRANT. The author relates the further experiences of the now well-known pair of married lovers, Fred and Josephine. Illustrated.

THE COPPERHEAD. By HAROLD FREDERIC. A political novel of great power, which will run through at least five numbers.

THE DURKET SPERRET. By Miss S. B. ELLIOTT, author of "Jerry." A realistic story of life among the Tennessee mountaineers, shown in curious and striking contrast with the scholarly life of the little university at Sewanee—a juxtaposition which gives the key to the motive and plot. It will run through four numbers.

PERSONAL REMINISCENCES. SOME UNPUBLISHED LETTERS OF CARLYLE TO EDWARD IRVING and others, dealing with a part of Carlyle's life far different from that brought out in the recent literature of Carlyle reminiscences. RECOLLECTIONS OF LINCOLN AND SUMNER. By the late MARQUIS DE CHAMBRUN. Both articles are full of new matter. AN ARTIST IN JAPAN. By ROBERT BLUM, who has just returned from a residence of nearly two years in that country. Abundantly illustrated by the author. HISTORIC MOMENTS, which have been a feature of the magazine during 1892, will be continued by some particularly striking papers, among them several by the great war correspondents, WILLIAM H. RUSSELL, ARCHIBALD FORBES, and others.

MEN'S OCCUPATIONS. A series of articles on the life work of men in many callings—the chief ways (exclusive of professions) in which men earn their livelihood. One article describes, for example, the typical life of a machinist or worker in iron on its largest scale in great mills like those at Homestead; another the miner's everyday life, another the lumberman's, another the typical life of a merchant seaman, etc. Each one of these articles will be written by a thoroughly representative man in the line of life of which he writes.

THE WORLD'S FAIR IN CHICAGO. A series will be published later in the year giving the impressions made by the exhibition upon different observers of note, both American and foreign; and many of these observers will be also artists who will illustrate their own articles.

AMONG MISCELLANEOUS ARTICLES to appear at the opening of the year may be mentioned the further contributions to the "Poor in Great Cities," Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett's illustrated paper on the London plan for Home Aid to Invalid Children, etc. Of special interest also will be Professor Heilprin's authoritative account of the PEARY RELIEF EXPEDITION, of which he was the head (illustrated by the artist who accompanied the expedition for the purpose), a very interesting article by Octave Uzanne on the exhibition of WOMAN'S ART now going on in Paris, and articles upon artistic subjects, accounts of travels, etc., etc.

THE ILLUSTRATIONS. A fac-simile of a water-color drawing by the French artist, Marchetti, which will appear in the Christmas number, marks an important departure from the usual methods of reproduction in magazine illustration. It has always been the aim of the publishers to give the best renderings of original drawings in black and white, but in this plate a great step in advance is taken when the original drawing is reproduced not only in form and texture but in its coloring as well. The pictures of the year will represent the work not only of the well-known illustrators, but many drawings will also appear by artists who are best known as painters.
