The Wind Up of a Lively and Exciting Football Season.

GOSSIP FOUND IN VARIOUS FIELDS

For 60 days the fever of football has been upon the people, not only of Pittsburgh but of the entire United States. Scarcely a hamlet from the Atlantic to the Pacific has escaped untouched by the contagion.

Pittsburgh has had two excellent teams this year—teams with which few athletic clubs in the United States could compete. But, as in the case of all eleven sports, the season is over.

Eugene S. Kelly, P. A. C.

Mr. Kelly has had charge of the right end for the P. A. C. and he has played a great game. He obtained his first knowledge of the game at Fordham College in New York City.

Following is a table of the weights and heights of the Light team that ran up against the P. A. C. on Thanksgiving day:

Table with columns: Name, Position, Height, Weight. Lists players like McLaughlin, Bittels, Woodman, etc.

The Battle To-Morrow Night. There is more interest in the glove contest than in the boxing match. Gregorians and Costello had expected to find more ordinary prestige is given to the winner of the boxing match.

The Boxers Are Very Quiet. The leading boxers and later-day pugilists have been very quiet during the week. Corbett, to be sure, has made his usual number of appearances.

University of Pennsylvania. In both cases the college eleven was disappointed. They expected to roll up a big score, but instead the points were kept down to 16 and 21, and these were only secured by the superiority of team work.

Of the light weight teams, the P. A. C. seconds and the Holy Ghost College finished with the best records. Neither suffered a defeat and they wound up the season with a game. Most of the light weight eleven started in too late in the fall, but in every case there has been an expressed determination to begin at least 30 days sooner.

THE KEY NOTE.

A Johnstown Gentleman Sounds the Key-Note of Dr. Copeland, Hall and Byers' Success.

They Are Successful Because They Understand the Diseases of Their Specialties and Their Years of Experience Have Given Them Opportunities to Test Their Physicians Possess—Read To-Day's Testimonials.

"I came all the way from Johnstown to consult you, doctors," said a gentleman of that place to Dr. Copeland, Hall and Byers, in response to an advertisement in the Dispatch.

"I hit the nail on the head." Right in what our Johnstown friend struck the keynote of Dr. Copeland, Hall and Byers' success in the treatment of such troubles as he complains. They see on an average of one hundred patients every day, all suffering from the same symptoms, and have grown so familiar with the history, progress and termination of such diseases that they do not have to experiment with a year and a half just to prescribe at each particular stage of the disease.

They have no fight with the family physician, whose time is taken up with bedridden patients and children, and who, in the meantime, discharges his duties, etc.; indeed, they each employ their own family attendant in such cases. It is the only system of medicine that has ever been adapted to the needs of the community that they feel like practicing.

Dr. Copeland, Hall and Byers know just exactly what position they occupy in this community. They know they are doing a world of good for suffering humanity, for few physicians would care to perform such hard and laborious work without adequate compensation.

Chronic Diseases Require Special Treatment by Specialists, Specially Trained and Fully Equipped.

HE ACHED ALL OVER. Be Sure and Read Mr. Hood's Wonderful Statement—His Case Is the Most Typical of a General Catarrhal Condition of the Whole System Ever Published.

Mr. August Hood, a coal miner, in the month of March, 1917, contracted a cold which did not appear to do him any harm, but it gradually became more and more troublesome.

Mr. August Hood, Don P. O. Ohio. I have often wondered from whence comes the money that supports the average charitable institution. It is not the money of a woman who belongs to half the philanthropic societies in town.

Club Notes. Mrs. Andrew Easton, of the Travelers' Club, left for Florida, where she spent the winter.

SEVERE STOMACH TROUBLE. Cured by Drs. Copeland, Hall and Byers. Mr. John Mooney's Grateful Appreciation for the Relief Obtained.

catarrh could cause all the distressing symptoms I suffered from until they explained to me how catarrh affected the whole system by the mucus dripping down into the chest, poisoning the blood and interfering with the normal action of the lungs.

ANOTHER GREAT CURE

The Case of Mr. William Foster, of Butler—So Weak He Could Scarcely Get to Dr. Copeland, Hall and Byers' Office—In One Month He Gained Seven Pounds and Worked All Day Without Tiring.

"I had been troubled with my head, throat and stomach for two years previous to consulting Dr. Copeland, Hall and Byers. I had all the usual catarrhal symptoms of head and throat such as dull, heavy feeling, cravens and through tremors, clogging up of nostrils first one side then the other, dropping of mucus into the throat, with hacking and spitting by throat becoming dry and raw, tongue coated and parched, with bad taste in the mouth, especially in the morning, loss of appetite, especially for breakfast, and what little I forced myself to eat caused distress and bloating up of the stomach, loss of flesh and strength right away.

"Finally night sweats set in, which were not greatly and almost no sleep. I felt something more would have to be done for me than was being done or I had to have to stop up. Hearing the good news from Dr. Copeland, Hall and Byers in cases such as mine I decided to go to Pittsburgh and consult them.

"When I first went to their office I could hardly walk. I was so weak I could not get up and coughed incessantly. They examined me carefully, and gave me a month's supply of medicine to take home. I took it and in ten days I was able to get out even with the first month's treatment.

"I gained seven or eight pounds in the first month, and can do a full day's work without tiring. The night sweats have disappeared and I see like another person. I can't say enough to recommend all patients suffering with catarrhal troubles to consult these eminent specialists as once and for all with their health and go into the serious condition in which I was.
