

$150,000 DAMAGES

Modestly Demanded for Alleged Wrongs by One Critchlow Juror.

VERY SENSATIONAL CASE

Outlined Against H. C. Frick and the Carnegie Company

SHATTERED BY INVESTIGATION

William Freyvogel Weaves a Web of Plausible Evidence

MORE INTERESTING THAN RELIABLE

"I have instituted proceedings through my attorney against H. C. Frick, President of the Carnegie Company, for $150,000 damages."

The young man who volunteered this startling statement in THE DISPATCH office last evening was William Freyvogel, the tenth juror drawn on the Critchlow case. He spoke earnestly, though he showed evidence of nervous agitation.

In answer to interrogations he continued: "I have been dismissed from employment on account of the Critchlow verdict. This afternoon at 3:45 I was discharged by the East End Electric Company, of which I was chief electrician. My dismissal is due to a letter written by Secretary Lovejoy on behalf of H. C. Frick. I have been in the employ of the East End Light Company since September and served them well until the day of the rendering of the Critchlow verdict. Twenty-five minutes after the verdict was rendered Mr. Frick's private counsel met me on Diamond street and said: 'I will not throw a stone in your way.' I considered that a significant remark. On the Saturday following the verdict a preliminary notice was served on me, but to-day a notice for cause and reasons was served upon me. The cause was my stand in the Critchlow case. With the notice demanding my dismissal was sent a letter recommending me as an expert electrician."

Had All the Details Pat. "Were the letters in one envelope, and were they both written on Carnegie Company stationery and signed by Mr. Lovejoy?"

"No. One—the dismissal—was typewritten on a plain sheet of paper, and not signed. The recommendation, which testifies to my skill as an electrician, was written on Carnegie paper and signed 'Secretary Lovejoy, per H. C. Frick.' To show you how shrewd they are it is only necessary to state that the recommendation was dated about the last of September. The dismissal was dated November 25. But I saw through it. When the recommendation was purported to have been written I was in the employ of P. Duff & Son, and had never sought employment from the East End Company. I have them there, you see."

"I have laid a supposititious case before some of the Judges, and they assure me that the penalty for an act of this sort is a heavy fine and imprisonment together with what damages my attorney sees fit to ask. I cannot mention the names of the Judges who advised me, as they may be recalled upon to try the case. "I have engaged William Beardon and Messrs. Erwin and Argo, the Western lawyers, who took part in the defense of Critchlow. The original order for my dismissal was sent to Mr. Erwin this afternoon. A copy of the order is now locked up in the safe deposit vault. I not only sent the order to Erwin by mail, but I telegraphed him the substance of it. To guarantee the safe delivery of the letter I put 40 cents worth of stamps on it, and I expect Mr. Erwin to arrive here immediately after getting my communication."

Gives Names of Other Victims.

"Several others have been discharged for the same reason," Mr. Freyvogel went on, with apparent earnestness. "Charles Eaton, an employe of the city, was notified today that he must quit work on account of the Critchlow verdict. Burns Wadsworth, of McKeesport, who was also a member of the jury, was dismissed from the National Tube Works for the same reason."

Mr. Freyvogel was positive and emphatic in all his statements. He evidenced indignation when any of his statements were questioned.

As a precautionary measure, however, the following telegram was sent by THE DISPATCH to Burns Wadsworth at McKeesport: "Have you been discharged from the Tube Works because of your action as a juror in the Critchlow case?"

Promptly Burns Wadsworth wired back the following reply: "No, sir. Was not discharged."

When Charles S. Eaton, of 6112 Hoerler street, was seen at his house last night he was greatly surprised, when asked whether he had been relieved of his position. He said: "The report that I had been discharged is news to me. If I had been discharged for my connection with the Critchlow trial I will surely find out in the morning, but I know nothing of it now. Don't let me say that, if anyone is not satisfied with the verdict, I am willing to stand the consequences. I rendered a verdict as I thought best, but was after all only one of 12."

Wasn't Worried About It.

Mr. Eaton seemed greatly puzzled over the report, but was apparently not much worried about it.

H. C. Frick was absent from the city. Secretary Lovejoy was at his home. He heard the Freyvogel story with considerable interest. In answer to the story he asked: "Is the fellow drunk or crazy?"

We have no interest in having men discharged, and Mr. Frick is in no way connected with the East End Light Company."

When leaving THE DISPATCH office last night Mr. Freyvogel said he was going to Philadelphia to-day to organize the American Electrical Construction Company. He also said that three years ago he had sued George Westinghouse, Jr. for $150,000 for being discharged, and that he had finally settled the case for $75,000.

At the business office of THE DISPATCH Mr. Freyvogel offered the following as an advertisement:

WANTED—A situation by a young man. Not by Frick and Carnegie, but by Americans. Address Electrician.

STREET CAR COLLISIONS

Two of Them Occur in the City Yesterday Morning.

A Central traction car and a Duquesne electric car collided at Grant street and Sixth avenue yesterday morning. No one was hurt, but the passengers on both cars were badly frightened. Both cars were forced from the tracks, and travel was delayed for over an hour.

A collision occurred yesterday morning on the Citizens' traction road in Lawrenceville. A car collided with a heavy wagon. No one was hurt, but the passengers were shaken up, however.

BETRAYED BY A KNIFE.

A McKeesport Robber Detected After a Long Search—Implicated by a Friend Who Used Stolen Property in a Cutting Affray—Confesses His Crime.

Bert Peterson, a young man of good family of McKeesport, was sent to jail yesterday, charged with robbing Kirk & Co.'s hardware store on the night of September 7. He was betrayed by a penknife, the history of which tells an interesting story of vigilant detective work.

When the McKeesport hardware store was burglarized $400 worth of goods and cutlery were taken. Detective P. J. Murphy was employed to hunt down the robbers. Three days after the robbery Murphy found two guns under a board pile near McKeesport, but constant hunting for two months longer failed to recover more of the stolen property or to in any way fix the responsibility for the theft. About a month ago Horatio Burwick, while being arrested for another crime, cut and seriously hurt Constable Moore. For a time it was thought Moore would die and the knife with which he was cut was secured for evidence in the case. The knife was turned over to Detective Murphy. While on his way to dispose of the stolen property and send him his share of the proceeds. This note failed to reach Peterson, but it fell into the hands of Murphy. The note did not say where the goods were stored. Murphy, however, went industriously to work on the case, day and night for two weeks he has been wrestling with the case. Yesterday morning his efforts were rewarded by finding 28 guns and nearly 100 ivory handled knives safely concealed at Burwick's home. An hour later the detective found several guns and knives at Peterson's home.

Peterson was employed at the McKeesport Opera House. He was arrested while at work. He promptly confessed having been connected with the robbery. He also said that Burwick had been associated with the robbery. He will have a hearing before Judge Grip this morning. He will likely be held for court.

Burwick will be allowed to serve his term for the cutting scrape, after which he will be rearrested and tried for the robbery.

ESCAPED FROM THE WORKHOUSE.

John Volks Stood Behind a Tree and Scared Off a Guard.

The latest man to escape from the workhouse is John Volks. He got away last Friday, and so far as could be learned the police forces of the two cities were not notified of his disappearance. The workhouse authorities have been doing what they can to apprehend him. Volks was sent up from Washington county for 10 months. He is 21 years old and has served three months of his sentence. He is a carpenter, and it seems at present houses are being erected on some vacant land for the keepers. Volks was put to work on the buildings, and managed to escape by a hole in the wall. He went to the hill last Friday toward Powers Run. The watchman followed him, and was scared off by Volks standing behind a tree and pointing something at him. He went back to the workhouse for assistance, but when it arrived Volks was gone. The guard imagined the prisoner pointed a revolver at him, but the authorities believe it was nothing more than a stick or piece of rock.

It is understood that since his sentence the grand jury of Washington county found several indictments against him. One was for alienating the affections of another man's wife and another was for malicious mischief. A capias had been issued for him, but now the Washington county people will whistle until they get him.

A WILL FILED FOR PROBATE.

William Harbaugh Divides His Estate Among His Many Heirs.

The will of the late William Harbaugh, of Sewickley, was filed yesterday for probate. After giving household goods, etc., to his wife Sophia E. Harbaugh, he forms a trust of the remainder of his estate for ten years after the death of his wife. His wife and son, Charles E. Harbaugh and daughter Sarah S. Harbaugh are appointed trustees. During her life Mrs. Harbaugh gets two-thirds of the income and the children one-third. After Mrs. Harbaugh's death the whole income is divided among their children and grandchildren for ten years and at the end of the time the estate is to be divided among the same persons.

THEY MUST OBEY.

Two Women Arrested for Disobeying Mayor Gourley's Order.

Becky Hoyt and Maggie Cousor, of O'Brien's court, were arrested yesterday and locked up charged with selling liquor at their resort. The informations were made by Sergeant Police O'Mara. These are the first arrests made under the order of Mayor Gourley, requiring that the selling of liquor in such resorts be suppressed and the places be closed. It is expected that other arrests will follow promptly.

"Our order must be obeyed," Superintendent O'Mara said yesterday. "We have given the resorts plenty of time and we will arrest anyone selling or shut up every resort in the city."

Archie Came Back at George.

George Price was arrested yesterday on a warrant sworn out before Alderman Kerr by Archibald Varner charging her with keeping a disorderly house on Thirty-fourth street. On April 23 Miss Price had Varner arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred before Alderman Leslie. At the time set for the hearing she failed to appear and he was discharged. Varner immediately went before Alderman Kerr and made an information against her.

Expected an Immediate Execution.

Joseph and Angelo Zarpa, the condemned murderers, are now peaceful and happy. A priest, able to converse in Italian, visited them yesterday and explained that the sentence would not be carried out for several months. They supposed they were being led to the gallows when taken from the court room and that was the reason of their attempt at suicide.

Will Checkmate the Speculators.

The Duquesne management has received telegraphic information that speculators will attempt to secure all the seats for Lillian Russell's engagement at the advantage sale, which commences to-morrow. Steps have been taken to checkmate them.

TWO MACS FOR MAYOR.

McKeena Declares His Candidacy, McCandless Reaffirms His.

THE FIGHT NOW BETWEEN THEM.

A General Demand for Controller Morrow's Renomination.

INTERESTING ALLEGHENY POLITICS

Late last night Dr. Alex. McCandless came out in a dictated statement claiming that he has been earnestly in the fight for the Republican nomination from the beginning, notwithstanding the statements of those opposed to him. Magistrate Bernard McKeena announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination emphatically and then started out setting up his delegates all over the city. It is pretty well understood he had arrangements for most of his delegates made so that all that was needed was to notify them that he had at last decided to enter the race. By noon to-day he will have a trusty delegate in every ward of the city. There is a general impression among Democrats that J. M. Guffey will acquiesce in McKeena's candidacy, and will lend his assistance to the "Squire's" election, so that McKeena seems to have a clear field.

The announcement of his candidacy came yesterday morning. He visited Mayor Gourley and talked to him about it, but the conversation meant could not be ascertained. The newly announced candidate called on several other officials in the hall before he left it and then returned to his office. He was not "at home" to reporters for the balance of the day. In the evening he started out to call on his delegates.

Mr. McKeena's candidacy meets with the approval of the majority of the party workers in the city, and it is expected he will draw the full Democratic vote as well as a large number of Republican ones. There are some Democrats opposed to him, however, one of whom, a well-known politician from the Eighth ward, was made a bet last night with a member of the Randall Club that McKeena will be defeated. He then doubted the money and bet he would win the first bet.

Dr. McCandless' announcement of his position is as follows: "I am a candidate for Mayor. I am not weak-kneed in my candidacy nor are my friends weak-kneed in the support they are giving me. I am in the fight and I will remain in it until the finish." The doctor was busy at the Stock Exchange and other downtown concentrating points yesterday in the interest of his contest. As to the interview published with him yesterday, he says he did not think it necessary to say anything as he had all along declared his intention of staying in the fight to the last, and no one had been authorized to state differently. The publication, however, caused some of his friends to think he might have changed his mind, therefore the statement issued last night.

MORROW MAY RECONSIDER.

Mayor Gourley Comes Out for Him and the Financial Men Indorse Him.

Yesterday Mayor Gourley urged Controller Morrow to reconsider and authorize his friends to say he was a candidate for reelection. If Mr. Morrow is the candidate on the Republican ticket the Mayor will not only refuse to consider a nomination in opposition to him, but will lend his aid in securing him a major victory. Yesterday a petition was circulated among the downtown banks requesting the Controller to become a candidate for reelection. Nearly every bank president and cashier and nearly every broker on the Stock Exchange signed the paper. It will be presented to other financial men for signature before being sent to the Controller. A significant point in connection with the circulation of the petition yesterday was that nearly every man who signed it named Mayor Gourley as their second choice for Controller.

Assistant Controller John J. Davis, who was named as a probable candidate for Controller, yesterday announced that he was not a candidate if Mr. Morrow was, and would use his influence to induce the Controller to run.

GAINED ONE DELEGATE.

Effect of the Last Election on the Republican State Convention.

Alllegeny county gains a delegate to the Republican State Convention by the vote cast by the party in the recent election. The convention of 1891 adopted a rule by which the Republican vote for Presidential electors in each legislative district shall determine the number of delegates. Allegheny is the only western county to get an increase. At the last State Convention there were 27 delegates, of which this county had 22. At the next there will be a total of 291 and Allegheny will have 29 of them. Armstrong, Beaver, Clearfield, Erie, Fayette and Indiana counties are all delegates. The result may be more or less embarrassing to some of the prospective State candidates. Most of the eastern counties kept up their vote for Mr. Harrison, so that they will lose few, if any, delegates.

Waiting for His Confirmation.

George Miller returned from Washington yesterday morning. Speaking of his appointment as Internal Revenue Collector he said his Washington trip was to take charge of the office, but it was decided after consultation the best plan would be to wait for the confirmation of the Senate before he flies his bond. It is expected the Senate will take it up immediately after it is called to order.

After Major Dennison Now.

Some opposition is cropping out against City Treasurer Dennison as a candidate for renomination. It is not claimed that he has not been a good officer or that he would not continue to do so. Those who are talking against him say he has had four terms in the office, that there are other old soldiers who want the place, and that a complete change in the city offices should be made.

Allegheny Council Candidates Bobbing Up.

Charles V. Lewis has announced himself a candidate for Allegheny Common Council from the Fifth ward. George Schach is a candidate from the Eighth ward against John Born, the present representative, who is also a candidate. Dr. Holman and Frank Torrence are candidates for Select Council from the Second ward.

THE FIGHT STILL ON.

A Randall Club Peace Meeting Which Failed of Its Object.

A meeting of what is known as the "syndicate" of the Randall Club took place last night with the intention of adjusting all differences in connection with the club election to take place to-morrow night. Instead of accomplishing this the syndicate only got deeper into the fight which has been raging in the organization for some time. They indorsed W. W. McClelland for recording Secretary, C. Roti for Corresponding Secretary, H. T. Morris for Treasurer, and Louis Cella, H. Obernauer, A. Mamoux and George P. Brown for trustees. McClelland will oppose John F. Fletcher and Morris is against Thomas Foley. The four candidates for trustees are selected from a list of 18 nominees. Each member will have the right to vote for seven trustees and a K. K. governing corporation election. The syndicate, consisting of the 40 men who own the clubhouse, will vote for only four trustees, concentrating their votes in such a way as to secure a majority on the board.

There was considerable discussion as to the right of Recording Secretary McClelland, who is a candidate for re-election, to hold the election. He is an anti-syndicate man and claims the right. E. J. Weizel, Presley Fleming, Henry Myer and A. F. Keating were appointed a committee to ascertain the legal status of Mr. McClelland's position. The committee is also to ascertain the legal status of corporation elections and its application to the present difficulty.

REFORMERS WANT KENNEDY.

They Indorse Him and Ask Councils to Postpone Election of Chiefs.

The Allegheny Reform Association yesterday made public a resolution adopted at its meeting on Monday night indorsing Mayor Kennedy for re-election and guaranteeing him unwavering support if it shall be thoroughly determined that he is eligible to hold the office. Another resolution was adopted requesting Councils to change the time of electing the heads of the city departments from January to April next. The object of the latter resolution is to postpone the selection of department chiefs until after the reorganization of the Councils, so that the city government, corporation elections and its application to the present difficulty.

REFORMERS WANT KENNEDY.

The Allegheny Reform Association yesterday made public a resolution adopted at its meeting on Monday night indorsing Mayor Kennedy for re-election and guaranteeing him unwavering support if it shall be thoroughly determined that he is eligible to hold the office. Another resolution was adopted requesting Councils to change the time of electing the heads of the city departments from January to April next. The object of the latter resolution is to postpone the selection of department chiefs until after the reorganization of the Councils, so that the city government, corporation elections and its application to the present difficulty.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE FOR A SITUATION IN THE DISPATCH.

One cent a word is the cost.

CONTINUING THE WORK.

More Signers at the Murphy-Keeley Temperance Meeting—Good Speeches and Singing in Attendance—A Drunken Woman Takes the Pledge.

The Murphy meeting held at Lafayette Hall last night was attended by about 400 people and although not so numerous as was reported it was said that more than 100 had signed the pledge before the meeting adjourned at 10 o'clock. The audience was composed as usual of all classes of people and enough enthusiasm was created from time to time to keep up a lively interest to the end. The music was furnished by a chorus led by Mrs. Goettman and Prof. Weeden and the selections being chosen because of familiarity the entire audience joined in.

A Wife's Long Chase.

A pitiful tale of a deserted wife was told to Secretary Dorente yesterday by Miss Johnson, who after being left with a young child to support in Missouri, followed her faithless husband to Pittsburgh, only to be thrown again on the world. She said: "My husband, James E. Johnson, moved from Pittsburgh with his father some ten years ago to California. Shortly afterward they took up their home in Dent county, Missouri, where I met and married my husband. The day after our marriage he deserted me, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago that I happened to come into possession of this little girl I have with me. A party of hunters passing through a forest near our home came across the babe hid among the bushes in one of the most delicate portions of the woods. The hunters took the little foundling, and wrapping it in their coats, conveyed it to the cottage of a woman near the edge of the woods. I heard of the incident and realizing that the woman who had received the child was in no position to care for it properly, being poor and having seven children of her own, I took the child and hurriedly after our marriage, leaving a considerable estate, of which my husband was made administrator. We were very well fixed as long as this money lasted, lived very comfortably. It was about two years ago