Many of the Lawrenceville Men Discouraged by the Prospects.

SOME OF THEM STILL HOPEFUL.

Weihe Is Not a Candidate Against Gompers, of the Federation. M'LUCKIE RELEASED ON $10,000 BAIL

The strikers at Lawrenceville are in a disorganized condition. Since last Saturday's meeting things have not been going smoothly, and there is now much dissatisfaction in their ranks. Many of the old men have applied for their old positions. They have the promise of the first chance. The men who want to remain out and who voted to not declare the strike off held another meeting at their headquarters yesterday. They were greatly encouraged at the report that the Homestead ex-strikers would come out again, as they were not pleased with the non-union men with whom they had to work. They thought this was an indication that they had pursued the proper course in not following the example of the men at Homestead and Beaver Falls. The report was the talk of the men near the Lawrenceville mill yesterday afternoon and taken as indicating that the strike was not nearly settled. Some of the Men Still Hopeful. One of the men who had attended the meeting in the morning was very jubilant in commenting on the report and said: "We are going to win this strike yet. We are in the right and intend to stay just where we

The more conservative looked at the situation differently. One of the men who want the strike declared off and get back to work said: "I don't believe the report, and should it be true, it would be a very foolish move. I think the strike is lost, I fought as long as there was any hope for us to win, but I am tired of the whole thing now. The truth of the matter is the strik-ers are fighting among themselves and if this thing keeps up much longer, as it has since last Saturday, the men will be so angry as to be almost ready for a free fight among themselves. It has simply come to this that if the men could have any assur-ance of getting their old positions there would be a general break, whether the strike was declared off or not.

Much Want Among the Strikers. "There is aircady a great deal of want among the men here. No man can keep a family as he should on $4 a week. That is all they have been getting and with the cold weather coming on a good many are in a bad way. Things have become so bad, in fact, that yesterday an extra allowance was added to the usual benefit, for all who had to buy more clothing for their children or lay in a supply of coal. Some think the association's fund for distribution will be more plentiful, but from what I have seen in the past I doubt it."

With relation to the report that the Homestead men would come out on another strike, Secretary Kilgallon, at the Amalgamated Association headquarters, said last evening: "There is no truth in the rumor. I can't conceive who could have started it. Surely no friend of organized labor could have done so, as it would be the height of nonsense to do such a thing and could accomplish nothing but reflect discredit to the association."

The national officers of the Amalgamated Association are doing all they can to get positions for every blacklisted man at Homestead and the other Carnegie mills

Till January Next, When Some New Fea tures in the Procedure Are Expected. No more Homestead cases will be heard in court this year. This is the result of the numerous consultations between District Attorney Burleigh and the counsel for the men charged with murder, riot and treason. It seems to satisfy all parties concerned. The next Homestead case will be taken up in January, probably in the early part of the month. Who the first of the long list of defendants to be tried will be is not yet determined. The Judge who will try the cases is also a matter for future determination, but of course it will not be Judge Kennedy who sat on the bench in the Critch-low trial, nor Judges McClung or Porter, whose assignment to the Criminal Court ends with the present session.

It is probable that the next trial of a Homestead murder case will differ considerably from the first. The statement is made by those who are near to the defense that fervid oratory will not be so prominent a feature in defending the next Homestead workman. One of the counsel for the defense says that with such a good case as they feel they will be able to make out in every case it will be unnecessary to shake the foundations of the Court House with perfervid oratory. It is freely stated, also, that courtesy to a stranger will not weigh so much with the Court next time.

WILL NOT OPPOSE MR. GOMPERS. William Weihe Says He Will Not Try for the Presidency of the Federation The report that ex-President William Weihe, of the Amalgamated Association, would be a candidate for the Presidency of the American Federation of Labor at the coming national convention at Philadelphia was started yesterday.

Mr. Weihe said last evening: "You can simply put that down as having no truth in it at all. I am no candidate for that

"What do you think of Mr. Gompers chances for being re-elected?" was asked.
"I believe them to be very good."
"Have you decided yet what you will

These turn out from 15,000 to 30,000 bushels of coal every day. What more would you want? I say again, we are entirely satisfied with the outlook, aut then I mustn't talk, so good afternoon."

Attorney Breck, counsel for the Carnegies, resisted the application in the case of Ross on the murder charge, and asked that the hearing be postponed until Thursday to enable him to bring some of the most important witnesses from Cincinn ti and Chicago. He said if he could not get them by that time he would be willing to proceed with the case to-day. This was not objected to.

FIVE WANTED TO RETURN.

The Elba Iron Mills Strikers Still Keep a Bold Front.

The strikers at the Elba Iron Works are almost a unit in standing out and not declaring the mill open. The question in dispute is not a matter of wages, but of the signing of the scale by the company. The strikers at a meeting took the first vote yet taken to determine how the men felt on the matter. Only five votes were cast to return to work, and when they found them-selves in the minority so much they agreed to stand unanimously. The mill is turning out a good deal of material, but the strikers claim not the full amount. Many of the men have left to work eisewhere, so that the place wears a very deserted ap-

sioner Beal Listens to Appeals From Assessments in That Vicinity-The Classification Question Raised in Three

The properties of James B. Phillips, on Murray avenue, and Phoebe Phillips, on Squirrel Hill, were taken up yesterday afternoon by Commissioner Beal in the appeals from city assessments. Chief Clerk Siebert, of the County Commissioners' office, testified to an assessment of $915 on the J. B. Phillips piece of two acres and 46 perches on Murray avenue, Twenty-second ward, whereas the city assessment was $3,434. The Phobe Phillips property was assessed by the county at $30,000, but had been reduced to $25,000. The city's figures were $104,430. It was all assessed

THE FIRST BANQUET.

Marked Success of the United Presbyterian Social Union His Application for Ball Will Be Argued

ORGANIZED SEVERAL WEEKS AGO.

A Good Membership of Prominent Ceople That is increasing.

POUR FEASTS TO BE HELD IN THE YEAR

The United Presbyterian Social Union was organized several weeks ago, and last evening the first banquet was held. Conroller E. S. Morrow is one of the leading spirits and he is proud of the organization. It is composed entirely of laymen and no preachers need apply. The union is intended exclusively for active members of the church in the two cities and vicinity, and the ministers for once are not in it. They accept the decree with good grace and are glad to see the laity on the alert. Just the same 30 dominies attended the least and they enjoyed themselves as guests. The Union has a membership of 93 already, but after the banquet last evening the Controller expects it will go up to 150. It is the intention to give four banquets during the year. The Executive Committee met last night and decided that the next one would occur at the Monongahela House, Thursday, February 2. No other business was transacted at the meeting.

A Reception Before the Banquet, The officers of the Union are: President, Colonel R. E. Stewart; Vice President, J. H. Murdock, of Washington; Secretary, John T. Findley; Treasurer, J. B. Fraser, Cashier of the Union National Bank. The Casher of the Union National Bank. The object of the association is to cultivate good fellowship among the members of the United Presbyterian Church, and to promote the work of the gospel. Previous to the banquet a reception was held from 8 to 9 o'clock. The ladies and gentlemen spent the time in pleasant conversation, and entered the present in the present of the 9 o'clock. The ladies and gentlemen spent the time in pleasant conversation, and enjoyed the occasion immensely. About 250 guests were present, and in the throng were noticed Rev. J. A. Douthett, Alexander Dempster, Colonel Robert E. Stewart, Rev. J. T. McCrory, Graham Scott, Controller E. S. Morrow, Julian Kennedy, John B. Frazer, Samuel McNaugher, Dr. W. C. Shaw, A. J. Evans, J. B. Herron, D. T. Reed, H. J. Murdock, John T. Findley, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, William Hill, Prof. Samuel Andrews, Rev. Mr. Acheson, T. J. McCalip, Peter Dick and wife, J. J. Porter, Major A. P. Burchfield, Percy F. Smith and others.

The feature of the banquet was the singing. It was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Christian Thelen, the teacher of music in Westminster College, at New Willmington, Homer Moore and the McGill Quartet. Solos were sung by Mrs. Thelen and Homer Moore. Mrs. Thelen was well received by the people, and only an encore would satisfy them. She has a full and strong soprano voice, and above all is a beautiful woman.

Clever Responses to the Tonsts. At the banquet the blessing was asked by Rev. Mason W. Pressley, and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Josias Stevenson. An interesting programme had been prepared. After Colonel Stewart, the toastmaster, expressed his surprise over the success of their first feast, he introduced H. J. Murdock, of Washington, whose subject was "The Layman, His Duties and Position." Mr. Murdock explained that he was a lawyer but not a member of the Allegheny county bar. He said a layman should not be a mere figure. He was not intended to merely hold down a few, or to be a sponge or jng, receiving all

Speaking of the elders, Mr. Murdock said they were ordained by the laying on of hands. They are called of God. The elder should not be a negative character. It used to be that the elder went along to sustain the dignity of the preacher in the church courts. The of the preacher in the church courts. Requisites of an Elder. In conclusion Mr. Murdock held that the elder should be as intelligent as the minis-ter. He should be a good teacher. No man should be elected elder unless he is full of spiritual wisdom and intelligence. With an active eldership and a consecrated congregation, the church can accomplish a

The next speaker was A. J. Evans, who spoke on "How to Cultivate the Esprit de Corps in the United Presbyterian Church." He argued that discipline was a good thing and related several stories about Napoleon and General Sherman to illustrate his point. He thought if every member of the church left a good record with his neigh-bors, he had done well. Mr. Evans is a lawyer, and Colonel Stewart in introducing him said that he never knew until the union was organized that Mr. Evans was a United Preabyterian. It was this feature of the society that he liked. It made him acquainted with the religion of many people that he knew and met daily.

During the evening a telegram was read from Mr. Gregg. He hoped enthusiasm prevailed at the banquet.

THE SOLONS IN SESSION.

The Attendance Larger Than Usual and Much Business to Be Transacted. The members of the Supreme Lodge of the Order of Solon met in Post No. 3 Hall, on Fourth avenue, yesterday forenoon and afternoon. This is the regular annual meeting of the Supreme Lodge, and of the forty-five members there were forty pres-ent. This is the largest attended convenent. This is the largest attended convention in the history of the lodge, and is expected to be one of the most important.

At the last special meeting of the lodge certain charges were preferred against officials of the order. Matters were not in shape to take any definite action, the affair was dropped, and in the meantime the officials in question have been prosecuted and suspended by the President, and at this meeting the matter will be thoroughly sitted and definite action taken.

The meeting was called to order at 10

The meeting was called to order at 10 o'clock yesterday morning by Supreme President Glen I. Folsom. The morning session was taken up with the reading of reports, which were all approved and referred to the reason was taken up with the reading of the ports, which were all approved and referred to the proper committees.

to the proper committees.

In the afternoon the report of the special auditing committee appointed to investigate the charge of embezziement against Treasurer Godirey and other officials was read and laid on the table.

The accused officials have numerous friends and followers in the lodge who demand that they be vindicated, while those on the other aide are equally determined. It is expected the matter will cause a great deal of trouble in the lodge when brought to a crists.

The remainder of the afternoon was taken up by routine business, and at 5 o'clock the meeting adjourned until 1 o'clock this afternoon. The lodge will probably be in session until Thursday or Friday of this week, as there is much important business to come up. Silk handkerchiefs and mufflers for Christ-mas presents at James H. Missions to the Hebrews.

"The Hebrew Question" will be discussed this evening at the Wednesday service of the North Presbyterian Church, Lincoln avenue, Allegheny. The speaker will be Rev. Jacob Freshman, of New York. He is peculiarly fitted to discuss it, being himself a Hebrew of the Hebrews, who has for some time been the pastor of the Hebrew Chris-tian Church of New York. Mr. Freshman is said to be a most interesting speaker and his address will be of interest.
