STRIKERS AT THE UNION MILLS SPLIT

The activity of Secretary Tiller, of the Pittsburg Coal Exchange, in watching the manufacturing firms that persist in throwing refuse from the mills into the river and filling up the channel, is about to produce another large crop of suits.

The Secretary has been keeping a close watch on the river banks, to secure additional evidence for new suits.

The Secretary has been keeping a close watch on the river banks, to secure additional evidence for new suits. He spent a good part of yesterday in getting a few additional points to make his position sure.

Did a Little Detective Work.

In order to find out the guilty parties and catch them at work, the Secretary adopted the practice of going to the suspected spots very early in the morning and seeing for himself how the work was done.

His efforts have been amply rewarded and he now has strong evidence against a number of firms.

He said yesterday that during the coming week a number of new suits would be entered, as the Exchange intended to push every case to the end.

There is but little change in the miners' strike. The tendency of the operators' moves is to have little coal loaded unless all the mines can be worked together at the reduced rate.

Sound by a Written Pledge.

Every firm in the Coal Exchange is said to be bound under a written agreement to stand or fall together, and the best posted rivermen do not believe a traitor to be in the ranks.

Since the river coal operators propose to resume work at 2 cents a bushel for mining, which they contend is being loaded in.

Dog Fighters, Disregard the Alderman's Subpoena and Are Sent to Court.

Agent O'Brien, of the Humane Society, is having considerable trouble with the last dog fight.

He said yesterday that it is always hard to secure conviction, and the witnesses either fail to appear or refuse to testify.

On November 5 a fight took place in Reserve township. O'Brien secured the names of a number who were present and entered suit against four of them before Alderman Eglesdorf.

The balance summoned to appear as witnesses. Yesterday afternoon was set for the hearing. Two of the defendants appeared and requested a postponement, but the witnesses failed to show up.

The Alderman, after waiting some time, said: "I will hold all these cases for court. All the witnesses are here, and the subpoenas and I will send the cases where subpoenas will be observed with proper respect." Several prominent citizens are among those who failed to show up.

The Anti-Cruelty Society has charge of the old man and is desirous of obtaining money to support him.

SIGNS OF CHRISTMAS.

Pittsburg Now Passing Through a Season of Packages.

MANY PRETTY THINGS THIS YEAR.

Story Books and Calendars in Most Beautiful Designs.

CHINAWARE A PROMINENT FEATURE

The mysterious package season has, in the course of ordinary human trials and tribulations, made its appearance. Great quantities of each article are turned in the streets and stores, and there is a general good-natured "pushin' an' a-shovin'," which is always inseparable from the Christmas buying season.

There seems to be no lack of money this year, and certainly the Pittsburg merchants have not been remiss in providing ways to spend it. The most noticeable feature in Christmas presents is the revival of seven-cent century fashions and old styles generally.

It would not seem like Christmas if there were no story books for the little people. All the old fairy tales are to be seen, but are done up in such brilliant dresses that they seem more enchanting than ever. The large number of toy books shown is evidence that the children's appetite for pretty pictures and stories has not diminished.

"Shape books" are something new. They are cut in artistic designs and show figures of children, dogs, cats, houses, etc., printed in very bright tints. As to the calendar, there are many such as the "Beauty Calendar," which gives you a bewitchingly lovely maiden every month in 1923.

Some Fairytale Calendars.

There is the "Fairytale Calendar," which takes you through fairytale land from beginning to end. The "Columbus Calendars" show that hero in all his struggles and victories. Among the few sensible calendars is one suggesting the various lines of mischief or business. A calendar combined. A beautiful hand printed affair is called the "Perpetual Calendar" with ribbon drawn through to indicate the days of the month; the ribbon is stamped with the numbers.

Booklets and cards are shown in great variety. "How to Cook Husbands" is the name of a little book with hand painted covers, the contents being a collection of cooking recipes which are supposed to put the man of the house in good humor. All the classics are brought forth in handsome binding and illustrated with colored engravings and head and tail pieces. An odd little card in cut art work shows Cupid on a bicycle, which has cut itself with tiny blossoms. King cards are a pretty novelty. There are a number of cute babies linked together, the whole forming a jolly combination of color.

The Christmas paper weight is shown in metal ornaments, such as dogs, cats, fowls, pigs, rabbits, foxes, etc. They are painted in their natural colors, and are all hard at work in their various lines of mischief or business. People who have a mania for beautiful china will be glad to hear that it is very popular as Christmas gifts this year.

It is Pretty, but Costly.

A pretty vase just out is called Pittsburg—paste upon paste. It is a blue vase with white flowers and leaves of paste put on with the fingers and then burned on. One vase alone cost $18.

Beautiful cards and books there will be no lack of useful presents this year. According to merchants, there has been more beautiful paper within the last week or two than in any other time.

Beautiful parlour cabinets of oak and brass, which come as high as $200, and onyx tables which can be bought from $5 up to $20, are sold for gifts.

An odd sort of chair just placed on view is of carved oak with a leather seat. It is called the cobbler's chair and is a low-backed rocker, something on the order of the "leaky hollow."

The willow chair, tables, music racks, etc., painted white, gold and blue, make pretty gifts. A dainty and useful article, a baby's hamper—a large square basket of willow lined with blue and white lace, with cute little places for all the baby's toilet essentials. Something that will please the boys, if the boy's papa has $20 to spare, is an electric line street railway. It has the battery attachment hidden by a screen, but the cars are delightfully real in construction—though of miniature size, of course. The hobby-horse is out in all his glory, but on a new and improved plan. He has taken on a great deal of flesh and is strong and stalwart, with glowing tail and mane, and altogether is a great improvement over the painted board profile horse of last year.

FOUGHT ABOUT THE STRIKE.

Fred Ewald was given a hearing before Alderman McKenna yesterday on a charge of wantonly pointing firearms preferred by William Bender. Ewald lives on Twenty-eighth street and is a non-union man employed in Carnegie's Twenty-ninth street mill. He got into a quarrel with Bender over the recent labor troubles.

Bender alleges that Ewald pulled a revolver and threatened to kill him. Ewald claimed that he was only acting in self-defense, as Bender had made threatening demonstrations. Ewald was held under $500 bail for court.

RAW AS PIECE MEAT

SIX MONTHS UNDER THREE DOCTORS, NO BENEFIT. COMPLETELY CURED IN 3 MONTHS BY CUTICURA.

CUTICURA has been a blessing to me. My body was about four weeks out when the first got me. It was then that I was told that I was still getting worse. A lady friend of mine advised every species of torturing, douching, itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusts, and plumpy diseases and humors of the skin, scalp and hair, with loss of hair, from itching scalp, when all other methods and best physicians fail.

I have tried your CUTICURA SOAP and SHAVING SOAP, and find they do even more than you say. In fact there is more remedial power to one of your cakes of soap than there is to some of the three dollar treatments of these dermatologists for acne, skin worms, etc. It has cured me of the above affliction, and I think it can cure others if they use it right and according to directions. I am not ashamed to recommend it to my own.
