Murphy pledge, was a speaker. He re-lated to the audience his experience while the demon drink had had him in its power, and said when he began to lead a sober life it seemed to him the world was brighter and better than it had ever been. He eulogized in the highest terms the Keeley cure, and advise all men who had not the will power to goe at the habit of drinking intoxicating liquors to take a course at one of the Keeley institutions.

Mr. Murphy was in one of his eloquent moods, and while he spoke scarcely a sound could be heard save the speaker's voice in that vast assemblage. He told of his life before he ever touched a drop of liquor. How sweet life was to him, and how every fiber of his being throbbed in response to the sounds and sights of God's handiwork. He then turned to the darkest hours of his life, when all his friends had forsaken him, and he was an outcast hated and despised by everybody.

The Story of His Triumph.

He told of his reformation, of his struggles to master the monster that held him by the throat, and of his final triumph. Mr. Murphy closed by calling upon the people to come forward and sign the pledge, and not a few availed themselves of the opportunity to do so.

At the afternoon meeting Captain J. K.
Barbour was introduced. He said the work of temperance to him is a work he loves, because, from sad experience, he knows what it is to be a victim of the demon alcohol, and knows, from experience as well, what it is to be freed from its awful clutches. He told, in a most graphic manner, of his life while on the downward road; how when he had fallen so low that none of his old friends and associates would have anything to do with him, Francis Murphy had taken him by the hand and made a man of him. Mr. Murphy addressed the meeting for half an hour in his usual eloquent style. He said Dr. Keeley is the Columbus of the temperance cause. He only wants a chance to cure the drunkard and that

Mayor Gourley's Position Upheld. Rev. S. W. McCrokle spoke at considerable length of Mayor Gourley's reply to the ministers that they do not employ the proper methods in their endeavors to re-form the erring. "This fact is too true," he said, "when we come to consider the matter carefully, and we should get to-gether and see if we cannot adopt a course that will be in line with that pointed out to us by Mayor Gourley."

but now a resident of Pittsburg, asked permission to speak to the andience. He said he, a few years ago, had been elected a Judge in the courts of St. Louis, and had as bright a future before him as any young man in the country. He had any young man in the country. He had Davis and "Soce" Wade. All gave bonds at any young man in the country. He had married a noble woman, a minister's daughter, and for a time they were as happy as it is possible for mortais to be. But the demon drink got the better of him, and he went from had to worse until he had to leave St. Louis and seek a livelihood elsewhere. He came to Pittsburg and secured employment at good wages but most of the money went for drink. His faithful wite clung to him through all and for her sake and that of his dead mother he had resolved to sign the pledge, and live a sober life hereafter. He told his story a dozen hands were extended to him and as he clasped them in turn he to him and as he clasped them in turn he ask their owners to pray for him. It was a most affecting scene.
At the close of the meeting about 50 people came forward and signed the pledge,

I did repel the charge that Mr.

Francis Murphy held two enthusiastic meetings in Carnegie Hall yesterday. Over 1,500 people crowded into the building in the afternoon, and at night that number was far exceeded. Mr. Murphy will keep up the meetings there during this week.

Being Conducted in Mexico by a Wealthy Spaniard for a Syndicate.

CITY OF MEXICO, Dec. 4 .- [Special.]-A search is being conducted by Ignace Despa, a wealthy Spaniard, and a company of other local business men, in the little town of Typozottan, near here, for $21,070,000 in rold that, according to a tradition supported by documents in the company's possession, lies buried in the old cathedral of Typozottan. About two months ago a Jesuit, Pierre Guirre, srrived at Vera Cruz from France. He stated that he had in his possession the plan of the subterranean vaults of the Typozottan church and that he was making arrangements to explore for the hidden wealth. According to his story the Jesuits who had charge of the Typozottan properties during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries acquired gold treasure to the amount of $25,000,050. town of Typozottan, near here, for

Veterinary Surgeon Performs an Operation Upon a Panther.

GENEVA, O., Dec. 4.—A peculiar surgical operation was performed here to-day at the winter quarters of Walter Main's circus. A coal-black panther called Devil's Imp has been suffering for some time with what animal trainers term "phagedenic tongue," and every known remedy was employed to eradicate the nicer, but without success. A local veterinary surgeon guaranteed the circus owner to remove the ulcer by performing a successful operation for $100, which offer was accepted. Devil's Imp is one of the largest and most vicious panthers in captivity, and chloroform had to be liberally administered before the surgeon could enter the brute's cage. tion Upon a Panther.

administered before the surgeon could enter the brute's onge.

It required just 15 minutes to perform the operation. An inch and a quarter of Imp's tongue was cut away and healing remedies applied. The veterinarian had pronounced the operation complete and was quitting the cage, when the panther regained consciousness and at once crouched to spring upon him. A heavy blow on the head with an iron bar at the hands of a keeper knocked the brute insensible, giving the surgeon a chance to tumble out of the cage.

The Electric Line to That Growing Suburb Opened Yesterday.

To Reach Ingram, Crafton and Mansfield

AN EXTENSION PROMISED SOON

on the Panhandle Road. CHARTIERS BRANCH NOT COMPLETED

The opening of the West End electric road yesterday leaves the Spring Garden and the Butler bob-tail the only horse car lines left in Pittsburg. This is a great record, and shows the enterprise of the local railway people. Rapid transit has received a high degree of development in this city, when it is remembered that four years ago horse cars predominated and the Pennsylvania and Ft. Wayne roads did a land office business in suburban traffic. Now the people are using the cable and electric lines. Even the Spring Garden road is being changed, and in a short time the motive power will be electricity.

It was a gala Sunday for the long-suffering West End people. The hum and buzz of the electric cars were music to their ears, and large crowds collected along the streets and on the corners to admire the pretty coaches as they whirled rapidly over the tracks. The contrast with the snail-like movements of the horses was marked, and put every workman who comes to Pittsburg at an early hour in the morning in a good humor. Hereafter they can sleep an hour at an early hour in the morning in a good humor. Hereafter they can sleep an hour longer, and brakfast can be served at 6 instead of 5 o'clock. The Chartiers branch is not yet completed, but will be ready by January I.

J. Dawson Callery, one of the heavy stockholders of the road, went to Chicago last evening. He said they had 20 cars for the line, ten were in operation yesterday and the other ten will be on by next Saturday. The round trip was made in 32 minutes. Mr. Callery promises that in a year or so the West End road will be extended out along the Panhandle, taking in Crafton, Ingram, Mansfield and other prosperous suburban towns located in that direction. It is the only outlet for the line, and the company will take advantage of it. This will be good news for those who now use the Panhandle to reach their homes. As a result of what has been done and the prospects ahead property in the West End and vicinity is moving upward.

The West End line did very well for the first day. The cars ran smoothly, except at the foot of Fifth avenue, where the road crosses the tracks of the Pittsburg traction. Several cars got off the rails and delayed the P. A. & M. company. It is expected that in a few days all the defects will be remedied. Mr. Callery thinks the Second avenue line will be in Homestead by next year. The Birmingham people are still doing all they can to block the extension up the Monongaheia river.

THE INAUGURAL BALL Due to the Great Throngs It Nowadays More

An interesting feature has arisen with respect to the inauguration of President Cleve-land. March 4 next year occurs on Satur-day. The discovery of this fact has led" to some discussion regarding the propriety of holding the inaugural ball on Saturday night, when Sunday morning must neces-sarily be ushered in with the first stroke of 12. Inquiry yesterday of those who have been prominently identified with the inauguration ceremonies of previous years shows that this question need not occasion

In the first place the event known as the inaugural "ball" is in reality a reception merely. The throng in attendance is always merely. The throng in attendance is always so great as to prevent dancing. In the second place it has, with rare exceptions, been brought to a conclusion by midnight, even when no considerations of respect for Sunday entered into the case. A ball on Friday night would be inappropriate, and a postponement to Monday night would be an injustice to the thousands of visitors who would be compelled to leave the city before that time. There is no likelihood, therefore, that the time-honored precedent of an inauguration ball on the evening of of an inauguration ball on the evening of inauguration day will be departed from when Mr. Cleveland is inducted into office.
