THE PITTSBURG DISPATCH, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1892. prove more effective, as was dem-onstrated in the city of Pittsburg a few days ago. If Councils wish to suppress houses of ill-fame under the powers conferred in the dity charter, they can only do so, by the imposition of fines and penalties imposed and collected in a lawful manner. It cannot legally be done by raiding the honses. Should these measures fall the Legislature, by the forty-second and forty third sections of the Criminal Code of 1880, has provided ample remedies. Any citizen or official can, under this law, make information and secure the inflictment and punishment of the keepers of bawdy and disorderly houses. Thefordinance before you would be a blot would in time be attended by the same dis-graces and corruption that have followed its course elsewhere. I has often been sought to have Councils pass such an ordi-nance, but the good sense of Councils has always negatived such measures. Tou wilk allow me to suggest another rea-son for the belief that that ordinance is illegal. been reached in 1890. A "house of ill-fame" is not a "dis-orderly house" unless the peace of the neighborhood is broken by its inmates. I am aware that the court has decided in the case of Woods versus Pittsburg that it is within the police power of the city to suppress and restrain houses or ill-fame, and I advise you that the city of Allegheny has such power, but the power must be executed in a lawful manner. A raid is not a legal manner of making arrests unless the public peace is disturbed in the presence and hearing of the officers. If fines and penalties imposed for the vio-lation of city ordinances fail to drive houses of ill-repute from the city recourse can be had to the State law to which I have already called your attention.
