AND THEY WERE MARRIED.

A Father Is Anxlous About His Eloping Daughter-Didn't Have a Marriage Cer tificate Handy-A Telegram Dispels the

Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Hall, an eloping couple who were married at Youngstown on Monday, were arrested in this city yesterday because they could not produce their marriage certificate. Subsequently a telegram to the police authorities at Youngstown brought back a reply to the effect that the pair had been legally married by Alderman Hallowell, of that city, thus corroborating the story told by the blushing bride that she had left the certificate at home. Hall is a conductor on the Sharpsburg branch of the Citizens' Traction line. His bride is Minnie, the daughter of Louis Walzer, the proprietor of a coal yard and of a hotel in Sharpsburg. It was at his instance the couple were arrested. He called at police headquarters yesterday morning and produced a newspaper clipping which stated the couple had gone to Youngstown to get married, but failed. They came back Monday night and as soon as Mr. Walzer heard of it he notified the police.

On their return Monday night they rented a room on Forty-third street, where they were found yesterday. When his daughter claimed she was married her father would at helicare it heaves a heavent has not believe it because she could not show a certificate. Superintendent O'Mara allowed them to go while he telegraphed to Youngstown, saving he would rearrest them if their story was untrue. In the meantime the bride found the certificate and showed it to her father. He was rather displeased than otherwise, because he did not want a Presbyterian son-in-law. Mr. Walzer also objected to Hall because of a physical infirmity which he suffers as the result of a street car accident, but now

BURLEIGH WILL TRY THE CASES. He Says the Homestead Prosecutions Will Not Be Dropped.

It was stated yesterday that the Carnegie officials were making desperate efforts to squeeze evidence out of their Homestead employes and the remnant of locked-out men against their comrades charged with murder and riot. Incidentally it was as serted that District Attorney Burleigh had announced that he would not proceed with the prosecution of the Homestead men un-less the attorneys and detectives employed by the Carnegie Company produced more direct evidence than they had in the trial of Sylvester Critchlow for murder.

Mr. Burleigh said last night in the most positive manner and after a request that the denial should be made very plain: "With regard to all the cases arising from the Homestead troubles, you may say for me, once for all that I mean to try any say. Homestead troubles, you may say for me, once for all, that I mean to try every one of them. This applies to all the Homestead cases I know of, and of course includes the indictments against both sides, the Carnegle people and their employes. To-Morrow Night.

GENERAL SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY There was a satisfactory meeting of the atockholders of the local baseball club yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Duquesne. All the leading stockholders were there including Messrs. Temple, Kerr, Brown and others. After a long discussion it was deeided to elect A. C. Buckenberger, President; Al Scandrett. Secretary; L. Brown, Treasurer; W. W. Kerr, Vice President. The annual report showed that the club had in substance lost $2,600. That loss was figured by including the purchase of Van Haltren and two or three more outlays that were occasioned during the season by the management. Altogether the stockholders considered that they were very fortunate in escaping without an assessment. It was pointed out that the 12-club arrangement carried many items of expense, but one member of the club asserted that turing the next season the Pittsburg team would be the winners, and, therefore, all other teams would come here to lower the colors of the anticipated pennant winners.

During the meeting it was forcibly pointed out that if Mr. Buckenberger had seen managing the team during the entire

the income more. A resolution was adopted to this effect. After the meeting Manager, or more correctly speaking, President Buckenberger said: "We have put on our list young Barrett, a good and promising young fel-low. Our team last year was not what it should have been, but next year things will be different."

The Murphy Meeting for Social Outcast Was a Fallure. The meeting announced by Francis Murphy for the inmates of the disorderly houses of the city at Lafayette Hall, yesterday afternoon, was not a glittering success. Only three of the social outcasts attended. Mr. Murphy, John M. Kelly, Louisville, Kv., Dec. 6-[Special]-Pools Prof. Weeden, several representatives from the Deaconesses Home, Mgs. Richard Fulton Prof. Weeden, several representatives from and others interested in Christian Temperance work were there. They all gathered

A room was secured at No. 10 First avenue.

While Mr. Murphy was waiting in the large and almost award but the large award but the large and almost award but the large award but the larg ence to gather he explained that he had not gone in person to the dsorderly houses to invite the inmates to attend his meeting as he had intended and on that account he concluded the people stayed away. A letter from one of the abandoned women was sent to Mr. Murphy while he was wait-ing for his proposed meeting to develop. It discussed the social evil in a great variety Francis Murphy has decided to remain in Pittsburg until Saturday. He will hold

Have Them Straightened and Preserve the London, Dec. 6.—This was the day fixed or the hearing of the case of Charlie litchell, the puglilist. When the case was affed Mitchell responded. His counsel that Mitchell wished to withdraw his used on him by the polifice magistrate. It is not generally known that a person with crooked eye sees with but one eye at a sime; nor that the crooked eye becomes nearly blind—in some cases quite so. With one eye no one can be a correct judge of the form of objects. All the defects can be prevented or ramediad by early operation, which is done with perfect sately and slight pain. Mr. Andy Gileh, of Duquesne, can vouch for the satisfactory result in his little daughter's case.
